Canadian Thoroughness

AGAINST

Imported Shallowness.

We have orders now in hand for the TENTH edition of "The Canadian Accountant" (which we shall publish in a week or two) from Massachusetts. New York, British Columbia, Nebraska, Washington, Michigan, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec and all parts of Ontario.

This book, which we have brought to such a standard that it is now the most widely circulated work on book-keeping published in the English language, is called "a curiosity of a past age" and its authorship is impugned in the recently published circular of a business college "managed" by an Estate agent.

These insults, with many others in the same circular, which we shall deal with, come from a college WHICH IS RUN ON AN AMERICAN TEXT BOOK WITH A PRINTED KEY AND REFERENCE BOOK ACCESSIBLE FOR USE IN THE SCHOOL. UPON THE COVER OF THE TEXT BOOK THE NAME OF THE COLLEGE IS STAMPED IN THE CITY OF ROCHESTER N. Y., FROM WHENCE IT COMES.

Canadian thoroughness is sneered at as a "Curiosity".

ONTARIO BUSINESS COLLEGE.

W. B. ROBINSON,
J. W. JOHNSON F.C.A. } PRINCIPALS.

N.B. The daily morning lectures on Business Papers, Finance and Business Practice were resumed after the holidays on Tuesday last. We shall be glad to have a visit from any citizen. 10.30 is the hour each morning.

BUSINESS EDUCATION.

From its inception the Belleville Business College has aimed at and accomplished thorough-going systematic work, superior to that accomplished by its competitors. In spite of the keenest competition the attendance has steadily increased; and December 1893 finds the Belleville Business College with the largest attendance of any business college in this part of the country. Students are in attendance from far and near, more than 80 from Belleville and vicinity alone. Work accomplishes more than talk.

Superior text-books, competent and earnest teachers, and the best equipped rooms of any business college in Canada explain the secret of the truly marvellous success that marks the history of the Belleville Business College.

The annual illustrated circular of 176 pages tells of honest work done.

JURYMEN ARE WEARY.

Night Sessions Are Dispensed With in the Hooper Trial.

THE EVIDENCE OF DOCTORS

Brings Out the Fact That the Deceased Woman Could Not Have Died from Heart Failure—Medical Testimony the Chief Hope of Defence.

JOLIETTE, Jan. 12.—Yesterday at the trial of Hooper, Mr. Narcisse Lachapelle, one of the jurors, announced that the jurymen had decided to object to night sessions. He declared that they were not accustomed to sitting on hard benches from 9.30 a.m. to 10.30 p.m., for they were farmers. Judge Delormier agreed to accommodate the sittings of the court to them, and it was decided to sit from 9 to 6.

The first witness was Joseph Beausoleil, undertaker, of Terrebonne, who sold the coffin to the accused. It was the cheapest coffin he had, and six dollars was paid for that. Accused wanted the body embalmed, but as witness could not do this he suggested that high wines be poured in her throat. Witness was obliged to try to open the teeth with a large knife, but could not because they were so tightly clenched. The woman was placed in the coffin with her clothes on, just as she had died.

Dr. Douglas, of Cobourg, was sworn. He had made a post mortem examination with Dr. Corbett, jr., on the body of Mrs. Hooper. He read a report filed with the coroner at Port Hope, which declared no cause could be assigned for death. The only point on which he would concede that the examination was defective was that the coronary arteries of the heart were not opened It was an oversight. There was no congestion of brain so far as could be ascertained in the examination, but that did not necessarily show that there had been no poisoning by hydrocyanic acid.

The cross-examination of Dr. Douglas was continued in the afternoon. The defence rely almost entirely upon the medical evidence to win the case. Professor Adams, of McGill College, has been secured by the defence and is posting Mr. Greenshields how to examine the medical witnesses. "Is it not probable that Mrs. Hooper had a weak heart, and if she had suffered from fits, might not heart failure have been brought about by a fit?" "It is highly improbable." "Why is it?" "Heart failure rarely follows a fit." "In the whole autopsy there was no odor of prussic acid, was there?" "I did not notice any." "You found no symptoms of prussic acid poisoning?" "No, I did not. At the inquest at Port Hope it is true that I said death might have been caused by some other causes than prussic acid."

Examined by Mr. McMaster—"Is it hard to trace the poison a considerable time after death?" "It is." "You can swear positively that the body was well nourished, can you not?" "Yes, the body was well nourished."

Dr. Corbett, of Port Hope, was the next witness. He was examined up till the adjournment of the court.

DELL ANDREWS.

The Grand Jury Finds a True Bill Against Him as an Accessory.

TORONTO, Jan. 12.—The Grand Jury found a true bill against Dell Andrews yesterday as accessory after the fact on the grounds that Dell Andrews, knowing that R. I. Andrews, Alice Andrews and Cassie Andrews had performed an unlawful operation on Lucy Denning, had unlawfully harbored the criminals and assisted them to escape.

The Crown was not ready to go on with the case so it was decided to leave it over until the March session. His bail was renewed.

THE PERSIAN LAMB CAP.

It Is Said the Detectives Have Discovered Its Existence.

TORONTO, Jan. 12.—Provincial Detective Greer and the city detectives are still hunting evidence in the Williams case. It was learned yesterday that they have located the now famous imitation Persian lamb cap which it is said MacWherrell wore on the day of the murder. It will be produced at the investigation.

The prisoners were up before the magistrate yesterday in Brampton and were remanded for a week.

A Sensational Case in Windsor.

WINDSOR, Jan. 12.—A writ was issued yesterday in the office of the County Court Clerk by Lawyer Sol White on behalf of Miss Rose Theberrit against Alex. Parent for $5,000, on the charge of seduction and breach of promise. Mr. Parent is a wealthy Walkerville citizen, and his friends expected the marriage to take place some time this week. Miss Theberrit resides with her parents in Sandwich East and has always borne a first-rate reputation. She is a very handsome young woman of about 21 years of age.

Struck by a Locomotive and Killed.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 12.—J. McArthur Griffith, of Buffalo, was walking on the cross-walk leading from the N.Y.C. depot at Suspension Bridge, N.Y., to the Central House, last night, when he was struck by a G.T.R. yard engine while the latter was running around a train of freight cars, and instantly killed. The tender of the engine striking Griffith, knocked him down, the wheels passing over both his legs, crushing them badly, also over his right shoulder and head.

Another Species of Crank.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 12.—A mysterious stranger has badly frightened a number of ladies in the city. He is described as a dark complexioned man of medium height, and his prank is to look in windows after dark. When he attracts attention he shoves his face close up to the window pane. Whether he is bent on plunder or is merely a crank is not known.

Judge Landry Congratulated.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Jan. 12.—At the opening of the Supreme Court the Grand Jury presented an address to Judge Landry congratulating him on his appointment to the Supreme Court, and making appropriate reference to the fact that he is the first French Canadian to occupy a seat in Supreme Court in this province.

Horses Burned in Lucan.

LUCAN, Ont., Jan. 12.—A small stable belonging to Samuel McLean situated on Frank street, in which were stabled two horses and two cows, accidentally took fire about half past nine o'clock last night and was totally consumed. The cows were saved but the horses and all other contents were burned.

HE USED CHLOROFORM.

Sensational Arrest of a High School Principal in Newcastle, Pa.

NEWCASTLE, Pa., Jan. 12.—Great excitement was occasioned yesterday by the arrest of Prof. F. O. Hartshorne, principal of the Newcastle High School. Yesterday morning cries of murder coming from the residence of Miss Alda Robinson and her elder sister, on North street, attracted the attention of George McKee, who ran into the house to learn the cause. He found the air heavy with the odor of chloroform. The elder Miss Robinson stated that when awakened she discovered Prof. Hartshorne bending over the bed occupied by her sister Alda, shaking a handkerchief saturated with chloroform. She at once cried for assistance.

Further investigation disclosed that a criminal operation had been committed upon Miss Alda, who charges her ruin upon Hartshorne. The sisters claim that Hartshorne, who had threatened to kill them if they ever exposed him, was trying to chloroform them to death. An hour later the police captured Dr. Howard Campbell in the neighborhood, but they let him go. The girls claim now that it was Dr. Campbell who performed the operation, but he has disappeared. Miss Alda is in a critical condition. She is 34 years of age.

Hartshorne has been principal of the High School two years. He is in jail and refuses to talk except to say that he is innocent.

BASIS OF POLITICAL LAWS.

Acceptance of the Established Form of Government Is Obedience to the Pope.

PARIS, Jan. 12.—Count Mun, the well-known Catholic member of the last Chamber of Deputies, who was defeated in the recent elections, will send a circular letter to the electors of Morlaix, in which he will say he is convinced that the Catholic faith is the necessary basis of social and political laws and the sole remedy against the evils of revolution. He will further say that acceptance of the established form of government is obedience to the Pope.

Cabinet Crisis in Brussels.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 12.—M. Bernaert, the Prime Minister who recently tendered his resignation to the King, had an interview with his Majesty yesterday. M. Bernaert told the King that unless the groups of the party of the right in the Chamber of Deputies become re-united by Saturday and supported his policy of compromise in the reform bill he would be compelled to insist upon the acceptance of his resignation.

Vaillant Will Not Ask for Pardon.

PARIS, Jan. 12.—Notwithstanding Vaillant's assertion that he would not sign the appeal from his sentence, he yesterday announced that he would sign it. The appeal will ask the Supreme Court to quash the verdict and to grant a new trial. Vaillant says that if the appeal should be rejected he will not appeal to President Carnot for a pardon.

Russia Increasing Her Naval Strength.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 12.—The Russian naval estimates for 1894 are £5,500,000 sterling, exceeding the total credits of 1892 and 1893 by more than £2,000,000. Two enormous cruisers are to be built on the Neva. Additions are to be made to the Black Sea fleet, which will then consist of eight large ironclads, six gunboats, several cruisers and a score of torpedo boats.

Louis Kossuth Is Not Dead.

VIENNA, Jan. 12.—A report to the effect that Louis Kossuth, the celebrated Hungarian patriot, had died, was received here yesterday. The rumor was believed for hours in Vienna and Budapest, but the fact is, however, that Kossuth, who has been indisposed, is better and walks out daily.

British Budget Deficit.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The Financial News estimates the deficit in the coming budget at £2,000,000. Sir William Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, proposes to meet it by a wholesale revision of the death duties, possibly combined with a graduated income tax.

Infernal Machines in Italy.

ROME, Jan. 12.—An infernal machine, loaded with revolver cartridges, exploded outside the Casino at Ancona, a port of Central Italy, last night. It did little damage. Explosions took place about the same time in several other towns in the province of Ancona.

Marriage of a Clergyman-Baronet's Son.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The marriage of Miss Elsie Burrows, daughter of Mr. Ogden Hoffman Burrows, of Newport, R.I., and Capt. John Shiffner, eldest son of the Rev. Sir George Croxton Shiffner, baronet, took place yesterday at Hove, a suburb of Brighton.

Greek Firm Goes Under.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—M. F. Pasati & Co., a Greek firm in the grain trade, has suspended payment. Their trouble was caused by their inability to obtain the payment of outstanding debts in Bucharest. It is supposed that the suspension will be only temporary.

Virchow Has Recovered.

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—Prof. Rudolph Virchow, who has been seriously ill with influenza, appeared at the Pathological Institute yesterday for the first time in several days and delivered his Thursday lecture as formerly.

Public Executions in France.

PARIS, Jan. 12.—A bill will be introduced in the Chamber of Deputies to abolish the public execution of criminals. An amendment, which it is said will be strongly supported, will be offered abolishing capital punishment.

The Princess of Wales Recovering.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The British Medical Journal says that the Princess of Wales is recovering from her recent illness and all cause for anxiety is past. She had a relapse after the influenza and was threatened with diphtheria.

Mrs. Thackeray Dead.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The widow of Wm. Makepeace Thackeray died yesterday at her residence at Leigh, Lancashire, aged 75 years. He had lived in retirement at Leigh for upwards of 40 years.

The Dalton Gang Again Heard From.

GUTHRIE, O.T., Jan. 12.—The Dalton gang plundered the post-office at the town of Clarkson, east of here, yesterday, taking all the stamps and money and a wagon load of provisions.

Excursion Steamer Goes Down.

ROME, Jan. 12.—The excursion steamer Sibella was sunk in a collision after leaving Naples yesterday. The engineer and a priest and his niece were drowned.

AMERICANS FOR BRAZIL

An Officer in the States Gathering Up Men for Peixoto.

PREPARING FOR A FINAL BLOW

The President Will Assemble His Fleet at Rio Janeiro and Attempt to Wipe Out Mello's Squadron—Bombarding Goes on Daily.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—It is stated that Julius D, Rhodes, who claims to be a recruiting officer of the Brazilian Government, has succeeded in securing the enrollment of 100 men in Washington. In a letter to the Baltimore and Ohio railroad officials regarding the transportation of his men to New York, Capt. Rhodes asserted that 1,000 men had been enlisted in this country to go to Brazil and fight for the republic. He said that they had been gathered in different cities, among them being Buffalo, Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington. In Baltimore 150 men had been secured. In case satisfactory arrangements could be reached, payment would be made either in cash or by an order of Minister Mendonca on the Brazilian Government.

Upon inquiry being made by the railroad officials, the Brazilian Minister declared Capt. Rhodes to be acting without authority.

It is understood that Minister Mendonca has written a letter to the Minister of State, calling his attention to the matter.

PARIS, Jan. 12.—The Brazilian Minister here says that he has received authentic information that President Peixoto has not resigned and has no intention of doing so. The Government's position, he adds, is strong.

Preparing a Crushing Blow.

BUENOS AYRES, Jan. 12. — President Peixoto expects to put an end to the revolution by a crushing blow late this month or early in February.

He looks for the arrival at Rio de Janeiro towards the last of this month of his new fleet, now gathering at Pernambuco—the Nictheroy, America and Destroyer, bought and equipped in New York, and the torpedo boats he got from England and Germany.

This new fleet—which may include the battleships Riachuelo and Benjamin Constant—is to co-operate with the local forts and the Government's land batteries and troops to wipe out the crippled remnants of Admiral Mello's squadron in the bay.

The daily bombarding goes on as usual, but there has been no material changes in the situation for some days.

Letters from Rio de Janeiro bring the text of Admiral Saldanha da Gama's manifesto, the substance of which has been cabled, disclaiming the intention—attributed to him after his first appeal to the people of Brazil—of laboring for the overthrow of the republic and the restoration of the monarchy.

Peixoto's Trump Card.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—The Herald's Montevideo special says: A correspondent in Rio sends word that the dirigible balloon, which President Peixoto ordered constructed for use in the campaign, is almost completed. It differs from other war balloons in having an electric motor. This balloon is made of silk in spherical form, so that its equipoise is constantly maintained. No metal other than aluminium is used in its construction. Dynamite bombs will be dropped from the balloon on the rebel fleet.

The siege of Bage continues without advantage to either party. There has been a vigorous fight at Itajahy, in which the rebels were defeated with heavy losses.

RIO JANEIRO, Jan. 12.—The two Government columns, under the command of Generals Hippolyto and Sampayo, the former marching from Libramento and the latter from Cerro Chato, which were ordered to proceed to the relief of Bage in Rio Grande do Sul should arrive to-day at their destination. These two columns together number 5,600 men. A battle will probably be fought at Bage before the end of the week.

Advices received from Itajahy, via Rio Grande do Sul, give details of the battle fought there on December 8. The Government forces completely routed the insurgents, killing General Vasco Martins, their leader, and many of the insurgent troops. The insurgents tried to take the Government position on Mocangue Island by storm on Tuesday night, but were driven off.

THE POPE INDIGNANT.

Repudiates the Assertion that He Was Cognizant of the French Intrigues.

ROME, Jan. 12.—The Pope received on January 8th a deputation of Roman aristocrats. In speaking with them he repudiated indignantly the suggestion that he was aware of the alleged French intrigues in Sicily.

"I was born in Italy," he said, "and I love my fatherland. The man who does not love his fatherland is unworthy of God's blessing."

During the recent rioting in Misilmeri, Sicily, the mob drove out the troops, killing 6 and wounding 20. The troops then re-entered the town, killing and wounding rioters by the scores. The troops remained victorious.

Does Not Want to Elude His Creditors.

PARIS, Jan. 12.—The case against Dr. Cornelius Herz, so often mentioned in connection with the Panama scandal, came up again in the first Chamber of the Civil Court here yesterday. The action is brought to obtain an order from the court that houses bought in Paris by Dr. Herz should be regarded as his property and not his wife's, so that his creditors can have a claim on them.

Agitating Shoemakers Strike in Berlin.

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—A mass meeting of Anarchists was held in this city last evening. The speakers denounced Herr Wilhelm Bock, a Social-Democratic member of the Reichstag, whose article in the Shoemakers' Trade Journal on Saturday last led to the arrest of Koenig and Hildebrant, who are shoemakers, on the charge of inciting to anarchism. Agitation for a strike of the shoemakers is progressing.

Lord Kimberley's Case is Serious.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The attack of influenza from which the Earl of Kimberley, Lord President of the Council and Secretary of State for India, is suffering, has developed into a serious case of bronchitis.

Princess Colonna's Case.

PARIS, Jan. 12.—The case of Princess Colonna against her husband, an action for a judicial separation, was called in court yesterday, but was again postponed for a week.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Conservatives seem to be bending all their energies in attacking Hon. G. W. Ross, Minister of Education. The reason for this is because educational matters more directly touch the public than those of any other department, and therefore falsehood and misrepresentation, if persisted in, are more apt to succeed in this than any other case. Mr. Ross, however, is well able to endure the attacks. No better administrator ever sat at the head of any department, and to day Canada's educational system is without a peer in the world, and it is the subject of the warmest eulogiums by all the leading educationalists everywhere. If a tree is known by its fruit then does Mr. Ross deserve the heartiest support and the warmest thanks of the people of Ontario.

The Toronto World, in its report of the Board of Trade banquet, said: "Mr. Ross, Minister of Education, held his audience spell-bound, and was the powerful man of the night." This is strong testimony coming from a Tory paper, and in view of the fact that Hon. Mr. Foster, a leading United States orator and other notables were present.

Our local contemporary is concerning itself about the Wardenship of the county for this year. It is the year for a Liberal warden and the Intelligencer is trying to create dissensions within the ranks by asserting that there is a squabble for the position. In saying this the Intelligencer is impertinent and meddling with what is none of its business. If more than one is asking for the position that does not imply any dissensions. Last year two or three Tories were disputing among themselves as to who would get the position, but our contemporary then said nothing about "squabbling" and the ONTARIO had the grace to not meddle in the matter.

Byron's Shrine

"Shrine of the mighty! can it be
That this is all remains of thee?"—Byron

See a woman once rosy and bright, fair and beautiful, light of heart, quick of step, dulcet in tones, the very light and life of the house, and you see a picture that might be called a bit of Paradise. See that same woman worn by disease, pale and haggard, heavy of heart, speaking seldom, casting a shadow of gloom throughout the house by her presence, and you have a picture of Paradise Lost. Alas, she suffers from the ills that thousands of women know. Tell her that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Perscription is a certain cure for feminine weaknesses and derangement, it will restore health and good spirits and make her once more, a blessing to her family and the world.

Donnoha, Forsyth Co., N. C.

Dr. R. V. Pierce: Dear Sir—For some six or seven years my wife had been an invalid. Becoming convinced that it was her only hope, we bought six bottles of of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and "Golden Medical Discovery." To the surprise of the community and the joy of myself and family, in one week my wife commenced to improve, and long before she had taken the last bottle she was able to do her own work (she had not been able to do it before for seven years), and when she had taken the last of the medicine she was soundly cured. Yours truly,

A SHORTENING.

Down the street through the busy way
A lady passed on marketing day,
Who, pausing at a grocery store,
Stepped quickly in at the open door.
With bated breath and anxious mien
She queried: "have you COTTOLENE?"

The grocer, leaving off his work,
Interrogated every clerk;
But none up to that time had seen
An article called "COTTOLENE."

"What is it?" said he to the dame,
"That answers to this curious name.
What is it made of? What's its use?
My ignorance you'll please excuse."

"You're not the merchant for my dimes,
I see you're quite behind the times.
For COTTOLENE, I'd have you know,
Is now the thing that's all the go,
An article of high regard;
A healthful substitute for lard.
Its composition pure and clean;
For cooking give me COTTOLENE."

As from his store the lady fled,
The grocer gently scratched his head—
On his next order, first was seen,
"One dozen cases COTTOLENE."

Ask Your Grocer for it.

Prize History of the Fair

We are pleased to learn that the World's Columbian Exposition Illustrated received the highest and only award as the most Authentic and Complete Illustrated History of the Great World's Fair. This valuable work contains full descriptions of the Fair with 3000 large, copper-plate half tone, photographic illustrations of the Grounds, Buildings, Exhibits and Attractions of the Exposition The illustrations are from photographs, showing the laborers as they turned the first shovel-full of earth when the great Fair was begun, and the progress of the Exposition Grounds and Buildings in all stages of construction from the swamp covered with brush and trees, to the world-famed "White City," filled with treasures of Art and works of Genius from the storehouses of the world and adorned with its Spires, Turrents and Gilded Domes.

In all it is the richest and most valuable work ever published. It is the World's Fair on paper. By perusing its pages the great exposition can be revisited in years to come. It should be in every library and home in the civilized world. Send 25 cents for sample number and full particulars. Reliable agents wanted. Address.

IN THE U.S. CONGRESS.

The Threats of Arrest Had the Desired Effect on Members.

STEVENS SEVERELY SCORED.

His Ungallant Expressions With Regard to Queen Lil Calls Forth the Contempt of Senator Turpie—How the McKinley Bill Worked.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—When the House met yesterday there was a better attendance on the floor than on any day since the debate on the tariff bill began. Later on more members appeared and the crowd in the galleries increased.

The Senate was entertained with two able speeches on the subject of Hawaii. The first was by Mr. Davis (Minn.) in continuation of that which he had commenced yesterday, and the second by Mr. Turpie (Dem., Ind.) Mr. Davis argued that the appointment of Mr. Blount as commissioner to Hawaii without the advice and consent of the Senate was a presidential invasion of the privileges of the Senate.

Mr. Turpie took the broad ground that the provisional government of Hawaii was a defacto government which could not rightly be interfered with.

Mr. Stevens was held up to execration as an unworthy minister and man for his coarse expressions as to the Queen, who had been his hostess for many months, and he was characterized in Mr. Turpie's forcible language as a spy, an ingrate and an outlaw.

In speaking of the loss of foreign trade resulting from a high tariff and particularly the loss of Canadian trade, Mr. Springer asserted that the McKinley bill had unjustly discriminated against the Canadians. There should be a free commercial intercourse between this country and Canada, and although Canada was the natural customer of the United States in retaliation for the discrimination of the McKinley bill English agricultural products were put in competition with American products in Canada, and Canadians were willing to pay the higher cost of English goods.

The advices received from Mr. Willis confirm the despatches received by the Warrimo. The text is withheld.

The Committee on Ways and Means have agreed upon the form of the paragraph covering the whiskey tax, but the text of it will not be made public until the whole section is approved. The provisions previously agreed upon informally were adopted by formal action, viz.:—An increase of 10 cents a gallon on the liquor, including all in bond at the present time, with an extension of the bonded period as an offset to the increase. Some time was devoted to the income tax paragraph, but no conclusion was reached.

WANTED TO BE BANDITS.

But the Youngsters' Courage Failed Them at the Supreme Moment.

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 12.—The northbound passenger train on the Des Moines & Kansas City Railway was fired into by youthful would-be bandits near Decateur City yesterday afternoon. One bullet just missed the conductor's head. The train was stopped and the passengers secreted their valuables, but as no bandits appeared the conductor and brakesman investigated. They arrested two boys who were hidden in the bushes across the track. They were taken to Vanwart and landed in jail. They refused to give their names, but say their parents are prominent farmers. Superintendent Sherwood, of this city, will prosecute. It is supposed they started to be bandits, but their courage failed them at the critical time.

THE WOOLEN TRADE.

A Deputation From the Association Waits Upon the Tariff Committee.

OTTAWA, Jan. 12.—The committee appointed by the Woolen Manufacturers' Association waited on the tariff committee yesterday and presented a mass of figures and statistics showing the growth of the business in Canada and how it is affected by the present tariff. The manufacturers' committee, after they left the Ministers, said that they had not the slightest idea what the Government intended doing in regard to their particular industry. Mr. H. W. Heneker, president of the Paton Woolen Mills Co. of Sherbrooke, and son-in-law of the late Sir John Abbott, who is a member of the committee before referred to, was asked if the woolen manufacturers could get along with less tariff protection than they now enjoyed. He said: "No, the outlook for the woolen trade of Canada is very gloomy as it is. Our company has not paid a dividend for three years, though we have managed to keep the mills going, and have not reduced the wages of our employes. Our market is limited to Canada, and as wool is free now the Government cannot help us by abolishing the duties on raw materials. In view of the reductions in the cost of English and German woolen clothes, we could not stand a reduction of the tariff, and the closing of our mills would be a sad thing for Sherbrooke and the eastern townships."

FLEMING'S CABLE SCHEME.

Manager of the French Company Thinks it to be Impracticable.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Jan. 12.—The following advices have been received here from Australia: "Mr. Audley Cooke, manager of the French Cable Company, has written to the New South Wales Government a protest against Mr. Sandford Fleming's rival cable scheme, which Mr. Cooke declares to be impracticable, and the Postmaster General of New South Wales has expressed the same view.

"The chief objection against the proposed new line is that with a view of touching only on British territory, Mr. Fleming proposes one length of 4,000 miles of cable, which would be exceedingly difficult of operation.

"In this connection the Sydney Morning Herald publishes a leading editorial warmly supporting the Canadian scheme."

TRAGEDY IN MILTON.

An Aged Widow Meets Her Death Under Mysterious Circumstances.

MILTON, Ont., Jan. 12.—A tragedy occurred in this vicinity early last Sunday morning which resulted in the terrible death by burning of an elderly woman named Margaret Ford, the widow of the late George Ford, an old, highly-respected and widely-connected farmer of the neighboring Township of Nelson. The casualty would in all probability have attracted but a passing notice were it not for the fact that many ugly rumors have arisen as to the treatment the deceased had received at the hands of her nearest relatives, who had the care of her, rumors which, if substantiated, will place those implicated in a very awkward predicament.

THE MONUMENT DYNAMITERS

Protest Against the "Three Young Frenchmen" Undergoing Law Examination.

MONTREAL, Jan. 12.—An interesting incident took place yesterday before the examiners of candidates for admission to the study of the law. Amongst the applicants were the three young men, Mercier, Pellard and De Montigny, who some weeks ago attempted to blow up the Nelson monument with dynamite. Several of the examiners were strongly opposed to allowing the young men to be examined and a long discussion ensued. It was finally agreed to allow the young men to undergo examination.

Grand Jurymen Take Things Easy.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 12.—At the Middlesex Assizes now in progress the presiding judge took occasion to make some inquiries about the grand jury. The gentlemen composing it have taken three days to throw out one indictment and inspect the two or three public institutions in the city. The judge declares that they shall not be paid for another day whether they put it in or not.

Mr. Marter Will Not Run.

BURKS FALLS, Jan. 12.—A meeting of the Liberal-Conservatives of Parry Sound and Muskoka was held here yesterday for the nomination of a candidate for the next provincial election. Mr. W. R. Beatty, of Parry Sound, was the choice of the convention. Mr. G. F. Marter, M.P.P., was named, but declined to stand.

A. F. Gault's Princely Gift.

MONTREAL, Jan. 12.—Mr. A. F. Gault, the Canadian cotton king and head of Gault Bros., has presented $100,000 to the Montreal Theological College to be devoted to the training of clergymen for the Church of England in Canada.

The Earth Troubled Again.

GODBOUT, Que., Jan. 12.—A heavy shock of earthquake, lasting ten seconds, was felt here yesterday. The shock was also felt at Point Desmonts, Pentecost, Seven Islands and Moisie.

The Shatford Case.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Jan. 12.—The Shatford case was continued yesterday with arguments by Messrs. Curry and Hazen. Judge Tuck announced he would deliver judgment this afternoon.

Shutting Out Canadians.

ALBANY, N.Y., Jan. 12.—When the State Federation of Labor convened yesterday a long discussion was held on a proposed measure making it a misdemeanor for subjects of the Dominion of Canada or Mexico to work in the United States unless they shall have immigrated to this country. The matter was tabled.

Dynamite in New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Unknown dynamite fiends blew up Princus Ganss' tailor shop at 54 avenue D, Wednesday night. Their intent was evidently to blow up the whole tenement. The dynamite was found soaked in kerosene, with powder trains laid in the alley. One unexploded bomb is in the hands of the police.

The Mexican Revolutionists.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 12.—The revolutionists declare that in the mountains near Texas they have 2,000 men, and that within two months they have killed 300 Federal soldiers, and that twice that number of the Federal army have joined them.

France Wants Damages.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—France gives notice to claim damages of the World's Fair directors for loss in the fire. The directors say they are not responsible, and if the exhibitors held no insurance they must sue the United States Government.

"Among the many testimonials which I see in regard to certain medicines performing cures, cleansing the blood, etc., none impress me more than my own case. Twenty years ago, at the age of 18 years, I had swellings come on my legs, which broke and became running sores. Our family physician could do me no good, and it was feared that the bones would be affected. At last, my good old

IN TICE'S OFFICE

The purlieus of Squire Tice's little office harbored many quaint characters, who found the shade of the big mulberries before the door a pleasant lounging place in summer and the warmth from the smoky little ramshackle stove very grateful in the cooler weather, when the keen, frost laden air drove them from the boxes and kegs that served as seats to the shelter of the dingy little office.

A strange and motley crowd they looked on one rainy evening after a long day of idleness. Near the glazed door, where the light was strongest, sat the old squire himself, intent on the contents of the evening paper. Near the stove the head bailiff, long and lank, out at elbow and down at heel, sat busily masticating tobacco and squirting the juice at a jagged knothole in the old floor and watching a figure near by which was partly hidden in the murky surroundings by the denser gloom of the huge desk.

They were not picking on him tonight. They were listening with listless attention to an oft repeated story of one of the hardened veterans of the gutter, whose would be thrilling denouement was answered by a quiet observation in a squeaky, quavering voice.

"We kin all'n us tell hard luck stories, an most of 'em a heap harder'n yourn."

"Well, mebbe so; mebby so," and the somnolent silence that fell on the group was broken by the hasty opening and shutting of the door, letting in with the gust of moisture and chill wind a couple that the practiced eye of the squire instantly discovered to be a wedding party. They were unattended by friends of either party and it was plain to be seen by their dress and manner that they were up country folks, probably on their first visit to the city. The bride lingered in the shadow while the groom made known their errand, and the official bailiff lighted the flickering, dirty lamp that only served to make darkness more visible. The ceremony was quickly performed, and the old squire, he who had boasted of having kissed 400 brides in that dismal little room, availed himself of the privilege, and the gawky pair, blushing and awkward, but very happy, departed as quickly and silently as they came.

The incident of the marriage, a common one enough in the magistrate's experience, escaped his memory along with similar events that had nothing attached to them to insure them a permanent place, but it was recalled many years after, when by skillful wire pulling and service to his party at the polls the old magistrate exchanged his humble office for the august position of turnkey in the big Atlanta jail.

One morning a batch of prisoners were brought in, consigned to their cells and their crimes docketed, and before the name of a particular man the charge of "violating the revenue law" was written.

Time had changed both men much, but the prisoner recognized immediately the justice who had tied his nuptial knot many years ago. He was many days a prisoner before his pathetic story was unfolded to the sympathetic ears of the old jailer.

Sad enough, it is still a common enough one in this section of the country.

"You see," he said, "a man is bleeged ter take keer of his fam'ly the best way he kin, after he's done got 'em, an when he is a-doin hit he don't think 'bout no law he is breakin. Along when we was fust j'ined we tried crappin hit, fust on one plantation, then on t'other, but how is you goin to make bread when bread is four times as high as cotton? We couldn't, so we just quit an went up yonder in the mountings. A'ter awhile our boy quit home an went to Clarksville, an he never come back. He knew what I was a-doin up thar in the hills an hit went agin him. He couldn't josh his dad an tell him what to do, so he just quit.

"'Liza, too, she knowed what I was a-doin, an hit mighty nigh killed her to think that I was a moonshiner—an she hated a moonshiner worse'n pizen. Though she never let on like she knowed, the purty color faded from her cheek, an she grew old in a'most a month.

"I couldn't bear to see the gal that was once so cheerful an chipper, an so I staid at the still till most mornin creepin home when her an the chillen was sound asleep in their beds.

"One night 'bout sundown 'Liza took the trail down the hill from the house. She stopped at the spring, but I wasn't thar. She kept on up the other hill, an on the t'other side she seed me at the still. Hit was jist what she 'xpected ter find, but hit was enough. Then she crept back an took what little money she had put by in the trunk. She was a-goin to Clarksville to find her boy. She was a-hurryin through the dark when she heerd a pistol shot an heerd 'em a-cuttin up the still, an then she seed the flames shoot up through the trees an knowed what hit meant. She was by the roadside when the team with the plunder went by, an she seed the pris'ner. Then the revenoos tuck me to Clarksville to catch the early mornin train."

A woman's love, as deep as the ocean and as lasting as time. Last week 'Liza walked from Clarksville to Atlanta, a matter of 80 miles, and in the narrow cell, with outstretched arms and kisses of love, she forgave and forgot. On the bosom of the rough mountaineer she welcomed back his love, and with the cold jail walls for witnesses pledged anew the vows that for a time had been broken.

Then back to her little mountain home she trudged, to prepare and wait for his coming. In a few more days he will have paid the penalty of his folly and will once more be a free man. With the coming of the golden Indian summer he will join her whose faithfulness has reclaimed him.

"Will you do me a favor, jedge?" he asked. "I want you ter write 'Liza a letter for me. Tell her that when I git out I'll go straight ter her. I will have ter walk, for I have no money, but hit will be mighty sweet ter see her agin at any cost."

Strong man that he was, strong in body, but now strong in resolution, as he talked of the new life he was going to live, his former happiness seemed but as the morning rays to the noonday brightness when compared to this last in the happy meeting that was to be in his future.—Louise Pike.

Loyal to Excess.

King Oscar of Sweden once passed through a little town, which was festively decorated for the occasion. Among the rest, a huge transparency, affixed to a gloomy looking edifice, attracted his attention. It bore the inscription: "Welcome to Your Majesty!" in gigantic characters.

"What building is that?" the king inquired.

"That is the county prison, your majesty," replied one of the aldermen.

The king laughed and was heard to observe: "That is carrying matters a little too far!"—Chronik der Zelt.

NEARING THE CLOSE

A SPLENDID MEETING LAST NIGHT IN THE CITY HALL

Several Practical and Instructive Addresses on Subjects of Interest to the Farmers

After Prof. Shutt's excellent paper Thursday forenoon Mr. A. A. Ayer of Montreal gave a practical address on the kind of butter wanted and proper method for securing same. We should be more careful what we feed to cows. It is necessary to be more careful in what is fed to cows than to ourselves. We may eat onions, but you cannot feed them to cows, but they should be provided with wholesome water. The milk should be kept clean if we desire to make first-class butter. Milk should not be kept near or in places where it may be contaminated by foul air If their butter making is improved the price will be higher.

Mr. A. Pattullo of Woodstock gave a short but practical address on good roads, explaining in a lucid manner how they should be constructed and maintained. If this were done the price of hauling could be reduced and a large saving made to the patron of the cheese and creamery factories. Good pathmasters should be appointed to superintend the work of making the roads. By having good roads it would be to their interest in many ways, making them more prosperous and contented.

The meeting then adjourned until 2 p. m.

Thursday Afternoon.

The session opened at 2 p. m. Mr. J. W. Wheaton, B.A., secretary of the Western Dairymen's Association, gave an excellent address on the relations of the patrons to the creamery.

"Our dairy schools" was the subject of an address given by Prof. Dean of the Guelph Agricultural College. A dairy school was found to be needed and one was established in connection with the college at Guelph. There have been a large number who wished to attend, in fact some 80 had to be refused on account of want of room. The object of the dairy school is to give practical and scientific education of butter making. The college was considered the best best place to have the school on account of the facilities there were there. Everything has been done to make it a success. Good teachers are employed and the best machinery is used so as to give the student every facility of becoming well versed in the manufacture of butter. No charge is made for the tution, but $5 is charged for incidental expenses and students have to pay for their board which can be obtained cheap. He then gave in detail the course that is pursued in reference to the teaching. The students are set to work to make practical tests of butter and also cheese, and also discussed matters relating to their manufacture. One of the chief things inculcated is cleanliness and neatness which were imperative in making good butter. Certificates are given to students as soon as they pass their examination. When they enter a creamery or a cheese factory another certificate is given them. The object is to obtain a uniformity in the manufacture of cheese and butter. If we have uniformity he claimed it would give a greater confidence to the market.

Prof. Robertson, Dominion Dairy Commissioner, of Ottawa, gave an address on, "The winter dairying movement in Ontario." This address was replete with valuable information. In the year 1886 an agitation commenced for the forming of an association. The question of winter dairying was discussed at a convention in Ingersoll and many were the objections which were raised, it even being contended that it would spoil the cheese industry. In that year the speaker visited England and Denmark and saw what was being done there in this direction. He saw that dairying in winter did pay. If we want to make dairying pay we should do it the whole year around. He also found that the Englishmen wanted a first class article to eat, and we must manufacture it to suit their taste. Last year from cheese received some $13,000,000, since 1886 have doubled our output. Last year e demand was so great because of the arcity of manufacture in England and so the United States. If this should ll off, then the revenue would fall. But r making should thus be extended. The aking of butter in winter is practicable. he altering of a cheese factory into a reamery would cost about $1000. Almost any good factory could manufacture enough to make a good profit. There are three creameries in Ontario under his control which last winter sold $12,000 of butter. There were in Canada some 1,600 cheese factories. If one in every ten was converted into a creamery in winter this would mean 160 creameries. It is both practicable and profitable. It would give paying employment about the farm in winter. It would be a good thing to employ the cheese maker all the year around, even if he did receive a smaller salary per month than what he is at present receiving for the time in which he is employed in the factory. The cow if properly attended to would prove to the farmer to be a profitable animal. In some cases they cost more than they worth because they are not attended to right. They should be fed with good juicy feed. He advocated the feeding of ensilage. Every farmer should erect a rilo for the storing of ensilerage. It would save a farmer money. Horse beans fed with corn are good. Cows also need oil, and the best way to get it is to plant an acre with sunflowers, from which 729 lbs. of oil can be obtained. This cost 3 cts. per lb. for production whilst the butter fat produced is worth 18c per pound. The milk should be sent to the creameries and thus the women would be relieved of the responsibility of making butter and would have more time to attend to their household duties, and make home more pleasant. The speaker was loudly cheered on resuming his seat.

The Evening Meeting.

The public meeting in the city Hall last night was a great success in all respects. The hall was filled to its utmost seating capacity and the people of Belleville did themselves honor in the manner in which they welcomed their guests on this occasion. Mayor Wallbridge presided with excellent tact, and everything passed off without a hitch.

The Riggs' family orchestra put the audience into good humor by one of their fine selections which wasloudly applauded.

J. W. Wheaton, B. A., was the first speaker, his subject being "organization as the basis of success. He pointed out what organization and co-operation had accomplished in other kinds of business, and as good results would follow if farmers and dairymen would organize more thoroughly for the promotion of their interests.

Mr. Frank Lewis gave a solo in splendid form and was accorded an encore, to which he responded.

Prof. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, next spoke at some length on rightly equipping the boys for the farm. His address was a very able and practical one. He first pointed out that agriculture was the foundation of Canada's material wealth. He showed that the capital invested in agriculture in Ontario alone was three times as much as was invested in manufacturing industries in the whole Dominion, that the agricultural product was the largest of that of any industry, that about one-half of our exports consisted of products of the farm, and that 40 per cent of all the workers in Canada were farmers and agricultural loborers, He also showed that in the older provinces the number of farmers and farm laborers had decreased largely the past ten years, a fact greatly to be deplored. He deprecated the tendency of young men from the county to flock to the cities, and showed that this was due to a misconception as to the financial and social advantages of the city as compared with the country. He declared that the average farmer made more money than the average amount made in any other business or profession. The mistake the boys on the farm made was in comparing the condition of the former with that of the few conspicuous examples of success in the city. He admitted that the social attractions in the city were greater than in the country, but pointed out that too often these but lured young men to their ruin He gave the story of the sirens whose enchanting music lured so many sailors to their destruction, Ulysses saved himself and his crew by filling the ears of his sailors with wax so they could not hear the music, and binding himself to the mast, and so floated safely but reluctantly by. But Orpheus had a more excellent way. He played upon his harp music so much more beautiful than that of the sirens that his sailors had no desire to go ashore. He thus beautifully illustrated the best way to offset the social attractions of the city, not by steeling their hearts against such things, but by providing better and more wholesome attractions in the country. The boys on the farm were the best the country produced and nine-tenths of the most successful lawyers and doctors were farmer boys. There are as good boys there now as ever before, and what the country needed was not that these young men should flock to the city but should stay on the farm. He pointed at the grand possibilities of farm life, and urged that the best brain of the country should be devoted to this our leading industry.

Miss Price gave a solo in a very creditable manner, after which Mr. A. Pattullo. of the Woodstock Sentinel-Review, gave a most pleasing, able and eloquent address on "Agricultural education." After expressing his delight at the kindly way in which they had been received in Belleville and putting the audience in the best of humor by some side-splitting anecdotes he plunged into his subject. He declared that the government owed every child a good elementary education, but he pointed out that there was at the present time a danger of our higher education being in a wrong direction. When boys are sent to the high school or college it should be known what each intends to make of himself, so that whether he intends to be an artisan, a merchant or a farmer, he could be educated for that object. But it is a mistake to give a boy a literary education only, and such an education often injures the boy by instilling into him ideals he could never hope to realize. There are to-day too few well educated farmers in Ontario, and because of the work it was doing in giving the right kind of education to the farmers he considered the Ontario Agricultural college the most useful educational institution in the province. He urged the farmers to send their boys not to institutions where they are led away by wrong ideals, but to schools where they can gain a knowledge of their own profession. It is especially important that this should now be done because production of ordinary cereals by ordinary methods was no longer profitable and it was necessary for them to adopt other methods and turn their attention to other kinds of produce,

Mrs. Heber Campbell then gave a solo that elicited an enthusiastic encore. Mrs. Campbell was in excellent voice and seldom has she sung more sweetly. Her encore song was especially beautiful and she was warmly complimented by President Derbyshire.

Prof. Robertson was then called upon to answer the question, "Why did not Canadian dairymen take all the prizes as the World's Fair." His answer in brief was because they did not want to and they didn't deserve them all. The professor then gave an able address on the lasting results of the World's Fair to Canada. It advertised Canada throughout the whole world, it established the reputation of our products as the best in the world, it gave Canadians a greater pride in their country and made the farmers more enthusiastic in their work. Nothing happens by chance, and the splendid result of our display was due to the intelligence and skill of the dairymen of Canada.

Mr. McIntosh then gave "The land of the heather" with splendid effect, and judging from the burst of applause that greeted him the audience must have been composed chiefly of Scotchmen. He responded by giving another stirring Scotch song.

A hearty vote of thanks was then tendered to the musicians of the evening and to Mayor Wallbridge, and the meeting then adjourned by singing "God Save the Queen."

Friday Morning

The Association met at 10 o'clock, president Derbyshire in the chair.

Mr. Wm Halliday, one of the auditors, presented the following report:—

Prof. Shutt of the Experimental station at Ottawa gave a short but practical address on the proper method of paying for milk at our creameries. He advocated the testing of milk by the Babcock testor. The test was an accurate one and is a method which can be easily learned. He gave figures showing the result of tests made at the Experimental farm. The substance recommended for keeping the milk in a fluid condition is potassium bichromate, a yellowish red chrystaline substance. This material, although poisonous, does not possess such highly dangerous and corrosive qualities as do the preservatives, corrosive sublimate and caustic potash. The potassium should be purchased in lb quantities.

At this stage of the proceedings the president read the following telegram.

"BONNE CORNER, Quebec.
"To Mr. D. Derbyshire:—Congratulations and warm regards to the troublesome Ontario Dairymen.
O. G. PATTON."

The following answer was sent,

"Ontario Creameries Association send our congratulations to our brethern in Quebec not forgetting our genial friend, Col. Patton."

Mr. John Boyd, of Chicago, gave a few remarks on how to improve the flavor of our creamery butter. There was no royal road to perfect butter making. They should aim to make a uniform butter, aim at a regular uniformity, not absolute perfection, send to the market a uniform butter, not a good butter to-day and not as good to-morrow. The uniform butter sells at good prices,

Mr. Graham asked about freezing butter to send abroad.

Mr. Boyd could not see that it effected the quality materially.

In answer to a question Mr. Boyd said that where he came from corn was cut before it is hardened, shocked up and husked with a machine which cut it up. It was then carried up in a mow and salted, 1 pound of salt to 100 of corn. It would heat in two weeks and then it could be cooled. It made excellent food. He spoke against feeding musty hay to cows.

Its Excellent Qualities

commend to public approval the California liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs. It is pleasing to the eye, and to the taste and by gently acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels. it cleanses the system effectually thereby promoting the health and comfort of all who use it.

The One Mistake

EDITOR ONTARIO, SIR,—I was greatly pleased last night in with the meeting in the city hall. Everything—music and addresses—was all that could be desired. It is greatly to be regretted, however, that the meeting should have been held in the city hall. This dirty, old ramshackle place is anything but respectable, and to take strangers into such a place, as if it were the best in the city, could not fail to give them a very poor impression of the city and they will doubtless go away thinking that Belleville is some little country village. It is too bad that, for the sake of a few dollars, these eminent gentlemen from all parts of the province, should carry away such a false impression.—Truly yours,—ONE WHO WAS PRESENT.

Marking the Lambs

In a Sunday-school, when the lesson of the Good Shepherd was being explained, the question was asked, "How does the Good Shepherd know his Sheep?" Young Washington, who had been visiting his uncle's sheep farm, thought he knew. "Tell the class, my dear," said the teacher. "Some he slits the ears, and some he marks with red chalk," said the boy. These would be distinguishing marks indeed, but not more so than are the marks of health on the countenance of those who use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. For all blood taints, from whatever cause arising, poisoning and humors, such as scrofula, tumors, ulcers and kindred affections, its equal does not exist.

Boys' Overcoats

If your boy needs a new overcoat, come to the Oak Hall and see what a bargain we can give you. Our stock in boys' overcoats is heavy yet and we do not like to carry any over It is a long ways to warm weather, so do not let the boy go around cold.

The way in which the coroner discharged John Cory, held on suspicion of complicity in the Williams murder, was rather amusing and suggestive. "You can go. John," he said; "you would never have been held if you had told a straight story. If you don't improve your ways you will soon develop into an Empire reporter." The sting of the remark is its truth.

Ask Your Friends

Who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla what they think of it and the replies will be positive in its favor. Simply what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, tells the story of its merit. One has been cured of indigestion or dyspepsia, another finds it indispensable for sick headache or biliousness, while others report remarkable cures of scrofula, catarrh, rheumatism, salt rheum, etc.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable.

Announcement Extraordinary

On the 1st March intending to transfer my Belleville business to other parties. I have decided to hold a great clearing sale for the next 60 days in order to reduce the stock to meet the cash capital of the new firm. All goods marked in plain red figures at about cost price—some less than cost. Positively no goods charged during this sale. All accounts due me must be paid before 1st of March or they will be handed to my solicitor, Mr. MacMahon for collection. J. PATTERSON, Syndicate Store. 7td

The best local talent will assist Miss Hext at her entertainment at the Queen's Opera House next Friday evening.

Still Another Triumph.—Mr. Thomas S. Bullen, Sunderland, writes: "For fourteen years I was afflicted with piles; and frequently I was unable to walk or sit, but four years ago I was cured by using DR. THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL. I have also been subject to quinsy for over forty years, but Electric Oil cured it, and it was a permanent cure in both cases, as neither the piles nor quinsy have troubled me since."

The Creameries Association Convention closed this afternoon. Altogether it was very successful.

The best medical authorities say the proper way to treat catarrh is to to take a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla,

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

The Brightest Flowers must fade, but young lives endangered by severe coughs and colds may be preserved by DR. THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL. Croup whooping cough, bronchitis; in short all affections of the throat and lungs, are relieved by this sterling preparation, which also remedies rheumatic pains, sores, bruises, piles, kidney difficulty, and is most economic.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

Prof. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, was the guest while in the city of Mr. A. E. Fish. He is a cousin of Mrs. Fish.

Miss Rose Thompson, of Napanee, is visiting friends in the city.

Mrs. J. S. McOuaig, Picton, is lying very ill at the residence of her son, A. J. McCuaig, of this city.

In Death Not Separated.

On the 4th inst. Mrs. Wm. Lynn, of Norwood passed peacefully away. The funeral was arranged to take place on Saturday, but 15 minutes before the funeral was to start Mr. Lynn also died. The funeral was postponed and both were buried together on Sunday. Mrs. Lynn was 86 and Mr. Lynn 96 years of age. They had been married 63 years and in all that time had spent but two nights apart. Mr. J. R. Lynn of this city was a nephew of the deceased.

Big Bottle, popular price 25c.

Kingston Presbytery

There will be an adjourned meeting of the Presbytery in St. Andrew's church, Kingston, on Jan. 23rd, at 9 p.m., for the consideration of the remits on the relation of colleges to the church, and on proposed changes in the hymnal, etc., as well as for other competent business. The consideration of the aged and infirm ministers' fund was also deferred to the adjourned meeting. The convener of the home missionary committee has been instructed to arrange, if possible, for the transfer of Rev. McIlroy from the Poland mission field to the North Hastings district as a colleague there with Rev. George Porteous.

DIED.

QUINN—At Belleville, on Thursday the 11th inst., Peter Quinn, aged 65 years. The funeral will take place from his late residence, Strachan St., on Sunday the 14th inst., at 2 o'clock, to the R. C. cemetery.

AN EXCELLENT WORK

Of all the various popular medical works of the day "The Practical Home Physician" stands alone as the standard Family Medical Book. It is written, prescriptions and text, in plain English, so that everyone may readily understand it. It is the only Family Medical Book written by a number of the leading Doctors of the world, each one being a specialist in the department of which he treats, and all of them professors in the leading Medical Colleges. Over one million copies of the old edition in use. Owing to the great popularity of this book and knowing also that a million homes are still in want of it, and determined to furnish the latest and best in every respect, with the most recent discoveries in medicine, the publishers some time since decided to revise the work. With that end in view they now announce the issue of the new edition with several hundred pages of new matter revised to 1893, with the additions of ten new colored plates and many new valuable features. The first edition was the work of four doctors of the highest standing, and to assist in the revision, three others, all noted specialists, have been employed; so there can be no doubt that the work has been completely and thoroughly done. After a careful inspection the ONTARIO has no hesitation in pronouncing it the best family medical work in existence and heartily recommending it to our readers.

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specially upon the deseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that disease of almost every name and nature are driven from the body.' Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell, P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well.'

The Picton Gazette grossly libels the fair sex in that town. It says that almost every place except Picton has some pretty girls. We know some young men in Belleville who are quite ready to punch our contemporary's head for that foul aspersion.

CHICAGO

In a letter from a friend in Chicago, we are informed that business in that city is dull beyond all precedent. But for 'bargain sales' and the slaughtering of goods, there would scarcely be any business doing at all. And this from Chicago the great hustling city of the world. If such is business there what can be expected elsewhere? We will, however, keep things moving here by selling goods very cheaply, which we are doing.

When my little girl was one month old, she had a scab form on her face. It kept spreading until she was completely covered from head to foot. Then she had boils. She had forty on her head at one time, and more on her body. When six months old she did not weigh seven pounds, a pound and a half less than at birth. Then her skin started to dry up and got so bad she could not shut her eyes to sleep, but laid with them half open. About this time, at the earnest request of friends, I started using the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and in one month she was completely cured. The doctor and drug bills were over one hundred dollars, the Cuticura bill was not more than five dollars. My child is now two years old, strong, healthy and large as any child of her age (see photo.) and it is all owing to CUTICURA. Canadian Thoroughness

Imported Shallowness.

We have orders now in hand for the TENTH edition of "The Canadian Accountant" (which we shall publish in a week or two) from Massachusetts, New York, British Columbia, Nebraska, Washington, Michigan, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec and all parts of Ontario.

This book, which we have brought to such a standard that it is now the most widely circulated work on book-keeping published in the English language, is called "a curiosity of a past age" and its authorship is impugned in the recently published circular of a business college "managed" by an Estate agent.

These insults, with many others in the same circular, which we shall deal with, come from a college WHICH IS RUN ON AN AMERICAN TEXT BOOK WITH A PRINTED KEY AND REFERENCE BOOK ACCESSIBLE FOR USE IN THE SCHOOL UPON THE COVER OF THE TEXT BOOK THE NAME OF THE COLLEGE IS STAMPED IN THE CITY OF ROCHESTER N. Y., FROM WHENCE IT COMES.

Canadian thoroughness is sneered at as a "Curiosity".

ONTARIO BUSINESS COLLEGE.

W. B. ROBINSON, J. W. JOHNSON F.C.A. } PRINCIPALS.

N.B. The daily morning lectures on Business Papers, Finance and Business Practice were resumed after the holidays on Tuesday last. We shall be glad to have a visit from any citizen. 10.30 is the hour each morning.

BUSINESS EDUCATION.

From its inception the Belleville Business College has aimed at and accomplished thorough going systematic work, superior to that accomplished by its competitors. In spite of the keenest competition the attendance has steadily increased; and December 1893 finds the Belleville Business College with the largest attendance of any business college in this part of the country. Students are in attendance from far and near, more than 80 from Belleville and vicinity alone. Work accomplishes more than talk.

Superior text-books, competent and earnest teachers, and the best equipped rooms of any business college in Canada explain the secret of the truly marvellous success that marks the history of the Belleville Business College.

The annual illustrated circular of 176 pages tells of honest work done.

THE PARISH COUNCILS BILL

Passes Its Third Reading in the House with Liberal Enthusiasm—The Opposition Has Pity on the Members and Refrains From Debate.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—In the House of Commons Sir Ellis Ashmead Bartlett asked the Government if Russia had ordered the construction of three new battle ships, their building to begin this year, thus bringing the number of Russia's battle ships, built and building, up to seventeen.

Sir U. Kaye-Shuttleworth, Parliamentary Secretary of the Admiralty, replied that it was not desirable that any official statement be made until the British estimates for the coming year are completed.

Sir Ellis Ashmead-Bartlett then asked if it was a fact that in the course of 1894 France and Russia would build sixteen new battle ships, while England would build only the three that had just been commenced. The Secretary replied that he must ask the House to await the announcement of the Admiralty's programme.

Replying to Mr. Thomas Sexton, the Right Hon. John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that he could not state in exact terms the scope of the enquiry of the committee to be appointed at the next session to inquire into the working of the Irish Land Purchase Act. To speak generally, the committee would inquire into the operation of the fair rent clauses of the Act and into the purchase of land on advances made by the public treasury. Mr. Gladstone moved that the House adjourn to February 12.

The report stage of the Parish Councils bill was finished at midnight, and Henry Fowler, president of the Local Government, who has had the bill in charge, moved at once the third reading.

Mr. Goschen, Chancellor of the Exchequer in the last Salisbury Cabinet, said for the Unionists that only the jaded state of the House caused the Opposition to refrain from debating this reading. He predicted that the Lords would scrutinize the bill closely before allowing it to become a law.

The bill was passed amid loud Liberal cheers and the House adjourned until February 12.

UNITED EMPIRE TRADE.

Colonel Howard Vincent Well Received in the West Indies.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Col. C. E. Howard Vincent, M.P. for Sheffield, the father of the United Empire Trade League movement, returned to London yesterday. The distinguished gentleman has been on a visit to the West Indies, where he addressed a number of meetings in promotion of his views regarding reciprocal trade relations between the mother country and the colonies. Col. Vincent says he found a strong feeling in the West Indies in favor of abrogation of the existing commercial treaty with the United States. Under the McKinley tariff, the hon. gentleman says, the revenues of the islands are constantly diminishing, while there is no corresponding benefit to the planters or to the consumers of food products. Col. Vincent affirms that the discontent is universal among all classes of the people, and that the principles of the United Empire Trade League were looked upon with much favor.

Suspected Murderers Arrested.

NICE, Jan. 13.—Two men have been arrested at Monte Carlo on suspicion of being the murderers of G. Mander Allender, the Englishman who was killed and robbed at Monte Carlo on December 29. One of the prisoners is an Englishman and the other is an American. The former was taken into custody as he was getting off a train, on which he had travelled from Italy. The American was arrested as he was standing outside a cafe. They are locked up in the Monaco prison pending their extradition to Nice, where they will be prosecuted.

Stanhope's Successor Elected.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—An election was held in the Horncastle division of Lincolnshire to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons caused by the death of the Hon. Edward Stanhope, Secretary of State for War in Lord Salisbury's last administration. Lord Willoughby, the Conservative candidate, was elected by a majority of 838. The vote stood:—Lord Willoughby, 4,582; Mr. Torr (Gladstonian), 3,744. At the general election Mr. Stanhope was returned by a majority of 738.

Manzilla Again Remanded.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Antonio Manzilla, who was arrested in this city on the charge of obtaining money under false pretences, but who is wanted by the Italian Government for his connection with the Banca Romana frauds, was again arraigned in the Bow street police court yesterday and was again remanded.

Monson Will Go Lecturing.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Alfred John Monson, who was recently tried at Edinburgh on the charge of killing Lieut. Hambrough, and who was discharged from custody when the jury returned a verdict of "Not proven," is going to give a series of lectures. The first of the series will be given in the Princess hall, London.

A Technical Offence.

DUBLIN, Jan. 13.—Madame Ruppert was yesterday fined £1 for selling a skin tonic containing poison. The judge held that a small penalty ought to be inflicted, as the defendant's agent had been advised to alter the character of the tonic by withdrawing the prison. The offence was therefore only a technical one.

Prime Minister Baernaert's Resignation.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 13.—A meeting of the deputies belonging to the party of the right, including all sections of that party, will be held on Monday. It appears hopeless, however, that anything will be done to lead Prime Minister Baernaert and his Cabinet to reconsider their determination to resign.

Wholesale Arrests in Alaska.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Jan. 13.—U. S. Marshal Porter, of Alaska, has issued orders to his deputies to arrest every whiteman known to have formed illegal marriage relations with native women. As a result of this order nearly every man on board the U. S. steamer Pinta is in jail at Sitka. Hundreds of other arrests are expected, and the jail will not hold the leading citizens who are amenable under the orders.

MORE MEDICAL EVIDENCE.

The Case for the Crown in the Hooper Case Will Be Finished Monday.

JOLIETTE, Que., Jan. 13.—A sensation was caused in the Hooper trial yesterday by one of the witnesses fainting. George E. Delorge, professional embalmer, of Ottawa, was in the box giving evidence when suddenly he fell back in a faint. Several medical men rushed to his assistance and he recovered in a few minutes.

The first witness was Mr. David Mathewson, superintendent of the savings bank of the Postoffice Department, who testified that the accused had shown him a telegram stating that his wife was sick. He was given leave of absence from September 9 to 29. He returned to work on the 26th. His general reputation was good.

Mrs. Francis Cooper, of Port Hope, related a conversation she had with Hooper on the day of his wife's funeral. He stated that death had been caused by heart disease, although she had suffered from cancer of the uterus. He added that she had died on a Pullman car, and that the funeral service had been held in the Province of Quebec.

Alfred William George, undertaker, of Port Hope, gave evidence as to burying the body of Mrs. Hooper. The body was driven to the grave in a wagon, and accused with his sisters followed an hour afterwards. There was no service held over the body in Port Hope.

Then Mr. Delorge was giving evidence of having sold embalming fluid to accused on Sept. 28th, but his evidence was interrupted by the faint.

Dr. James Stewart, one of the professors of McGill College, swore that the evidence as to symptoms and appearance of the body already given, pointed, in his opinion, to death by prussic acid poison, although he could not be absolutely certain. Next to poisoning by prussic acid, some degeneration of the heart seemed most likely to have caused death.

JOLIETTE, Que., 13.—Mr. Delorge, of Ottawa, continued his evidence in the afternoon.

"When prisoner got embalming fluid from me," he said, "the body was badly decomposed, and I told him how to use it. Cross-examined—In the fluid is arsenic and saltpetre.

Dr. Vallee, of Quebec, described the symptoms of prussic acid poisoning. Death from fatty degeneration of the heart sometimes has symptoms similar to prussic acid.

Herbert Clegg, assistant to the undertaker at Port Hope, said he saw the deceased buried. Accused said he wanted the clothes removed and a shroud put on the body.

James B. George, undertaker, of Port Hope, told how he had gone to the grave and had had the body exhumed.

Ed. Neville, grave digger at Port Hope, said that it was prisoner and Mr. Baulch who instructed him to exhume the body.

Prof. Ellis, of Toronto, said he had examined the embalming fluid and found it was composed of white arsenic and other poisonous ingredients. "Would the presence of alcohol in the body lessen the chances of finding the poison?" "It would not. I have heard of cases where traces of prussic acid have been found in putrifying flesh weeks after. It this case the poison might have evaporated or been decomposed."

Mr. Greenshields—"Do you think that it is possible if the poison had been given that it would have decomposed in this case?" "It is not probable."

Miss Stapely, of Ottawa, will be examined to-day. The case for the Crown will all be in by Monday.

DEATH IN THE WOODS.

The Body of an Unknown Man Found Suspended From a Tree.

HAMILTON, Jan. 13.—Mr. C. E. Morgan, ticket agent, received a letter yesterday from Hossick Falls, N.Y., enquiring if he knew anything as to the identity of a man who was found dead hanging to a tree in the woods near there on January 10. The body had evidently been hanging for two months.

In one of the pockets was found Mr. Morgan's railway ticket, envelope and a sum of money. The man was about 60 years of age, and was attired in a black vest, light-colored trousers, black coat, black felt hat and had steel rimmed spectacles.

It is supposed he left Hamilton about two months ago, but Mr. Morgan has no means of knowing who he is.

Brookmeyer Discharged.

TORONTO, Jan 13.—The charge against William Brookmeyer, of Hackney street, charged with feloniously wounding his infant child, fell through in the Police Court yesterday. A witness swore prisoner threw the baby over his left shoulder on to the stove. He was beating his wife at the time. She thought it was intentional. Brookmeyer and his wife both swore that the thing was entirely accidental. She swore that her husband had never beaten her since their marriage. Brookmeyer was discharged.

Halifax's Heaviest Snow Storm.

HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 13.—Halifax has experienced its heaviest snow storm for years. Snow commenced falling yesterday morning and continued till 5 o'clock last night, over two feet falling. The city authorities stopped the street railway from using their snow-plow, and as a consequence the railway company had to substitute sleigh busses for cars. This is the first time this has occurred for years.

Brass Manufacturers Will Petition.

MONTREAL, Jan. 13.—The Brass Manufacturers Association held its annual meeting in this city yesterday. It was decided that a deputation from the association should wait upon the Minister of Trade and Commerce at an early date and ask that ingot copper, scrap copper, brass and copper tubing and brass strips be placed on the free list.

Bringing Stolen Goods to Canada.

HALIFAX, Jan. 13.—Captain King will now have to stand trial for aiding and abbetting the prisoners, Farroll and Griffith, in bringing stolen goods into Canada. Solicitor-General White submitted an indictment against him to the grand jury and they, after considering it, found a true bill, although the matter has not yet been brought before the court.

Instantly Killed.

BRACEBRIDGE, Ont., Jan. 13.—Yesterday while engaged in breaking a dump of saw logs at Mickle & Dyments camp, ten miles from here, Samuel Thompson, of Draper Township, was struck on the side of the head by a falling log, fracturing the skull and causing death instantly.

WHAT ONTARIO OWES.

The Ex-Provincial Treasurer Interviewed on the Arbitration.

THE ARGUMENT POSTPONED.

Mr. Blake Denies the Report That He Asked Postponement on All the Items—Those Other Than on Interest of Minor Importance.

OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—Hon. A. M. Ross, ex-provincial treasurer of Ontario, was interviewed yesterday in regard to a statement in a morning newspaper re arbitration now going on, that Ontario owed $1,800,000 to the Dominion. Mr. Ross said:

"Now, according to the statement made up for the arbitrators in the case, the amount due the Dominion by the province was $1,544,000 and not $1,800,000, as stated by the Citizen. The former amount, which is the correct one, leaves out of account the $2,848,000 which Ontario is entitled to under the act of 1884.

"Mr. Harcourt in his financial statement did not include the $2,848,000, but took the general balance from the Dominion accounts of 1883, as agreed upon by Sir John Thompson and Mr. Foster at the conference between the Provinces and the Dominion in 1888. This general balance was $1,544,000. The Dominion Government now asks the arbitrators to declare that the agreement made by Sir John Thompson and Mr. Foster was ultra vires, being beyond their powers. In this the arbitrators concurred. The effect of this was to restore to the Province of Ontario the sum of $2,848,000 as an interest bearing asset. Now deduct from this the sum $1,544,000 due to the Dominion by the revised accounts and there would be left a sum of $1,304,000 to the credit of Ontario, or $214,000 more than Mr. Harcourt claimed. The account which is now being argued, that of interest, is not equivalent to $1,800,090, but only involves an amount of about $300,000 in all."

Hon. Edward Blake denies the report published that he asked argument in all the items postponed. He was ready to proceed with the question of interest which is now being discussed. As for the other items they were of minor importance.

The arbitration into the Dominion and Provincial accounts adjourned yesterday for six months, having concluded the argument on the question of interest and Montreal turnpike trust fund.

The Northwest School Trouble.

OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—His Lordship Bishop Cameron, of Antigonish, N.S., is in the city, accompanied by Rev. Father O'Donnell, of St. Denis, Que. An evening paper says: "The bishop is the guest of Sir John Thompson while in the city, and it is supposed that his visit has reference to some negotiations between the Government and the Catholic hierarchy, with respect to the Manitoba and Northwest school difficulties.

AN EXPLODED SENSATION.

The Coroner's Inquest Entirely Exonerates the Relations of Mrs. Ford.

MILTON, Jan. 13.—The inquest of the late Mrs. Margaret Ford was held before Coroner Foreman and Crown Attorney Matheson yesterday. The jury brought in the following verdict: "That she came to her death by being suffocated by smoke from a fire which destroyed her house. The origin was purely accidental. We hereby exempt from blame in premises, William Beaty and all other persons."

Gossip's tongue had been busy in connection with deceased's death, and Mr. Beaty and the other relatives were placed in a very undesirable position by the groundless assertions that the old woman had been neglected. The true story of the tragedy, though unfortunate enough in itself, is devoid of anything sensational. In brief it is as follows: On Saturday night the old lady, who for some years has been failing in health and very weak in mind, was put to bed as usual and her door locked by the young woman who was in the habit of looking after her. About two o'clock on Sunday morning the furniture or bedclothes in the old lady's room became ignited and the flames quickly spread. Mr. Robert Beaty hailed his nephew, who made earnest efforts to reach the poor woman, but failed. The fire was soon extinguished, and the corpse was found lying across the bed.

The Trio Remanded.

BRAMPTON, Jan. 13.—The three prisoners in the Williams murder case were up before the magistrate yesterday. Crown Attorney McFadden asked that the prisoners be remanded until Thursday, January 18, which was granted, and the trio were taken back to jail.

A Boy's Heroic Deed.

YARMOUTH, N. S., Jan. 13.—Ronald Brown, young son of Charles B. Brown, of Milton, deserves the Royal Humane Society's medal. Thursday night two boys, named George Eldridge and George Huestis, went through the ice in the deepest part of Milton pond and were going down for the second time when young Brown, regardless of his own safety, crawled out, and throwing himself at full length, got to the hole. Throwing his overcoat to the drowning boys he pulled them to firm ice, and unaided got them to shore, though they were thoroughly exhausted.

Appeal Dismissed.

MONTREAL, Jan. 13.—An important judgment was given against the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company yesterday by Judge Tait in the Superior Court. Last summer the company's steamer Corinthian was burnt to the water's edge while coming down from Toronto. She was insured for $45,000 in some fifteen companies doing business in Canada, but the arbitrators appointed by the insurance companies and the Richelieu Company awarded the latter only $20,000. The Richelieu people appealed from the award of the arbitrators but Judge Tait dismissed the appeal.

Hon. John Dryden in Rochester.

ROCHESTER, Jan. 13.—The New York State Shropshire Breeders' Association resumed its annual session yesterday. Most of the afternoon session was given up to the address of Hon. John Dryden, of Toronto, who is president of the American Shropshire Association. This address was considered the most important feature of the convention and its discussion took up the remainder of the afternoon.

PEIXOTO'S RESIGNATION.

It Seems Highly Probable That the Report After all is Correct.

PARIS, Jan. 13.—M. Heroult, editor of the French paper, Echo de Bresil, who was expelled from Brazil by President Peixoto, has arrived in this city. He has written the Figaro saying that President Peixoto's denial of his resignation does not convince him. If the report of his resignation on December 9 was untrue it is probable that a similar report will be true within a month. Heroult says that President Peixoto's withdrawal from office will not imply that the Republicans will concentrate on his successor, but rather that an assembly will be elected to choose the form of government. The result is uncertain. This crisis past, business will rapidly revive.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—It is stated on good authority that the friends of Peixoto have become tired of the long protracted struggle and have asked the President to resign. Peixoto has consented and the announcement will be made officially soon.

RESULT OF A FIGHT.

A Young Man Supposed to Have Died From Injuries Received.

GEORGETOWN, Jan. 13.—Last Christmas an affair occurred here which, according to popular belief, has taken an extremely serious turn. Walter and Daniel Campbell, two young men well known in the county, came to town, and the former became intoxicated. Then he got into an altercation with a well known young man, who bears a good reputation here, and in a short time the fight became general.

Walter getting the worst of the encounter, Daniel went to his assistance, when a number of young men fell on him, giving him a severe pummelling.

The next day he was around town and conversed with several acquaintances. He complained of a pain at the base of his skull and said that the weight of his hat on his bruised head caused him intense suffering. He said that he did not know who struck him but remembered that he received a regular shower of blows.

Campbell soon afterwards left for Hamilton, still complaining about his injured head, and on January 3rd he died in that city. Although the certificate stated the death was due to rheumatic fever, a large number in the community are of the opinion that it was due to the injuries received in the fight.

Rev. Mr. Williams Heartily Endorses Hood's Sarsaparilla.

We are pleased to present this from Rev. A. A. Williams, of the Sillsbee street Christian Church, Lynn, Mass.:

"I see no reason why a clergyman, more than a layman, who knows whereof he speaks, should hesitate to approve an

and worth, from which he or his family have been signally benefited, and whose commendation may serve to extend those benefits to others by increasing their confidence. My wife has for many years been a sufferer from severe

Nervous Headache

for which she found little help. She has tried many things that promised well but performed little. Last fall a friend gave her a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It seems surprising what simply one bottle could and did do for her. The attacks of headache decreased in number and were less violent in their intensity, while her general health has been improved. Her appetite has also been better. From our experience with

Hood's Sarsaparilla

I have no hesitation in endorsing its merits."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Montreal Star, a protectionis paper, says the owners of the cotton mills have waited on the two Controllers at Ottawa and "have consented to a considerable reduction in the present protection now afforded that industry." This form of expression conveys a good idea of the true situation. The manufactures rule the government, and no changes can be made in the tariff without their consent. When the government of the day must base their legislation on the will of a few monopolists it is time that government was ousted in favor of a government that will legislate for the benefit of the people as a whole.

The people of Belleville will be very pleased to learn that they will have an opportunity of hearing in the near future two such orators as Hon. Wilfred Laurier and Hon. Mr. Joly. They make a splendid team. Both are orators of a high order, Mr. Laurier being the most eloquent speaker in Canada. Both are men without fear and without reproach, both their private and their public lives being free from even the semblance of a stain. One is a Catholic and the other a Protestant, yet in their brotherly love for each other they set an example to the Province of Ontario that is unfortunately greatly needed just now. These two noble men, of whom the country is justly proud, will meet with a splendid reception here and elsewhere.

See a woman once rosy and bright, fai and beautiful, light of heart, quick of step, dulcet in tones, the very light and life of the house, and you see a picture that might be called a bit of Paradise. See that same woman worn by disease, pale and haggard, heavy of heart, speaking seldom, casting a shadow of gloom throughout the house by her presence, and you have a picture of Paradise Lost. Alas, she suffers from the ills that thousands of women know. Tell her that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Perscription is a certain cure for feminine weaknesses and derangement, it will restore health and good spirits and make her once more, a blessing to her family and the world.

Donnoha, Forsyth Co., N. C.

Dr. R. V. Pierce: Dear Sir—For some six or seven years my wife had been an invalid. Becoming convinced that it was her only hope, we bought six bottles of of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and "Golden Medical Discovery." To the surprise of the community and the joy of myself and family, in one week my wife commenced to improve, and long before she had taken the last bottle she was able to do her own work (she had not been able to do it before for seven years), and when she had taken the last of the medicine she was soundly cured. Yours truly,

A Colored Lad Lynched.

West Union, Ohio, Jan. 13.—Roscoe Parker, the colored murderer, was taken from jail and lynched yesterday morning by an armed and masked mob. Four weeks ago Pit Rhine and his wife, an aged couple living at West Union, were murdered in their cabin for $10 in money, all they had. The throats of both were cut from ear to ear, and the murderer had fearfully beaten the bodies with a bludgeon. Suspicion pointed toward Roscoe Parker, a shiftless colored lad of 15, who had worked for Rhine's. He was examined by the coroner and was remanded to jail.

Another Negro Outrage.

St. Louis, Jan. 13.—Clubbed into unconsciousness, Mr. and Mrs. Fredk. Benne and a man in their employ lie dangerously injured at their home near Florisant, St. Louis county. The assault was made for the purpose of robbery by four unknown negroes, who plundered the farm house, carrying off money and valuables worth $300. The farmers of the Florisant valley are indignant, and if the assailants are captured a lynching may result.

Brighter Business Prospects.

New York, Jan. 13.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:—Business has distinctly improved since the New Year came and the gain is no longer visible only in speculative markets. It is the only kind of improvement that has in it possibilities of lasting, because it is based upon actual increase in the production by industries.

The Usual End in These Cases.

St. Louis, Jan. 13.—Mrs. Josie Ranke, alias Stevenson, was shot and killed last night by Stephen J. Wilsko, who then turned the pistol to his own breast and shot himself through the heart. The woman was 25 years old and very handsome. Letters found upon the bodies show that a series of liaisons had been carried on by the woman.

Killed at a Fire.

Buffalo, Jan. 13.—A fire occurred early yesterday on the premises at Genesee and the Central Crossing. Fire Engine 25 in attempting to make it was run into by a switch engine on the Central. The fire engine was wrecked, and Michael O'Brien, the driver, was so badly injured that he died at 9.30 a.m. One horse was killed, another fatally injured.

The Sentence Saddened Him.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Jan. 13.—Ex-Banker F. V. Rockefellow, convicted of embezzlement, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Lynch to two years and two months imprisonment in the eastern penitentiary and to pay a fine of $1,200. The prisoner broke down and wept like a child. There are eighteen other indictments against him.

An Embezzler Gets Six Years.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 13.—Judge Pardee yesterday sentenced Louis Redwine, the defaulting assistant cashier of the Cata City National Bank, to six years' imprisonment in Columbus, Ohio, penitentiary. Redwine pleaded guilty to the embezzlement of $103,000.

Jailed for Attempted Suicide.

New York, Jan. 12.—Wm. J. Holland, 24 years old, and son of the late Alex. Holland, was yesterday sentenced to one year and eleven months in State prison for attempting suicide. Holland shot himself in the head because his wife refused to live with him.

WILSON'S TARIFF BILL.

The Vote on the Bill Will Be Taken on the 29th Instant.

FARM PRODUCE FROM CANADA

Is Shown to Have Increased Notwithstanding the High Tariff Tax—Debate on the Bill Will be Closed on Saturday, the 27th.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The tariff bill was debated in the House yesterday, a number of speakers taking either side of the question.

Discussing the Wilson bill, Representative Herman (Rep.) said:—"The farmer is especially antagonized by this bill. The Wilson bill is entitled 'A bill to reduce taxation, to provide revenue and for other purposes.' It should be entitled 'A bill to reduce the revenue and to destroy American industry.'"

Mr. Brookshire asked of Mr. Herman from what countries the importation of farm products were likely to come.

"From Scotland, Denmark and Sweden, but especially from Canada," replied Mr. Herman.

Mr. Brookshire said the statistics of the Agricultural Department showed that in 1891 the American farmers sold to Canadians more farm produce than the Canadian farmers sold to America.

Dr. Herman said he had later statistics than those quoted by Mr. Brookshire, which showed that the reverse was now true, and he stated that last year over 100,000 tons of hay were imported into this country, even though it had to pay a tariff tax of $4 a ton.

Mr. Reed (Rep., Maine) will close the tariff debate for the Republicans on the afternoon of Saturday, Jan. 27. Mr. Wilson (Dem., W. Va.) the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, will perform a similar service for the Democratic majority.

The vote on the bill will be taken on Monday, the 29th instant.

THE WICKED SCHOOLMASTER.

Prof. Hartshorne Denies Attempting to Kill Ada Robinson.

NEWCASTLE, Pa., Jan. 13.—The city officials claim to have evidence that Miss Ada Robinson's child, which was burned in a cooking stove on New Year's day, was born alive, and in addition to other charges that of murder has been preferred against Prof. Hartshorne and Dr. Campbell, who is also implicated. It is believed that Dr. Campbell is in Ohio. Ada Robinson has regained consciousness and tells the same story related by her sister Margaret yesterday, Hartshorne admits that he betrayed Ada, but denies that he tried to kill the girl. The school board has annulled Hartshorne's contract. He is unable to secure bail and is yet in jail.

THOROLD, Jan. 13.—A small house, owned by John Hawse and occupied by John Kerr, was burned yesterday morning. The fire is supposed to have originated in an ash barrel which was in the wood shed adjoining, the flames spreading to the house.

PORT ELGIN, Jan. 13.—On Wednesday morning between 5 and 6 o'clock the barn and contents of Mr. Haite, a farmer, near Turner's Station, was destroyed by fire. Loss about $1,500; insurance, $1,000.

MONCTON, N.B., Jan. 13.—A disastrous fire occurred at Shediac, N.B., yesterday, totally destroying Harper & Webster's shoe factory and contents, together with barn and warehouse and house and barn of C. H. Galland adjoining. The factory was insured for $16,000. Loss estimated at $20,000. The origin of the fire is unknown.

CUMBERLAND, Me., Jan. 13.—Fire yesterday swept the town of Davis, Tucker County, West Virginia. Seven large stores, two dwellings, one opera house and large stock of lumber were destroyed. Loss $75,000.

BUFFALO, Jan. 13.—The Young Men's Christian Association building, cor. Mohawk and Pearl streets, was damaged by fire and water at midnight to the extent of $50,000, fully covered by insurance. The building cor. Terrace and Franklin streets, occupied by John Gleason, grocery, and Wensley's job printing office, was partially destroyed by fire. Loss $15,000.

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—The elevators and malt houses of the Bemis and Curtis Malting Co., with contents, were almost completely destroyed by fire early this morning. Loss $300,000.

Burglars Leave a Clue.

BARRIE, Jan. 13.—The fur store of E. C. Simmons was entered by burglars Thursday night and about $100 worth of furs stolen. The thieves evidently belong to Toronto, as a letter was found in the stable where they slept, written from Brantford, addressed to W. R. Clark, George street, Toronto.

The Nelson Monument Affair.

MONTREAL, Jan. 13.—The enquete in the case of Mercier, Peland and De Martigny, accused of attempting to destroy the Nelson monument, will be resumed on Monday. Evidence for the defence will be adduced and the case is expected to be ended the same day.

Boiler Explosion in St. Catharines.

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 13.—What was at first supposed to be a shock of earthquake occurred here yesterday, but turned out to be the explosion of a portable saw mill on the farm of Mr. John Johnston, on the Hamilton stone road, near the city. The damage will probably be about $500.

Dolan and Mearns Discharged.

DUBLIN, Jan. 13.—Dolan and Mearns, the man arrested on suspicion of having caused the death of Patrick Read, who was shot in this city on November 27, were discharged from custody yesterday, the Crown being unable to produce any evidence that would justify their committal for trial.

The Billiard Player's Brother Insane.

PRESENT HARD TIMES.

REV. DR. TALMAGE PREACHES UPON THE CAUSES OF POVERTY.

The Everlasting Tariff Discussion—Life Insurance Urged—The Widespread Improvidence—The Gospel of Helping Others—A Paid Up Policy For Eternity.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 7.—It seemed appropriate that Dr. Talmage should preach this sermon after his personal contribution of 3,000 pounds of meat and 2,000 loaves of bread to the poor who gathered shivering in the cold around the bakery and meat store of Brooklyn, where the food was distributed without tickets and no recommendation required except hunger. The text was Matthew xxvi, 11, "Ye have the poor always with you."

Who said that? The Christ who never owned anything during his earthly stay. His cradle and his grave were borrowed. Every fig he ate was from some one else's tree. Every drop of water he drank was from some one else's well. To pay his personal tax, which was very small, only 31½ cents, he had to perform a miracle and make a fish pay it. All the heights and depths and lengths and breadths of poverty Christ measured in his earthly experience, when he comes to speak of destitution, he always speaks sympathetically, and what he said then is as true now, "Ye have the poor always with you."

For 6,000 years the bread question has been the active and absorbing question. Witness the people crowding up to Joseph's storehouse in Egypt. Witness the famine in Samaria and Jerusalem. Witness the 7,000 hungry people for whom Christ multiplied the loaves. Witness the uncounted millions of people now living who, I believe, have never yet had one full meal of healthful and nutritious food in all their lives. Think of the 354 great famines in England. Think of the 25,000 people under the hoof of hunger year before last in Russia.

The failure of the Nile to overflow for seven years in the eleventh century left those regions depopulated. Plague of insects in England. Plague of rats in Madras presidency. Plague of mice in Essex. Plague of locusts in China. Plague of grasshoppers in America. Devastation wrought by drought, by deluge, by frost, by war, by hurricane, by earthquake, by comets flying too near the earth, by change in the management of national finances, by baleful causes innumerable. I proceed to give you three or four reasons why my text is markedly and graphically true in this year 1894.

THE TARIFF CONTROVERSY.

The first reason we have always the poor with us is because of the perpetual overhauling of the tariff question, or, as I shall call it, the tariffic controversy. There is a need for such a word, and so I take the responsibility of manufacturing it. There are millions of people who are expecting that the present Congress of the United States will do something one way or the other to end this discussion. But it will never end. When I was 5 years of age, I remember hearing my father and his neighbors in vehement discussion of this very question. It was high tariff or low tariff or no tariff at all.

On the day the world is destroyed there will be three men standing on the post-office steps—one a high tariff man, another a low tariff man, and the other a free trade man—each one read in the face from excited argument on this subject. Other questions may get quieted—the Mormon question, the silver question, the pension question, the civil service question. All questions of annexation may come to peaceful settlement by the annexation of islands two weeks' voyage away and the heat of their volcanoes conveyed through pipes under the sea made useful in warming our continent, or annexation of the moon, dethroning the queen of night, who is said to be dissolute, and bringing the lunar populations under the influence of our free institutions; yea, all other questions, national and international, may be settled—but this tariffic question, never.

It will not only never be settled, but it can never be moderately quiet for more than three years at a time, each party getting into power taking one of the four years to fix it up, and then the next party will fix it down. Our finances cannot get well because of too many doctors. It is with sick nations as with sick individuals. Here is a man terribly disordered as to his body. A doctor is called in, and he administers a febrifuge, a spoonful every hour. But recovery is postponed, and the anxious friends call in another doctor, and he says, "What this patient needs is blood letting; now roll up your sleeve," and the lancet flashes. But still recovery is postponed, and a homeopathic doctor is called in, and he administers some small pellets and says, "All the patient wants is rest."

Recovery still postponed, the family say that such small pellets cannot amount to much anyhow, and an allopathic doctor is called in, and he says, "What this patient wants is calomel and jalap." Recovery still postponed, a dydropathic doctor is called in, and he says: "What this patient wants is hot and cold baths, and he must have them right away. Turn on the faucet and get ready the shower baths. Recovery still postponed, an electric doctor is called in, and he brings all the schools to bear upon the poor sufferer, and the patient, after a brave struggle for life, expires. What killed him? Too many doctors. And that is what is killing our national finances.

My personal friends, Cleveland and Harrison and Carlisle and McKinley and Sherman, as talented and lovely and splendid men as walk the earth, all good doctors, but their treatment of our languishing finances is so different that neither treatment has a full opportunity, and under the constant changes it is simply wonderful that the nation still lives. The tariff question will never be settled, because of the fact, which I have never heard any one recognize, but nevertheless the fact, that high tariff is best for some people and free trade is best for others.

This tariffic controversy keeps business struck through with uncertainty, and that uncertainty results in poverty and wretchedness for a vast multitude of people. If the eternal gab on this subject could have been fashioned into loaves of bread, there would not be a hungry man or woman or child on all the planet. To the end of time the words of the text will be kept true by the traffic controversy—"Ye have the poor always with you."

THE CAUSE ALCOHOLIC.

Another cause of perpetual poverty is the cause alcoholic. The victim does not last long. He soon crouches into the drunkard's grave. But what about his wife and children? She takes in washing, when she can get it, or goes out working on small wages, because sorrow and privation have left her incapacitated to do a strong woman's work. The children are thin blooded and gaunt and pale and weak, standing around in cold rooms, or pitching pennies on the street corner, and munching a slice of unbuttered bread when they can get it, sworn at by passers by because they do not get out of the way, kicked onward toward manhood or womanhood, for which they have no preparation except a depraved appetite and frail constitution, candidates for almshouse and penitentiary.

Whatever other causes of poverty may fail, the saloon may be depended on to furnish an ever increasing throng of paupers. Oh, ye grogshops of Brooklyn and New York and of all the cities! Ye mouths of hell! when will ye cease to craunch and devour? There is no danger of this liquor business failing. All other styles of business at times fail. Dry goods stores go under. Hardware stores go under. Grocery stores go under. Harness makers fail, druggists fail, bankers fail, butchers fail, bakers fail, confectioners fail, but the liquor dealers never. It is the only secure business I know of. Why the permanence of the alcoholic trade? Because, in the first place, the men in that business, if tight up for money, only have to put into large quantities of water, more strychnine and logwood and nux vomica and vitriol and other congenial concomitants for adulteration.

One quart of the real genuine pandemoniac elixir will do to mix up with several gallons of milder damnation. Besides that, these dealers can depend on an increase of demand on the part of their customers. The more of that stuff they drink the thirstier they are. Hard times, which stop other businesses, only increase that business, for men go there to drown their troubles. They take the spirits down to keep their spirits up. There is an inclined plane down which alcoholism slides its victims. Claret, champagne, port, cognac, whisky, Tom and Jerry, sour mash, on and down until it is a sort of mixture of kerosene oil, turpentine, toadstools, swill, essence of the horse blankets and general nastiness.

With its red sword of flame that liquor power marshals its procession, and they move on in ranks long enough to girdle the earth, and the procession is headed by the nose blotched, nerve shattered, rheum eyed, lip bloated, soul scorched inebriates, followed by the women, who, though brought up in comfortable homes, now go limping past with aches and pains and pallor and hunger and woe, followed by their children, barefoot, uncombed, freezing, and with a wretchedness of time and eternity seemingly compressed on their agonized features. "Forward, march!" cries the liquor business to that army without banners. Keep that influence moving on, and you will have the poor always with you. Report comes from one of the cities, where the majority of the inhabitants are out of work and dependent on charity, yet last year they spent more in that city for rum than they did for clothing and groceries.

THE SPIRIT OF IMPROVIDENCE.

Another warranty that my text will prove true in the perpetual poverty of the world is the wicked spirit of improvidence. A vast number of people have such small incomes that they cannot lay by in savings bank or life insurance 1 cent a year. It takes every farthing they can earn to spread the table, and clothe the family, and educate the children, and if you blame such people for improvidence you enact a cruelty. On such a salary as many clerks and employees and many ministers of religion live, and on such wages as many workmen receive, they cannot in twenty years lay up 20 cents. But you know and I know many who have competent incomes and could provide somewhat for the future who live up to every dollar, and when they die their children go to the poorhouse or on the street.

By the time the wife gets the husband buried she is in debt to the undertaker and gravedigger for that which she can never pay. While the man lived he had his wine parties and fairly stunk with tobacco and then expired, leaving his family upon the charities of the world. Do not send for me to come and conduct the obsequies and read over such a carcass the beautiful liturgy, "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord," for instead of that I will turn over the leaves of the Bible to First Timothy, fifth chapter, eighteenth verse, where it says, "If any provide not for his own, and especially for those of his own house, he has denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel," or I will turn to Jeremiah, twenty-second chapter, nineteenth verse, where it says, "He shall be buried with the burial of an ass, drawn and cast forth beyond the gates of Jerusalem."

I have known men who have had an income of $3,000, $4,000, $5,000 a year who did not leave one farthing to the surviving household. Now, that man's death is defalcation, an outrage, a swindle. He did not die; he absconded. There are 100,000 people in America to-day a-hungered through the sin of improvidence. "But," say some, "my income is so small I cannot afford to pay the premium on a life insurance." Are you sure about that? If you are sure, then you have a right to depend on the promise in Jeremiah xlix., 11: "Leave thy fatherless children. I will preserve them alive, and let thy widows trust in me." But, if you are able to, remember you have no right to ask God to do for your household that which you can do for them yourself.

For the benefit of those young men, excuse a practical personality. Beginning my life's work on the munificent salary of $800 a year and a parsonage, and when the call was placed in my hands I did not know how in the world I would ever be able to spend that amount of money, and I remember indulging in a devout wish that I might not be led into worldliness and prodigality by such an overplus of resources, and at a time when articles of food and clothing were higher than they are now, I felt it a religious duty to get my life insured, and I presented myself at an office of one of the great companies, and I stood pale and nervous lest the medical examiner might have to declare that I had consumption and heart disease and a half dozen mortal ailments, but when I got the document, which I have yet in full force, I felt a sence of manliness and confidence and quietude and re-enforcement, which is a good thing for many young men to have.

I have for many years been such an ardent advocate of life insurance, and my sermon on "The Crime of Not Insuring" has been so long used on both sides of the sea by the chief life insurance companies that some people have supposed that I received monetary compensation for what I have said and written. Not a penny. I will give any man a hundred dollars for every penny I have received from any life insurance company.

HUMAN INCAPACITY.

Another fact that you may depend upon for perpetual poverty is the incapacity of many to achieve a livelihood. You can go through any community and find good people with more than usual mental caliber, who never have been able to support themselves and their households. They are a mystery to us, and we say, "I do not know what is the matter of them, but there is a screw loose somewhere." Some of these persons have more brain than thousands who make a splendid success. Some are too sanguine of temperament, and they see bargains where there are none. A common minnow is to them a goldfish, and a quail a flamingo, and a blind mule on a towpath a Bucephalus. They buy when things are highest and sell when things are lowest.

They invest in aerial machines or new inventions in perpetual motion, and they succeed in what mathematicians think impossible, the squaring of a circle, for they do everything on the square and win the whole circle of disappointment. They are good, honest, brilliant failures. They die poor, and leave nothing to their families but a model of some invention that would not work, and whole portfolios of diagrams of things impossible. I cannot help but like them, because they are so cheerful with great expectations. But their children are a bequest to the bureau of city charities.

Others administer to the crop of the world's misfortune by being too unsuspecting. Honest themselves, they believe all others are honest. They are fleeced and scalped and vivisected by the sharpers in all styles of business, and cheated out of everything between cradle and grave, and those two exceptions only because they have nothing to do in buying either of them. Others are retained for misfortune by inopportune sickness. Just as that lawyer was to make the plea that would have put him among the strong men of the profession, neuralgia stung him. Just as that physician was to prove his skill in an epidemic, his own poor health imprisoned him. Just as that merchant must be at the store for some decisive and introductory bargain, he sits with a rheumatic joint on a pillow, the room redolent with liniment.

What an overwhelming statistic would be the story of men and women and children impoverished by sicknesses! Then the cyclones. Then the Mississippi and Ohio freshets. Then the stopping of factories. Then the caterpillar among the peach trees. Then the insectile devastation of potato patches and wheat fields. Then the epizootics among the horses and the hollow horn among the herds. Then the rains that drown out everything and the droughts that burn up half a continent. Then the orange groves die under the white teeth of the hoar frost. Then the coal strikes and the iron strikes and the mechanics' strikes, which all strike labor harder than they strike capital. Then the yellow fever at Brunswick and Jacksonville and Shreveport. Then the cholera at the Narrows, threatening to land in New York. Then the Charleston earthquake. Then the Johnstown flood. Then hurricanes sweeping from Caribbean sea to Newfoundland. Then there are the great monopolies that gully the earth with their oppressions. Then there are the necessities of buying coal by the scuttle instead of the ton, and flour by the pound instead of the barrel, and so the injustices are multiplied. In the wake of all these are overwhelming illustrations of the truth of my text, "Ye have the poor always with you."

AN OLD INSURANCE COMPANY.

Remember the fact that no one emphasizes—a fact, nevertheless, upon which I want to put the weight of an eternity of tonnage—that the best way of insuring yourself and your children and your grandchildren against poverty and all other troubles is by helping others. I am an agent of the oldest insurance company that was ever established. It is near 3,000 years old. It has the advantage of all the other plans of insurance—whole life policy, endowment, joint life and survivorship policies, ascending and descending scales of premium and tontine, and it pays up while you live and it pays up after you are dead.

Every cent you give in a Christian spirit to a poor man or woman, every shoe you give to a bare foot, every stick of wood or lump of coal you give to a fireless hearth, every drop of medicine you give to a poor invalid, every star of hope you make to shine over unfortunate maternity, every mitten you knit for cold fingers, is a payment on the premium of that policy. I hand about 500,000,000 policies to all who will go forth and aid the unfortunate. There are only two or three lines in this policy of life insurance—Ps. xli, 1: "Blessed is he that considereth the poor. The lord will deliver him in time of trouble."

Other life insurance companies may fail, but this Celestial Life Insurance company never. The Lord God Almighty is at the head of it, and all the angels of heaven are in its board of direction, and its assets are all worlds, and all the charitable of earth and heaven are the beneficiaries. "But," says some one, "I do not like a tontine policy so well, and that which you offer is more like a tontine, and to be chiefly paid in this life." "Blessed is he that considereth the poor. The Lord will deliver him in time of trouble."

Well, if you prefer the old-fashioned policy of life insurance, which is not paid till after death, you can be accommodated. That will be given you in the day of judgment, and will be handed you by the right hand, the pierced hand, of our Lord himself, and all you do in the right spirit for the poor is payment on the premium of that life insurance policy. I read you a paragraph of that policy: "Then shall the King say unto them on the right hand, 'Come ye blessed of my Father, for I was hungered and ye gave me meat, I was thirsty and ye gave me drink, I was a stranger and ye took me in, naked and ye clothed me.'"

In various colors of ink other life insurance policies are written. This one I have just shown you is written in only one kind of ink, and that red ink—the blood of the cross. Blessed be God—that is a "paid up policy." Paid for by the pangs of the Son of God, and all we add to it in the way of our own good deeds will augment the sum of eternal felicities. Yes, the time will come when the banks of largest capital stock will all go down, and the fire insurance companies will all go down, and the life insurance companies will all go down. In the last great earthquake all the cities will be prostrated, and as a consequence all banks will forever suspend payment.

In the last conflagration the fire insurance companies of the world will fail, for how could they make appraisement of the loss on a universal fire? Then all the inhabitants of the round world will surrender their mortal existence, and how could life insurance companies pay for depopulated hemispheres? But our celestial life insurance will not be harmed by that continental wreck, or that hemispheric accident, or that planetary catastrophe.

Blow it out like a candle—the noonday sun! Tear it down like wornout upholstery—the last sunset! Toss it from God's finger like a dewdrop from the anther of a water lily—the ocean! Scatter them like thistledown before a schoolboy's breath—the worlds! That will not disturb the omnipotence, or the composure, or the sympathy, or the love of that Christ who said it once on earth, and will say it again in heaven to all those who have been helpful to the downtrodden and the cold, and the hungry, and the houseless, and the lost, "Inasmuch as ye did it to them, ye did to me."

WILL VISIT BELLEVILLE

Lord and Lady Aberdean Will be Here in April

The loyal people of Belleville are to have an opportunity to see and welcome Lord Aberdeen in April next. His Excellency having accepted an invitation to visit the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb some time during that month. He will probably be accompanied by Lady Aberdeen. Soon after His Excellency's arrival in Canada the pupils, officers and teachers of the Institution met and adopted an address of welcome, and a number of the advanced pupils sent kindly greetings on their own behalf. To all of these His Excellency sent a very gracious and kind reply.

BARNEY KING'S STORY

HE TELLS WHERE HE WAS EACH DAY IN SEPTEMBER

He Says he can Easily Prove an Alibi, and asks his Friends to Help him.

Barney King, or more properly speaking Barneby Roi, now confined in the Napanee goal charged with the murder of Angus McLeod at Napanee on the 14th day of September last has authorized his solicitors, Messrs. Herrington & Warner to make public the following statement in order that his friends may have an opportunity of verifying his account of his where abouts at the time of the murder.

"I am of French descent and my people live at St. Valier, Quebec. I am a journeyman coat-maker and during the month of August last was in the employ of Davis & Bro., Prescott, and boarded at the Queen's hotel. On Monday, September 4th, I drew my wages from Davis & Bro. and went to Ogdensburg and spent the day returning to Prescott at night. The next day I spent in Prescott chiefly at Daniel's Hotel. On Wednesday, September 6th. I went by freight train to Brockville and from there telephoned Livingstone of Kingston for work. I arrived in Kingston that evening about dark and stopped all night with Mr. Pelletier. On Thursday I engaged with Mr. Prevost at $9.00 a week, but did not go to keep this engagement as I hoped to do better. I pawned a ring on Princess street with a broker whose name I think is Taylor. I proceeded to Napanee where I arrived about 4 or 5 p.m. and went down town. I saw Mr. McAllister on the street and also Mr. Hogan and about six o'clock telegraphed to the Big Store, Deseronto for work. I went west on a freight train about eight o'clock and stopped off at Belleville. During the evening I was drinking with the bartender and a Jew at Doctor's Hotel. I was detained by a policeman at the depot until the arrival of a World's Fair train which passed through Belleville about 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning (Sept. 8th). By this train I went to Port Hope where I arrived early in the morning.

I applied at several shops for work and had dinner with a tailor whose place of business is opposite Clark's. I do not remember his name, but he is a dark complexioned man and has a stout wife. During the afternoon I travelled to Toronto in a freight car in company with a man in charge of stock for the Toronto Exhibition. That night (Sept. 8th) I slept at a lodging house on York street, Toronto, kept by Edward Nuttrell. Saturday morning I saw an advertisement in the paper for a tailor at a village about twenty-eight miles from Toronto. I cannot recall the name of the place but from an examination of a railway map I think it is Norval. In order to get there I walked to Parkdale and took the train. The situation had been secured by another applicant, but the tailor whose name I forget gave me a coat to make and sent me to an hotel to remain over Sunday. I think it is the only hotel in the place. While there I fell in with a young tailor whose name I think is James Hickeman and on Monday (Sept 11) we set out together and walked to the next station and beat our way on the train to London stopping at one large town on the way where we applied for work and I left my name with several tailors. That night we slept in a freight car near the station and the next morning (Sept 13th) we went west to Wyoming, from Wyoming on foot to Petrolia and back again to Wyoming and from there by freight to Port Huron. We passed through the tunnel about six and about nine caught a train for Detroit. The next morning, (Sept. 14th) we woke up in the Detroit freight yards and walked to the city. We spent that day in the city looking for work. Among other places visited by me in Detroit I remember having my breakfast at the corner of Randolph and Catalac Square. I applied at several shops on Michigan avenue and left my name with a firm of merchants on Jefferson avenue, the junior member of the firm was named Spec. They have since been burned out I bel'eve. They advised me to go to Jackson. That night we slept in a box car at the freight yards of the Milwaukee and Grand Haven R. R. The following morning I breakfasted at the same place as the morning previous, got shaved next morning at a colored barbers and again looked for work and left in the evening (Sept. 15) for Pontiac, Mich., where I secured work with James McKeand. I remained over night with the operator at the station and in the morning went to board with a Miss Smith, where I remained a week. There are dozens of people in Pontiac who can identify me. I have made no secret of my whereabouts as I had no occasion to do so. I arrived back in Napanee on New Year's day when I was greatly surprised to learn that I was suspected of having some knowledge of the murder of McLeod. Why my name should be associated with this dreadful crime I cannot understand. I would thank the people whom I met on my trip from Prescott to Pontiac and whose names I do not know if they would communicate with my solicitors at once."

Ask Your Friends

Who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla what they think of it and the replies will be positive in its favor. Simply what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, tells the story of its merit. One has been cured of indigestion or dyspepsia, another finds it indispensable for sick headache or biliousness, while others report remarkable cures of scrofula, catarrh, rheumatism, salt rheum, etc.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetoble.

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specially upon the deseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that disease of almost every name and nature are driven from the body.' Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell, P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well.'

Announcement Extraordinary

On the 1st March intending to transfer my Belleville business to other parties, I have decided to hold a great clearing sale for the next 60 days in order to reduce the stock to meet the cash capital of the new firm. All goods marked in plain red figures at about cost price—some less than cost. Positively no goods charged during this sale. All accounts due me must be paid before 1st of March or they will be handed to my solicitor, Mr. MacMahon for collection. J. PATTERSON, Syndicate Store. 7td

Still Another Triumph.—Mr. Thomas S. Bullen, Sunderland, writes: "For fourteen years I was afflicted with piles; and frequently I was unable to walk or sit, but four years ago I was cured by using DR. THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL. I have also been subject to quinsy for over forty years, but Electric Oil cured it, and it was a permanent cure in both cases, as neither the piles nor quinsy have troubled me since."

ABOUT THOSE SALARIES

Ald Robinson Will Move for an Entirely new set of Officials

EDITOR OF THE ONTARIO:—

SIR;—In reading your remarks in Wednesday's ONTARIO on the price charged for gas in this city, it struck me that some of the points you made were very applicable to a majority of our City Council when dealing with the matter of salaries paid our city officials.

You say "gas is sold in some American cities as low as 50 cents per thousand, and in very few places is over $1.00 charged, and this is the price charged in a great many Canadian cities. It should be possible (you continue) to make gas in Belleville as cheap as in any city in Ontario.

I presume you and many of your readers consider this a clincher, but, sir, let me tell you that such arguments and such evidence were perfectly futile when we discussed the salaries we should pay the civic officials. For instance, I provided evidence showing that we were paying our officials nearly double what some other cities of about the the same size as Belleville were paying. And, further, I stated that I was prepared to fill the positions with fully as good men in every respect as as those occupying the offices at nearly fifty percent less pay than the officials were receiving previous to the fifteen per cent reduction. But all this was just like pouring water on a duck's back, so far as several members of the council were concerned. I might say that I am also now prepared to produce a first class man for assessor at a salary of $500, and another for Street Surveyor for a similar amount, and one for Clerk at the same, and another for Janitor for $300, and so on in like manner to the end of the list. And do not forget that they are all steady, capable men, and men who are fully as much entitled to the positions as the present occupants. And another thing that is well worthy of consideration is that these men would agree not to ask for any increase of pay, like some of the present officials do, unless under changed circumstances. One peculiarity about several members of last years council was that they never seemed so happy and hilarious as when voting away the people's money for special grants to the officials. I think if those tax-payers, who by their votes sent back the old "gang" as members of this year's council, could have seen their actions on this salary question last Monday night they would have vowed vengeance on them for next election.

It is to be hoped that the new men elected to this years council will act solely in the interests of the people, instead of for the overpaid officials, when the salaries are again considered. And right here another sentiment you used in your article on gas comes in aptly.—It could be hoped that the council would side with the people and not with the officials altogether.

As far as I am concerned I have now concluded to do what I can to replace those officials, who are dissatisfied with their stated salaries, with other men who will be satisfied with the regular salaries voted to the officers when they accept them.

Although Mr. D. B. Robertson's salary was fixed at $850 last summer, which is entirely too much for the work he has to attend to, he has received on two occasions since fifty dollars each'time, making in all $950 per year. And as near as I can learn his actual work does not amount to more than three hours per day on an average.

I have it from a very reliable source that another official intends asking the council for an increase of salary shortly. So it seems to me that it is now high time that we were appointing a new set of officials all round. who will be satisfied with salaries corresponding with the amount of work there is to do.

NOTES FROM THE G OL

What is Going on in the County Building.

A number of the male prisoners are at present engaged in good exercise, namely, sawing wood.

Jacob Schemerhorn, who was sentenced to 6 months on the charge of bigamy, was yesterday sent to the central prison.

Nelson Sofa was on Thursday brought down to the gaol from Tweed. He was committed for trial by Justices Newton and Wray on the charge of stealing a gold watch from a man mamed Kincaid. Yesterday Sofa was brought up before Judge Lazier and elected to be tried by his Honor on Thursday next, 18th inst. Mr. C. D. Macaulay will defend the accused.

Marking the Lambs

In a Sunday-school, when the lesson of the Good Shepherd was being explained, the question was asked, "How does the Good Shepherd know his Sheep?" Young Washington, who had been visiting his uncle's sheep farm, thought he knew. "Tell the class, my dear," said the teacher. "Some he slits the ears, and some he marks with red chalk," said the boy. These would be distinguishing marks indeed, but not more so than are the marks of health on the countenance of those who use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. For all blood taints, from whatever cause arising, poisoning and humors, such as scrofula, tumors, ulcers and kindred affections, its equal does not exist.

A BRILLIANT SPECTACLE.

THE CARNIVAL LAST NIGHT WAS A GREAT SUCCESS.

Some of the Costumes Were Very Beautiful—Names and Characters of the Costumers.

The Carnival last evening—the first of the season—was a very brilliant one. The attendance of onlookers, owing to the excessive cold, was not so great as it otherwise would have been, so the financial result was a little disappointing. But those who were present were well repaid by the beautiful sight presented by the one hundred or more costumers who were flitting so gracefully over the ice. The dresses as usual, presented infinite variety. There was to be seen as usual the blackened face of the minstrel, the ever present clown and the dominos, and on up through all the grades of absurdity and beauty to the splendid representation of the "Lady of the Harem." Children were very plentiful, some of them being mere tots who could scarcely force themselves along. At nine o'clock the costumers lined up and the judges—Messrs. T. W. McRae, S. A. Hyman and Claude Armstrong—carefully inspected each one and awarded the prizes. By unanimous consent the first prize for ladies went to Miss Edith Hanwell, who represented the "Lady of the Harem," and whose costume was considered the richest and most handsome ever seen in Belleville. Miss May Price, "Butterfly," took second prize, her costume being very handsome, while Miss Irene Brignall. as "Poppy," carried off the honors for the most original representation. The first prize to gentlemen was awarded to John Falconer, "Highlander," and the second to Alex. McDonald, "College Professor," both well represented. During the evening the Oddfellows band discoursed sweet music.

Following are the names of the costumers and what they represented, so far as could be ascertained.

During the months of May and June a thorough inspection of all premises in the city was made by the force, divided up as last year, a ward to each member of the force, and at other times during the year on complaint of a nuisance existing.

We have also inspected food offered for sale every market day. The medical officer in his report to the Board of Health says, "I cannot conclude this report without thanking the Inspector and his assistants for the cheerful and prompt assistance in assisting me in the discharge of my duties, and cannot help saying that it is in a part measure to the careful and systematic manner in which the inspector and his assistants have performed their duties that the city has been so healthy during the past year." The Chairman of the Board of Health says in his report," Our Medical Health Officer and Inspector have been quite vigilant in their departments in the interest of the city, and for which they deserve our thanks and the thanks of the citizens generally."

During the past year I am pleased to say the force have received new and acceptable clothing which very much enhances their appearance. The style is somewhat different from that which they have usually had supplied, and is more in conformity with that of the police of larger cities. I have to thank the commissioners for the great and appreciable change; more particularly have I to thank his worship the mayor, who has taken a great deal of trouble, and has corresponded with other municipalities with regard to the same, in order that the force may be more presentable in their appearance.

Since my last report I am happy to say that two of the force, namely officers Stoneburg and Morton, have joined the benedict force, with which I am certain the commissioners will be greatly pleased.

In conclusion, I have to congratulate the Commissioners as also the citizens upon the gradual decrease of crime within the municipality, as will appear by comparison of this with my previous reports, which I may and do attribute to the zealous and efficient performance of the duties which the force are called upon to perform.

Thanking your honorable body for many acts of kindness and courtesy extended towards me during the past year.

I have the honor to be
Your obedient servant,
JOHN NEWTON,

Canadian Thoroughness

AGAINST

Imported Shallowness.

We have orders now in hand for the TENTH edition of "The Canadian Accountant" (which we shall publish in a week or two) from Massachusetts. New York, British Columbia, Nebraska, Washington, Michigan, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec and all parts of Ontario.

This book, which we have brought to such a standard that it is now the most widely circulated work on book-keeping published in the English language, is called "a curiosity of a past age" and its authorship is impugned in the recently published circular of a business college "managed" by an Estate agent.

These insults, with many others in the same circular, which we shall deal with, come from a college WHICH IS RUN ON AN AMERICAN TEXT BOOK WITH A PRINTED KEY AND REFERENCE BOOK ACCESSIBLE FOR USE IN THE SCHOOL, UPON THE COVER OF THE TEXT BOOK THE NAME OF THE COLLEGE IS STAMPED IN THE CITY OF ROCHESTER N. Y., FROM WHENCE IT COMES.

Canadian thoroughness is sneered at as a "Curiosity".

ONTARIO BUSINESS COLLEGE.

W. B. ROBINSON,
J. W. JOHNSON F.C.A. } PRINCIPALS.

N.B. The daily morning lectures on Business Papers, Finance and Business Practice were resumed after the holidays on Tuesday last. We shall be glad to have a visit from any citizen. 10.30 is the hour each morning.

BUSINESS EDUCATION.

From its inception the Belleville Business College has aimed at and accomplished thorough going systematic work, superior to that accomplished by its competitors. In spite of the keenest competition the attendance has steadily increased ; and December 1893, finds the Belleville Business College with the largest attendance of any business college in this part of the country. Students are in attendance from far and near, more than 80 from Belleville and vicinity alone. Work accomplishes more than talk.

Superior text-books, competent and earnest teachers, and the best equipped rooms of any business college in Canada explain the secret of the truly marvellous success that marks the history of the Belleville Business College.

The annual illustrated circular of 176 pages tells of honest work done.

A SABBATH-DAY SCENE

Shocking Exhibition of Swift Prairie Justice in Kansas.

MEN HANGED FROM A BRIDGE.

Without an Opportunity of Uttering Either Prayer or Pleading Three Murderers Meet Their Doom —Killed by "Persons Unknown."

RUSSELL, Kan.—Yesterday morning there was a terrible exhibition of prairie justice here, and three men met death at the hands of Judge Lynch. No such outbreak of the old-time swift frontier justice has been witnessed in Kansas for years. The mob was one of the quietest and most determined that ever came together. It was a fiercely earnest and wholly heartless mob also, for the victims were not given even time to pray until they were dropped into eternity. The victims were J. G. Burton, William Gay and the latter's son, John Gay, who had lived together on Burton's farm. The men were confessedly guilty of the murder of Fred Dinniny last July. Dinniny lived with T. W. Burton on a farm eleven miles north, and July 9 he disappeared. Burton had his team, and even wore some of his clothing, but said he had gone to Oklahoma with young Gay. Gay returned a short time ago, and on questioning confessed that Burton had poisoned Dinniny. The elder Gay attempted to point out the place of burial, but failed. Burton then made a confession that the Gays killed him, and Thursday took the sheriff to a corn field in a ravine where the body decomposed and mutilated was found. Indignation ran high, and it was with difficulty the three men could be got to the jail. Saturday night a number of men living in the vicinity of the Burton farm came into town and were reinforced by farmers from all parts of the county.

The party appeared to have been picked for there were only about 130 in all, when at midnight they surrounded the little jail and demanded the prisoners. They easily forced their way into the jail and dragged out the terrified trio from their cells. They took the men out through the streets and guarded them with jealous care, heading them along the Union Pacific track a short distance from town where a little prairie stream is crossed by the railroad and wagon road. To the bridge over this stream the mob went and placed the trembling wretches near the edge. Ropes were ready and one was put around the neck of each of the men and tied to the stringers. There was no time given for prayers or pleadings but at a signal all three were pushed off the edge and dropped eight or ten feet with all the precision of a professional hanging. To make sure of carrying out their purpose, the mob fired two shots into each body, although death came quickly by the rope. Then the lynchers rode away quietly and the bodies swung cold and stiff. When morning came, passengers on the eastbound express had a plain view of the bodies as they hung from the bridge. Hundreds of people gathered around, but it was not until 10.30 that the bodies were cut down. The coroner at once held an inquest and without delay the jury returned a verdict that deceased came their deaths at the hands of persons unknown. There is little sympathy for the victims.

The Fire Record.

IPSWICH, Mass., Jan. 15.—Fire Saturday destroyed property valued at $100,000. The buildings burned were the Jewett block, the Wildes block and Central block. The insurance is small.

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Jan. 15.—The woollen mill of William Tinkham & Co., at Harrisville, was completely destroyed by fire on Saturday. Loss $350,000.

LOCKPORT, N.Y., Jan. 15.—The moulding department of the Holly works, in this city, was damaged by fire and water on Saturday to an extent estimated at $7,000.

JERSEY CITY, Jan. 15.—The machine and repair shops of the Erie Railroad, Jersey City, were destroyed by fire Friday night, involving a loss of about $100,000. The wind blew the cinders over on the roofs of three frame buildings on Brunswick street, and they were also burned to the ground.

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., Jan. 15.—The dwelling house of W. H. Rooth was consumed by fire last night. The fire started in a closet through which ran a defective stovepipe. Natural gas was used for fuel.

Mr. Stead Will Talk to the Men.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—At a lecture to be delivered at the People's Institute tomorrow night Editor W. T. Stead proposes to elaborate the idea he expressed at the Women's Club, and will answer the question: "Who are the disreputable?" "I am not going to confine myself to the women who idle away their lives," he said. "The Americans are hard-working fellows, but see the way in which many of them are raising their sons in idleness and furnishing them with money, which they waste on wine and women. These young fellows are as disreputable as the women the community abhors. I knew what I was saying when I used the word 'disreputable,' and I propose to-morrow night to show that it covers quite a number of people in Chicago besides the lower classes to whom it is generally applied."

The Distress in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Jan. 15.—Although the City Council is spending a lot of money to relieve the unemployed this has not proved sufficient. An appeal is now being issued by a citizens' committee asking the people to contribute $100,000 for charity. The appeal states that unless this money is provided 2,500 men, able and willing to work for the support of their families, will be reduced to starvation. A striking instance showing the amount of distress and lack of confidence prevailing is shown by this case. A man had a $700 mortgage but could not realize upon it. He even offered an agent $100 if he would dispose of it. Eventually the man was forced to beg bread to keep his family from starving.

The Lynching Unnerved Him.

WINCHESTER, O., Jan. 15.—A remarkable suicide was committed near here Friday. Jesse Crewell, a well-to-do bachelor farmer, blew his head off with a shot gun after writing a letter which said that remorse for having helped to lynch young Parker, a negro boy charged with murder, the night before, had driven him to do the deed.

Killed at a Revival Meeting.

MOUNT VERNON, Ind., Jan. 15.—At a revival near here, Friday night, William Koffenberger and Marsh Duckworth quarrelled, and Duckworth was stabbed twice and killed. Koffenberger escaped.

Hundreds of people write "It is impossible to describe the good Hood's Sarsaparilla has done me." It will be of equal help to you

QUEEN LIL GIVES UP.

A Report That She Intends Seeking Pecuniary Redress From the U. S.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15.—An evening paper under date of Honolulu, January 6, says: "Queen Liliuokalani has entirely abandoned all hope of ever regaining the throne of Hawaii, and is now perfecting arrangements for bringing suit against the United States for an immense amount of money. The information is from a source which makes it absolutely trustworthy. Agents of the ex-Queen now in the United States have informed her that American sentiment generally is against her restoration. The claim for damages will be made on the ground that she was deposed solely by the armed force of the United States, acting under the advice and direction of Minister Stevens."

The steamer Mariposa, which sailed for Honolulu Saturday, carried final instructions to Minister Willis.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The correspondence relating to Hawaiian matters has been laid before Congress. Two despatches previously withheld were in the budget. One from Mr. Willis contains his interview with the Queen, in which he informed her of the President's desire to redress the wrong done her, intimating that it was expected that she would grant a general amnesty when restored. This proposition did not suit the Queen, who declared she felt it her duty to behead the members of the provisional government.

The second despatch contains Provisional President Dole's reply to Mr. Willis, stating, among other things, his Government's non-recognition of any right of interference on the part of Congress.

A despatch from San Francisco says that the Provisional Government will make no resistance should Congress attempt to re-establish the Queen by force.

The tariff will be almost the exclusive subject in the House this week.

Saved by a Child.

POTTSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 15.—A little child Saturday saved not only itself but its mother and two sisters. Mrs. A. J. Bernhardt and her three children were asleep when the house caught fire. The little tot was awakened by the smoke, told its mother, who made an investigation, but found no fire. She went to sleep, but was soon aroused again by the child. Then the house was ablaze. All were got out safely.

A Peculiar Incident.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 15.—An Indian found a worm-eaten leaf which showed a tracing of the Virgin Mary. He showed it to his master who said any worm could do as well and snapped the leaf with a cane. In revenge the Indian that night burnt the haciende and 1,000 bales of cotton. A general rising of the savages is feared.

Ship and Cargo Lost.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15.—The City of Pekin brings news that the British bark Clan Grant, from Amoy, bound for New York, with a million pounds of tea, valued at $375,000, was totally lost in the Java Sea. The captain, crew and passengers were rescued and landed in Singapore. The ship and cargo were fully insured.

The Long Island Bridge Disaster.

LONG ISLAND CITY, N.Y., Jan. 15.—Four men are still unaccounted for in the recent bridge disaster, and are supposed to be under the Penny bridge. There is also an uncertainty as to the fate of the eleven men who were employes of the chemical works and who have not been seen since the accident.

A Terrible Disaster Averted.

MONET, Kan., Jan. 15.—The Missouri Pacific southbound train was fired into near here Friday night by train robbers. When Engineer Wilson saw rocks on the track and a red lantern he became suspicious, opened the throttle and pulled through. The engine cab was riddled with bullets, but no one was hurt.

Anarchists in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—The police have a stenographic report of an Anarchist meeting at which speeches were made urging the use of the torch. It was also proposed to have a demonstration of the unemployed before the City Hall. The Mayor will stop this.

Girl Burned in St. Catharines.

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 15.—A distressing and what may yet prove a fatal accident took place on Saturday at the residence of Mrs. Kramer, Welland avenue. Mrs. Kramer was up town and left the house in charge of her daughter Louisa, who is suffering from mental weakness. Every thing was left perfectly safe, but in the absence of her mother the unfortunate girl took upon herself to shake up the stove. In some way her skirt caught fire, the flames immediately spreading over the poor girl, who rushed out into the back yard, screaming and enveloped in flames. Ald. Thomas Beatty and Mr. Ed Bennett, happening to pass along, ran to the rescue of the suffering girl and subdued the flames, though not before she had been terribly burned about the front part of the body, from the knees to her neck.

Money Packages Disappear.

HAMILTON, Jan. 15.—The officials of the Canadian Express Company are investigating the mysterious disappearance of two money packages which left here on Friday consigned to parties in Alliston, Ont. The packages were lost between Hamilton and Beeton, but, although no person is suspected, no trace of them can be found. It was at first thought the money packages had been accidentally put off at the wrong station, but enquires failed to locate them and the express officials are in a quandary to account for their disappearance.

Eloped with His Wife's Sister.

DRAYTON, Ont., Jan. 15.—From near Dorking, Peel township, Henry Dobberthein has eloped with his wife's sister, a young girl about 17. The guilty parties drove to Drayton on business in a double carriage. Leaving the rig at the Western hotel, they boarded the train and all trace of their whereabouts has ended. Dobberthein leaves his wife and three small children destitute.

Government Employe Jailed.

OTTAWA, Jan. 15.—Edward H. Morse, a packer in the Postoffice Department, having excited suspicion that he had procured someone to personate him at the civil service preliminary examination at Montreal last November, was examined before the board on Saturday, and refusing to answer any of the questions proposed to him, was committed to prison for eight days.

A P. P. A. Gathering.

ITS TRADITIONAL HISTORY.

Standing as a Mysterious Monument of Almost Obscure Antiquity, It Was One of the Most Celebrated Buildings in the World.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Private letters received here from American travelers in Asia, whose names formerly stood out prominently in official and diplomatic circles in Washington, make mention of the curious fact that the Turkish authorities seem to have suppressed all extended mention of the destruction of one of the most noted edifices in Europe, the great Mosque of Damascus, though that event occurred many weeks ago. No particulars have been given, though the destruction of property in connection with the burning of the mosque must have been great. The fire removed one of the most noted buildings in the world, whose site is the centre of associations extending back into the mists of antiquity, and which was one of the principal points of interest in a city full of historical attractions. The great mosque stood near the castle, occupying a quadrangle 163 by 108 yards wide. Along the north side was an open court surrounded by cloisters resting on pillars of granite, marble and limestone. The mosque itself extended along the whole southern side, and its interior dimensions were 431 by 125 feet. In the centre was a dome resting on four massive piers. Underneath was a cave in which the head of John the Baptist was said to be preserved in a golden casket. The mosque had three minarets, one of which was 250 feet high, and upon it, according to moslem traditions, Jesus was to have descended on the day of judgment. Round the mosque were traces of a court 1,100 feet long by 800 feet wide, encompassed by colonnades similar to those of the Temple of Herod in Jerusalem and the Temple of The Sun at Palmyra. Authorities have thought it highly probable that this was the site of the Temple of Rimmon, mentioned in II. Kings v. 18, and that it became in after time the seat of the worship of Jupiter. In the fourth century it was converted into a church and dedicated to John the Baptist, and in the beginning of the eighth century it was seized by the followers of Mahomet.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.

A Young American Supposed to Have Been Kidnapped Near Paris.

PARIS, Jan. 15.—The Mother Superior of the Convent of La Dame de la Providence, at Colombes, a suburb of Paris, has been interviewed with a view of learning if any new facts had developed in the case of Edward Webster, the young American, whose family live in New York and who mysteriously disappeared on New Year's eve from the St. Lazare railway station. Young Webster was a pupil in the Pensionnat of Notre Dame du Sacre-Coeur, and had started to visit his foster-sister, Flora Atherton, and his cousin, Carrie Boothby, who are at school at the convent in Colombes. He reached the Gare St. Lazare safely, but since then no trace of him has been found.

It was, of course, known among Webster's friends that he was of a rich family, and it is the impression at the convent that he was kidnapped by some persons who are holding him for a ransom. The Mother Superior said that though an active police search was being conducted so far as she knew nothing had been learned of his whereabouts.

EXPLOSION AT ISLINGTON.

An Infernal Machine Sets Fire to Goods Awaiting Shipment.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—Great excitement has been caused at Islington by an explosion of what subsequently proved to be an infernal machine in the railway station there. The machine had been left in the station among the goods awaiting shipment. When the explosion occurred the goods were set on fire. The flames gained little headway, however, and were extinguished before much damage was done.

Investigation showed that the machine had consisted of a number of glass tubes filled with a liquid. Some of this liquid remained in one or two of the tubes and it was sent to a Government chemist for analysis.

Wilson Fought to the Last.

CAPETOWN, Jan. 15.—Details of the massacre of Captain Wilson's party by the Matabeles were received here Saturday. The news just wired to this town from Buluwayo shows that Capt. Wilson and his men made a hard fight and died gallantly, fighting to the last. According to the Buluwayo advices some natives, who arrived there on January 6, in order to surrender their arms and make terms with the British commander, admit they were present when the Wilson detachment was destroyed to a man.

Monson Backs Out.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—Monson was to have delivered the first of his proposed series of lectures in the Princess hall Saturday. Though a considerable crowd awaited his coming he did not appear, and those who had gathered to listen to the lecture went away disappointed. It was learned, subsequently, that Monson's solicitor had advised him not to deliver the lecture.

Tobacconists in Paris Warned.

PARIS, Jan. 15.—The Government has warned the tobacconists, all of whom are appointed by the State, the tobacco trust being a Government monopoly in France, that they must not sell Anarchist papers. Nearly all the small tobacconists combine the selling of newspapers with their tobacco business.

Vaillant's Daughter.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 15.—The Duchess d'Uzes, who became celebrated as General Boulanger's friend, has offered to educate the daughter of August Vaillant, the Paris Anarchist.

For the Good of Others

Rev. Mr. Williams Heartily Endorses Hood's Sarsaparilla.

We are pleased to present this from Rev. A. A. Williams, of the Sillsbee street Christian Church, Lynn, Mass.:

"I see no reason why a clergyman, more than a layman, who knows whereof he speaks, should hesitate to approve an

Article of Merit

and worth, from which he or his family have been signally benefited, and whose commendation may serve to extend those benefits to others by increasing their confidence. My wife has for many years been a sufferer from severe

Nervous Headache

for which she found little help. She has tried many things that promised well but performed little. Last fall a friend gave her a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It seems surprising what simply one bottle could and did do for her. The attacks of headache decreased in number and were less violent in their intensity, while her general health has been improved. Her appetite has also been better. From our experience with

Hood's Sarsaparilla

I have no hesitation in endorsing its merits."

Her Clipping Experience.

There are many women in Washington who, either on their own account or through their husband's orders, are patrons of clipping bureaus, and some of them have varied experiences. The same clipping received day after day or week after week for a year grows very monotonous—even when it is the truth and entertaining. When it happens to be a false statement, a woman can be excused for becoming wrathful. Women who have had experience in this latter direction will appreciate the sensations of Miss Clara Barton when she found a story to the effect that when she went into the patent office some years ago she was penniless, and the clipping insinuated, if it didn't say in so many words, that she was on the verge of starvation when she took the place.

This was enough to make Miss Barton, who is very tender of the memory of her father, quite indignant. But Miss Barton's cup was not by any means as full as it became later. The fib seemed to catch the exchange editors' fancy, and it was evidently very liberally scissored, for inside of a week the bureau began to fire into her at 5 cents each clippings from papers in every state and most of the territories in the Union. Before long Miss Barton had paid three times as much for that fib as the editor who bought it originally from the author. At this stage Miss Barton thought it would not be amiss to put a brake on the clipping bureau, which was then informed that Miss Barton had quite enough of that especial brand of clipping.—Washington Post.

The Use of Separators.

The use of separators about a power plant is said by a mechanical journal to be getting more and more general and for many purposes. Among these, as enumerated, is the placing of them between boiler and engine to remove the entrained water from the steam and thus increase the power and efficiency of the plant—to be a safeguard against foaming or the sudden lifting of water from the boiler, thus avoiding the common cause of the breakage of engines; also, between the high and low pressure cylinders of compound engines, to extract the water due to cylinder condensation and work done in the first cylinder, this often amounting to from 11 to 42 per cent of the total amount of steam entering the cylinder; again, between the engine and condenser, to relieve the air pump and increase the efficiency of the condenser and remove the oil, so that the tubes remain clean, and the boilers can be fed with hot water free from grease from the hot well; and between the engine and heating system, on evaporating apparatus, on long lines of pipe, on superheaters, as steam can be easily superheated when dry, but when it contains moisture this has to be all turned into steam before a single degree of superheat can be obtained.—New York Sun.

The Life Plant.

There is a life tree, but it is more properly called the life plant. It is a creeping moss found in Jamaica, Barbados and other islands of the West Indies. Its powers of vitality are beyond those of any other plant. It appears to be absolutely indestructible by any means except immersion in boiling water or application of a redhot iron. It may be cut up and divided in any manner, and the smallest shred will throw out roots, grow and form buds. The leaves of this extraordinary plant have been suspended in the air in a dry room, they have been placed in a close, airtight, dark box, without moisture of any sort, and still lived and grew.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Torches at Funerals.

The burning of lights and torches at funerals has always been a mark of honor to the dead, and to have a great number was a special mark of honor to the deceased. Testators frequently made provision in their wills for the burning of torches, both as to the number to be used and their prices. These torches were generally provided by the church wardens, and consequently they were an article of profit to the church. Church wardens' accounts furnish numerous instances of the charge to the friends of the deceased according to the consumption of wax.—Westminster Gazette.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Senator Perley has challenged Joseph Martin, M. P. to a public debate in Winnipeg on the tariff question. Should Mr. Martin accept, Senator Perley's wig will be on the green. The Senator may be a good debator, but really his cause is too weak for him to make out a case. We cannot imagine one plausible argument favorable to the present tariff, so far at least as it applies to the Northwest.

A few days ago the Tory papers asserted that Sir Oliver Mowat was going to dissolve the Legislature and bring on an election at once, before another session, and they abused him roundly for intending to do so. But he had no such intention, save in the imagination of Tory falsefiers. He has called the Legislature together for February 14th. and now these same high minded papers abuse him because, they say, he was afraid to have the election now, and that it was his duty to do so. All of which goes to show that his opponents can find no real grievance against him to ventilate.

All the Tory papers do not take stock in the cry against Mr. Ross for the alleged infringement of copyright. The Hamilton Spectator says: "The readers were published about ten years ago; and it is certainly strange, if the author or the owners of the copyright have been injured, that they should have made the discovery only ten years after the injury had been inflicted. But we cannot think that any injury has been done to the owners of the copyrights." On the same subject the Montreal Gazette says: "It is noteworthy in this connection, that it is only when the ten years' contract which the Government made with the publishers is about to expire that the question of infringing copyright is brought up. That the holders of the copyright have suffered any real damage will be hard to establish. As a rule, publishers and authors are more than willing to have such use made of their writings. It gives them a standing and a publicity that much money spent in advertising could not secure."

Multum in Parvo

"Much in little" this sentence means. It has almost become a proverb, because the expression can be used in so many instances. In no instance, however, can this saying be used with greater propriety than in speaking of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. There is indeed much in a little vial of them—there is a cure for many a headache—relief from dyspepsia, billousness, constipation, colic and piles and restoration to health and happiness. Much good in little space.

One of the Coolest.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 12.—On Tuesday a teller in the National Bank was counting out sacks of silver coin, each containing 1,000 silver dollars. A dozen other employes were standing about. A well-dressed young man sauntered in, picked up a bag unobserved, walked out, beckoned to a burden carrier, handed him the sack and led the way along a crowded street to a car line. Here he stopped a car, tossed the carrier a coin, boarded the car and placed the sack by his side. He alighted in the suburbs and has not been seen since.

Larke at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The presence of J. S. Larke in the capital, though ostensibly for the purpose of looking after the interests of Canadian World's Fair exhibitors, is considered by many whose business it is to watch closely the trend of tariff affairs, as indicative of the keenness of the Canadian Government to have private information at the earliest possible moment regarding possible changes in the United States tariff.

Cottolene
A SHORTENING.

Down the street through the busy way
A lady passed on marketing day.
Who, pausing at a grocery store,
Stepped quickly in at the open door.
With bated breath and anxious mien
She queried: "have you COTTOLENE?"

The grocer, leaving off his work,
Interrogated every clerk;
But none up to that time had seen
An article called "COTTOLENE."

"What is it?" said he to the dame,
"That answers to this curious name.
What is it made of? What's its use?
My ignorance you'll please excuse."

"You're not the merchant for my dimes,
I see you're quite behind the times.
For COTTOLENE, I'd have you know,
Is now the thing that's all the go,
An article of high regard;
A healthful substitute for lard.
Its composition pure and clean;
For cooking give me COTTOLENE."

As from his store the lady fled,
The grocer gently scratched his head—
On his next order, first was seen,
"One dozen cases COTTOLENE."

Untold Misery—What a Well Known Commercial Traveller Suffered and How he was Cured

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & CO. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle o Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confidence that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery believing that one persistent use of it will cure dispepsia.

FROM THE EAST COAST.

Fishing Industries Damaged by a Severe Storm.

SERIOUS RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

Disappearance of the Shatford Children as a Result of Judge Tuck's Decision—An Autopsy of a Woman's Body Shows Evidence of Poison.

INGONISH, C.B., Jan. 15.—The heaviest storm since the memorable gale of August, 1875, swept this coast Saturday night. It began in the forenoon, blowing from the southeast, accompanied by a blinding snow storm.

The fishing establishments were completely damaged here. From all points along the coast similar reports are coming in. The lobster factory at St. Paul's Island, in which all the gear and two boats were stowed, went clean.

At Meat Cove, Neil's Harbor, New Haven and French River considerable property was destroyed, particularly at Neil's Harbor, where the Government block and M. McLeod & Co.'s factory wharf were swept away. Also several fish houses with contents.

Ingonish seems to have suffered more than any place heard from, owing to its leeward location. The outside building of Pickert & Co.'s property went clean; Cann's shop was washed from its foundation towards the lake several yards. A small shed on this store, in which there were ten barrels of flour, cask of molasses and some other goods, broke clear of the shop and was swept away. The contents and all the wharves are damaged.

A family by the name of Donavan, living near the end of the beach, had to leave their house through the night, and merely saved their lives in a barn close by. The windward side of Donovan's house was broken in by the sea, and a large quantity of gravel, sand and stone was washed in upon their floor. The storm signal mast is down, a false channel is open in the north side of the abutment built to protect the beach, and about half the Government timber for the erection of the long promised public landing was swept away. About 20 small boats were smashed, and the whole place presents a sad appearance. The road opposite the Fresh Lake is completely ruined, being gutted by the sea and now covered with boulders. A small factory at Middle Head has gone with all its apparatus.

TERRIBLE RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

Snow Plough and Engine Go Over a Bridge Killing Engineer and Fireman.

HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 15.—A sad accident occurred on the Windsor & Annapolis railway yesterday. While a snow plough with engine attached was out clearing the roads, it left the rails about five hundred feet west of Gibbons' bridge, between Middleton and Wilmot. It ran on the sleepers until it got nearly across the bridge, when it went off the bridge, taking the engine and bridge with it. Engineer O. Pudsey and Fireman Frank Smith were both killed. The engine lies at the bottom with the tender standing on end nearly on top of the engine. The engineer and fireman are jammed between them. The bodies cannot be got out until the tender is taken off. This is the worst accident ever known on this road.

THE SHATFORD CASE.

As a Sequel to Judge Tuck's Decision Both Children Have Disappeared.

HALIFAX, Jan. 15.—Another act has taken place in the celebrated Shatford case which may yet have serious consequences. Judge Tuck on Saturday refused stay of proceeding in the case and issued his order for delivery of two children to J. D. Shatford. This order was directed to Mrs. Shatford and her father, Charles Campbell. Shatford then said he did not wish to worry his wife too much and would let the children remain until Monday.

The general public heard no more about the case until yesterday, when what some had anticipated was discovered to be a reality, both children were reported missing. This affair creates no end of talk, and it is probable that action will be taken against any or all who may be concerned in attempting to get the children out of the jurisdiction of the court.

A Halifax Poisoning Case.

HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 15.—An investigation into the death of Christina Jackson, an aged colored woman, at Bridgetown, has resulted in the body being exhumed. The autopsy showed indications of mineral poison apparently that of arsenic and the stomach has been brought to Halifax for analysis. The prisoner, Mrs. Stephen Jackson, daughter-in-law of deceased, has been remanded pending chemical analysis of contents of stomach. The evidence so far is very strong against the prisoner, who, it was proved, had purchased rough on rats just previous to her mother-in-law's death.

THE WEDDING PRESENT.

The Two Horses to Form the Gift to the Princess May of Teck.

OTTAWA, Jan. 15.—E. S. Skead has returned from the western part of the Province where he has been engaged in purchasing a pair of horses to form part of the wedding present to the Princess May by the ladies of Canada. The horses are to accompany the beautiful sleigh which has been in the course of purchase for some time, and together they will be shipped across the Atlantic as a token of the goodwill of the Canadian women to her Highness the Princess May of Teck,

Charge of Libel Against Beauvais.

MONTREAL, Jan. 15.—Mr. Edmond Beauvais, the victim of the stabbing affray at St. Mathias, for which offence two of the Graillons were sentenced to one month's imprisonment in the St. Hyacinthe jail, has been summoned by Judge Desnoyers to answer a charge of alleged defamatory libel against the Vicomte Routhillier-Chongny, who espoused the cause of the Graillons. The alleged libel is claimed to have been contained in a letter published in La Minerve and signed "Justus." The paper has since declared that it did not assume any responsibility for the statements made in the letter.

Woman Burned in a Fire.

TAVISTOCK, Ont., Jan. 15.—There was a sad occurence near here on Friday. The dwelling house of Louis Crowle, five miles from Tavistock, was burned to the ground, with contents, including $200 in money. Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. Crowle, who kept his house, fell a victim to the flames. She was asleep upstairs when the fire took place. Mr. Crowle, who slept on the lower flat, barely escaped with his life.

A KINGSTON GRADUATE.

A Young Canadian Who Has Been Distinguishing Himself.

We have pleasure in presenting our readers with a portrait of a young countryman who has been distinguishing himself abroad. Lieut. P. du Perron-Casgrain, of the Royal Engineers, at present stationed at Chatham, England, has just been officially notified by the Imperial Government that he has passed the examination in the Russian language, and is the recipient of the prize of £10 awarded by the Government to the successful candidate. Lieut. Casgrain's linguistic attainments appear to be of high order. During his five years' service in India he passed the final examination in Hindustani, and was fortunate enough to secure the prize awarded for a thorough knowledge of that language, which he writes and speaks as fluently as English or French. Lieut. Casgrain is the third son of P. B. Casgrain, for many years M.P. for L'Islet, and a brother of J. P. B. Casgrain, President of the Liberal Club of Montreal. The Casgrain family has already produced many distinguished members, and it must be gratifying to these to find the younger scions of the race keeping up their claims to the respect and esteem of their countrymen.

THE GEORGETOWN AFFAIR.

The Trial of Those Connected With the Fight Proves Nothing of Interest.

GEORGETOWN, Jan. 15.—The circumstances surrounding the death of Daniel Campbell, as reported, is causing considerable excitement here. It was expected that at the trial of those connected with the fight on Christmas night some facts would have been elicited which would have gone to show what injuries young Campbell had received. In this, however, public interest has been disappointed. Each one arraigned for disorderly conduct pleaded guilty, thus excluding all evidence in the case.

Walter Campbell, brother of the deceased, who was also severely injured in the fracas, pleaded guilty without even saying that he had been struck. It is considered by some that the fear of further violence kept him silent.

The young men of the Campbell family were notably of a most peculiar disposition. They belonged to the heroic school, and it was always a matter of comment that under no consideration would they admit defeat in the numerous broils in which they had been engaged. Rather than admit this, injuries they received on several occasions were invariably ascribed as the result of untoward mishaps. This will account for the fact that Daniel, on his deathbed, did not tell that he had been injured in a fight.

A sister of the deceased, a Mrs. Nathaniel Brown, of Georgetown, asserts positively that her brother died of the injuries received. She says that the day following the fight he bled profusely at the nose and vomited blood, at the same time complaining of pains in his head and back.

The local authorities seem afraid to take any decisive action in the present case. There is a bad gang in this village, and Constable Harley cannot be blamed for being a little afraid when he remembers the way in which his barns were burned to the ground when he tried to enforce the Scott Act a few years ago. He asks for Government aid, and the Attorney-General's department has been notified.

There are some young men here who will swear anything. They were educated in this business during the Scott Act times, when witnesses swore that whiskey was ginger ale and beer was cold tea.

Daniel Campbell, it is understood, had his life insured tor $1,000, which is payable to his widowed mother. He was, in many respects, the best one of the four brothers.

THE M'LEOD MURDER.

The Napanee Suspect Gives a Statement of His Movements.

NAPANEE, Jan. 15.—The solicitors of Barney King, charged here with the murder of Angus McLeod on September 14 last, have given out a statement made by King as to his movements at the time of the murder.

In his statement King says he is of French descent. He is a journeyman tailor, and in August worked in Prescott. He left that place on September 6 and beat his way to Kingston, where he procured work. Not liking the work he left there the next day for Napanee, and catching a freight train went to Belleville the same evening. Getting no work there he went next morning to Port Hope, and failing to get work went on to Toronto. He says he slept that night in a York street lodging house. He saw an advertisement next morning, the 9th, of a situation in a village near Toronto, the name of which he did not remember and proceeded there.

At this place he fell in with another tailor and together the two set out on Monday, the 11th, to walk to London, arriving there on the 12th. Next morning they went to Wyoming, then to Petrolea, back again to Wyoming and from there by foot to Port Huron. Leaving this city they proceeded to Detroit, going through the St. Clair tunnel. On the morning of September 14, the day on which the murder was committed, they woke up in the freight yard at Detriot station, and spent the day in the city looking for work.

On the 15th King says he went to Pontiac., Mich., where he secured work with James McKeand.

King claims that a large number of people in Pontiac will corroborate his statement as to being there, and expresses himself perfectly certain of proving his entire innocence of the crime with which he is charged.

THE HOOPER TRIAL.

Miss Stapely Recognizes the Notice in the Richmond Guardian.

JOLIETTE, Jan. 15.—The news that Miss Stapely was to be examined Saturday morning brought out a larger number of ladies than has yet been present at any of the sittings of the court. But, when the court opened, she had not left her hotel, so that the examination of Joseph Arthur Letourneau, station agent at Terrebonne, was called and gave evidence of the dying woman having been taken off the train at his station on September 18. She was in charge of the prisoner, who stated that she was a servant and that her name was Georgiana Leblanc. His own name he gave as McDonald and said Sir John Thompson was his boss. As there was a private car attached to the train witness thought he alluded to that. He afterwards found that his name was Hooper and not McDonald, for he signed a message with the former name.

When Miss Stapely took the stand she said: I know the accused. I first became acquainted with him last spring in Ottawa, when he first called on me. It was to bring some copying I did for him. I continued doing this all summer. On two or three occasions I spoke about his wife. I didn't know for a month or two whether he was married or not, and when I heard of it I asked him if it was true. He said, "Yes, I have been," and he then handed me the clipping, saying his wife was dead, and that she had died in a trance on the 1st ult."

"Look at this paper, the Richmond Guardian of June 9, 1893, and compare the death notice with the one showed you?"

Witness: "It is the same. When I saw it I was perfectly satisfied that he was a widower. He said his wife had been dead about a year."

Nearly an Accident

As Mrs. J. L. Biggar and Mr. J. P. Anderson were standing on the sidewalk in front of the Robertson block this morning a large piece of ice fell from the roof, just missing their heads. It crashed on to the sidewalk with great force. Had it struck either of those parties it would have caused serious and perhaps fatal injuries. Mr. A. E. Fish underwent a somewhat the similar experience. While walking on Front street in front of Harrison's book store a mass of snow came down completely enveloping him. Fortunately there was no ice with it or serious results might have ensued.

Supposed Culprit—Much Caused by the Affair

tes to 7 o'clock on Saturday ushed into the police station t a man was being robbed eet near the Commercial situated a short distance ation. What the boy stated ue. It appears that Mr. father of Wm. Taylor, Commercial House, the city recently from near Watertown, N. Y. He is an aged man being nearly 75 years of age. At the hour above stated he went out into the gangway between the house and a brick building formerly used as a blacksmith shop, He had been there but a few seconds when some one approached and threw his arms around the old man. It was but the work of a second and one of the hands of the assassin went into the pockets of Mr. Taylor and a roll of bills amounting to $150, mostly in American money was abstracted. For some reason or other the robber separated a few bills and throwing them at Mr. Taylor he said "d— it, you can have this." There were six $5 bills. With the remaining $120 he disappeared. The police were soon upon the track and from information obtained it was surmised that a young man named James Whalen had committed the bold deed. Another young man was arrested, but he proved to be innocent of the offence. At a few minutes after 11 o'clock that night Whalen was arrested at the barber shop of Alfred Page, near the G. T. R. station. He was brought to the police station and when searched but 85 cents was found upon his person. Although but 85 cents was found on Walen it is thought that he had more money as after he was arrested some bills of the same denomination that Mr. Taylor had taken from him were found on the road over which Whalen passed whilst being taken to the police station. It is surmised that the money was thus distributed by Whalen. The accused is about 28 years of age and was born here and has resided here the greater portion of his life. He has been arrested a few times for trivial offences, and excepting once in 1892, he, with another man, was arrested for an act similar to that with which he is now charged, but was acquitted. This morning he was brought before the police magistrate and the case not being ready for trial the magistrate granted an adjournment until Saturday. Mr. E. G. Porter, who appeared on behalf of the accused, asked that bail be allowed. The magistrate consented to this fixing the bail at $500 in himself and two sureties of $500 each. As yet bail has not been secured.

UNITED IN DEATH,

Mr. and Mrs. Severn Die Within Five Hours of Each Other

Many were the exclamations of surprise heard this morning when it became known that during the night Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Severn had died. For a number of months Mr. Severn had been in delicate health, but Mrs. Severn was not known to have been seriously ill, although she had been suffering from a cold for some time. At 9 o'clock last night Mr. Severn passed over to the silent majority and at a few minutes before two o'clock this morning Mrs. Severn ceased to breathe. Mr. Severn was well known here having for a number of years conducted a large brewery in West Belleville. He was born in the city of Toronto about 50 years ago, and has resided here for about 20 years. The last few years he has lived a retired life. Mrs. Severn was about the same age. They had no children. The remains will be taken to Toronto for burial.

A BRAVE DEED

A Runaway Horse Stopped by a man at the Risk of his Life

A vicious runaway and a heroic rescue constituted an exciting episode yesterday afternoon. A horse attached to a cutter containing four ladies, Mrs. H. C. Macdiarmid, Miss E. Weese and Miss L. Edwards, of Belleville, and Miss Rose Thompson, of Napanee, ran away near McGinnis' grocery, caused by the cutter striking the horse's heels. The animal, which was a swift runner, tore along at a teriffic pace and the ladies, almost paralyzed with fear, yet bravely hanging on to the reins, were powerless to check his speed. In turning the corner at Brown's foundry the cutter came within a couple of inches of the building, so near in fact as to bruise one lady's arm. Had it struck the building there would have been a tragedy to record. The horse then rushed down Front street with undiminished speed, being part of the time on the sidewalk and part on the road. When opposite Fitzpatrick's hotel Mr. Wm. Driscoll sprang toward it and caught hold of the cutter. He worked his way round to the back and reaching over caught the lines and see-sawing with all his strength checked the horse and brought it to a standstill in front of Clarke's drug store, Mr. Driscoll's deed was a most heroic one, such as one man in a thousand would not venture to undertake. He doubtless saved the ladies from death or serious injury and was the recipient of warm thanks and much praise for his courage. Mr. Driscoll, who formerly lived here, now resides in Kingston, and was in the city visiting friends.

ANOTHER RAILWAY HORROR

Fifteen Killed and a Large Number Injured

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(Special).—A frightful accident occurred this morning at 8.30 on the west side of the Hackensack bridge, on the Morris and Essex branch of the D. L. & W. Ry. The train which leaves Roseville at 8.09 crashed into the rear of the Dover express, telescoping two cars. Fifteen passengers in the two cars were known to have been killed and at least twety five were terribly injured.

THE NEW COUNCIL.

ORGANIZATION MEETING HELD THIS FORENOON

The Mayor's Inaugural Address Presents a Good Bill of Fare

The inaugural meeting of the city council for 1894 was held at 11 o'clock this morning. Considerable interest was manifested in the proceedings, a number of citizens being present.

The council is composed of the following members who were present:

Mayor Walmsley, Ald, Shevlin, LaRoche, Haight, Collins, Marshall, Foster, Diamond, Starling, Ponton, Wills, Lazier, Doyle, Petty, Hart, Graham, Clarke, Landenberger, Luscombe, Moon, Green and Robinson.

Ald. Landenberger opened the proceedings with an appropriate prayer.

The clerk read the official declaration of the result of the late election.

Ald. Doyle moved, seconded by Ald. Robinson, that Ald. Clarke and Ald. Moon escort the Mayor to the chair.—Carried.

The Mayor, after being invested with the insignia of office delivered the following address:

Gentlemen of the City Council:

"Men may come and men may go," but civic government must go on continuously. In obedience to the law and the will of the people, we assemble here to day, early in the New Year, a new council, to inaugurate a new and hopeful era, we trust for this fair city.

In congratulating you upon your election to a seat at this year's council board I can also congratulate you upon the happy financial conditions, under which you will labor as a council, compared with your predecessors.

To the generous assistance rendered past councils by the Board of Trade, Harbor Commissioners, Board of Health, School Board, Representatives in Parliment, and Women's Christian Association is due somewhat the satisfactory condition generally of this city; and we record with pleasure our appreciation of their services, and bespeak a continuance of their co-operation and fidelity to Belleville's interests.

The year just ended has been one of preparation, therefore while inaugural addresses sometimes suggest work that the public generally might construe as having been neglected, in this case we take pride in assuring you, that the removal of the difficulties that have prevented such action, warrants the careful investigation of these proposals.

The consolidation and revision of the city by-laws is a duty that should engage your immediate and careful attention.

The consolidation of a large part of the debenture debt will cause a considerable saving in interest and add materially to the establishment of a system of permanent improvements which is deemed so desirable by the citizens. $10,000 annually is considered too much of a waste of funds to be used in patching only.

Front street should cease to be the worst end of the road from Tweed to the wharf.

The lighting of this city should have your attention. Existing contracts expire in a year or two and the re-arrangement of the position, style and price of the present system would relieve the wrongs, and have the hearty approval of the tax payers.

Coal-oil lamps are an injustice to the neighborhood wherein they are situated, and a useless expenditure of money.

Some progress has been made on plans for a system of drainage.

Following these a continuance of the Front Street sewer up to near the Upper bridge, and the proposed sewer on Bridge street should at least be built.

Belleville's stock in the Gas Company which was originally intended to be withdrawn as soon as the Company were properly in working order, should be sold.

I would also recommend that this course be adopted with the stock of the city in the Bridge Company, providing of course that no serious sacrifice be made in the sale of either.

Assisting the introduction of public improvements and industries to locate is one thing; but the maintenance is quite another thing.

The completion of such a magnificent building as the hotel "Quinte," shows a public spirit and faith in Belleville by some of the citizens, such as any city should be proud of. There is no doubt, this will add materially to the prosperity of this place; and it is to be hoped that all expectations formed in connection with the enterprise may be realized.

An improvement which I advise and one likely to be more than self-sustaining, a necessity of the age, and demanded by the people, is an Electric Street Railway. Without further hesitation this council would do well to build and equip at once a Front street line from the G. T. R. station to the wharf.

There can be no question as to the feasibility of this route. On the result, this city can determine whether a belt line connecting with a park would be profitable.

Companies can be had to build the former but unless the latter is included in a reasonable time Belleville can do better by building, owning, and operating the Front street part.

With the best hotel accommodation on the north shore, east of Toronto, with a daily line of tourist steamers calling east and west, and an astonishing influx of American pleasure seekers visiting us; having the only bay of Quinte—the sportsman's paradise at the foot of our lawns—; this council is now in a position to interview the Canadian Pacific Railway, and we trust the right of way through the city, and the splendid water frontage that can be given them, with the government bonus, we believe are altogether sufficient inducements to secure connection with this great system of railway.

Secure this railway connection, and you secure coveted industries; you develop your vast mineral fields. You build a city, and earn the lasting gratitude of future generations. The Grand Trunk Railway has given us assurance that certain benefits would be provided citizens and shippers; your reminder would be timely.

Belleville is the centre of agricultural Ontario; no other city has the broad expanse of fertile fields east, west, north, south, like we have; yet we have no Central Fair. The time has surely come when all the townships surrounding may be induced to concentrate their efforts in one Grand Midland County Exhibition; and thus do justice to themselves, and to the place of all places they are, or should be interested in—Belleville.

An Electric Fire Alarm should be established in connection with our otherwise efficient fire protection service.

The present mode of assessment has several objectional features; and a commissioner is considered too much of an expense on the people for a place the size of this; yet the time must soon come, when action will be soon necessary to secure a better equalization of value.

Gambling through the medium of a bucket shop is carried on, we understand, in this city. Every effort to blot out this curse should be exerted.

Belleville's share of the cost of administration of justice is a burden on our finances; and out of proportion to that of other cities of the population. I hope you can accomplish a saving of this item,

Sir Oliver Mowat took into consideration the fact, that Belleville has to pay her Police Magistrate as much salary as cities of twice and three times the population; and I am convinced that further pressure on this point would cause a reduction, which in view of the meagre income, is so desirable.

An illustration of a new process of making steel from iron ore, or old scrap, will probably be made in this city, at an early date. This process, if as represented, makes pretty certain the utilization of our ores; and opens up a vast field of possibilities for this city.

The proposed removal by the U.S. Congress of restrictions to trade with us, and to which the premier promised in a public speech in Belleville, the Canadian government would respond in a liberal spirit, lead to the belief, that a large increase in trade between Canada and the United States will begin this year. Belleville being one of the principal distributing centres, cannot fail to reap advantage therefrom.

Both these points are recommended t your careful attention.

Into your hands is now committed th welfare of Belleville for 1894.

I have every confidence, that under th blessings of a kind Providence, you w legislate solely in her interests.

As occasion may arise, I shall ha pleasure in submitting other messages f your consideration. I believe that wh opinions will differ, and justly so; th harmony will prevail, and city before se will be the main principle that will gui your deliberations.

Your confidence and support I hope merit, and I trust that when the events this year are criticised, the eulogy will "well done, good and faithful servants,

Ald. Diamond moved seconded by A Starling that the thanks of the council tendered to the Mayor for his add and that the various parts relating the different departments be referred the several committee for consideratio Carried.

Ald. Collins moved, seconded by A Foster that the following, Alds. Coll LaRoche, Starling, Wills, Graham, Cla and Moon be the special committee draft the standing committees for year 1894.

Moved by Ald. Robinson, seconded b Ald. Landenberger in amendment tha Ald. Starling, Wills, Landenberger, Mar shall, Petty. LaRoche and Robinson be special committee to draft the standing committees for 1894.

After some discussion the motion of Ald. Collins prevailed.

The special committee after deliberating for half an hour returned into the council chamber and presented the following report:—

EXECUTIVE.

Chairman, Diamond—Haight, Collins, Ponton, Wills, Hart, Clarke, Moon and Lazier.

PUBLIC WORKS.

Chairman, Doyle — Shevlin, Foster, Starling, Graham, Luscombe and Green.

FIRE.

Chairman, Starling, Luscombe, Marshall, Lazier, Petty, Clarke and Robinson.

WATER AND GAS.

Chairman, LaRoche—Marshall, Starling, Wills, Hart, Landenberger and Moon.

HARBOR AND FERRY.

Chairman, Luscombe—Shevlin, Foster, Ponton, Doyle, Petty and Robinson.

MARKET AND CITY PROPERTY.

Chairman Collins—Haight, Ponton, Wills, Graham, Landenberger and Green.

COURT OF REVISION AND COMMITTEE ON BY-LAWS.

Chairman, Graham—Diamond, Doyle, Lazier and Starling.

INDUSTRIES AND RAILWAYS.

Chairman, Ponton—LaRoche, Collins, Wills, Hart, Luscombe and Green.

Ald. Landenberger moved that the Council adjourn until 2 o'clock.—Lost.

Ald. Collins moved seconded by Ald. Wills that the report be adopted.

Ald. Landenberger was not in favor of the report. He objected to three aldermen from one ward being chairmen of committees. He moved that Ald. Luscombe's name be substituted for that of Ald. Starling as chairman of the fire committee.

Ald. Wills said the report had been carefully prepared and he would support the report as presented.

Ald. Robinson said it was unfair to Murney ward that it had been slighted as no representative had been appointed as a chairman. He would insist on Murney ward getting its rights, and their rights should not be ignored.

Ald. Clarke moved seconded by Ald. Luscombe in amendment that the name of Ald. Ponton be substituted for Ald. Diamond and the names of Ald. Diamond and Lazier be struck off the Executive committees.

This was lost on the following division.

Yeas.—Clarke, Luscombe, Marshall, Moon, Petty, Robinson, Shevlin.—7

Nays—Collins, Diamond, Doyle, Foster, Graham, Haight, Hart, Landenberger, LaRoche, Lazier, Ponton, Starling—13.

Ald. Clarke moved that the name of Ald. Green be substituted as chairman of the Board of Works instead of Ald. Doyle.

After some discussion the report as presented by the special committee was adopted.

Ald. Diamond introduced three by-laws appointing auditors, High school trustees and a local Board of Health.

On motion the council went into committee of the whole on by-laws, Ald. Wills in the chair.

The by-law to appoint two auditors was first taken up, The Mayor named Mr. F. Reeves as one of the auditors and the council appointed Mr. J. C. Keith who received twelve votes out of 19.

The question of the salary to be paid caused some discussion. Ald. Robinson thought that $50 would be ample pay. Others were of the same opinion. Ald. Collins moved that $60 be paid. The latter amount was finally voted.

The by-law to appoint high school trustees was read a first time. The following were appointed to the positions—Rev. M. W. Maclean and Wm. Clarke.

The by-law appointing the local Board of Health was read a first time. The following appointments were made—W. Blaind, S. A. Moore, A. T. Petrie, H. Yeomans, R. C. Hulme, Jas. Meagher, Dr. Tracy and the mayor.

The committee rose and reported.

On motion that the report be adopted Ald. Robinson moved that it be not now adopted but referred back for reconsidering the salary to be paid to the auditors. This was lost on the following division:—

YEAS.—Hart, Luscombe, Moon, Petty and Robinson—5.

NAYS.—Collins, Diamond, Doyle, Foster, Graham, Haight, Lazier, Marshall, Starling, Wills, Shevlin and Ponton—12.

The report was then adopted.

Ald. Graham's notice of motion relating to the purchase of lumber was sent to the Public Works committee.

Ald. Robinson gave notice that he would introduce a by-law amalgamating the offices of assessor and street surveyor at a salary of $850.

On motion the council adjourn

"Disfigured For Life"

Is the despairing cry of thousands afflicted with Unsightly skin diseases.
Do you realize what this disfiguration means to sensitive souls?
It means isolation, seclusion.
It is a bar to social and business success.
Do you wonder that despair seizes upon these sufferers when Doctors fail,
Standard remedies fail,
And nostrums prove worse than useless?
Skin diseases are most obstinate to cure or even relieve.
It is an easy matter to claim to cure them, but quite another thing to do so.
CUTICURA REMEDIES
Have earned the right to be called Skin Specifics,
Because for years they have met with most remarkable success.
There are cases that they cannot cure, but they are few indeed.
It is no long-drawn-out, expensive experiment.

BUSINESS EDUCATION.

From its inception the Belleville Business College has aimed at and accomplished thorough going systematic work, superior to that accomplished by its competitors. In spite of the keenest competition the attendance has steadily increased ; and December 1893, finds the Belleville Business College with the largest attendance of any business college in this part of the country. Students are in attendance from far and near, more than 80 from Belleville and vicinity alone. Work accomplishes more than talk.

Superior text-books, competent and earnest teachers, and the best equipped rooms of any business college in Canada explain the secret of the truly marvellous success that marks the history of the Belleville Business College.

The annual illustrated circular of 176 pages tells of honest work done.

Eleven Persons Killed and Many More Wounded.

PASSENGER TRAINS COLLIDE.

The Baggage Car of the Express Contained Forty People, None of Whom Escaped Without Injury—A Dense Fog the Cause.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—One of the most disastrous railroad accidents that was ever experienced in the neighborhood of this city occurred on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad yesterday morning during a thick fog on the Meadows just east of Hackensack, N.J.

The South Orange accommodation ran into the Dover express, telescoping and smashing to splinters the two rear cars of the latter train, instantly killing eleven persons and injuring about fifty others. The following is the official list of the killed :

William R. Adams, Summit, N.J. ; John Fish, civil engineer, Summit; William Ferguson, Summit, an employe of the auditor's office Western Union Telegraph Company, New York; Edward Kinzey, Bernardsville; Edward Morrell, Summit; John Purrington, Short Hills; John H. H. Rimmer, Summit, cashier for S. N. Boocock, broker, 30 Broad street, New York; Patrick Ryan, Milburn; W. J. Turner, Basking Ridge; Dr. Doty, druggist, Basking Ridge; D. Cameron, Summit.

The Dover express, which brings to the city men employed here in business and who live at Summit, Millburn, Short Hills and Newark, made its last stop at Newark and then rushed on through the thick fog towards the city. About 200 yards west of the drawbridge over the Hackensack the train was stopped by torpedoes. The flagman of the train, it is claimed, ran back immediately to flag any train that might be approaching from the west. He had gone but a few yards, he said, when suddenly to his horror he saw rushing upon him through the fog the South Orange accommodation.

This train was scheduled to leave South Orange at 7.55, but was about three minutes behind time. Aboard were residents of the Oranges and of Newark, who are in business in New York. The train was running about thirty miles an hour. Before Engineer David Hoffman could discern the express train through the fog, or before he had received the warning from the flagman who had been sent back, it was too late to stop his train. He turned on the air brakes and jumping from the cab rolled over and over down a steep embankment. He was taken up afterwards unconscious, and badly bruised and cut about the head and body. Fireman Metz climbed back over the tender, and was found after the collision but slightly injured.

The engine struck the express train with terrific force. It ploughed its way into the rear car, a combination baggage and smoking car, and caused it to telescope the passenger car next in front. Every seat in the smoking compartment was occupied. The trainmen said that there were about 40 passengers in the car. Not one of them escaped injury. They were all men in the smoker, which accounts, no doubt for the fact that no women were reported to be among the seriously injured. The force of the collision completely wrecked the engine of the South Orange train. None of the passengers, however, on this train were injured, but all suffered from the effects of the terrific shock. On the Dover express the last two cars were twisted and turned into a mass of broken iron, wood and glass, over which rolled the clouds of smoke and steam from the engine. From this mass came the screams and cries of the injured.

As soon as the passengers who were injured recovered from the shock they piled out of the cars and rushed to the assistance of the injured. The woodwork was lying in all directions and literally strewn along the track were the bodies of the dead and dying. The bodies of many persons had been thrown apparently out of the car by the collision, one side of the car being completely knocked off.

The running of regular trains from the depot in Hoboken was immediately stopped and all the passenger trains in the depot were hurried to the scene of the accident.

William Ferguson, who was one of those in the smoker, died soon after reaching the hospital.

Another Railway Wreck.

SAN RAFAEL, Cal., Jan. 16.—News has just reached here of a frightful railroad accident at Austin Creek bridge, on the line of the North Pacific Coast railroad, between the stations of Duncan's Mills and Cazadero. As an engine of the North Pacific Coast railroad was crossing Austin Creek last evening the bridge gave way and the engine rolled into the stream below, a distance of forty feet, drowning seven men.

The Pugilistic Test Case.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 16.—Harris and Watkins, the negro pugilists, met at the opera house last night under articles of agreement identical with those signed by Corbett and Mitchell and were not interfered with. The meeting was under the supervision of the chief of police, and the referee was vested with power to stop the mill whenever it reached a point indicating danger to life and limb. The club people were disappointed that the State authorities took no action to stop the contest.

A Gold Bonanza.

GEORGETOWN, Cal., Jan. 16.—One of the most remarkable strikes of rich ore ever discovered in Clear Creek county was made last week in the Independent mine, in East Argentine district. A six-inch vein of sylvanite was found at a depth of over one hundred feet, and an assay shows it to contain 7,583 ounces of gold and 2,499 ounces of silver to the ton. A qualitative test proved the remaining substance to be tellurium.

The Nicaragua Canal.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—A special from San Francisco says: The fate of the Nicaraguan canal seems to be trembling in the balance and the Pacific coast shareholders have been appealed to for assistance. So great has been the interest aroused that a consultation of resident shareholders has already been had and a partial understanding has been reached.

Smallpox in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—Nine cases of smallpox were taken to the isolation hospital Sunday, and yesterday two more cases were called.

"Hundreds of people write "It is impossible to describe the good Hood's Sarsaparilla has done me." It will be of equal elp to you

THE ANDREWS CASE.

The Case Comes Up Before Assizes and Is Adjourned Until Spring.

TORONTO Jan. 16.—The trial of the Andrews trio came up in the Assizes yesterday. Mr. W. R. Meredith, the counsel for the defence, did not appear, being otherwise engaged, and the case for the Andrews was conducted by Mr. W. R. Riddell. He addressed his Lordship Mr. Justice Street upon a motion to postpone the trial on account of the absence of John Dunning, the commercial traveler, who waited upon the dead girl. He read an affidavit from Dr. Andrews, saying he could not safely go to trial without Dunning's evidence. Efforts have been made to find him, but without success. The doctor also complains that the Crown took his correspondence and papers and would not let him have access to them, and access was necessary for his defence.

His Lordship was of the opinion that the defence was entitled to an inspection of the correspondence, and adjourned the case until the Spring Assizes.

The Fire Record.

CASTLETON, Ont., Jan. 16.—On Monday the Wait schoolhouse, three miles west of here, was destroyed by fire.

HALIFAX, Jan. 16.—Intelligence of a serious fire at Turns Bay was received in this city yesterday. The house of John Caffaro, J. P., caught fire Saturday night. The flames spread rapidly and communicated with the barn and two stores of Caffaro. So fast did the flames eat up the buildings that not a single article was saved.

PETROLEA, Jan. 16.—On Saturday night the residence of Mr. Alex. Smith, Oil Springs, was destroyed by fire.

HALIFAX, Jan. 16.—Fire started at midnight in the Lovett House, second class hotel. The firemen worked hard for a couple of hours and confined the fire mostly to one end of the building, but the whole hotel is badly damaged by smoke and water. There were about 40 boarders in the hotel, all of whom escaped without injury.

Is Canada Going to Meddle?

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—A special from Vancouver, B. C., says: There is now being organized here a company of men to enter the service of Queen Liliuokalani, and already there are 160 on the roll. The movement is headed by R. Smart, son of ex-Attorney-General Smart, of Manitoba, and S. Sansem, a retired volunteer officer, of this city. Most of the men engaged are former mounted policemen, or men who served with Canadian militia throughout the recent rebellion. Fred Johnson, known throughout the West for his assumption of the title of the "Duke of Matsqui," leaves for Honolulu on Tuesday, and it is thought his trip has something to do with the enrolment of volunteers.

The Cattle Embargo.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The movement in Scotland to obtain the removal of the embargo on Canadian cattle, has been quickly noted by the Scotch farmers and breeders, whose organs in the press urge the need of a prompt counter demonstration. It is practically certain that the Scotch farming and breeding interest will join with English breeders in appealing to the Board of Agriculture to continue the exclusion. No decision is probable for some weeks as Mr. Gardner is now in the south of France owing to illness.

Enquete Again Postponed.

MONTREAL, Jan. 16.—Owing to the absence of Mr. Mercier from the city, the enquete in the case of Pelland, De Martigny and Mercier, jr., accused of plotting to blow up the Nelson monument, was again postponed till this afternoon.

At the investigation into the case Gaston Hughes, son of Chief Hughes, will be examined and is expected to give some interesting testimony, as he was the first one who was let into the secret of the conspiracy and gave it away.

Those Missing Money Packages.

HAMILTON, Jan. 16.—Supt. Bryce, of the Canadian Express Company, and two detectives from Montreal, have arrived in the city investigate the disappearance of the $1,500 sent from here to Alliston on Friday last. Messenger Murdan received eight money packages Friday morning, and all of them but two arrived at their destination. He cannot account for the other packages.

Nearly a Tragedy.

GUELPH, Jan. 16.—Mr. Joseph Hillis and family, Ontario street, were nearly asphyxiated by stove gas Sunday morning. When Mr. Hillis arose he fell to the floor. Realizing what was the matter he crawled to a window, broke the glass and aroused the neighbors. In the meantime Mrs. Hillis got up and fell insensible. They are now past all danger.

Steamer Stanley in Difficulty.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., Jan. 16.—Great anxiety was felt here as to the safety of the steamer Stanley. From word received last night she is in ice thirteen miles east of Pictou Light. She has been out since Friday morning. Captain Cameron, of steamer Northumberland, is among the passengers.

A Report That Premier Taillon Resigned.

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 16.—A report was current yesterday that Premier Taillon had resigned from the Quebec Government, but the report is denied.

RAN INTO A COW.

Sixteen Persons Were Killed and Others Seriously Injured.

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 16.—A frightful accident has occurred on the Timina-Matanzas Railway, eight miles from Cunianayana, in the Province of Matanzas. A passenger train was going at a good speed when it ran into a cow that had walked suddenly on the track. One of the cars was thrown 200 yards off the track. The engine was derailed and several of the cars were piled up on each other. Help was at once sent to the scene of the disaster. Sixteen persons were taken out of the wreck dead. Nine others were badly wounded.

African Natives Restless.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—A despatch from Capetown says that on January 5, natives in Nyassaland attacked a caravan of the African Lakes Company near Natope, killing one and capturing three persons. The country generally is in a restless state. The mission station at Miangi was burned and the Europeans barely escaped with their lives.

The Bomb-Thrower's Doom.

PARIS, Jan. 16.—If the appeal of Auguste Vaillant to the Court of Cassation from the death sentence imposed on him January 10 shall be dismissed it is expected that he will be guillotined in the Place de la Roquett on February 5.

CROWN'S CASE CLOSED.

The Trial of J. R. Hooper Will Last One More Week.

STRONG POINTS FOR DEFENCE

Miss Stapely's Evidence That Hooper Threatened to Poison a Dog Gives His Lawyers Fresh Hope—If Acquitted He Will be Again Indicted.

JOLIETTE, Que., Jan. 16.—There was no sitting of the court yesterday morning. Judge Delorimier and the crown prosecutors went to Montreal to spend Sunday, and the train arrangements were such as made it impossible to reach here till noon. There were several new witnesses here yesterday. Mr. Joseph Hooper, father of the prisoner, has come with Joseph Baulch, who is married to a sister of Hooper. Both will be witnesses for the defence.

Mr. James Webb, of Montreal, brother of the druggist who sold Hooper the prussic acid and has since died, is also here and will also be prepared to swear as to the identity of the bottle which the defence intend to produce. There is another important witness for the Crown. Dr. Lindsay, a veterinary surgeon of Louiseville, will swear that he saw Hooper and his wife going down the bank towards the river, and that shortly afterwards he saw him come up alone. It is now estimated that the trial will close about Saturday next.

The case for the Crown has closed. Five of the jurors are said to be indisposed.

The Defence is Hopeful.

JOLIETTE, Jan. 16.—The lawyers for the defence are rejoicing over the evidence given on Saturday afternoon by Miss Stapely. Her declaration that Hooper threatened to poison a dog in Ottawa that tore her dress is a great point for the defence.

The Crown has sent officers to Ottawa to get proof that prisoner did not poison the dog referred to by Miss Stapely. The fact that not one of the doctors were able to positively swear what caused deceased's death is also a matter of great moment for the defence.

The case is being most earnestly fought on both sides. If the Crown should lose the present case, they have decided to take him to Louiseville and try him for attempting to murder his wife by throwing her off a bridge into the river.

Many prominent lawyers and priests are daily attending the trial and take a keen interest in the case.

ANOTHER CIVIL EMPLOYE.

A Case of Alleged Ballot Stealing Coming Under the New Criminal Code.

OTTAWA, Jan. 16.—Abraham Latimer, a shoemaker at Hintonburg, has laid a serious complaint against S. S. Waggoner, an employe of the Customs Department. The basis of the complaint is that the defendant did on the day of the election place one of the ballots cast for a candidate for councillor into his pocket, and that the complainant Latimer saw the occurrence. On the day of the election he acted as scrutineer at the Hintonburg poll. Under the new criminal code any one found guilty of the offence of stealing ballots, according to the technical wording of the act, is liable to a fine at the discretion of the court and to seven years' imprisonment.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 16.—The Ontario police force here are on the track of Cannon, the supposed diamond thief of Hamilton, who escaped from the jail here a few days ago. The last seen of him was in the neighborhood of La Salle on the American side. There is no doubt but Cannon is a very clever crook from the manner in which he has evaded the police on both sides of the river since his escape, and the means which he adopted to make his escape, proves him to be such.

The Shock Killed Her.

TORONTO, Jan. 16.—Mrs. Murdoch, relict of the late A. W. Murdoch, died at the residence of her son in Parkdale, on Friday last, very suddenly. On Sunday evening Mrs. John Strachan, a daughter of Mrs. Murdoch and wife of Mr. John Strachan, of the Erie Railway, took sick suddenly at her residence, Hazelton avenue, and died from the shock, when the sad news were imparted of her mother's death. Mrs. Strachan was down town on Saturday and enjoyed good health then.

An Editor's Contempt of Court.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Jan. 16.—P. R. Bowers, editor of Tribune, has incurred displeasure of the Supreme Court by publishing an article violently assailing the parties filing petitions against the return of members of the Whiteway Government, the cases being now submitted. The article calls the instigators of the petitions Piggots and conspirators. The matter was brought before the chief justice, who said he would order an attachment for contempt of court on application of counsel.

Bodies Recovered.

HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 16.—The bodies of Engineer Pudsey and Fireman Smith, who were killed on the Windsor & Annapolis railway Sunday, were recovered yesterday and an inquest held. A verdict of accidental death was returned by the jury.

for which she found little help. She has tried many things that promised well but performed little. Last fall a friend gave her a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It seems surprising what simply one bottle could and did do for her. The attacks of headache decreased in number and were less violent in their intensity, while her general health has been improved. Her appetite has also been better. From our experience with

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the east of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deleterious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and though its act on is thorough in cases of costiveness never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowels like a violent purgative. THAT INTOLERABLE BURDEN

The Intelligencer copies some figures that have appeared in a number of Tory papers purporting to show that the amount of duty per head has decreased since 1883 and is not very much greater row than in 1874. It then sneers at the talk about the "intolerable burden" of the tariff duties. Our contemporary ignorantly or purposely hides the real issues of the discussion. In the first place the tariff duties collected, amounting to over $21 per family, fall equally on the poor and rich, and thus violate one recognized principle of taxation, which is that each one should pay in proportion to his means. In the second place it conceals the fact that the amount of duty paid into the treasury is but a small part of the whole burden of a protective tariff. The principle of protective duties is that they enable home manufacturers to charge higher prices for their goods than could be charged were the markets of the country open to foreigners. Consequently for nearly everything of home production Canadians buy they have to pay a tribute to the manufacturers at least equal to the duty that would be charged on such goods were they imported. Take iron manufactures for instance, and in some cases more than twice as much is charged as in the States. Coal oil is another glaring instance where Canadians have to pay an enormous duty if they buy American oil, and if they buy the Canadian oil, very much inferior in quality, they have to pay at least 50 per cent more than it is worth. Sugar is another notable instances, the Canadian Manufacturer asserting that the sugar refiners take from the people of Canada every year at least one million dollars over and above a fair profit. This list might be increased columns in length. The fact is that the people of Canada pay from ten to fifty per cent more for nearly everything they buy, outside of farm produce, than they would have to pay if we had free trade. This is what constitutes the "intolerable burden," and it amounts more nearly to a hundred and fifty dollars per family than the $21 of custom duty referred to by the Intelligencer.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Toronto Mail has no love for Sir Oliver Mowat, but it, like all other respectable papers, cannot refrain from paying a tribute to his merit. Referring to Sir Oliver's decision to hold another session before the elections, according to his promise last session, it says: "Sir Oliver has the knack of keeping his promises." Deputations that wait on Sir Oliver sometimes complain because definite promises are not made in accordance with their requests. The reason is that "Sir Oliver has the knack of keeping his promises," and therefore he makes no promises rashly, but waits till careful consideration has been given. His course is in marked contrast to that of the Tory government at Ottawa, which does not hesitate to promise anything and everything that will help the party, and then is equally ready to forget all about it after it has served its purpose.

Multum in Parvo

"Much in little" this sentence means. It has almost become a proverb, because the expression can be used in so many instances. In no instance, however, can this saying be used with greater propriety than in speaking of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. There is indeed much in a little vial of them—there is a cure for many a headache—relief from dyspepsia, billousness, constipation, colic and piles and restoration to health and happiness. Much good in little space.

O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well.'

Still Another Triumph.—Mr. Thomas S. Bullen, Sunderland, writes: "For fourteen years I was afflicted with piles; and frequently I was unable to walk or sit, but four years ago I was cured by using DR. THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL. I have also been subject to quinsy for over forty years, but Electric Oil cured it, and it was a permanent cure in both cases, as neither the piles nor quinsy have troubled me since."

Cottolene

A SHORTENING.

Down the street through the busy way
A lady passed on marketing day.
Who, pausing at a grocery store,
Stepped quickly in at the open door.
With bated breath and anxious mien
She queried: "have you COTTOLENE?"

The grocer, leaving off his work,
Interrogated every clerk;
But none up to that time had seen
An article called "COTTOLENE."

"What is it?" said he to the dame,
"That answers to this curious name.
What is it made of? What's its use?
My ignorance you'll please excuse."

"You're not the merchant for my dimes,
I see you're quite behind the times.
For COTTOLENE, I'd have you know,
Is now the thing that's all the go,
An article of high regard;
A healthful substitute for lard.
Its composition pure and clean;
For cooking give me COTTOLENE."

As from his store the lady fled,
The grocer gently scratched his head—
On his next order, first was seen,
"One dozen cases COTTOLENE."

ntold Misery—What a Well Known Commercial Traveller Suffered and How he was Cured

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & CO. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle o Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confidence that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery believing that one persistent use of it will cure dispe sa.

THE U. S. TREASURY.

Estimated Expenditure Exceeds the Receipts by Nearly Eighty Millions.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Secretary of the Treasury Carlisle, in a letter to Senator Vest, chairman of the Senate Committee on Finance, states that his estimate of the deficiency for the fiscal year ending June 30 next was, experience has proved, too low. That instead of the expenditures being $28,000,000 more than the receipts they will at the present rate be $78,167,532 more than the receipts. The Secretary, after an extended reference to the condition of the treasury, says that the necessity for relief at this time is so urgent and the prospect of material improvement in the financial condition of the Government is so problematical that he is impelled to exercise the authority vested him to issue and sell long term bonds at high interest in order to preserve the credit and honor of the Government, unless Congress gives him special authority speedily to issue and sell shorter bonds or other obligations at a lower rate of interest than that specified in the existing law.

In the Senate yesterday Mr. Morgan introduced a bill that is intended as a blow to trusts, monopolies, etc. The present anti-trust law, approved July 2, 1890, consists of eight sections, to the sixth of which Mr. Morgan makes the following addition: "No injunction shall hereafter be granted in any suit in equity brought to restrain the infringement of any patent for an invention when it shall appear that the patent sued upon is owned or controlled by or used in aid of any combination in the form of a trust or otherwise, or of any conspiracy in restraint of trade or commerce among the several states or with foreign nations, or when it shall appear that such suit is brought by or in aid of or at the expense of such combination."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The Ways and Means Committee had a long session at the Treasury Department last night. It was finally decided to introduce an amendment to the Wilson bill to the effect that wool should go on the free list on August 1, 1894, and that the reductions on woollen goods should go into effect on December 1, 1894. A number of other amendments were submitted in the House yesterday, giving occasion to many heated discussions.

He Wanted to Marry.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Isaac Gunwald, twenty-four years old, is held in the Harlem court in $1,500 bail for stealing $300 worth of jewelry and $86 in cash from his uncle, Louis Strauss, a butcher, of 1683 First avenue. This is a tale of theft for love. On the ship which brought him here from Germany, on New Year's Day, Isaac met and fell in love with Michalin Lubowitz. Like him, she was alone in the world. Moses Kube, a cigar manufacturer, of 172 Essex street, was on the ship, and took compassion on them. He promised to employ the girl until Isaac had enough money to marry her. Isaac went to work for his uncle and the girl for Kube. They longed to get married, but they had not money enough to start housekeeping. Isaac knew where the jewelry and money belonging to his uncle and his wife were kept, and he stole it. The money was spent for dresses. They were to be married yesterday, but on Saturday night Isaac was arrested by the police.

Railroad Employes in Poverty.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 16.—A committee of employes of the Atcheson, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad Company called on Governor Waite on Saturday and stated that the engineers, conductors, brakemen, switchmen and trackmen have received no salary since October, and many of the men and their families are on the verge of starvation. Governor Waite and Judge Hallett, of the United States Court, held a conference in the matter. Judge Hallett decided to present a letter to the receivers at Topeka, requesting them to take immediate action.

Murderer Confesses.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 16.—Rudolph J. Peschmann, lessee of the Cream City hotel bar, has confessed to murdering Mr. Annie Schrums last Friday morning for her money. Mrs. Schrum boarded at the hotel and was supposed to keep $30,000 or $40,000 in her room. She was 58 years old and weighed about 200. Peschmann went to her room chopped her to insensibility, threw her on the bed, bound her hands and feet and then ransacked the room for the money. He says he did not get any.

Playing as Hero.

FRESNO, Cal., Jan. 16.—Sheriff Scott and a posse, who were summoned to Goshen on Saturday night by Detective Childers, have returned rather crestfallen. Childers sent up word that he had been held up by two men believed to have been Evans and Morrell, but it now appears that Childers punched holes through the buggy cover and shot the horse himself in order to pose as the hero of an encounter with the famous bandits.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The World's Committee of Young Men's Christian Association, with headquarters at Geneva, Switzerland, have just issued a call for the thirteenth international conference of the Young Men's Christian Association of all lands to meet in London on May 31 next. The conference will continue until June 6.

The Pope Advises Peace.

ROME, Jan. 16.—The Pope is gaining strength daily. Yesterday he walked in the gardens of the Vatican. His Holiness has sent in confidence separate instructions to each of the Sicilian bishops calling upon them to preach peace to the people of the Island, and to morally intervene to bring the troubles there to an end without any open official stand in favor of the Government.

Claimed to be the New Messiah.

DE GAMA INTERVIEWED

Admiral Mello's Lieutenant Defines Their Policy.

FIGHTING FOR A PLEBISCITE.

According to His Story the Rebels Seem to Have Everything Their Own Way—Indications That the End of the Fight Is Near at Hand.

MONTEVIDEO, Jan. 16.—An interview was had on the 10th on board the Almirante Tamandare with Admiral de Gama, who is in command of the insurgent squadron before Rio Janeiro. The Admiral says:

"Our policy is to wait until help comes. We have not men enough to hold the mainland. Eight days ago we re-captured the Government's magazine at Ilha do Governador and secured 175 cases of ammunition and thirty barrels of powder. We also destroyed much of the material stored there.

"On Thursday we captured Ingenho Island, on which is an unfinished fort. The garrison at this point numbered 105 men. We made 73 prisoners, four of whom were officers. Much ammunition and other supplies, with two cannons, fell into our hands. Many of the prisoners transferred their allegiance to us and shipped on board of our vessels. None of the captured officers did so, however. We can hold our own for two months, but I do not believe we can do so for any longer time. We do not know where Admiral de Mello is at present. When he left Rio Janeiro he went south to organize help. He may bring back with him a co-operating force.

"If we get Nictheroy we will surely win. We will demand belligerent rights, based on these three points: Our force comprises all the Brazilian navy, except two ships; second, we control three of the Southern States, the Government having no organized force south of Sao Paulo, and third, we have made war for nearly five months and have an organized Government in the south."

When questioned as to the object of the insurrection, and if it was the purpose of the leaders to restore monarchy, De Gama said: "No, we are fighting for a plebiscite in order that the people may say freely what form of Government they want. If you could find a way to end this warfare with honor, both sides would thank you from their hearts."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—A cablegram in cipher from Captain Picking at Rio Janeiro and addressed to Secretary Herbert was translated at the Navy Department yesterday, but Mr. Herbert declined to make its contents public. It is understood to contain a summary of the situation, with a hint that the end of the insurrection is near at hand. The despatch is the last that will be sent by Captain Picking as commander of American naval forces at Rio, as the arrival of Admiral Benham on the San Francisco marks the assumption by the latter of full charge of the United States fleet.

THE SICILIAN SOCIALISTS.

Shops Are Closed in Fear of Violence from Idle Workingmen in Sicily.

ROME, Jan. 16.—The appeal issued by the Socialists of Leghorn to the workingmen asking them to inaugurate yesterday a general strike as a protest against the policy of repression being pursued by the Government in Sicily, met with no response except from the men employed in some of the shipyards. It was feared that the response to the appeal would be general and that the idle workingmen would engage in rioting. So fearful were the shopkeepers that trouble would occur and their places of business be looted, that many of them kept their shops closed. There was, however, no sign of any disturbance.

The police had been strongly reinforced in order to quell disorder in its incipiency, and the whole force was extremely vigilant. Towards evening the effects of the Anarchist appeals were apparent among workingmen in several parts of Leghorn. Minor disturbances were reported from three or four quarters.

The most threatening demonstration was made by a crowd of strikers from the Orlando ship yards. The strikers gathered in Garibaldi square, cheered for the Sicilian Socialists and the social revolution, and eventually stopped all the tram cars and smashed in the windows with stones. A company of police arrived unexpectedly at the square and fired a volley over the rioters' heads. The mob dispersed hurriedly without offering resistance. The leaders were arrested.

A TRIPLE SUICIDE.

Overcome by Troubles, Father, Mother and Daughter Take Their Lives.

PARIS, Jan. 16.—The city was stirred last night by the news of the suicides of M. Caubet, brother of the late Chief of Police, and his wife and daughter. Caubet was 63 years old and his wife about the same age.

The daughter had tried to support the family by giving music lessons, but could not earn enough for them. As matters grew worse all three resolved to die. They sold some of their furniture and used the money to buy a sumptuous dinner. After eating they paid and dismissed their one servant.

They signed a paper explaining their troubles and their motives in taking their lives, then pasted papers over the cracks in the doors and windows and lighted two charcoal fires. Each swallowed a vial of laudanum. All three were found dead on the floor. The parents apparently had died painlessly. The daughter, however, had in her paroxysm torn her face with her hands.

British Wheat Markets.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British grain trade, says: The sales of English wheat have been limited for the farmers not being willing to accept 26s 4d, the quotation, holding it to be too low and reducing their deliveries to the smallest figure. Foreign wheats are quiet. California cargoes are quoted at 27s 9d per quarter. Foreign flours are deplorably low. We quote: Minnesota patents, 23s; Minnesota bakers' grade, 17s 6d; extra fancy American, 19s 6d. Oats and barley are firm. Corn is weak. At yesterday's market English wheats were a shade firmer at from 26s to 28s. Foreign wheats were slow. Oats dropped from 3d to 6d. Corn was down 3d. Prices of flour were in buyers' favor. Barley was firm.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA

S. P. SMITH, of Towanda, Pa., whose constitution was completely broken down, is cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He writes:

"For eight years, I was, most of the time, a great sufferer from constipation, kidney trouble, and indigestion, so that my constitution seemed to be completely broken down. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and took nearly seven bottles, with such excellent results that my stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in perfect condition, and, in all their functions, as regular as clock-work. At the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my weight was only 129 pounds; I now can brag of 159 pounds, and was never in so good health. If you could see me before and after using, you would want me for a traveling advertisement. I believe this preparation of Sarsaparilla to be the best in the market to-day."

The English mint was established by Athelstane about 928.

From 1828 to 1845 platinum coins were minted in Russia.

Aristotle says that "money exists not by nature, but by law."

In the tenth century there were 38 mints in England.

The Lydians were the first to coin money, about B.C. 1600.

The first colonial coinage was minted in Massachusetts in 1552.

Julius Cæsar was the first man to put his own image on a coin.

Homer mentions brass money as in use B.C. 1184 among the Greeks.

The United States silver three-cent piece was first coined in 1851.

The notes used by the Bank of England cost exactly one cent each.

The American cents of 1784 bore the motto, "Mind Your Business."

In 1503 the first English shilling was minted. It bore the King's image.

The coinage of trade dollars began in 1874 and was discontinued in 1878.

In the fifth century before Christ copper was deemed as precious as gold.

Brass money was coined in Rome by Servius Tullius as early as 573 B.C.

Before the days of coined money the Greeks used copper nails as currency.

Herodotus says that Croesus was the first sovereign to make coins of gold.

The United States Mint was established in 1792, and at once began operations.

The first English laws against counterfeiting were issued in 1108 by Henry I.

The most ancient coins are of electrum, four parts of gold to one of silver.

Silver was first coined in Rome in B.C. 269, when Fabius Pictor set up a mint.

The coinage of twenty-cent pieces began in 1875 and was discontinued in 1878.

The trade dollar was intended for use in commerce with China, India, and Japan.

Over 1,000 series of Greek coins issued by independent cities are known to exist.

In 1744 Napier's coin-weighing machine was put in use in the Bank of England.

The first American coins were made in England in 1612 for the Virginia Company.

In 1631 the invention of milling the edges of coins, to prevent clipping, was introduced.

Down to the Norman conquest the Britains had "living money" and "dead money"; the former being slaves and cattle, the latter metal.

A KINGSTON GRADUATE.

A Young Canadian Who Has Been Distinguishing Himself.

We have pleasure in presenting our readers with a portrait of a young countryman who has been distinguishing himself abroad. Lieut. P. du Perron-Casgrain, of the Royal Engineers, at present stationed at Chatham, England, has just been officially notified by the Imperial Government that he has passed the examination in the Russian language, and is the recipient of the prize of £10 awarded by the Government to the successful candidate. Lieut. Casgrain's linguistic attainments appear to be of high order. During his five years' service in India he passed the final examination in Hindustani, and was fortunate enough to secure the prize awarded for a thorough knowledge of that language, which he writes and speaks as fluently as English or French. Lieut. Casgrain is the third son of P. B. Casgrain, for many years M.P. for L'Islet, and a brother of J. P. B. Casgrain, President of the Liberal Club of Montreal. The Casgrain family has already produced many distinguished members, and it must be gratifying to these to find the younger scions of the race keeping up their claims to the respect and esteem of their countrymen.

MISSIONARY WORK IN THE N WEST

Interesting Letter From a Lady Well Known in Belleville Addressed to Miss Maria Wilson

ROSSVILLE MISSION, Norway House, N. W. T., Dec. 18, 1893

DEAR MISS WILSON.—I am, I fear, very negligent and slow in showing some of my best friends my true appreciation of their interest and anxiety in my behalf. I have now an opportunity of writing home by a chance packet and cannot let it pass without writing you, my dear friend.

In the first place I am so grateful to you and the ladies of our Missionary Society at home that they do think about and pray for us up here in our lonely home. It is a great comfort and help to me to know I have true Christian, loving friends at home holding me up to God in prayer. Oh may your prayers be answered and may your own hearts be blessed and strengthened as you plead for us. We need your prayers, we are so weak without the blessing and grace of God. Truly without Him we can do nothing. I love to feel that the working christian at home and we who are working here are one in the bonds of loving sympathy, one as co-workers with Christ and one as children of the Great King. "Let us work and not grow weary; let us walk and not faint." It gives me inspiration and courage when I think of the many toilers all over the land who are really God's chosen ones. We are honoured; we are blessed. May God help us to remember this and thank Him more for our work, our responsibility and our opportunities for good. The work is going on about as usual. My husband, Dr. Strath, has had extra work this year so far on account of the death of our Missionary in the spring. No one has as yet been permanently appointed to take his place; but we hear that we are to be relieved about Xmas time by a man who is to be sent up here to take part of the work.

In the school this fall I had a class of about 20 or 22 boys and girls learning to knit. They seem very fond of it, and are very quick at learning, and it would do you good to see the number of little stockings, mittens and cuffs which, with a little help, the children made. They seem to prize them much more when they make up the material that is given them. Some of the young girls want their dresses to fit better, and often since I have been here I have been called in to help in that way. Just last week I cut a pattern for a young girl. I am glad to see this in them for it shows an ambition of some kind at least. I would that they were ambitious in other ways. But we must work the harder, and plan to help them all we can. We have been busy of late practising for our Xmas tree. I am teaching the little ones some new songs. We are to have a good time this year I hope. Kind friends have given us a number of nice little presents, especially for the tree. The poor little black eyes will shine with delight I am sure; and we will be just as happy in seeing them glad. The box of clothing which the ladies of Holloway St. church auxiliary so kindly sent us was indeed very welcome. It was the very best box of that kind that has ever come to us, I think. Every thing in such good repair, everything so suitable and useful. I would like to tell where each article went to, but it is impossible. The pretty quilts the ladies made were given to the widows. Only the poorest were given charity, as it encourages the strong and well to laziness. But there are always so many needy ones that we never seem to have too many clothes for them; and they of course fancy they need more yet. And now I must thank you personally, dear friend, for the beautiful quilt you so kindly sent me. It was indeed a useful wedding present, and came in time of need; for such things here are very scarce; and unless I worked it myself I could not possibly get it. I will keep it long in rememberance of the giver. Many others of the ladies sent me some very useful things and I intend to write to each one personally; as, of course, their kindness and interest deserve. I sincerely hope you are all well and prospering in the church work. May God bless you and keep you. Wishing you a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. I remain your friend in Christ.

ROSE STRATH,
(nee Miss Rose Swayze)

P.S. Give my warmest greetings to the ladies of our Missionary society.

A FASHIONABLE WEDDING.

THE BRILLIANT AFFAIR TOOK PLACE AT ST MICHAEL'S

A Popular Young man and Lady United in Wedlock—The Interesting Ceremony Witnessed by Large Numbers of the Fair Sex

At 8.30 this morning St. Michael's church was the scene of an event which has been anticipated for some time. It was the marriage of Mr. T. P. J. Power, the popular proprietor of the Queen's Hotel, to Miss Lena Teresa Mackie, daughter of James Mackie, Esq. At an early hour people were to be seen wending their way to the church and at the hour appointed for the consummation of the event the interior of the large edifice was filled to the door. So great was the desire to see the ceremony that many were compelled to remain outside. At 8.30 the bride entered the church leaning upon the arm of her father. She was attired in a handsome trousseau of brown and blue changeable silk, trimmed with jet and orange ribbon. She carried in her hand a beautiful bouquet of white roses. She looked charming. The bridesmaid, her sister Ethel, was attired in a brown costume of henrietta cloth, trimmed with green velvet and yellow satin. She carried a bouquet of pink coronations, At the altar they were joined by the groom and the groomsman, Mr. Wm. Clarke of Toronto. Monsignor Farrelly officiated. After the ceremony the choir rendered the nuptial mass and also the high mass was celebrated, The Mgr. referred in high terms to the young couple wishing them every prosperity and happiness in their new sphere of life. This is the first time that the nuptial and high mass have both been celebrated in the church at a wedding. The young couple were both members of the church choir and are held in high esteem by the members After the ceremony the invited guests drove to Mr. Mackie's residence where the wedding breakfast was partaken of. A large number were present to participate in the festivities.

The display of presents which the bride received was grand, and consisted of numerous and some very costly articles. The choir sent a handsome berry dish of cut glass and silver. The children of St. Mary a tea service and prayer book. Father McCarthy, of Read, presented a beautiful onxy stand and brass lamp. Father O'Gorman, of Gananoque, a marble clock. Other presents too numerous to mention were received from friends from a distance and also friends residing in the city.

The young couple left on the noon train for a wedding trip to Niagara, Lockport, N Y., and other places of interest in the west. With their numerous friends in the city the ONTARIO joins in congratulating the young couple and wishing them the richest blessings.

The Brightest Flowers must fade, but young lives endangered by severe coughs and colds may be preserved by DR. THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL. Croup whooping cough, bronchitis; in short all affections of the throat and lungs, are relieved by this sterling preparation, which also remedies rheumatic pains, sores, bruises, piles, kidney difficulty, and is most economic.

A Good Record.

At the Dairymen's Convention Mr. Jas. Whitton gave a very interesting experience relative to the amount of money that could be made in dairying. He said that with proper care a cow could be milked for ten months in the year. In 1893 he received from 8 cows a total of $855, namely $505 from cheese, $193 from the creamery and $157 extra. The cows cost him $294, clearing a profit of $561, an average of $70 for each cow.

HOW BABY WAS SAVED

The Grateful Parents Make a Public Acknowledgement

Mr. George F. Riddell, says the Collingwood Enterprise, is one of the best known residents of Singhampton, and in conversation with him and Mrs. Riddell, we were told the story of how their little girl was saved, which is well worth making public. The little girl is two years and four months old, very bright and intelligent. Her name is Lizzie, but her parents call her the "Pink Pills baby," and gave these reasons: "When Lizzie was ten months old she was taken ill, the trouble being ascribed to her teeth, and so bad did she become that she was quite blind for two weeks. A doctor said there was no hope for her, and the parents shared his opinion, for the child was exceedingly puny. Mrs. Riddell said: "We frequently could not help wishing the little one was at rest, so much did she suffer." Mr. Riddell heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and determined to try them. As baby continued taking the pills she began to grow well and strong, and has gone steadily improving. "I think," said Mrs. Riddell, that baby would long since have been in her grave had it not been for Pink Pills. Mr. Riddell said he had been ill for some time himself, feeling nervous, worried and losing his appetite. His left hand also seemed to be losing its strength, and his weight decreased to 132 pounds. He resolved to try Pink Pills, and in six weeks he regained good health and appetite, while this weight showed an increase of 32 pounds. He is enthusiastic concering Pink Pills with good reason.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are as beneficial in the troubles incident to childhood, as they are for persons of more mature years. They act directly upon the blood and nerves, strengthening and rebuilding the whole system. Sold by all dealers or sent by mail on receipt of 50c a box or 6 for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schnectady, N. Y. There are imitations against which the public is cautioned.

ST ANDREWS' CHURCH SOCIAL

Good Music an Instructive Essay and Some Beautiful Views

It is sincerely to be regreted that the weather last evening was so bad and the walking so slippery as many more would like to have had the pleasure afforded by this entertainment, As it was, however, there was a large number present.

Miss Chamberlain, one of the latest additions to the musical circles of Belleville, opened the program with a piano solo, There is probably no city of its size in Canada that has as many good pianists as Belleville, and Miss Chamberlain has been voted into full membership as a worthy addition to the circle. The next number was a song by Miss Falconer, a young lady who is fast coming to the front, and who never sang better than last evening. This was followed by a paper on the Life and works of Shakespeare by Mr. Ponton which was the most instructive and entertaining. All were sorry that Mr. Ponton had not more time on such a large subject. This was followed by a song by Mrs Deacon of Kingston. This lady has been heard in the city before so that her magnificent voice was no surprise to those who have heard her before. She was compelled to respond to a very enthusiastic encore. The lights were now turned down and for an hour the audience was treated to a succession of lantern views of the Midlands of England, dealing particularly with the life of Shakespeare. No prettier set of views has been seen in Belleville. Messrs Biggar and McRae deserve special mention for the way they were shown, Mr. Biggar having spent some time in this district and was able to describe them in an interesting and instructive way. When the lights were turned up Mr. Gillen favored the audience with a song in his usual style. The ladies then took charge of the entertainment and refreshments were served. St Andrew's church has made for itself a reputation for having good entertainments and last night's was no exception. Mr. Thos. Stewart discharged the duties of chairman in a very satisfactory manner.

WHERE IS THE BOY

He Starts for School but Does not go nor Return Home

Mr. A. M. Diamond, who resides on North Front street, reported to the police last night that his boy Roy had not been seen since early in the morning, when he started for school but did not go. The boy had not been home at noon to-day. It is thought by some he went out into the country as he has relatives there. The parents are naturally anxious to learn of his whereabouts,

A Rich Treat in Store

Miss Ellie E. Hext is spoken of in the warmest terms by the press throrghout the country as an elocutionist and an exponent of Delsarte culture. The Hamilton Times speaks of her as "a lady of charming personality, coupled with splendid elocutionary ability and a graceful carriage." The Toronto Globe says; "Never was an audience better satisfied with an entertainment of a like nature. Her manner of execution gave the audience a new and soulful insight into the meaning of the authors, Miss Hext's voice is grand, her face sweet and expressive, and her gestures perfection." A special feature of these entertainments is Miss Hext's posings in Greek costume.

Mr. J. N. Doyle, one of Belleville's favorite soloists will render a number of choice selections during the evening. In the Opera House Friday night. Admission 25, 35 and 50 cts. Plan now open at Riggs.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS

Rev A L Geen the Receipient of a Handsome Souvenir

The parishoners of Adolphustown, Gosport and Fredricksburg have presented the Rev. A. L. Geen, whose clerical services they have enjoyed for more than five years, with a tasteful and costly souvenir, consisting of a large heleographic picture representing the "Last Supper" by the celebrated German painter Gebhardt, the original of which is in the National Gallery of Berlin The picture was ordered from Messrs. Castle & Sons, Montreal, enclosed in a superb gilt frame in which is inserted a tablet bearing the following inscription: "Presented to the Reverend Albert L. Geen, P. D., as a token of regard and appreciation from the parishoners of Adolphuston, Gosport and Fredricksburg, Christmas 1893." Accompanying this valuable work of art was the following address:

To the Reverend ALBERT LOFT GEEN,
Belleville, Ont.,

ADOLPHUSTOWN,
Christmas, 1893.

REVEREND AND DEAR SIR—

We, the churchwardens, in behalf of the parishioners, of Adolphustown, Gosport and Fredericksburg, beg your acceptance of this accompanyingy work of art as a slight token of our regard for yourself personally and our appreciation of your clerical services so cheerfully rendered in this parish for more than five years, and literally "without money and without price."

We regret to learn that you can no longer assist in the Sunday work here, as heretofore. We shall miss you from among us, but it will be a satisfaction to know that others nearer at hand to you will gain what we lose.

Accept our best wishes for your future welfare and prosperity, and for the welfare of your family. May you long be spared to be useful in the Church of God.

We are dear sir your sincere friends:—
James Chambers (Capt.), S. M. Outwater, Adolphustown.
John Soby, Thos. Tierney, Gosport.
Arthur Phippen, Allen Neilson, Fredericksburg."

The picture referred to above will remain in Mr. Geen's store window for a few days, for inspection by the lovers of the fine arts.

BUSINESS EDUCATION.

From its inception the Belleville Business College has aimed at and accomplished thorough going systematic work, superior to that accomplished by its competitors. In spite of the keenest competition the attendance has steadily increased ; and December 1893 finds the Belleville Business College with the largest attendance of any business college in this part of the country. Students are in attendance from far and near, more than 80 from Belleville and vicinity alone. Work accomplishes more than talk.

Superior text-books, competent and earnest teachers, and the best equipped rooms of any business college in Canada explain the secret of the truly marvellous success that marks the history of the Belleville Business College.

The annual illustrated circular of 176 pages tells of honest work done.

FEARS OF REVOLUTION.

The Riots in Italy Assuming a More Serious Aspect.

TROOPS ENCOUNTER RIOTERS.

Anarchists, 500 Strong, Pursued by Cavalry and Several Are Killed and Wounded—Higher Classes of Laborers Are Not in the Trouble.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—The Rome correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says: "Intimates of the Pope believe that a revolution is impending in Italy. The Bishop and higher clergy are on the side of the law and order. The lower ranks of the Sicilian priesthood are regarded at the Vatican as being in sympathy with the outrages. The Vatican shares the anxiety of the Quirinal."

ROME, Jan. 17.—A squadron of cavalry patrolling Masse di Carrara had an encounter yesterday with a band of anarchists 500 strong, who were apparently engaged in destroying the Fassola bridge. The anarchists stood their ground until several were killed or wounded and then fled. They were pursued by the cavalry and finally dispersed. Eight persons altogether were killed and a number wounded. Among the wounded are several soldiers. Many arrests were made.

Later in the day a band of Anarchists again attempted to get in the city. The troops detected them and they were ordered to disperse and return to their homes. The crowd refused to break up, and when the troops attempted to force them to do so a conflict occurred, during which two of the rioters were killed.

Carrara and Mazza di Carrara, where is produced the renowned Carrara marbles, have long been strong Socialist and anarchist centres. The quarries in the vicinity of the two places employ large numbers of men and there are many workers in marble engaged in their occupations in both cities. The malcontents are chiefly laborers in the quarries, the higher class of workingmen holding aloof from the agitation. When the recent edict was issued calling out the army classes of 1868 and 1869 the ferment increased. The revolt, if it can be so called, is immediately due to this cause.

IRISH EVICTED TENANTS.

The League Wants a Bill Forced Through Next Session for Their Relief.

DUBLIN, Jan. 17.—At a meeting of the National League, held in this city yesterday, Mr. Leamy, ex-editor of the United Ireland, who presided, said he hoped the anti-Parnellite members of the House of Commons would insist that a bill for the relief of the Irish evicted tenants should be forced through the House at the earliest period next session. He added that the Irish parliamentary party would do nothing to imperil the Government for a year or two, knowing that it could turn the Government out of office at any time it felt called upon to do so.

Young Webster's Disappearance.

PARIS, Jan. 17.—Nothing has as yet been learned that would throw any light upon the case of Edward Webster, the young American who mysteriously disappeared in this city on New Year's eve. Monroe & Co., the bankers, have not yet received the $5,000 that it was alleged had been offered as a reward for knowledge as to Webster's whereabouts. A representative of the firm stated yesterday that all they knew about the case was contained in a mysterious telegram from Theodore Conkling, the boy's step-father, asking if Webster's mother had deposited the money for the reward. Letters of inquiry, it was added, were inundating the firm from all quarters.

The Father Superior of the Marist College says that he has from the police assurances that no bodily harm had befallen Webster.

Inquest on Griffith's Death.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 17.—The coroner's inquest held last night at Suspension Bridge, N.Y., inquiring into the death of McArthur Griffith, accountant, of Buffalo and Toronto, who was killed by a G. T. R. engine at the N. Y. C. depot on the evening of the 11th inst., returned the following verdict: "That the deceased met his death by being run over by G. T. R. engine 810; that we further find the said engine was a road engine doing yard duty and did not carry the customary signal light belonging to yard engines, for which we censure the G. T. R. Co.; and further we censure the N. Y. C. for not using proper precautions to prevent accidents to persons passing to and from their depot at this point."

British Exhibitors at the Fair.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—The report of the British consul at Chicago on the recent Exposition there was issued by the Foreign Office yesterday. In it the consul says that perhaps owing to the McKinley bill the British exhibits were limited in number, but their quality was excellent. The report adds that other countries vied in their exhibits of what had heretofore been special British products. Foreign countries were generally satisfied with the exhibition and believed that its effect would be to extend their commerce with the United States.

Governor of Gibraltar Attacked.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—A despatch from Gibraltar says: "While the Governor of Gibraltar and his daughter were out horseback riding in Spanish territory they were intercepted by two Spaniards who presented revolvers and demanded alms. The Governor refused to give them anything. A Spanish guard approached and the two men fled, but they were soon overtaken and were arrested. They said that they were poor and hungry. Terrible misery prevails among the poor in the whole district.

Prospective Trades Conference.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—The Daily News says that preparations are being made for a conference of representatives of the Mersey Docks Board, the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce and the Liverpool Municipal Council with a view to promote through traffic and otherwise facilitate trade. A committee of the docks board met yesterday and formulated important proposals. Complaints of the board's supineness in view of the effects of Manchester canal on Liverpool trade are general.

Monson and the Wax Figure.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—The application of Alfred John Monson for an order restraining Madame Tussaude & Sons, Limited, from exhibiting wax figures of him, came up for a hearing in the High Court of Justice yesterday. Decision was reserved.

Hundreds of people write "It is impossible to describe the good Hood's Sarsaparilla has done me." It will be of equal elp to you

THE CASE FOR THE DEFENCE.

The Evidence Given in the Trial of J. R. Hooper Yesterday.

JOLIETTE, Que., Jan. 17.—Witnesses were called yesterday in defence of John Reginald Hooper. There are a score of witnesses to be examined by the defence, and they claim that they will finish by this evening. Then there will be a day for evidence in rebuttal, and then the addresses by the five counsel and Judge Delorimier's charge in both languages. Thus it is doubtful whether a verdict will be rendered before the beginning of next week.

The first witness was Rosalie Standre, wife of Toussaint Malo and mother of the late Mrs. Hooper. She testified that in September last her son, Edward Leblanc, took her to a hotel at Joliette, where she saw accused. He told her that his wife had jumped into the river as the train was crossing a bridge at Louiseville. Edmond Leblanc went with the accused next day and they returned to St. Ambroise de Kildare with Mrs. Hooper and young Grenier.

She remained there five days, and during that time she ate and slept very little. Once she went to the spring and got water with which she washed herself from head to foot. Again, there was a noise at the window one evening and she said: "Don't be afraid, it is my sister Josephine who has come for me; it is an angel." During her stay at her mother's, deceased became very weak, and witness was afraid she would die very soon. She never saw the accused act any way but kindly towards her daughter, although she was never informed that her daughter had been kept for two years in an asylum.

Mrs. John T. Hickmitt, of Ottawa, testified that prisoner had boarded with his wife at her house from October 15, 1882, to March 15, 1888, and that he always treated her kindly. Three times during her stay there she had been seized with hysterical fits.

Mr. Joseph Baulch, of Port Hope, swore that when Hooper went there on September 29 he was anxious to have the fullest investigations made of his wife's death.

A FRIENDLY GATHERING.

Citizens of Windsor Entertain Prominent Visitors.

WINDSOR, Jan. 17.—A number of Conservatives of this place, taking advantage of the presence in the city of the Hon. J. C. Patterson, Hon. Chase Casgrain, Attorney General of Quebec, and Senator Casgrain of Windsor, decided that a gathering of the prominent Conservatives of the district should be held last night in honor of the visitors. Several prominent Reformers also expressing a desire to participate, and so express their appreciation of the honorable gentlemen, both of whom are former residents of the city, it then took the form of a banquet.

A number of the elite of the city were present at the banquet, which was held in the Crawford house. Mayor Beattie presided. Col. Beatty introduced the guests of the evening in a brief address and amid rounds of applause, after which a list of toasts was presented and responded to.

The health of the President of the United States was drunk to the chorus of "He's a Daisy." U. S. Consul Thatcher responded.

Hon. T. Chase Casgrain and Senator Casgrain responded briefly to toasts, after which the Minister of Militia gave a brief speech.

In speaking of the American President, Hon. Mr. Patterson said:

"A more public spirited, honest man than Grover Cleveland never sat in the presidential chair. It did not follow that because a man spoke respectfully of a great man, greatly placed in the neighboring republic, it indicated any disloyalty to Britain or Britain's Queen. While he held the position of Minister of Militia he would do so without prejudice, but for the benefit of the country at large. The Militia Department was no place for politics, and all he wanted to know of Canada was that they were loyal and true."

Mr. Sol. White, M.P.P., who was present, gave also a brief address.

The Cause of Campbell's Death.

HAMILTON, Jan. 17.—Inquiry into the death of Daniel Campbell shows that deceased came to his death by inflammatory rheumatism. Mr. Campbell arrived here from Georgetown on the Wednesday following Christmas Day, and went to his brother Duncan's house. He intended to go through to Brantford, where his mother lives. He was taken ill within a few days after he arrived, and when his illness became serious Dr. Anderson was called in to see him. The doctor treated him for inflammatory rheumatism. Dr. Anderson noticed a bruise on Mr. Campbell's nose, but was told by Mr. Duncan Campbell that it was received by falling out of a rig. Dr. Wallace says there is little doubt that the cause of Mr. Campbell's death was inflammatory rheumatism, though a blow received in a fight might render it more acute and increase the delirium.

Strong Bars Could Not Hold Him.

TORONTO, Jan. 17.—Frank Green, the Chicago flim-flam man, who was sent to the Central prison for six months on the 9th instant, is again free, and the authorities are wondering how he obtained his liberty. At a late hour on Monday night he turned up at his old boarding house on James street, and asked for his overcoat. He was then dressed in his prison clothes. He was given his coat and he at once went away. The police upon being notified sent to the Central prison, but the guards there were not aware that their bird had flown. A search of the cell which he had occupied with another man showed that he was indeed absent.

Suing the Chicago and Grand Trunk.

PORT HURON, Mich., Jan. 17.—William B. Clarke, jr., of Sarnia, has been appointed administrator of the estate of Emily and Albert Bradley, of Toronto, daughter and son-in-law of W. B. Clark, of Sarnia, who were both killed at the terrible railway accident at Battle Creek, November 20th last. Mr. and Mrs. Bradley left two small children, aged 2 and 4 years, and the letters of administration were granted to Mr. Clarke to enable him to prosecute a suit against the Chicago and Grand Trunk for damages. Mr. Clarke will at once begin two suits, one for $50,000 for the death of Mr. Bradley and another for $35,000 for the death of Mrs. Bradley.

Ticket Clerk Missing.

TORONTO, Jan. 17.—J. C. Bain, a ticket agent at the G.T.R. offices, at the corner of Yonge and King streets, has disappeared. It is generally believed that he is a defaulter but to what amount has not been ascertained. He failed to appear for duty on Saturday, which first gave rise to suspicion against him.

NOTES FROM OTTAWA.

A Favorable Increase of Immigration in the Past Year.

COMPLAINT OF WOOLLEN MEN

Local Council of the National Council of Women of Canada Formed—$500 Subscribed for Home Rule—A Commonplace Story of Earl Derby.

OTTAWA, Jan. 17.—A private letter received in the city states that Geo. O'Hara, of Ottawa, who has been for four years lumbering in British Columbia, was held up along with two gentlemen from Toronto and robbed of $2,000 and a $175 gold watch and diamond ring. O'Hara was on his way to Sydney from Victoria to pay a number of workmen he had in the lumber business.

R. S. White, M.P., was in the city yesterday.

Mr. P. Doyle, immigration agent at Quebec, is in the city. Mr. Doyle says that there was a favorable increase in immigration the past year, but that it is too early yet to predict anything as to the coming season. When asked as to the stationing of American officers to inspect immigrants at Canadian ports, Mr. Doyle said that it was a mere matter of convenience for the American railways and that they never refused anybody a certificate.

A deputation of the woollen manufacturers is expected here to complain to the Comptroller of Customs against the large quantity of felt that is being brought into Canada at a low rate of duty. It is claimed that the market is being flooded with felt overcoats which are passed off as melton overcoats.

A local council of the National Council of Women of Canada was formed yesterday at a meeting held in the City Hall, Lady Aberdeen presiding. Lady Ritchie was elected president of the council. The vice-presidents are Lady Thompson, Madame Taschereau, Mrs. Gwynne, Mrs. R. W. Scott and Mrs. E. H. Bronson. The secretaries are Mrs. Tilton and Mrs. E. Griffin.

At a meeting of Home Rulers held here last night to make arrangements for the meeting in the opera house a week from Thursday to be addressed by Edward Blake, over $500 was subscribed for the Home Rule cause.

A story is going around the Capital in connection with Earl Derby, late Governor-General, which, however, is not receiving much credence. At the annual competition of the Dominion Rifle Association, held here in September, the Governor-General, as president, has the honor of hanging up a prize for individual marksmen. This trophy carries with it the championship of the Dominion, but to make it more interesting the vice-regal donor adds a gift of $500. The story goes that the man who won the prize got the money, but it came from the treasury of the association, Earl Derby having neglected to send the sum to the treasurer. It is also hinted that the Earl was asked for the money before leaving for England and said he would settle when convenient. The general belief, however, is that this story is but the result of some fertile imagination.

Percy C. Short, who was engaged in the Canadian Express office here, and who left rather suddenly along with Arthur Moore, also in the same office, writes from New York denying the story that he and his comrade had left the city with women of ill-repute.

N. Ladonceur, cabman, against whom a charge of enticing a woman into a house of questionable repute is laid, came up yesterday before Judge Ross to elect how he should be tried. He preferred to be tried without a jury. The case comes up to-day.

Helmuth Nawrotsky, French horn player in the Duff Opera Company, attempted to commit suicide by cutting himself with a razor across the two wrists and across the heart. It is said that Nawrotsky, was drinking heavily before coming here. He was taken to the jail where he now is. He is apparently out of his mind. When Dr. Scott arrived at the hotel where he was staying, he found two deep slashes across each wrist and three slashes, each about three inches long, across the left breast. The tendons and several of the smaller arteries of both wrists were severed, but the large arteries escaped.

Inferior Molasses.

HALIFAX, Jan. 17.—At an annual meeting of the Board of Trade yesterday a resolution was passed co-operating with the St. John Board of Trade in urging the Dominion Government to prevent the importation from the United States, under the name of molasses, an inferior mixture of molasses, glucose and syrup. It was also resolved to memorialize the Dominion Government to raise the standard for free sugar from No. 14 to No. 16, Dutch standard.

The Order of St. Sulpice.

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 17.—A cablegram received at the seminary yesterday from the Rev. Abbe Colin gives the result of the election of a new Superior General for the Order of St. Sulpice. The election took place in Paris on Monday. The Superior elect is the Rev. Abbe Captier, precurator of the Sulpicians in Rome. He is a native of Lyon and is now 65 years old. Abbe Captier was formerly Superior of the Sulpician seminary in Orleans.

The Monument Case Again Postponed.

MONTREAL, Jan. 17.—The case of young Mercier, Pelland and De Martigny, charged with attempting to blow up the Nelson monument with dynamite, was again called in the Police Court. Yesterday James Cochrane, a local contractor, certified that he had examined the monument, and he expressed the opinion that even had the explosion taken place the damage would have been very small. The case was again postponed.

Accident at Goderich.

GODERICH, Jan. 17.—Yesterday while C. Binkby, a Bell Telephone lineman, was engaged stringing wires, he fell off a stay pole, about 25 feet from the ground, lighting on his shoulders and head. He was picked up and medical aid summoned at once. On examination it was found his spine was injured, it is thought fatally. The doctors give no hopes of his recovery.

McMullen Again Nominated.

ARTHUR, Jan. 16.—The annual convention of the North Wellington Reform Association was held at Arthur yesterday and the meeting was the largest and most enthusiastic held for many years, and nearly every ward was fully represented. James McMullen, M.P., was again nominated as the reform candidate for the House of Commons.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deleterious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and though its action is thorough in cases of costiveness never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowels like a violent purgative. It invigorates the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney disease scrofulous and all diseases of the blood female weakness, &c. &c Price $1.00 Sample bottle 10 cents. The Mission Band held its first meeting on Sunday. The subject was Japan. A large number was present and the band seems to be in a promising condition.

Miss Irene Faull, of Belleville, spent Sunday with Misses Annie and Earl Spafford.

Mr. W. R. Vandervoort has been having his cows dehorned. Quite a number of the farmers around here, are seriously thinking of doing likewise.

Miss Lillie Vandewater made a large party for the young people of the neighborhood last Wednesday eve. About forty guests were present. A sumptuous supper was provided and the tables fairly groaned under the weight of good things. prepared. The ever obliging hostess did all in her power for the enjoyment of her guests. All manner of games were indulged in an after singing the National Anthem they departed for their separate homes each claiming to have spent a pleasant evening.

Multum in Parvo

"Much in little" this sentence means. It has almost become a proverb, because the expression can be used in so many instances. In no instance, however, can this saying be used with greater propriety than in speaking of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. There is indeed much in a little vial of them—there is a cure for many a headache—relief from dyspepsia, billousness, constipation, colic and piles and restoration to health and happiness. Much good in little space.

Bargain Sales.

At this season of the year all merchants are anxious to sell winter goods and as far as the Oak Hall is concerned we are prepared to give you as big a bargain as it is possible, but we will not spring a "bargain sale" on the public about every other week in the year. All we ask at any time is a comparison of goods and prices.

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specially upon the deseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that disease of almost every name and nature are driven from the body.' Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell, P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well.'

Still Another Triumph.—Mr. Thomas S. Bullen, Sunderland, writes: "For fourteen years I was afflicted with piles; and frequently I was unable to walk or sit, but four years ago I was cured by using DR. THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL. I have also been subject to quinsy for over forty years, but Electric Oil cured it, and it was a permanent cure in both cases, as neither the piles nor quinsy have troubled me since."

How to Cure All Skin Disease

Cottolene
A SHORTENING.

Down the street through the busy way
A lady passed on marketing day.
Who, pausing at a grocery store,
Stepped quickly in at the open door.
With bated breath and anxious mien
She queried: "have you COTTOLENE?"

The grocer, leaving off his work,
Interrogated every clerk;
But none up to that time had seen
An article called "COTTOLENE."

"What is it?" said he to the dame,
"That answers to this curious name.
What is it made of? What's its use?
My ignorance you'll please excuse."

"You're not the merchant for my dimes,
I see you're quite behind the times.
For COTTOLENE, I'd have you know,
Is now the thing that's all the go,
An article of high regard;
A healthful substitute for lard.
Its composition pure and clean;
For cooking give me COTTOLENE."

As from his store the lady fled,
The grocer gently scratched his head—
On his next order, first was seen,
"One dozen cases COTTOLENE."

Ask Your Grocer for it.

Prize History of the Fair

We are pleased to learn that the World's Columbian Exposition Illustrated received the highest and only award as the most Authentic and Complete Illustrated History of the Great World's Fair.

This valuable work contains full descriptions of the Fair with 3000 large, copper-plate half tone. photographic illustrations of the Grounds, Buildings, Exhibits and Attractions of the Exposition The illustrations are from photographs, showing the laborers as they turned the first shovel-full of earth when the great Fair was begun, and the progress of the Exposition Grounds and Buildings in all stages of construction from the swamp covered with brush and trees, to the world-famed "White City," filled with treasures of Art and works of Genius from the storehouses of the world and adorned with its Spires, Turrents and Gilded Domes.

In all it is the richest and most valuable work ever published. It is the World's Fair on paper. By perusing its pages the great exposition can be revisited in years to come. It should be in every library and home in the civilized world. Send 25 cents for sample number and full particulars. Reliable agents wanted. Address.

Untold Misery—What a Well Known Commercial Traveller Suffered and How he was Cured

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & CO. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confidence that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery believing that one persistent use of it will cure dispepsia.

High license is to reduce peddlars at St. Paul.

RAISED THE SEIGE.

Insurgents Beaten Off by Loyalists—Cruelty of the Latter to Prisoners.

MONTEVIDEO, Jan. 17.—Information has been received here from Rio Grande do Sul frontier that the insurgents have abandoned the seige of Bage owing to the near approach of a strong Government force which has been sent to the garrison's relief. It is said Gen. Tavarez, before leaving Bage, beheaded all the loyal prisoners he had made. Late reports received here from Bage give particulars of an important Government victory. They are to the effect that after the rebels had executed their prisoners when retreating from Bage, they were met by the Government's relief column and a hot fight followed. Taverez's forces were quickly put to flight, but not until they had left 400 dead on the field. The loyalist loss was 4 officers and 36 men killed and 9 wounded.

Two days after the battle one of the two columns that had been despatched to the relief of Bage arrived at that town. The relieving column at once started in pursuit of the insurgents, but did not succeed in catching up with their main body. Many insurgents deserted. It was found that the insurgents had sacked several houses and several men were found with their throats cut. The Government soldiers who had been captured by the enemy were burned alive.

Hunger and Misery in Russia.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—The Daily Telegraph's St. Petersburg correspondent reports an interview with a well-informed political-suspect in that city. The man dilated upon the hunger and misery now prevailing in Russia. Millions, he said, were worse off now than they were during the active Nihilist period. Many of the worthiest and best known men were aware of the existence of secret societies and cordially wished them success, He predicted that plots and societies would multiply henceforth more than ever and hinted that big events were impending.

Belgian Cabinet Crisis Over.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 17.—The Ministerial crisis that was threatened through the action of a section of the members of the Right in the Chamber of Deputies in refusing to agree to the Cabinet's programme in regard to the revision of the constitution has been averted. At a meeting of the Rightists of all sections it was decided to support Prime Minister Beernaert's proposal to grant proportional representation in the Chamber. M. Beernaert, it is said, will at once withdraw his resignation, which he recently placed in the hands of the King.

Monzilli Will Be Extradited.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Antonio Monzilli, who was formerly connected with the Italian Department of Agriculture, and who was arrested in this city at the request of the Italian Government for his alleged connection with the Italian bank scandal, was again brought up in the Bow street extradition court yesterday The magistrate ordered that the prisoner be turned over to the Italian authorities to answer the charges made against him.

Impersonating Mrs. Parnell.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—It having been learned here that a woman was representing herself in Kansas to be Mrs. Kitty Parnell, widow of Charles Stewart Parnell, inquiries were made to learn if Mrs. Parnell had left England. It was found that she was at her residence, Walsingham Terrace, Brighton, where Mr. Parnell died, and where she has remained most of the time since her husband's death.

State Railway in Austria.

VIENNA, Jan. 17.—The Government has decided that the Vienna City Railway shall be built and managed by the State.

Threatened to Shoot an Editor.

MONTREAL, Jan. 17.—F. B. McNamee, the contractor, formerly of Toronto, was arrested yesterday charged with threatening to shoot William Orme, of the Sunday Morning News. The trouble arose out of an endeavor on the part of McNamee, who is a shareholder in the paper, to enter the pressroom. Mr. Orme refused him admission and trouble followed. McNamee was bound over to keep the peace, his sureties being Hon. James McShane and Peter Lyall.

A Strange Case of Hiccoughing.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 17.—A very peculiar case has been brought before the attention of the City Hospital physicians. It was the case of Robert Morgan, a young farmer living near Watford, Ont. About two months ago Mr. Morgan began to hiccough and he has hiccoughed ever since, with slight intermittent periods of repose. The constant retching has had a very weakening effect, and at times Mr. Morgan can barely stand.

Fatal Accident at Norval.

NORVAL, Jan. 17.—Yesterday Mr. Wm. McLaughlin and his brother went to the woods to cut wood, and while engaged in sawing a tree which had been lodged between two others, the tree sprang back striking Mr. McLaughlin in the temple, killing him instantly. Mr. McLaughlin was highly esteemed by all who knew him.

The Tactics of Her Enemies.

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 17.—A dynamite cartridge was found under the stage of the opera house in this city the other day with a fuse attached to it. It is now reported that the explosive was placed there during Mrs. Margaret L. Sheppard's course of anti-Popery lectures some months ago.

Princess May's Team.

THE FREE WOOL CLAUSE

Vigorous Fighting Against it in the American Congress.

MESSAGE FROM CLEVELAND.

Senator Hoar to be Given an Opportunity to Criticize the President's Hawaiian Policy — Discussing the Condition of the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. — The House worked smoothly and methodically yesterday on amendments to the Wilson bill. These were offered by the chairman himself and all were agreed to except one providing that the free wool clause should go into effect on August 1 next. A strong fight was made on this amendment and it was still pending when the House took a recess at 5.20. The amendments agreed to reduce the tariff on furs for hatters' use from 20 per cent. to 10 per cent. ad valorem; calf skin, patent and japanned leather, dressed upper leather, chamois and other skins from 20 to 15 per cent.; all hydrographic charts to be placed on the free list. The rate on condensed milk was changed from 20 per cent. ad valorem to 2 cents per pound. Chair canes or reeds, wrought or manufactured from rattan or reeds, were taken from the free list and a tariff of 7 per cent. ad valorem imposed.

Queen and President.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17.—In regard to the item published in a local paper on Saturday last, stating that the ex-Queen of Hawaii had given up the contest for the throne and would sue the United States for damages, Samuel Parker, Prime Minister of the Queen, has wired Secretary Gresham denying these assertions. Both Parker and W. C. Paterson, the Queen's Attorney-General, state that they saw Liliuokalani half an hour before they sailed from Honolulu on the steamer Australia, and that she was very firm in her determination to maintain her claim to the throne. The possibility of her presenting a claim for damages has never even been mentioned.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.— The message from the President, with the correspondence as to Hawaiian affairs, was laid before the Senate, giving Mr. Hoar (Rep., Mass.) an opportunity to criticize the position of the President in extorting from the Queen a promise of amnesty, and to draw a parallel between the President and the Queen as to the "reckless" disregard of each other for the constitution of their respective countries.

Discussing the Finances.

Considerable headway appears to have been made at the meeting of the Senate Finance Committee. Mr. Carlisle's letter was again discussed, and while no conclusion was reached by direct vote it appeared to be the sense of the committee manifested by an absence of opposition, that the best thing to be done for the immediate relief of the treasury was to make the gold reserve intact, leaving the question of meeting the deficit in revenue open for further consideration. After the meeting adjourned Senator Voorhees, chairman of the committee, gave to a reporter the following statement: "The embarrassed condition of the treasury and the necessity for prompt action for its relief are fully realized. There is not the slightest ground, however, for apprehension that the public credit will suffer or be endangered, for the reason that ample authority already exists by law for the Secretary of the Treasury to strengthen his coin reserve to any extent required, and to meet every demand that can be legitimately made. The power of the Secretary for the issue of the bonds needs nothing beyond what is given by the act of January 14, 1875.

"It seems, therefore, that it will be wiser, safer and better to rely upon an existing law with which to meet the present emergency rather than to encounter the delays and uncertainties always incident to protracted discussion in the two Houses of Congress.

"This view of the subjec ist rendered more imperative by the fact that the condition of the treasury admits of but little if any delay and no uncertainty at all in the final action to be taken. It is also obvious to every one that the consideration and discussion of the tariff now going on in Congress will render any financial legislation at this time far more difficult and complicated than it might be under other and different circumstances."

CHICAGO IDLERS.

Two Thousand Men Who Do Not Want to Work for Assistance.

CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—It is reported that there are about 2,000 idle men in the city that refuse absolutely to do any work in return for the assistance they receive from public charity. Many of the petty crimes throughout the city have been traced to this class of criminals.

"This class of men will have to work or leave the city," said Mayor Hopkins. "Beginning to-night every man who applies to a police station for lodging will be required to perform a small amount of work or the police will run them out of town."

Justice After Lynchers.

WEST UNION, O., Jan. 17.—Judge Davis has instructed the Grand Jury to make every effort to find any or all of the men connected with the mob who lynched Roscoe Parker, and to indict them as murderers. He also instructed them to indict every reporter that wired sensational reports which had the effect of raising a mob, and especially to indict the reporter who accompanied the mob and assisted at the hanging.

Passenger Train Wrecked.

SOUTH SHAFTESBURY, Jan. 17.—Yesterday a passenger train going north collided with a wreck train going south, one mile above this station. Both locomotives, the car attached to the extra, and the express car were badly wrecked. Four trainmen were seriously injured, but none of the passengers were hurt.

Canada is Not Safe.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Lieut.-General Sir George Tomkyns Chesney, M.P., delivered a speech in London last night on the defences of the British Empire. He expressed the opinion that the English colonies generally with the exception of Canada were perfectly safe. In the event of war with the United States, he said it would be impossible for Great Britain to prevent Canada from being annexed to the States.

S. P. SMITH, of Towanda, Pa., whose constitution was completely broken down, is cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He writes:

"For eight years, I was, most of the time, a great sufferer from constipation, kidney trouble, and indigestion, so that my constitution seemed to be completely broken down. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and took nearly seven bottles, with such excellent results that my stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in perfect condition, and, in all their functions, as regular as clock-work. At the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my weight was only 120 pounds; I now can brag of 159 pounds, and was never in so good health. If you could see me before and after using, you would want me for a traveling advertisement. I believe this preparation of Sarsaparilla to be the best in the market to-day."

THE ANTWERP EXHIBITION

To Be of Greater Commercial Importance Than the World's Fair.

The world's bazaar. This is the title which might properly be bestowed upon Antwerp, celebrated in the olden times as "the Indies in a single city." If we scan the map of Europe in search of the city devoted more than any other to cosmopolitan trade; a city not so much of palaces, of pleasures or of art, as of commerce; a city not of one country, but of the world, we must pass by London and Paris, Vienna and Berlin, and settle upon Antwerp as the city best filling these requirements. Antwerp is, in the first place, the great commercial emporium for all north-western Europe. Its neutrality has been solemnly guaranteed by the great powers, which gives it an advantage over any port in Germany or France for the establishment of branches of foreign mercantile houses As in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries the Hanseatic League and merchants from London, Bruges, Nuremberg, Paris and Genoa establishes "factories" and warehouses, so the chief commercial cities of the world are doing at the present day.

The countless products of our country which could be profitably introduced there offer a wide range, and one that offers opportunities for the agriculturist as well as the manufacturer.

For purposes of commerce, with Antwerp as the depot and centre, the requirements of the Belgian market are not alone to be considered, but those of northwestern and central Europe, of which Antwerp is the great port and market. Nearly all the trade of northern France pours into her lap, a great portion of that of the Netherlands and western Germany, and even from the Rhine valley and northern Switzerland. If we take a bird's-eye view of the country within a day's journey of Antwerp we find that it includes two hundred busy cities, and a population of 100,000,000 of the most industrious and intelligent people of Europe. Tools and machinery, chemicals, etc., introduced in Antwerp would be quick to find their way to the factories, shops, metal works and mines in western Europe.

In a still wider sense, like Nuremberg of old, Antwerp's hand goes through every land. The merchants of every land congregate in her markets, and her ships are upon every sea. Australia and the Argentine send her wool; the pampas of the La Plata send her beef; the Cape of Good Hope sends diamonds for the lapidaries to cut; the new inter-African empire of the Congo sends ivory and woods and drugs, and her people, as Stanley predicted, are already furnishing a market for cotton fabrics and iron goods. The east sends her wealth of drugs and spices, of teas and coffee, metal wares and gorgeous fabrics.

To the scholar and the tourist Antwerp is no less interesting than to the merchant. The archæologist must pay his respects to the city which is said to have arisen from the marshy banks of the Scheldt two centuries before the Trojan war; the historian must visit the city so closely associated with Godfrey of Boulogne, Count of Antwerp and King of Jerusalem, with Philip II., William of Orange and the great struggle against Spanish tyranny. The soldier, too, must wish to study the scene of the two famous sieges of Antwerp, of the Duke of Anjou's attempt upon the city, of Napoleon's fortifications and of the modern works, scarcely less formidable, it is said, than those of Paris.

The location of the exhibition, the buildings of which are already completed and ready for installation, is in the southern portion of the city near the railway station and the Place du Peuple. It is, in fact, in the heart of the city.

All things considered, Canadians have reason to wish well of the Antwerp exposition and to give every aid and encouragement to those who go from this country to uphold the honor and reputation of our products across the sea.

Edison's Challenge.

Mr. Edison has challenged the skeptical to name one substance, organic or inorganic, which is not to be found in his laboratory. Every department of nature has yielded its tribute to the potent wizard. The bones of birds and animals, feathers, hides, teeth and horns, shining metals, lucent crystals, variegated minerals lie scattered in profusion; dainty shells and coral repose among mosses and seaweed; fragrant gums and spices recall memories of the fair Babe of Bethlehem. Chalks, resins, salts and chemicals are heaped about in levish plenitude. The collection embraces not only raw products, but specimens of nearly every human industry.

The Missing Link.

The monkey's intelligence has never been able to arrive at a point which enables the animal to achieve the untying of a knot. You may see a monkey with a cord fastened with the simplest form of common knot, and unless the beast can break the string or gnaw it in two he will never get loose. To untie a knot requires observation and reasoning power, and though a monkey may possess both, he has neither in a sufficient degree to enable him to overcome the difficulty.

THE HOTEL QUINTE

THIS FINE STRUCTURE NEARING COMPLETION

Full Description of the Building—It is Said to be the Finest Hotel West of Montreal

Ever since the Dafoe House was burnt several years ago the people of Belleville have felt the need of a commodious hotel of the first rank, and it was realised that the non-existence of such a house militated very materially against the prosperity of the city. This want was felt especially in the summer, when the number of American visitors who desired to spend the hot season in the beautiful city of the bay was much less than it would have been were there adequate accommodation for their entertainment. As year after year went by the people were regaled with one rumor after another to the effect that someone or another was about to re-build the old hotel. But these expectations were never realized, and at last some of our most enterprising citizens decided that they would themselves erect a hotel that would be worthy of the city. So a company was formed composed of Messrs. W. H. Biggar, M. P. P., H. Corby, M. P., John Bell, Q. C., U. E. Thompson, Thos. Ritchie, D. M. Waters and Col. Lazier. These enterprising citizens went promptly to work and secured plans and specifications, and last March the work was begun. Too much credit cannot be given to the gentlemen above mentioned for their enterprise and patriotic regard for the welfare and prosperity of the city. They have not spared trouble or expense in the work, but set before themselves a high ideal and carried into execution their determination to erect a house of entertainment that would reflect credit on themselves and on the city and that would prove an attraction to the travelling public.

The building is now nearing completion, so nearly that a fairly adequate idea of its beauty of design and its splendid appointments can be obtained. The site of the hotel could not be surpassed. It is situated on the corner of Bridge and Pinnacle streets, just opposite the post office and convenient to the business part of the city, to the opera house and to the principal churches, and will be on the line of the proposed electric railway, so that both the station and the wharf will be easy of excess. The exterior of the building is imposing and very handsome. The style throughout is Romanesque, by all odds the most appropriate for such a structure. The building fronts 115 ft. on Pinnacle street and 98 on Bridge street, and is constructed of Don Valley pressed brick. It is four stories high and is roofed with iron. There are large and handsome porticoes on both fronts, that on Bridge street having massive circular pointed brick pillars, and that on Pinnacle street wooden pillars. The hotel has one principal entrance on Pinnacle street and one principal entrance and one private entrance on Bridge street. The Pinnacle street entrance is into the main hall, and faces the main stairway. The Bridge street entrance is into the main office or vestibule. This is a splendid room. It is 48x40 feet with 14 foot panelled ceiling. It has very large plate glass windows extending from the floor to near the ceiling, with a transom fan light at the top, and with inside folding shutters. The doors are very fine, with Romanesque panels at the bottom and bevel plate glass at the top. At one side is a huge old fashioned brick fire place that will, on winter nights, throw out a cheerful blaze. Above this is large semi circular bevel plate glass mirror. The counter is a beautiful one made of birch with hard oil finish in its natural colors and grain, and with beautifully carved ornamentation. The woodwork is all of the same material and finish. Just south of the office facing Bridge street is the writing and reading room and next to this the check room. East of the office are the bar room and the club rooms and back of that the water closets with urinals, wash basins etc., all in marble. Across the hall from this, and just at the right of the private entrance is a barber shop, with basins and baths. These comprise all the rooms on the ground floor of the Bridge street wing. All of this wing has a very handsome marble floor.

Passing north out of the office into the Pinnacle street wing we come first into the capacious hall, from which run the main stairs and the elevator. Running from this is a hall leading to the dining room. On one side of this hall is the ladies' parlor and on the other the breakfast room. Both of these are very handsome rooms, with fire places, mirrors, etc. The dining room occupies the rest of the Pinnacle street front and is a very fine room. It is 48 x 38 feet and will seat 150 people. It is abundantly lighted with eight large windows and is a very cheerful room. The kitchen is east of the dining room and will be fitted up with all the modern conveniences for the proper preparation of tempting viands. The walls are finished in portland cement, so that the hose can be turned on to clean them. Back of the kitchen are the pantries, servants' dining room and store room.

The basement contains commodious sample rooms and billiard rooms, and a large wine cellar. Also the furnaces and coal rooms. The servants quarters are beneath the kitchen.

The second and third stories consist chiefly of bedrooms. These are of good size, and a majority of them are double rooms, in some cases with folding doors. There is a fan light over every door in the building. The corner room on each flat is a sitting room. On each flat are two bath rooms, two water closets and two slop sinks, one in each wing, and there is a stairway at the end of each corridor in addition to the main stairway. At the end of the north corridor is a clothes shute by which clothes can be sent to the laundry and drawn up again. The bath rooms are supplied from two galvanized tanks in the kitchen.

Projecting some thirty feet from the roof is a tower which forms one of the chief features of the hotel. This is a large structure from which a splendid view of the bay and city can be had, and it will be a delightful place to sit in on hot summer days. It will be supplied with an electric light, speaking tube and electric bells.

The building throughout is supplied with every possible appliance for the comfort and convenience of guests. It is heated by hot water, their being radiators in all the rooms on the first floor and in all the corridors and some of the bedrooms on the other flats. Both gas and electric apparatus are supplied throughout the building, and there are electric bells and speaking tubes in every room extending even to the tower. The most approved system of ventilation has been adopted, the gable end on Birdge street forming the ventilating shaft. There is also a good sewerage system and all the drainings from the eaves run into a large drain and are thus carried off.

These constitute a few only of the many splendid features of the hotel "Quinte." The total cost of the building will be about $150,000, and it is expected that it will be completed in about three weeks. The building has been inspected by a large number of people and those able to judge say that it is the finest hotel west of Toronto. There may be larger houses, but not one that equals it in the beauty of its finish, the perfection of its appointments and the completeness of its arrangements for the comfort of guests; and beyond a doubt it will become one of the most attractive houses of entertainment in the province. No one has yet been secured to run it, but the directors are corresponding with several parties and hope soon to get a first class man. It is expected the hotel will be opened to the public in the early spring.

A sketch of this great structure would be incomplete unless honor was given to those who did the work. First and foremost is Fred Gillen, the architect to whom good taste and rare skill and diligent oversight the beauty and excellence of this hotel is due. It is very gratifying that a Belleville boy could be found who was capable of devising so elaborate and elegant a structure, which will be a lasting monument of his skill and genius. Scarcely less credit is due George Wilson, the contractor, who has done his work in a most creditable manner. The sub-contractors are; Geo Twining, who did the painting; Elliott Bros., Kingston, who did the plumbing and supplied the heating apparatus; Harris & Walton did the mill work, and Douglas Bros, Toronto, tinsmithing; John Ferguson, Toronto, furnished the elevator which will be run by water power; J. W. Walker supplied the hardware; the furnaces, which are fine ones, with two Daisy boilers, was furnished by Rogers & King, Montreal; and the Vermont marble for the floor was supplied by John Horrigan, Montreal; J. W. Scott, Oshawa, was electrician, and the gas and electric supplies were from the American Copper Co. Toronto. Each and all of these deserve credit for the uniform excellence of the material supplied and the work done.

A GOLDEN WEDDING

An Aged and Respected Couple Receive Congratulations

A very pleasing event transpired Jan. 15th at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James Clark in the fifth concession of the township of Thurlow, being the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. About ninety guests had assembled to pay respect to the aged couple who has lived their whole life in the vicinity where they now reside. The assembly was agreeably surprised to learn that a marriage was to take place, the contracting parties being Mr. E Irvin and Miss Catherine P. Bennett, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, all of Holloway. The bride was assisted by Miss L. Hough while the groom was nobly supported by Mr. C. Bennett, the brother of the bride. The bride looked charming. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Gardiner. As the business of the day proceeded two baptisms wer administered.

Coming to the most important part of the day's proceedings, the large assembly organised itself into a society and elected unanimously the Rev. Dr. Gardiner president and J. W. Ross, an ex-deputy reeve of Thurlow, secretary After a few well chosen remarks by the doctor he called upon the secretary to read an address expressive of the esteem in which the aged couple is held by all their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark made a very feeling reply, after which all sat down to a beautifully arranged table laden with luxuries of the season.

J. W. Ross, Jas Baldwin, Mrs. E. Bennett and Miss E. Bennet of Corbyville all spoke in glowing terms of the benefits which society had derived from their intercourse; while all present wished in their hearts the aged couple may live to celebrate their diamond wedding. The presents were both costly and numerous.

Letters of regret were read from H. Corby, M. P., and W. P. Hudson, M. P. P.

A Painful Accident

At noon to-day Wm Lynch, an employee of the Rathbun company, was injured by a quantity of wood falling upon him. He was piling the wood in a rack when the rack broke and the wood fell upon him. He was injured in the back and rendered unconscious. He was taken to his home and Dr. Dolan summoned. The injuries were found not to be serious and unless inflammation sets in he will be well inta few days.

TORY PATRONS OF INDUSTRY

An Expose of the way in which they use the Order for Party Purposes

EDITOR OF THE ONTARIO—DEAR SIR—Will you allow me space to give the electors a few hints of matters as they appear to me. I was looking over the Intelligencer of the 9th and they seemed to feel very bad that the P. I. had gone back on Caskey. Was it not a pity that the Tories could not bring out a Tory lot like Caskey, Graham, Allen and Kirk and call them P. I, and expect Reformers to vote their friends out of office and put these good mild Tories in as P. I. But Murphy and his friends saw their little game and they did as the Tories did, voted for their own man. Whoever heard of Caskey doing anything but voting straight Tory all his life, and then without any preparation jump into the reeve's chair. The Intelligencer says he was not acquainted. He has lived in Hungerford for 40 years and he must be a very smart man and a bright light not to be acquainted 12 miles from home If he was not acquainted he had lots of cheek to offer himself for the reeveship. Some men run better where they are not acquainted. Mr. Caskey must feel greatly flattered to think he was the man that was to be reeve of so important a township as Hungerford under the P. I. banner. Let Mr. Caskey show to the world that he is honest in his P. I. Lodge and and bring out a good Reformer for the House of Commons and vote for him and then I will believe he is in earnest and honest in his P. I. professions. I think the P. I. are nothing more than the equal righters. It was to defeat the Mowat Government. But Tories think they are born politicians, or for office, when they make a jump like Caskey did. But the Intelligencer says the P. I. went back on him. I believe the P. I. Reformers are as honest as the Tory P. I. or as honest as the Tories in Madoc. Now let me give you one of the go-backs of Tories and if the Intelligencer wants the names I will be only too glad to give them to it. Some of the leading men in Madoc pledged themselves to Mr. Glover to support him for reeve and told him he was more fit to be reeve than the late Wm. Thompson. But did they support Mr. Glover? They did not. Mr. Glover was a P. I. and an Orangeman and he was a temperance man and a devoted christian. Did the Orangemen that pledged themselves to support him do so? No, Glover was a Reformer and the Tories pounced on him and thrashed him and beat him by hundreds. I wonder if the obligations the Orangemen take is not so binding as that the P. I. take. Now if the Intelligencer will pick the meat out of this I will give them another. W. R. Hudson seized the Ross bible and the hierarchy, and offered to swallow the equal right's platform and I think he did for I have never heard of it since. I suppose you will find Tories trying to roost on the P. I. platform to get into office the next election. I havn't seen Skinner, or Mikel or Dingman holding equal rights' meetings the last three years. Is it now time to start? The Provincial elections are getting near and I suppose the Tories would be P. I. or P. P. A. or P. A. or anything, only let it get them into office. Now the Tories are very anxious to have more farmers in Parliament, and let us see how much truth there is in it. In North Hastings it became time to put Bowell in the cooler and all the faithful farmers got together and there was a good man called John and another called James and another called Peter, all good men and farmers, but Harry went out and took with him good farmers like the two Popes and F. Lingham and a few healers and supplied a little of his soothing balm and while the farmers were helping themselves—for it only comes once every five year—Harry got Alex., the merchant, chosen and the farmers all voted for Alex. and defeated Peter. Now the Tories in Hastings have voted for lawyers, doctors, distillers and issuers of marriage licenses, but all at once they are impressed with the P. I. farmer, if he is a Tory. Let them have a chance to vote for a farmer if they are feeling so sick voting for men that are not farmers. The Intelligencer thinks the P. I. went back on Caskey. I think the P. I. Grits are more honest than the Tory P. I., and their conduct will compare a great deal better alongside of men who vote twice, and Orangemen who got Glover to run for reeve to get rid of him in the council because he was a Grit. But he was an honest man. Now the temperance question is the burning question of the day, and should have good men to look after it. I suppose Corby would look after the temperance people in Ottawa and I think Wood could look after them at Toronto, as he has had a good deal to do with the license business in North Hastings. Now I am going away for a few days but hope to be back to vote for Murphy.

The Lost Boy Found.

The boy Roy Diamond, whose absence from home for two days caused considerable anxiety to his parents, has been found and restored to his fireside. Yesterday Constable Johnson in company with Mr. Diamond visited Mr. Hy. Herrity in the township of Huntingdon and found the boy there. It appears that the boy last summer during the vacation spent some time at this place. On Monday he started for school, but instead went to the place where he was found. He reports that he walked all the way there, 21 miles through the rain, taking the Grand Junction track as far as West Huntingdon station and then walking across the country about 4 miles.

An Open Letter to the Electors of Thurlow.

DEAR FRIENDS:—I desire to take advantage of the privilege kindly granted me by the public press to direct your attention to what I consider a very important matter, and to ask your hearty co-operation in an effort to rid our fair township of a great evil. I have prepared a form of petition to our Municipal council which will be put in circulation, and to it you are earnestly requested to attach your signatures.

During the campaign I had no thought of taking any further action at the present time, but just before the vote was taken I learned, on what I consider very reliable authority, that a most reprehensible custom prevailed in our midst, by which our young men are enticed away from the right path. A hotel-keeper will give some friend of his a sum of money, say 50 cents with the request to "call in the boys and treat them." This is done and "the boys" feel compelled "to treat" in their turns. Thus the trap is set and the loved ones of our homes are in constant danger of falling a prey to the allurements of the tempter. When I heard this I felt that we could not afford to wait for the slow process of Provincial or Dominion Legislation, as by so doing some of our boys might be utterly lost that otherwise could be saved. Dear fellow electors will it not be a much wiser course to take immediate action and secure for ourselves whatever prohibition is possible under the present law?

Another fact worthy of notice is this: There is no hotel to be found on any of our main roads leading out from Belleville but those in Thurlow. No hotel to Shannonville, Trenton or Frankford. Only one to Stirling and Madoc, and that one in Thurlow. These roads are leading thoroughfares and on them there is a heavy traffic. Why is it we find four hotels in the 10 miles from Belleville to Plainfield? I am certain it will appear by examination that in this regard this road is the worst in the county. Surely we are a long suffering and uncomplaining people to endure this for these years without a murmur.

I trust that simply calling your attention to these things will lead you all to second the present endeavor to free ourselves from the evils that have always been associated with the liquor traffic. A united and hearty effort will secure the much desired result.

Yours for God and Home and Country.
W. J. YOUNG.

10,000 VERSUS 100

Two business college men, one of whom is a graduate of an American business college, and the other an EX-PURSER of a lake boat, who run a business college in a few rented rooms in the top flat of a building, without fire escapes, have been greatly worried for some time past about American text books, and regarding which they have been advertising untrue statements. These men also advertise they are the author of a text book on bookkeeping, which they say is "the most widely circulated work on bookkeeping in the English language." Now, if by buying a book a man can lawfully claim to be its author—they are correct. And if by sending a book by a western route and another by an eastern route to a friend in Australia a man can truthfully say the book is "the most widely circulated in the English language"—they are correct.

The FACT is, that for every 100 students who have used the "MOST WIDELY" over 10,000 have used the bookkeeping taught at the Belleville Business College.

The Situation in the Island Becoming Quieter.

EIGHTY MEN WERE ARRESTED.

A Bomb With a Burning Fuse Attached Found at the Door of a Club House by a Detective—Siege Officially Proclaimed.

PALERMO, Jan. 18.—The police at Catania have seized several knives bearing on their blades the inscriptions "Vive de Felice" and "Vive Colajanni." Both De Felice and Colajanni, who are Sicilians, are Social members of the Chamber of Deputies. The former is now under arrest here for the part he has taken in the Sicilian agitation. The day passed without disturbance in Carrara. In one house near Carrara 80 men were arrested yesterday. They were all revolutionists who had gone from Carrara and Massa di Carrara to hide from the police.

A small bomb was found by a detective yesterday at a club house door in Pesaro, near Urbino. The detective extinguished the burning fuse and took the bomb to the police office. Several precautionary arrests were made in Brescia. In the portfolio of one prisoner the police found a hundred lira note on which was written in red ink "For the cause of anarchism."

Gen. Hulsch has arrived at Massa di Carrara and assumed the duties imposed upon him by his appointment to enforce the decree proclaiming a state of siege.

The Depression in Financial Circles.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Mr. Bonamy Dobyree, one of the directors of the London and Westminster Bank, presiding yesterday at the annual meeting of that concern, said that for six months there had been unexampled depression owing to the strike of the coal miners, the Australian banking troubles and the American railway crisis. The liabilities of the bank on its Baring guarantee, which had amounted to 750,000 pounds, had been reduced to 187,000 pounds. Mr. Dobyree said that he had the authority of the Governor of the Bank of England for saying that the Baring liquidation was proceeding slowly but satisfactorily and that no loss would fall on the guaranteers.

Review of British Trade.

MANCHESTER, Jan. 18.—The Guardian, in its review of the market, says: "Recent buying derived strength from the improvement in the prices of cotton. The decline in cotton values at Liverpool caused many buyers to withdraw their offers, and especially as the receipts at the American ports indicated an increase during the week. This is producing caution pending developments, as an increase instead of the promised decrease draws attention to the unreliable nature of American advices when the facts disagree with American interests. There were some transactions in staple goods for Calcutta for both quick delivery and summer shipment. Business for the other outlets was moderate.

Balfour Evading the Law.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Jabez Spencer Balfour, who is wanted in England in connection with the failure of the Liberator Building Society, was seen in the Argentine Republic some weeks ago. He was then living in luxury on a fine hacienda a short distance from Buenos Ayres. He was engaged in business and was believed to be making much money. Since the extradition treaty between Great Britain and the Argentine Republic was concluded Balfour has disappeared. It is not known whether he has fled, but every effort is now being made to effect his arrest.

The Trial of the Omladina Society.

PRAGUE, Jan. 18.—The trial of the members of the secret society of the Omladina, who are charged with high treason and lese majeste, was continued here yesterday. Holzbach, one of the accused, pleaded not guilty to the indictment and asserted that the note books that the prosecution produced as proof of plotting contained merely the outline of a novel. The notes therein had no relation to facts. He declared that he was a progressist Czech, not a conspirator.

Students Protest in Vain.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 18.—The council of the University of Brussels last evening rejected the protests made by the students against the action of the council in refusing to allow M. Jacques Elise Reclus, the well-known geographer and Anarchist, to lecture at the university. M. Reclus was professor of comparative geography at the university, to which position he was appointed in September, 1892, but he has now resigned the chair in consequence of the council's action.

Aggressive Unemployed Workingmen.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 18.—Several hundred of the unemployed workmen here marched to the town hall yesterday, and the leaders in violent speeches demanded that work be furnished them by the corporation. The Lord Mayor refused to grant an interview to a deputation that had been appointed by the crowd to wait upon him.

Mr. and Mrs. Zirenberg Locked Up.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Mr. and Mrs. Zirenberg, who are being prosecuted for perjury in connection with their recent unsuccessful libel suit against Mr. Henry Labouchere, editor of Truth, were again arraigned in court yesterday and were again remanded. Being unable to furnish bail they were locked up.

Cholera Spreading in Europe.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 18.—Cholera has appeared at Anvelais, near Charleroi. On Tuesday there were 12 deaths from the disease. Many of the inhabitants have been attacked. The authorities are constructing a lazaretto, where the sick will be treated.

Bondholders Unite.

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—Many holders of the second mortgage bonds of the Western New York and Pennsylvania road met in Frankfort yesterday and resolved to unite with the Dutch and South German bondholders to form a trusteeship to guard the interests of all.

Naval Programme Estimate.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—The Central News says that the naval programme to be submitted to Parliament at the next session will involve the expenditure of £7,000,000 more than the usual outlay.

DEFENCE'S CASE CLOSED.

Hooper's Father on the Stand—Important Evidence.

JOLIETTE, Que., Jan. 18.—The Hooper trial was continued yesterday, when sensational evidence was brought out for the defence. The father of the accused, Mr. Joseph Hooper, of Port Hope, was examined. He told the story of the way the bottle of prussic acid was disposed of. He first produced a letter which the accused had written him, announcing the death of his wife and asking him to make all arrangements for the funeral with a service if necessary. Witness had been absent in Chicago at the time and did not receive the letter until October 4th, when he immediately returned home while his son was at Cobourg. Mr. Ward told him there was a bottle of prussic acid in his son's bedroom. Then witness said:—

"I went home immediately, in an excited state, and told my daughter, Mrs. Baulch, who brought me down a bottle of a greenish tinge. I took out the cork and smelt the contents. It had a strong almond odor. I then did, perhaps, a wrong act. I reflected on what might have been the consequences of it being in the house with my two little grandchildren, and I took it out into the yard, where I took a hammer and smashed it to atoms. Part of the acid went on my hand and produced a numb sensation. I went to Mr. Ward and told him what I had done. He said, 'My God, Hooper, what did you do that for? You have destroyed the best piece of evidence we had.'"

He did not remember whether there was a label on the bottle.

Mrs. Katie Baulch, sister of accused, corroborates this evidence. She had seen her father in the yard with a stick in one hand and the broken bottom of the bottle. About a week after she found another bottle which she gave to Mr. Ward. The bottle last mentioned was produced in court and identified by the witness. It is a one ounce fluid prescription vial and has no label. It had none at the time, and was found in the same bedroom as the other one, but in altogether another part. Prof. Adams measured the contents of the bottle; there were three drachms and three-quarters, and the smell was undoubtedly that of prussic acid, but he could not swear that it was a two per cent. solution.

H. A. Ward, one of the counsel for defence, was sworn. He represented accused at the coroner's inquest. He testified that on the evening of the prisoner being taken to Joliette he asked him to secure from his room a bottle containing the poison. This was just as the train was leaving and next day witness told Mr. Hooper, sr.

Another sensation was caused in court by one of the court stenographers fainting and having to be carried out of court. This is the fourth time that the proceedings of this court have been stopped by people fainting. Mr. MacMaster asked the judge to order that the room be properly ventilated, as it was not fit for human beings to be in.

The case for the defence has now closed. There is to be no rebuttal evidence. The defence will claim that the bottle the prisoner's father smashed must have been the one prisoner got from Mr. Webb, the druggist.

DROWNED IN A RIVER.

Two Little Boys Break Trough the Ice—One of the Bodies Found.

PORT ROBINSON, Ont., Jan. 18.—Last evening the residents of this village were alarmed by the report that two small children, youngest sons of Robert Stevenson and Joseph Chambers, had been drowned in the Welland River just behind Hyslop Bros. roller mill. On investigation the report proved too true. At once willing hands went to the work of grappling. At nine o'clock the body of little George Chambers was taken from the water. It was found about forty feet from where they are supposed to have broken through the ice. Thus far the body of young Stevenson has not been recovered.

Sentence Reserved in the Nelson Case.

MONTREAL, Jan. 18.—Henry Mercier, J. Opelland and Parel Demartigny, three young men, for attempting to blow up Nelson's monument November last, were committed for trial yesterday. They selected summary trial before a magistrate, and when brought to court pleaded guilty. Ex-Premier Mercier made a speech in behalf of the prisoners, blaming the sensational papers for causing the boys to act thus, and expressing regret of the parents at what they had done, while they were glad of some timely testimony which showed it could not have done much harm. Sentence was reserved till to-day.

The Hamilton Man Who Shot Himself.

HAMILTON, Jan. 18.—Mr. John Stewart, of Hamilton, who shot himself at the Brolzel House in Buffalo, on Tuesday night, was formerly manager for Hendrie & Co., cartage agents, here. Two years ago he was compelled to quit work on account of a mental trouble which physicians pronounced to be melancholia. He recently went under an operation in Detroit, which was hoped would cure him, and had previously been treated by the best specialists without success. His injuries are such that he will probably die.

An Interesting Spot.

QUEBEC, Jan. 18.—Col. Forrest has obtained permission from the Militia Department for the Carnival Committee to erect an ice monument in the store yard at the foot of the Citadel hill, over the spot where Gen. Montgomery's body lay from about 31st December, 1775, until it was removed 43 years later, and where parts of the bodies of his two aides still lie.

On the Trail of Bain.

TORONTO, Jan. 18.—A reward of $250 is now offered for the capture of J. C. Bain, the absconding ticket agent. Six officers are on his trail, three being at Niagara Falls, together with Chief Detective Day, of the G.T.R., Chief Heenan, of the Michigan, and Detective Greer.

Implement Factory Burned.

NEW GLASGOW, N.S., Jan. 18.—W. P. McNeil's implement factory was destroyed by fire yesterday. In addition to the main building several outbuildings were entirely consumed. The firm allowed their insurance to expire first of the year on account of increase in rates.

The Williams Murder Case.

BRAMPTON, Jan. 18.—The preliminary investigation in the Williams case begins here to-day. The three prisoners are enjoying themselves apparently to their hearts' content, and are expressing no anxiety as to the result.

A SENSATIONAL STORY.

The Rumor of Canadian Troops for Hawaii Again Crops Up.

THE COURSE TO BE EMPLOYED

It is Said 180 Men Have Now Been Enlisted, Who Are Awaiting the Word of Command—They Will Try to Avoid the Neutrality Law.

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—A special to the Herald from Victoria, B. C., says: The Canadian-Australian steamer, which sailed for Honolulu, takes to the Hawaiian capital letters which have been entrusted into the care of a modest, uncommunicative passenger. They are addressed to Theophius Davies and contain the summarized information of what has already been accomplished by his agents in the Dominion of Canada in the direction of placing at Queen Liliuokalana's command a picked bodyguard of as fine soldiers as any monarch could desire.

For some days past indefinite rumors have been afloat that a company of volunteers was being secretly organized at Vancouver for the purpose of aiding the Queen with rifles and swords to regain her throne. Then came the announcement that although they were ready to enlist the scheme had been abandoned owing to the failure of the principals to provide "the sinews of war." It was hinted that but for this the company to be known as the Queen's Own Guard would have been passengers on the Warrimoo.

As a matter of fact this latter step has never for a moment been contemplated, nor has the project by any means come to naught. In proof of this letters were yesterday shown to the Herald correspondent which indicate that it is maturing in a manner quite satisfactory to royalist hopes. The only commissioned recruiting officer named by Davies is said to be a well known business man of Vancouver, who will act with Sansom, who at present is in the insurance business and who, during the Canadian Northwest rebellion, saw considerable service as one of Boulton's famous scouts.

This man's instructions from Davies were to enlist 200 first class men to protect the Queen and royalist interests and to be employed as Liliuokalana may direct. Of these 180 have been enrolled and are held ready to proceed to Hawaii at the word of command.

Letters containing Davies' instructions were looked for in the mail brought to San Francisco by the Australia, and as they have not arrived it is feared they have fallen into the hands of the Provisional Government. Hence the despatch of the agent on the Warrimoo.

He is instructed to communicate without delay the wishes of Liliuokalani and her advisers' intention to send the recruits forward by way of San Francisco in small parties, this course being necessary in order to divert suspicions and also to avoid the neutrality law and obviate the possibility of Great Britain being in any way responsible for the consequences. The party will be in charge of Capt. McKean, ex-sergeant of the North-West Mounted Police, and will be in full strength. Transportation rates have been secured by Sansom from the Oceanic line, represented by Capt. Webster, and now everything awaits the word from Honolulu.

ITEMS FROM OTTAWA.

Vicar-General Rothier Summoned—Aberdeen's Reply to St. George's Society.

OTTAWA, Jan. 18.—Vicar-General Routhier was yesterday served by Mr. Flavien Moffat with an order from Judge Mosgrove to appear before him at the court house on Monday in the Freigon-Lavelle case. Flavien Moffat is fighting against intervention received in school matters from the Bishop's palace.

The will of the late Alonzo Wright, ex-M.P., leaves all his property, moveable and immoveable, to his widow. The amount is not specified.

Mr. Irwin, secretary of the Board of Trade, Galt, accompanied a deputation from that town yesterday and had an interview with the Postmaster-General to urge certain changes in the mail service between Dundas, Rockton, Sheffield and Galt. Sir Adolphe received the deputation and promised that the matter should receive consideration.

The Minister of Trade and Commerce has received a letter from Mr. James Inglis, president of the Chamber of Commerce, Sydney, New South Wales, in which he states that he is about leaving Australia for London on business for the Sydney Board of Trade, and that he proposes to do so by way of Canada in order to see the country and judge for himself what the chances of doing business are. This is an instance of the benefit of the new steamship line, as up to a short time ago all such visits had to be made either by way of San Francisco or the Suez Canal.

St. George's Society yesterday presented the Earl of Aberdeen with a complimentary address. His Excellency, in reply, noted the loyal sentiments expressed towards the Queen, Canada and the Mother Country, and expressed his satisfaction at this three-fold sentiment, in which there was of course absolute harmony. He said some had misgivings on the score that the commemoration and maintenance of nationalities would hinder the process of the fusion of the various races of which our community is composed, but he had not any great misgivings on that score. He referred to the legend of St. George, and said there were still dragons to overcome and St. George's men still needed to carry on the fight. His Excellency also mentioned the charitable work of the society.

Two new pictures have been hung in the Cabinet Chamber lately. They are representations of Christ in the temple after the feast of the passover, answering and asking questions of the doctors and learned men, and Christ bidding the rich young man sell his goods and give them to the poor. The work is by Herbert Clark, and both pictures are life-like and artistic, especially the first mentioned.

The case against Noel Ladouceur, the hackman charged with bringing a girl to a house of questionable repute, was yesterday adjourned for two weeks, $400 bail being accepted.

Helmuth Navodzky, a German musician belonging to the Duff Opera Company, who attempted suicide in the Palace hotel on Tuesday, was before Magistrate Ogara yesterday and remanded for a week. He pleaded guilty to the charge and said that depression of spirits prompted him to do the dead.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deleterious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and though its action is thorough in cases of costiveness it never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowels like a violent purgative. It invigorates the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney disease scrofulous and all diseases of the blood female weakness, &c. &c Price $1.00 Sample bottle 10 cents. EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Ottawa Citizen, the Conservative organ of that city, approves of Sir Oliver Mowat's position with regard to the election of officials. It thinks the adoption of such a system would be a retrograde step. This is undoubtedly the concensus of opinion in Ontario.

Another Canadian industry, the Wilkinson Plow company, of Toronto, has gone to the wall. This industry flourished under a revenue tariff, but under protection has failed. So have a dozen others the past few months. The protective system not only robs the consumers, but seems to be losing the power to benefit even the few supposed beneficiaries.

The address given by Sir. Oliver Mowat in Toronto the other evening should be read by everyone who desires to have an intelligent understanding of the question of the day. He dealt in a courteous manner with the P. I. and the P. P. A. but did not beat around the bush in respect to any question he undertook to discuss. His remarks on the appointment or election of officials and on the fee system are well worthy of consideration, for they showed that the Government did not act without good reason in continuing the present system up to the present time.

Multum in Parvo

"Much in little" this sentence means. It has almost become a proverb, because the expression can be used in so many instances. In no instance, however, can this saying be used with greater propriety than in speaking of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. There is indeed much in a little vial of them—there is a cure for many a headache—relief from dyspepsia, billousness, constipation, colic and piles and restoration to health and happiness. Much tood in little space.

A FINE WORK

Which Should be in Every Family

The revised edition of the Practical Home Physician and Encyclopedia of Medicine is beyond all comparison superior to any other book of the kind. It is the work of seven of the most eminent specialists in the world, and each one contributes of the fulness of his knowledge and experience in the diagnosis and treatment of the class of diseases to which he has devoted his attention. The book is free from technical terms and phrases and is written in plain English. It gives the history, cause, symptoms and means of prevention of diseases of men, women and children, together with the most approved methods of treatment and plain instructions for the care of the sick also full and accurate directions for treating wounds injuries, poison, etc. It is difficult to overestimate the value of such a work as this in the household, and when judiciously used will pay for itself tenfold in the saving of doctors' bills. In case of serious illness everyone needs a physician. But there are scores of lesser ills which each one can as well treat himself and in this work they have the advantage of the skill and prescriptions of the ablest physicians in the world free of charge. One gentleman in Belleville said that year before last he paid out $60 in doctor's bills. Last year, by the aid of this book he doctored himself with better effect and so saved his $60. Therefore this book cannot be classed as a luxury but a necessity. Unlike other medical works, the chief object of which is to advertise some patent medicine, it is highly recommended by the leading physicians of the continent. such as Sir James Grant, M. D., M. P., and Dr. Wright, Ottawa, and the professors of the leading Medical colleges in this country and the States. The work is revised down to 1893, so contains the very latest discoveries in therapeutics The revised edition has an index of symptoms, the most valuable feature ever published for the diagnosis of diseases. It contains the celebrated prescription for indigestion first given by Sir Andrew Clark to Sir John A. Macdonald. This is undoubtedly the best perscription for this common disease ever written and is alone well worth the price of the book to anyone suffering from indigestion. It has also the best article on "la grippe" ever written, and this also makes the book of special value to the hundreds of families in Belleville and vicinity suffering from this epidemic. Valuable perscriptions are given for every known disease, all written in plain English. The book contains over 1300 pages of printed reading matter, 30 magnificent full page colored plates, two life like manikins in colors and several hundred other engravings. This splendid work is published by the World Publishing Co., Guelph. This company's courteous representative, Mr. Mack, is now in Belleville taking orders for the book, and every family should have one, as it will more than pay for itself every year.

Still Another Triumph.—Mr. Thomas S. Bullen, Sunderland, writes: "For fourteen years I was afflicted with piles; and frequently I was unable to walk or sit, but four years ago I was cured by using DR. THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL. I have also been subject to quinsy for over forty years, but Electric Oil cured it, and it was a permanent cure in both cases, as neither the piles nor quinsy have troubled me since."

Catarrh in the Head

Is undoubtedly a disease of the blood, and as such only a reliable blood purifier can effect a perfect and permanent cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier, and it has cured many very severe cases of catarrh. Catarrh oftentimes leads to consumption. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla before it is to late.

Cottolene

A SHORTENING.

Down the street through the busy way
A lady passed on marketing day.
Who, pausing at a grocery store,
Stepped quickly in at the open door.
With bated breath and anxious mien
She queried: "have you COTTOLENE?"

The grocer, leaving off his work,
Interrogated every clerk;
But none up to that time had seen
An article called "COTTOLENE."

"What is it?" said he to the dame,
"That answers to this curious name.
What is it made of? What's its use?
My ignorance you'll please excuse."

"You're not the merchant for my dimes,
I see you're quite behind the times.
For COTTOLENE, I'd have you know,
Is now the thing that's all the go,
An article of high regard;
A healthful substitute for lard.
Its composition pure and clean;
For cooking give me COTTOLENE."

As from his store the lady fled,
The grocer gently scratched his head—
On his next order, first was seen,
"One dozen cases COTTOLENE."

Ask Your Grocer for it.

Untold Misery—What a Well Known Commercial Traveller Suffered and How he was Cured

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & CO. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle o Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confidence that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery believing that one persistent use of it will cure dyspepsia.

High license is to reduce peddlars at St. Paul.

Cleanliness, care and courage are the resources of civilization against cholera. Keep the blood scrupulously clean. Eat hot food. Take Burdock Blood Bitters to maintain regular digestion and ensure pure blood which is the very best safeguard against cholera or any other epidemic.

The world uses 6,000,000 tons of sugar a year.

Very Valuable

Having used B B B for biliousness and orpid liver with the very best results, I would recommend it to all those troubled. The medicine is worth its weight in gold.

The Ways and Means Committee Receives Its First Set Back.

A YOUTH'S HEROIC RESCUE.

The Chief of Coney Island Escapes from Death — Franklin Trades Schools —Thirty Italians Injured — Stock Dealer's Tragic Death.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The vote in the House yesterday, by which the free wool clause was passed, was about evenly divided between the Democrats and Republicans. It was the first set-back the committee has received. The committee amendment fixed August 1 as the date when the free wool clause should become operative. The substitute submitted by Mr. Johnson, of Ohio, made wool free from the date of signing of the bill. All the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee, including Mr. Bryan, of Nebraska, who is a practical free trader, opposed the substitute. Mr. Dewitt Warner, of New York, who is also a free trader, was another Democrat who stood with the committee. Mr. Warner subsequently said that the adoption of the substitute would temporarily paralyze the woollen trade in that it left the date indefinite when wool shall come in free.

The majority of the Committee on Ways and Means has decided to make the rate on barley 35 per cent. ad valorem, instead of 20, as in the tariff bill reported. The rate on barley malt will probably be fixed at the same figure.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Secretary Carlisle yesterday issued a circular offering for public subscription an issue of bonds of the United States to the amount of fifty millions, in either registered or coupon form, in denominations of $50 and upwards redeemable in coin at the pleasure of the Government after ten years from date of their issue and bearing interest payable quarterly in coin at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum. No proposal at a lower price than 117.223, which is the equivalent of a 3 per cent. bond at par will be considered. Bonds will be dated February 1. The action of Secretary Carlisle in announcing a bond issue was not generally known even in treasury circles when the Department closed. Among officials who were cognizant of his intention the opinion was expressed that he acted none too soon. Treasury gold is rapidly on the decline. The loss yesterday was $862,000, and since the first of the month the gold balance has declined from $80,891,000 to $70,834,915 with the indication that it will fall below seventy million to-day.

After an interesting discussion of civil service reform the Senate resumed as "the unfinished business" the House bill to repeal the Federal election laws. The bill went over without any action.

The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, which is investigating Hawaiian affairs, resumed its work yesterday, the only witness being Lieutenant Commander Swinburne. He gave testimony in common with other naval officers concerning the importance of the Hawaiian Islands from a commercial and strategic point of view and detailed the events attending the revolution.

JOHN Y. M'KANE'S ESCAPE.

The Chief of Coney Island Comes Near Losing His Life.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 18.—John Y. McKane, the big chief of Coney Island, who is battling in the courts against indictments in connection with election frauds at Gravesend, and who is fighting for supremacy in the Kings County Board of Supervisors, came near losing his life by fire here on Tuesday night.

He and his counsel, George W. Roderick, and Henry D. Southard had been in his office, when he went across a bridge connecting the two buildings and entered a toilet room in the latter building. Just as he stepped into the room he was enveloped in a dense volume of smoke. Tongues of flame darted from the walls. The door of the room, which closes automatically, had shut before he realized his danger, and, gasping in the blinding, stifling smoke, he groped about for the knob. He was almost overcome when he found it, opened the door and staggered out on the bridge, leaning across the guard-rail to catch his breath. He was unable to make an outcry, but recovered sufficiently to totter to his office.

Franklin Trades Schools.

BOSTON, Jan. 18.—Yesterday (anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin) Mr. Samuel McCleary, the treasurer of the Franklin fund, paid to the city treasurer of Boston $329,300 for the purposes of erecting and equipping of a Franklin trades school in this city, which disposition of the fund was recently determined upon by the trustees under Franklin's will.

Trains Fall Through a Trestle.

FAIRVIEW, N.J., Jan. 18.—A construction train on the Northern railway of New Jersey, was wrecked at a trestle near this place yesterday. The train went through a temporary trestle near this place, falling on 20 or 30 Italians who were at work on the trestle. One of the men was crushed to death, and nearly every one of the others were injured, some fatally.

Stock Dealer's Tragic Death.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 18.—Marion Dunbar, the well-known dealer in fast stock, met a tragic death yesterday in a runaway accident. He was exercising his fleet pacer Dandy Dunbar when the beast became unmanageable and ran away. While Dandy was going at a lightning gait the sulky overturned and Mr. Dunbar was thrown out, alighting on his head. His neck was broken and death was instantaneous.

Brave Deed of a Boy.

CARSON, Nev., Jan. 18.—Three children while playing on the ice on the Carson river at Brunswick mill on Tuesday, broke through, and three playmates, who tried to rescue them, went in also. Johnny Crowe, 14 years old, jumped in, rescuing five, the other going under the ice. He dived after the child, swimming 40 feet under the ice. When he came up with it he was nearly exhausted.

Another Railroad Crash.

CHESTER, S.C., Jan. 18.—The limited train, No. 35, from New York to Florida, on the Richmond and Danville railroad, was run into by a Georgia, Carolina and Northern train at the crossing here yesterday. The Pullman sleeper contained ten passengers, five of whom were hurt. The company's surgeon says none of the passengers were seriously hurt.

TUPPER AT WOLVERHAMPTON.

The High Commissioner Speaks on the Unity of the Empire.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian High Commissioner in London, in speaking in Wolverhampton last night, emphasized the mutual necessity that Great Britain and her colonies should preserve the unity of the Empire. Separation of the colonies would diminish materially the empire's greatness, he said, and would cause the colonies to suffer in many ways, notably by loss of prestige and the protection of the British flag. If Great Britain's present policy toward Canada had been adopted in the last century toward the American colonies, the American union might now be the bright star of the empire.

To Visit Mr. Gladstone.

MADRID, Jan. 18.—The town of San Sebastian, the well-known watering place in Northern Spain, will send a deputation to Biarritz, France, to visit Mr. Gladstone, who is sojourning at the latter place. Biarritz is but a short distance across the Spanish frontier from San Sebastian.

GALLANT ATTEMPT AT RESCUE.

Seven Sailors Go to the Assistance of a Schooner—All But One Drowned.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The Dutch steamer Amsterdam, Capt. Stenger, from Rotterdam, January 4, which arrived yesterday, lost her chief officer, J. Meyer, and five men by the capsizing of her port lifeboat while proceeding to the assistance of the crew of the schooner Maggie E. Wells, of the Gloucester fishing fleet, which was in a sinking condition. Only one seaman, an expert swimmer, escaped.

The captain of the Amsterdam, in telling the story of the attempted rescue, said that when he noticed the condition of the schooner he called his crew on deck and told them the position in which the steamer was. Immediately the first officer and six of the crew offered to man a boat and go to the rescue. Everything went all right until they reached the vicinity of the wreck, when a sudden snow squall capsized the boat, with the result that three of the crew disappeared immediately and the remaining four succeeded in taking hold of the capsized boat. He went at once to their assistance and succeeded in getting the capsized boat alongside, but it appeared that the remaining four men were thoroughly exhausted by the cold and in consequence were not able to take hold of the life-saving apparatus which was given to them, and they were drowned with the exception of one sailor, who by his extraordinary presence of mind and calm behavior got hold of a rope and was taken on board. Another crew presented themselves to man a second boat, but owing to the increasing wind and sea he objected and concluded to wait for better weather and a calm sea. The schooner was being tossed violently about by the heavy seas and every wave swept the deck from stem to stern. The crew were tied to the masts and spars.

AFRAID OF THE C. P. R.

Dissatisfied Amertcan Railroad Magnates at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The managers of American railways are here in great numbers, representing many trunk lines in all sections of the country. The object of the conference is two-fold. First, they want to have placed in the Tariff bill a clause providing for the imposing of a specific customs duty on all cars passing from Canadian roads into the United States. The Treasury Department about four years ago made a ruling that all cars should come to this country free upon the ground that cars from American roads were allowed to enter the Dominion free. Managers of American roads claim that under the Interstate Commerce Law the Canadian Pacific road is securing too much traffic at low rates, especially from the Northwest, destined to the Atlantic seaboard. They believe if they can get a customs duty laid upon cars from Canadian roads, they can better compete with the Canadian Pacific system.

The second object of the meeting is to have, if possible, the inter-state commerce law so amended as to permit the formation of pools throughout the entire country divided of course into districts, which will, they believe, shut out much formidable competition from the Canadian roads. The managers of the northern system of American roads claim that much money has been lost by not being able to compete with the Canadian system, and as a result many lines have been forced into the hands of receivers. Upon this theory the most formidable effort made since the passage of the inter-state commerce law in 1887 is now to be made to have the law amended to the liking of American managers.

Death at Masonic Ceremonies.

DETROIT, Jan. 18.—The cathedral of the Michigan Sovereign Consistory 32nd degree Masons was the scene of an incident last night not often seen in Masonic circles. While the degree of Prince of Jerusalem sixteenth degree was being worked, William H. Roothoyd, for 40 years a prominent book publisher and dealer here, started to cross the floor. He had taken less than a dozen steps when he tottered and fell. Two doctors were by his side in ten seconds, but he was dead of valvular rheumatism of the heart. The work was immediately called off and the silent watch of the dead begun. Before the body was removed from the cathedral a solemn service for the dead was held.

"For eight years, I was, most of the time, a great sufferer from constipation, kidney trouble, and indigestion, so that my constitution seemed to be completely broken down. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and took nearly seven bottles, with such excellent results that my stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in perfect condition, and, in all their functions, as regular as clock-work. At the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my weight was only 129 pounds; I now can brag of 159 pounds, and was never in so good health. THE ANTWERP EXHIBITION

To Be of Greater Commercial Importance Than the World's Fair.

The world's bazaar. This is the title Antwerp might properly be bestowed upon "the Indies," celebrated in the olden times as the map of Europe in a single city." If we scan devoted more than any other search of the city tan trade; a city not so much of palaces, of pleasures or of art, as of commerce, a city not of one country, but of the world, we must pass by London and Paris, Vienna and Berlin, and settle upon Antwerp as the city best filling these requirements. Antwerp is, in the first place, the great commercial emporium for all north-western Europe. Its neutrality has been solemnly guaranteed by the great powers, which gives it an advantage over any port in Germany or France for the establishment of branches of foreign mercantile houses As in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries the Hanseatic League and merchants from London, Bruges, Nuremberg, Paris and Genoa establishes "factories" and warehouses, so the chief commercial cities of the world are doing at the present day.

The countless products of our country which could be profitably introduced there offer a wide range, and one that offers opportunities for the agriculturist as well as the manufacturer.

For purposes of commerce, with Antwerp as the depot and centre, the requirements of the Belgian market are not alone to be considered, but those of northwestern and central Europe, of which Antwerp is the great port and market. Nearly all the trade of northern France pours into her lap, a great portion of that of the Netherlands and western Germany, and even from the Rhine valley and northern Switzerland. If we take a bird's-eye view of the country within a day's journey of Antwerp we find that it includes two hundred busy cities, and a population of 100,000,000 of the most industrious and intelligent people of Europe. Tools and machinery, chemicals, etc., introduced in Antwerp would be quick to find their way to the factories, shops, metal works and mines in western Europe.

In a still wider sense, like Nuremberg of old, Antwerp's hand goes through every land. The merchants of every land congregate in her markets, and her ships are upon every sea. Australia and the Argentine send her wool; the pampas of the La Plata send her beef; the Cape of Good Hope sends diamonds for the lapidaries to cut; the new inter-African empire of the Congo sends ivory and woods and drugs, and her people, as Stanley predicted, are already furnishing a market for cotton fabrics and iron goods. The east sends her wealth of drugs and spices, of teas and coffee, metal wares and gorgeous fabrics.

To the scholar and the tourist Antwerp is no less interesting than to the merchant. The archæologist must pay his respects to the city which is said to have arisen from the marshy banks of the Scheldt two centuries before the Trojan war; the historian must visit the city so closely associated with Godfrey of Boulogne, Count of Antwerp and King of Jerusalem, with Philip II., William of Orange and the great struggle against Spanish tyranny. The soldier, too, must wish to study the scene of the two famous sieges of Antwerp, of the Duke of Anjou's attempt upon the city, of Napoleon's fortifications and of the modern works, scarcely less formidable, it is said, than those of Paris.

The location of the exhibition, the buildings of which are already completed and ready for installation, is in the southern portion of the city near the railway station and the Place du Peuple. It is, in fact, in the heart of the city.

All things considered, Canadians have reason to wish well of the Antwerp exposition and to give every aid and encouragement to those who go from this country to uphold the honor and reputation of our products across the sea.

Edison's Challenge.

Mr. Edison has challenged the skeptical to name one substance, organic or inorganic, which is not to be found in his laboratory. Every department of nature has yielded its tribute to the potent wizard. The bones of birds and animals, feathers, hides, teeth and horns, shining metals, lucent crystals, variegated minerals lie scattered in profusion; dainty shells and coral repose among mosses and seaweed; fragrant gums and spices recall memories of the fair Babe of Bethlehem. Chalks, resins, salts and chemicals are heaped about in levish plenitude. The collection embraces not only raw products, but specimens of nearly every human industry.

The Missing Link.

The monkey's intelligence has never been able to arrive at a point which enables the animal to achieve the untying of a knot. You may see a monkey with a cord fastened with the simplest form of common knot, and unless the beast can break the string or gnaw it in two he will never get loose. To untie a knot requires observation and reasoning power, and though a monkey may possess both, he has neither in a sufficient degree to enable him to overcome the difficulty.

EX-MAYOR'S BANQUET

A BOUNTIFUL FEAST ELOQUENT SPEECHES AND STIRRING SONGS

Municipal Provincial and Dominion Politics Discussed—Reductions of Salaries Denounced

Last evening ex-Mayor Wallbridge brought his term of office to a fitting close by the banquet he gave to the old council and a number of other leading citizens at the Anglo American. These Mayor's dinners are coming to be looked forward to as an annual event of unusual and growing interest and importance, last night's banquet being probably the most brilliant yet given by any retiring mayor. The bill of fare provided by mine host Coyle was one of the best ever seen in the city and did him infinite credit, the tables being loaded with every delicacy almost that could be imagined; and it is needless to say that all present did ample justice to the occasion.

After all the guests had filled themselves to repletion the toast list was entered upon and speech and song filled the hours till three o'clock in the morning. Ex-Mayor Wallbridge presided with rare grace and tact. On his right sat H. Corby, M.P. and Mayor Walmsley, and on his left W. H. Biggar, M.P.P., and J. J. B. Flint, P. M. The other guests were: Alds. Collins, Luscombe, LaRoche, Graham, Haight, Wills, Ponton, Diamond, Doyle and Robinson; ex-ald. Taylor, Wensley, Grills, Lingham, O'Flynn, Anderson, J. W. Johnson and L. W. Yeomans; ex-Mayor Bogart; and Messrs. Geo. Wallbridge, S. Burrows, Chief Newton, M. Brady, Carl Strom, W. B. Robinson, A, E. Fish, J. Brasier, J. Kain, S. E. Lennox, C. Stringer, Dr. Farley, City Clerk D. B. Robertson, R. C. Hulme, M. M. Thompson, J. Cummins, City Solicitor L. H. Henderson.

"The Queen was the first toast and was drunk right loyally. followed by "God save the Queen."

"The Dominion Parliament and Provincial Legislature" was then drunk.

H. Corby, M. P., who was received with hearty applause, first responded. He warmly complimented ex-mayor Wall on the success of his labors on behalf of the city, and he believed that both Mayor and Council for 1893 tried to do their duty to the best of their ability. Turning to the subject of the toast he said that the Ontario government had accomplished very much for the benefit of the Province, They had built colonization roads, subsidized railways, and spent a large amount in the erection of useful public works throught the Province. One of these Institutions is here, and though a Conservative he was bound to say that this institution is a credit to the Province and that it is the best managed Institution in the Dominion of Canada under the able control of Mr. Mathison and his able staff. As regards the Dominion Parliament all must admit that they had done many good things for Canada, among which was the construction of the C. P. R. and the Sault Ste. Marie canal. He would like to see a 20 foot canal system from Superior to the ocean. He also favored subsiding a line of fast Atlantic steamers, and was willing to stand up and vote a million dollars for this purpose.

W. H. Biggar, M. P. P. who was greeted with loud applause, next responded. After endorsing Mr. Corby's compliments to the ex-mayor Mr. Biggar discussed municipal politics for a short time. He referred to the cutting down of salaries, an act he strongly opposed. He paid a good deal of taxes but he would rather pay 2 mills more on the dollar than see honest efficient officials cut down and so long as he lived in Belleville he wanted to see the officials paid good salaries. He next referred to the Gas Co, in regard to which he said their was a wrong impression. He did not think it would be to the interest of the city to have a rival company here for then neither could succeed. He had stock in the company which he bought at par, on which he gets a dividend of 4 per cent, and which he would sell at 50 cents on the dollar. The city also has an interest in the company. It bought 25,000 of stock for $12,000, so is getting 8 per cent on its investment, and so long as it got that he thought the stock should be retained. The present company gave a good service and those who put their money into it and gave the city the service should have their rights protected. Reverting to provincial politics he said that as Mr. Corby had been so good as to praise Sir Oliver Mowat he (the speaker) did not need to do so. He believed Sir Oliver had done his duty honestly to the province. He then referred to the state of uncertainty politicians are now in. There are now five or six parties and no one knows who will rule Canada or Ontario next. Both the old parties, the P. I, the P. P. A. and the Prohibitionists are striving for the mastery, and who will win no one can tell. Referring to the election or appointment of officials he said that he favored the present system. The experience of the States should warn them against the system of electing officials, which, if once begun, would soon extend to the judges also Nor did he think that appointing by the councils would be wise. The time was when the policemen were appointed by the city council, and then a policeman was afraid to arrest a man lest he offend an alderman who would move for his dismissal. The Ontario government as fully represent the people as do the councils and if they do not do their duty they can be dismissed.

Mr. S. Burrows then sang with his usual vim and ardor "The Union Jack," all present joining in the stirring chorus.

"Our country" was then proposed and drunk with enthusiasm.

Ex-Mayor Bogart responded first in an eloquent speech eulogistic of the greatness and glory of Canada.

Mr. Flint followed in one of his unusually splendid ortorical efforts. The compliment he paid ex-Mayor Wallbridge was a most graceful and eulogistic one. He then spoke of the awards won by Canada at the World's Fair. In cattle, Canada won one-fifth of all the prize money. In fruit, Ontario got 30 per cent. more awards than any other country or state in the world. In swine, Canada took one-third as many as all of the United States, and in sheep, Canada took $7580 in prizes to the United States $7,833. He then spoke of the C. P. R. and Ontario's splendid educational system. He denounced the "accursed" American system of electing judges and hoped Canada would not allow the entering of the wedge. No country had better or more honest officials and purer judges than Canada. He then denounced in burning, biting words the efforts of some men and some societies to stir up a war of creeds in Canada, This is a vital question, and any man who would attempt to array creed against creed and man against man and try to produce a religious war and a fratracidal contest, that man is a enemy to his country and an enemy to the religion of Christ, who taught the doctrine of universal brotherhood and of charity to all men,

Mr. Brasier then gave a song, after which "The Mayor and Corporation" was drunk. In proposing this toast Mr. Wallbridge paid a warm compliment to the new mayor.

Mayor Walmsley responded, and spoke hopefully of the future of Belleville, and declared that our educational, religious, social and financial condition are very satisfactory. We turn out 1000 students a year, have 17 churches, 2200 Sunday school children, the Bay of Quinte and beautiful ladies. Moreover Belleville council is the only one that could open its proceedings with a prayer. Other councils had to call in a clergyman to offer prayer. He hoped Belleville would soon have an electric railway. He believed if the city would build the Front St. line they would get 20 per cent dividend on the investment. They also needed connection with the C. P. R., without which it would be difficult to induce industries to locate here.

Ald. Diamond next responded eulogizing the city officials and the police magistrate as the best in the Province. Ald. Doyle also spoke advocating permanent sidewalks.

"Our industrial and commercial industries." Ald. Porton said we had an industrious class of citizens in our city. The industrial committee of the city council would do all it could to further the interests of the city, Belleville was an attractive place for tourists and was easily accessible both by water and railway. We should all be enthusiastic over our city and its surroundings. We want capital and enterprise to develop the means which are at our doors, namely the minerals of which the country abounds. This county is rich in mineral wealth and only waits for development. The council of this year had great opportunities which should be seized upon. He advocated the city building the Front street route of the electric railway. He believed it would be a paying investment.

Mr. J. W. Johnson in speaking to this did not want any Chinese labor. He did not want to see a city clerk here paid only $500 for his services. He believed we stood well, we were not progressing fast, but had made substantial progress. He believed the coming year would be a year of progress. In the U. S. last year bank after bank failed whilst Canada was the most solvent country in the world to-day.

Mr. L. W. Yoemans said each one was alive to the interest of the city and furthering its welfare. If we work unitedly there is no doubt success will be obtained. We should appreciate what we have in Belleville. Nature has favored us with a rich agricultural country. We have enterprising men in our midst. We should be proud of our city, it was handsome and prosperous. What would give our city prominence the coming year, especially as Lord Aberdeen and Lady Aberdeen intended to visit our city, would be to be to make it a special occasion. We should prepared to make some special effort to entertain them.

Song by ex-Ald. O'Flynn with guitar accompaniment.

"Our Harbor Commissioners," replied to by Mr. George Walbridge and Ald. Collins.

"The Ladies," the city clerk, D. B. Robertson responded to the toast appropriately and sang "Maggie's by my side."

"The Press," replied to by H. Austin of the Intelligencer and P. Harrison of the Ontario

Miss Hext at the Queen's Opera House to-mcrrow.

John St Church Association

The gentlemen of the above association entertained a large gathering of their lady friends to a very enjoyable oyster supper on Monday evening last. The supper which was under the entire supervision of the gentlemen headed by that genial caterer Fleming, was a very sumptuous affair and was conceded by the ladies to be equal in every respect to any of their best efforts. After supper a most delightful program of music and recitations was participated in by the following ladies and gentlemen: Miss Ethel Coleman song, Miss Jessie Brignall, recitation; Miss Blanche Lazier, violin solo; Mr Frank Lewis, song; Harris Bros., trio, piano, violin and cornet; Mr. Dan Young, song; Mr. Harry Bull, piano solo; Mrs. W. H. Campbell, Miss E. Coleman and Messrs. Campbell and Fax, Quartette; Mrs. Howe ably presided as accompanist.

At Grimsby Park last season Miss Hext made a decided hit. Accustomed as the cultured audiences that assemble are to hear the best speakers and elocutionists in the world, to succeed there is to establish at once a national reputation. Rev. John Philip, M. A. who had charge of the season's program there says: "Many were the expressions of approval and appreciation. Her poisings were admirably executed. Her rendering of 'Ben Hur' was the best I have heard, and I have heard many. Her appearance on the platform is that of grace, and her character that of a true lady. I predict for her a great sucsess." At the Queen's Opera House Friday evening.

Not Less Than Cost

The public should think twice in buying any kind of goods. Does it seem reasonable that a firm can sell goods below cost? And yet we find lots of stores advertising just such bosh. The Oak Hall are prepared to give better value in clothing than can be had from any firm in Belleville, but we do not pretend to sell goods for less than we pay for them.

The continual succession of boils, pimples and eruptions from which many suffer, indicates an impure state of the blood. The most effective remedy is Ayers Sarsaparilla. It expels the poison harmlessley through the natural channels, and leaves the skin clean and clear.

First Event

Dr. Gibson will give an address on hygiene in the Young Men's Christian Association rooms on Friday evening. This will be the first of a series of popular talks to be given under their auspices. The friends of the young men are invited for this opening number.

Provide yourself with a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and so have the means at hand for contending successfully with a sudden cold. As an emergency medicine, it has no equal, and leading physicians everywhere recommended it.

Ask Your Friends

Who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla what they think of it and the replies will be positive in its favor. Simply what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, tells the story of its merit. One has been cured of indigestion or dyspepsia, another finds it indispensable for sick headache or biliousness, while others report remarkable cures of scrofula, catarrh, rheumatism, salt rheum, etc.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetoble.

AMERICAN FLO[illegible]

[illegible] of a Return of the Fore[illegible]

Little Pr[illegible] Large Demand

In answer to the wheat flour circular of the State Department, M. J. Hendricks, U. S. Consul at Belleville, Ontario, sends the following:

Previous to 1866 probably fifty to sixty per cent of the flour used here was of American manufacture, but the abrogation of the reciprocity cut this trade off. The vessels would load with lumber or other Canadian products for Oswego or other American ports and return laden with American flour. Since that time, however, they have built larger and better mills with modern machinery, and we could hardly expect under any circumstances to furnish as large a percentage of flour used as before. One miller, Mr. Clark Smith of Campbellford, Ontario, has lately purchased two carloads of hard spring wheat in Chicago as an experiment. It cost him, laid down at his mill, about the same as Manitoba wheat, (including the duty), but he says the result was unsatisfactory, as the flour was not as good color as that made from Manitoba wheat, nor was it as strong a flour, The freight charges were in favor of the American wheat.

"It is the opinion of a majority of the large dealers that were the same conditions existing as previous to 1835 our trade in flour with this district would be to a large extent regained and in this opinion I concur."—New York Journal of Commerce of Jan 10th.

Its Excellent Qualities

commend to public approval the California liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs. It is pleasing to the eye, and to the taste and by gently acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels. it cleanses the system effectually thereby promoting the health and comfort of all who use it.

Lovers of the elocutionary art will on Friday night have a rare opportunity for the gratification of their tastes. Miss Hext has been trained by the best masters of elocution in America and now occupies today a position in the very first ranks of the art. Wherever she has appeared she has been greeted with large and delighted audiences, and the press is unanimous in her praise. Her programme is sufficiently varied to please all tastes, the humorous, the pathetic and tragic being represented. She will be assisted by Mr. J. N. Doyle, one of Belleville's favorite soloists, who will give several songs during the evening.

EX-M P P BOULTER DEAD

Brief Sketch of his Life and Career

STIRLING, Ont., Jan. 18.—Dr. G. H. Boulter, ex-M.P.P. died at his residence at seven this a.m from congestion of the lungs. The doctor has long been a resident of Stirling and one of its most useful and influential citizens. He represented North Hastings in the Ontario Legislature for 16 years, is a Conservative, also was warden of the county and has filled every office of trust in the gift of the people. He was associated with the educational interests of the village and county for thirty years. At his death he held the important position of Lieut-Colonel of the 49 Batt. of the Hastings Rifles and has been associated with its interests for twenty seven years. He was a man of whom we may say to know was to admire and respect. Stirling has in his removal by death suffered a severe loss. He graduated at McGill college in 1852. He was a decendant of the U. E. Loyalists, and was born in Sophiasburg, Prince Edward county.

Accused of Larceny.

Charles Sofa of Tweed was brought before County Judge Lazier this morning charged with larceny. It is alleged that on the 8th of Sept. 1892, Joseph Kincaid of Tweed was relieved of a gold watch, and that Sofa took it and traded it for a horse and two bags of potatoes. Witnesses for the crown were examined, when the case was adjourned until Friday the 26th in order to get witnesses for the defence. Mr. Geo E Henderson, Q C, conducted the prosecution whilst Mr. C.D. Macauley defended the prisoner.

A SHARP TRICK

Three Business Men Mulcted for a Small Amount

At about 10.30 yesterday a young man entered Mr. J. F. Sierichs store on Moira street near the upper bridge, and asked Miss Sierichs, who came forward to wait on him, for $1.25. He said her father had purchased some candies to that amount from him, but had not paid him. He said Mr Sierichs would bring the goods with him. The young lady gave the man the money and he departed. Upon Mr. Sierichs arrival home the matter was reported to him when it was found that he had not purchased the candies neither had he seen the man who procured the money.

The second place he appears to have visited was Mr. L. W. Yoemans' drug store. He stated that Mr. John Fleming, who keeps a confectionery store near by had sent him for a sponge and some chamios leather, The clerk gave him a good sponge and some chamois to the value of about $1.25. It transpired that this was a bogus affair and that Mr. Fleming's name had been used without his authority.

The third place the man visited was a store on Front street. When the clerk came to wait upon him he said the proprietor had sent him with a sponge and the chamois leather from Mr Clarke's drug store and that he was to collect $1.25. The clerk, believing what the man said was the truth, gave him the money. He had scarcely gone out of the store when the proprietor entered and was told the circumstance. The clerk was surprised when told by him that he had not ordered the goods, The clerk went out and found the man who upon being cornered gave up the $1.25 and made a hasty retreat.

He is described as a young man about 24 years of age, about 6 feet in height full face, having no whiskers or moustache,

The Cadet's Picnic.

Last evening the old Rip Van Winkle Club met in the Institute rooms and reorganized for the season under the title of "The Daisy Lyric Club." The following officers were elected: General manager, J N Doyle; president, W C McLean; vice-president, Miss Kelso; treasurer, W Reid; sec, W Mills; com, Misses Coleman, Ponton and Lingham. and J Doyle and J Macdonald. It was decided to put the "Cadet's Picnic" on the boards about Easter. This is one of the best light operas and will no doubt prove a great success.

ECONOMY

Economy is the order of the day, and if we were only as economical when business is good as we are when times are dull, we would not feel the hard times as much as we all do but everyone now is practising economy, and that means they buy only goods that are needed, and at the lowest prices. We meet the economical person right at that point—prices. Rather than do no business we sell—very close to cost.

WHIP AND SPUR.

Alix's first mile in 1893 was trotted June 8, and she went in 3:00.

Directum will soon be returned to his owner, John Green of Dublin, Cal.

The Independence (Ia.) association has opened 25 stakes of $2,000 each for their 1894 meetings.

The fastest Virginia bred trotter is the gray gelding Charley C, [illegible].

According to an exchange but six campaigners earned $10,000 or over during 1893.

Trotters that can trot, pacers that can pace and roadsters that can road are what you want to breed.

In campaigning horses, it is not what is earned, but what is saved, that determines the breeder's prosperity.

There are 23 trotters in the 2:10 list, and 18 of the records were taken by aid of the bicycle sulky.

But two members of last year's 2:10 list reduced their record in 1893. They are Alix, 2:07¾, and Nelson, 2:09.

Mr. Jones, owner of Alix, says that he has timed her a quarter in 29 seconds.

The Canadian mare, Dolly C, 2:19½, by General Stanton, won 14 out of 18 races and was unplaced but once the past season.

Without good blood and straight breeding, a horse will be worth more as a gelding than as a stallion.

Good judges estimate that the use of a blanket will save about one-third in feed, as the animal does not have to eat so much to keep warm.

There are already a number of horses in the field who are going to "take a shy at the 2:00 mark next season."

Hal Pointer, 2:04½, has won $41,475 in races, has won 110 heats and lost but 38, and the average time of the 110 heats is 2:14 12-25.

Since Flora Temple's day, with but a few exceptions, each of the champion trotting records has been made against time.—Turf, Field and Farm.

10,000 VERSUS 100

Two business college men, one of whom is a graduate of an American business college, and the other an EX-PURSER of a lake boat, who run a business college in a few rented rooms in the top flat of a building, without fire escapes, have been greatly worried for some time past about American text books, and regarding which they have been advertising untrue statements. These men also advertise they are the author of a text book on bookkeeping, which they say is "the most widely circulated work on bookkeeping in the English language." Now, if by buying a book a man can lawfully claim to be its author—they are correct. And if by sending a book by a western route and another by an eastern route to a friend in Australia a man can truthfully say the book is "the most widely circulated in the English language"—they are correct.

The FACT is, that for every 100 students who have used the "MOST WIDELY" over 10,000 have used the bookkeeping taught at the Belleville Business College.

THE POISONING CASE.

Hooper's Counsel Makes a Strong Appeal to the Jury.

THE END IS NEAR AT HAND.

Conductor Robitaille's Evidence Torn to Pieces by the Counsel, Who Claimed He Was Over-Anxious to Convict the Prisoner.

JOLIETTE, Jan. 19.—Haggard and broken down John R. Hooper walked slowly into the dock yesterday. He sat down with his head [illegible] on his left elbow, turned toward the jury to listen to the address of his counsel, Mr. J. N. Greenshields, Q.C. He began by declaring that the charge against the prisoner was one of murder and the penalty death. Then he dealt with the danger of circumstantial evidence, and cited cases in which it had been the means of convicting an innocent person. Much had been made by the Crown out of the Louiseville affair, which had no connection whatever with the crime as charged in the indictment. His act as soon as he got on the train after his wife down there was the most natural one. He gave the conductor telegrams to send all over the line to set everyone on the lookout for the woman.

Then the evidence of Conductor Robitaille was dissected by the learned counsel who insisted that he had been over-anxious to convict the prisoner and had told of things which really never occurred. The story told by Dixon, the baggageman, whose business was all the time in the very car that accused and his wife occupied, was more likely to be credible.

The Crown had three things to prove. First, that the prisoner had administered poison to his wife; second, that the symptoms before and after death were those of prussic acid, and that alone, and third, that the poison was found in the body of deceased. They had proved none of these. The medical evidence had shown that there was another form of death besides poisoning which the symptoms indicated, and that was fatty degeneration of the heart, hastened by an epileptic fit. The defence were content with this, but they had gone further and experimented upon dogs.

During his counsel's address the prisoner was very much affected, and wept freely.

Mr. MacMaster delivered his address for the Crown in the afternoon. He was immediately followed by Mr. C. A. Cornellier, who finished at 6.30 o'clock. The judge will deliver his charge to-day, which is expected will be against the prisoner. It is expected the case will be finished this evening.

THE WILLIAMS MURDER CASE.

Preliminary Investigation Fails to Connect MacWherrell With the Murder.

BRAMPTON, Jan. 19.—The chief topic of conversation in the stores and hotels yesterday was the Williams murder trial, now being held at the court house before the bench of magistrates. The evidence taken yesterday was chiefly in reference to the finding of the bodies, the post mortem examination, and the identity of MacWherrell. Nothing yet has been adduced to connect MacWherrell with the crime and considerable doubt exists as to whether the crime was committed on Thursday or Friday night.

The Crown's theory that the deed was done Thursday received a bad shaking up in the testimony of Mr. Goldthorpe, who swore that the cutter must have been driven out of the yard subsequent to the ice and sleet storm of Friday afternoon and evening, and it was Thursday's storm that broke down the telegraph wires, and the mark of the runner was clearly to be seen as it grazed over the wire, thus proving that the cutter must have been driven away from the Williams homestead sometime after the wire had fallen.

The Crown is trying to prove that the cutter was seen in Toronto on Friday noon. The Toronto evidence will be taken up today and the theory of the Crown more fully developed. It is expected that all the evidence will be in by to-night.

Result of a Quarrel.

HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 19.—About ten days ago an altercation took place at Exploits, Nfld., between Appleton Cleaves, foreman of Phillips lumbering teams, and a man named Cater, bookkeeper for the same gentleman. After quarrelling for some time Cleaves struck Cater, and he picked up a heavy auger and in retaliation struck his opponent two blows on the head with it. Cleaves fell stunned and was taken to his quarters in a half stupefied condition. He lived nearly a week, but it is alleged that the blows he received were the direct cause of his death. An investigation is to be held into the matter. Cleaves was an elderly man and engaged in the lumbering business here for nearly 20 years. He was a native of the State of Maine and was born near Portland.

The Richelieu Navigation Company.

MONTREAL, Jan. 19.—M. Connolly, acting president of the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company, accompanied by L. J. Forget and Alton F. Clerk, stock brokers, left by the Grand Trunk last night for Toronto, where they are to meet Messrs. Everett, Tucker and Moore, of Cleveland, with reference to the changes in the Richelieu Company. Mr. Connolly has decided to take up his residence in Montreal, as has Mr. Tucker, who, it is said, is to be the new general manager of the company.

Sir John Abbott's Estate.

MONTREAL, Jan. 19.—The testamentary executors and trustees of the estate of the late Sir John Abbott have taken a writ of two warrants to force the Bank of Montreal to accept the transfer to third parties of 34 shares of the bank's stock held by the estate. The case is a test one and will have an important bearing. The bank refused to transfer the stock until the tax imposed by the Quebec Legislature on transfers of stock had been paid. The case will come before the Court of Appeal.

Important Changes Asked in Libel Laws.

TORONTO, Jan. 19.—The Executive Committee of the Canadian Press Association waited upon the Ontario Government yesterday. The object was to urge amendments to the libel laws. One demand is that men anxious to sue newspapers for alleged libel shall in every case be obliged to put up security for costs. The Government will consider the matter.

The "Three Young Frenchmen" Fined.

MONTREAL, Jan. 19.—Young Mercier, Pelland and De Martigny, who tried to blow up the Nelson monument, were fined $25 and costs each yesterday.

Hundreds of people write "It is impossible to describe the good Hood's Sarsaparilla has done me." It will be of equal help to you

OTTAWA NOTES.

The Iron and Hardware Men—Agricultural and Implement Diplomas.

OTTAWA, Jan. 19.—Mr. Hersey, of Montreal, who, with several other representatives of the iron and general hardware manufacturing business, is in the city, states that the men in trade are unaware of the course the Government intends pursuing. The iron and hardware men are satisfied with the present tariff and do not want any reduction. "It is for the Government to decide," said Mr. Hersey, "whether reductions are in the interest of the country or not. The reasons for increasing the tariff to the present rates still exist. Politicians are inclined to drift with the popular breeze, you know. Trade with the United States is very dull, and it is natural to suppose that the dullness is due to uncertainty with respect to the tariff, though other causes no doubt contribute to it."

In addition to the iron and hardware manufacturers and knitted goods men representatives of the oil industry and carriage builders are in the city. Mr. Waterman, of London, says the coal oil refiners could not stand any reductions of duty whatever.

J. S. Larke, Dominion Government Commissioner at the World's Fair, returned yesterday from Washington. Mr. Larke was there attending to an appeal which the Government entered against the agricultural implement awards. It appears that six awards of diplomas and bronze medals were made to Canadian exhibitors, chiefly the Massey-Harris Co., and Mr. Larke has evidence that these diplomas were actually torn up, and that after the jury had examined and found the machines worthy of the medals. The case at Washington is concluded, but the decision has not yet been written out.

Hon. Mackenzie Bowell left last night for Stirling, Ont., to attend the funeral of an old friend, Dr. Boulter, of that village.

J. Israel Tarte, M.P., arrived in the city yesterday. He says that Mr. Laurier is making great headway in Quebec, and gave it as his opinion that if dissolution were to come now the Government would be defeated in that province by over twenty of a majority.

J. M. Courtney, Deputy Minister of Finance, has given a silver cup to be competed for by curling rinks from the various departments of the civil service.

The business of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew's convention began yesterday. The members of the council are:—Messrs. N. T. Davidson, president; R. V. Rogers, Q.C., S. Tenn, Charles Heath, jr., T. R. Clougher, T. A. D. Bliss, A. K. Bunnell, L. H. Baldwin, R. N. Bray, M.D., T. Du Moulin, C. J. Evans Lewis, H. S. McDonald, C. Mills Teakle, W. P. Sweetland, and Spencer Waugh, general secretary. In the afternoon and evening the delegates met in St. Alban's church, at which meetings the Lord Bishop of Quebec presided. The subject of the address was "Our life: its dangers and how it may be lifted to a higher level." Bishop Dunne, of Quebec, comes from the [illegible] of Acton, in Quebec, and is known as a strong and aggressive speaker.

Patrons of North Middlesex.

PARKHILL, Jan. 19.—At an adjourned convention of the Patrons of Industry for the north riding of Middlesex, held here yesterday, the nomination for the Local Legislature was offered to Wm. H. Taylor, ex-warden of the county, and accepted. The nomination for the Dominion House was unanimously tendered to Joseph H. Alexander, county secretary, but was not accepted. A public meeting in the afternoon was addressed by George Wrigley, editor of the Canada Farmers' Sun, London.

Drowned While Drunk.

HALIFAX, Jan. 19.—Friday night a party of men were crossing south side of Harbor Grace, Nfld., in a boat. They were somewhat intoxicated, and one of them named Joseph Noseworthy created considerable trouble in the boat and then either fell or jumped overboard and quickly sank in the ice cold water. His companions, sobered by fearful trouble of their friend, tried to save him but failed. He was a young man, married and was mate of the brig Thrasher.

Brakesman Killed Near Acton.

ACTON, Ont., Jan. 19.—Frederick Trembley, a brakesman from Sarnia Tunnel, while shunting in the yard here, attempted to jump from one car to another when the cars separated and he fell between. One truck passed over his leg, taking it off just above the ankle. His body was also badly crushed. He was carried at once to the hotel, where he died in about two hours, retaining consciousness all the time. He leaves a family of three children.

Fined for Whipping a Pupil.

HAMILTON, Jan. 19.—John Robinson, head master of the Ancaster Public School, was fined $2 by the magistrate yesterday for assaulting Harry Richardson, a pupil in the school. Robinson punished the boy by strapping his hands and the lad's father says the boy's hands were badly bruised as a result. Robinson gave notice of appeal.

Canada vs. United States.

HAMILTON, Jan. 19.—In the Hamilton Gun Club competition yesterday the match between J. A. R. Elliott, of Kansas City, champion wing shot of the world, and W. Edmond, of Toronto, the Canadian champion, Edmond won, the score standing 47 to 45. The result was a great surprise to the Yankee sports present, who backed their man heavily.

City of Quebec Deficit.

QUEBEC, Jan. 19.—There is some talk of a deficit of $121,000 from last year's estimate at the city hall. Also the last loan made in London last year is said to be a ruinous bargain for the city, for instead of floating the Quebec city's new debentures at 93 the debentures were really negotiated at 91¼ for $1,600,000.

Opposed to Sunday Cars.

MONTREAL, Jan. 19.—The Church of England synod yesterday, after an exciting debate, unanimously declared against the running of Sunday cars as opposed to the proper observance of the Lord's day. A number of the members advocated Sunday cars, but the vast majority of the members were opposed to the principle.

THE UNEMPLOYED IN BERLIN.

Timely Intervention of the Police Prevents a Disorderly Demonstration—Plots in Sicily Thwarted and the Eruption Quieting Down.

BERLIN, Jan. 19.—An anarchist named Rodrian issued a call a few days ago for the unemployed workingmen to hold a meeting at a brewery at Friedrichshain, a suburb of Berlin. The meeting was to have been held yesterday, but the police having in mind the origin of the serious riots of 1892 determined to arrest Rodrian, thinking that if he were locked up the meeting would not be held. Consequently he was taken into custody and the news of his arrest quickly spread. The police were right in their conjecture that with Rodrian out of the way there would be no meeting.

Quite a number of men proceeded to the brewery, but there was no attempt at speeches.

Later in the day a crowd of people gathered before the Konigsthur and acted in a very disorderly manner. The police ordered them to disperse, but were met with jeers and with flat refusals to obey the order. Finding that moderate measures would not suffice to disperse the crowd, orders were given to the police to draw their swords and charge the rioters. The order was at once obeyed, and the crowd broke and scattered in every direction.

Dr. Gumplowicz, an anarchist from Zurich, who it was announced would speak at the proposed meeting, has been arrested.

The Kleine Journal publishes an account of the troubles, which, it says, was reported by an eye-witness. It charges that the action of the police in attacking the crowd was without cause. The unemployed who had gone to the brewery to attend the proposed meeting were leaving the building, after having learned that the meeting would not be held. As was natural they gathered in groups to discuss the situation and a few lingered near the exits. They showed no lawless intent; in fact, many of those about the brewery were mere onlookers and were of the better class.

SICILY IS CALM.

The Proposed Concerted Revolution Frustrated by the Authorities.

ROME, Jan. 19.—Rumors that were current here to the effect that the service of the Red Cross Society was about to be mobilized caused momentary alarm, it being thought that such action indicated that very serious trouble was anticipated in some parts of the kingdom. The rumors were officially denied yesterday. They arose from the measures that have been projected to use the Red Cross Society in Sicily in the transportation of the wounded if the conflicts in that island are continued. Perfect calm prevails now throughout Sicily.

In 1885 several violent revolutionists who had been expelled from Belgium and Switzerland went to Avenza, near Carrara and founded the first anarchist group in Italy. The new movement spread rapidly. In the last few months the leaders have collected money and arms, established an understanding with the workingmen of Pisa, Spezzia and other centres of workingmen's interests, and finally planned to start revolutions simultaneously in several provinces. They were to plunder the houses of the rich, set fire to the public buildings, open the prisons and rally to the cause of revolt every man who should show himself ready to pillage and fight against the authorities.

The outbreak near Carrara on last Saturday evening was the initial move, but the further execution of the plot was thwarted by the swift action of the authorities. It is known that the anarchists killed on Saturday night between Carrara and Massa and on Tuesday at the Fassola bridge were much more numerous than the troops thought. The anarchists were eager to conceal their losses and carried most of the dead bodies off with them. More than 2,000 anarchists of the Carrara district have taken refuge in the mountains. Strong bodies of troops are following and surrounding them. The fugitives are in need of food and many of them are without sufficient clothing. The cold is so intense that with many of the revolutionists it soon will be a choice between surrender and death from exposure. The country round the Carrara and Massa district is tranquil.

Spain's Hungry Workingmen.

MADRID, Jan. 19.—Affairs in the Cadiz district are in an alarming condition owing to the great number of men out of work. These men have been rendered desperate by hunger, and the pillaging of shops and farm houses is of frequent occurrence.

Princess Colonna's Case.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—The hearing of the action of Princess Colonna, step-daughter of Mr. John Mackay, the American millionaire, against her husband for a judicial separation, was again postponed yesterday. Maitre Dubuit, the advocate for the Princess, was absent, and his junior asked the court to grant a further adjournment. The solicitor for the Princess handed to the court papers supplementary to her previous demand. She now asks if the court admits Prince Colonna's plea that it has no jurisdiction in the case, for an order giving her provisional charge of the children, the order to be maintained until a definite judgment shall be given.

The Omladina Trial.

PRAGUE, Jan. 19.—Herr Cizek, secretary of the Young Czech Parliamentary Club, who is one of the prisoners now on trial here on charges of high treason and lese majeste, was examined yesterday. He stated that Count Dr. Kaunitz Wenzel and Dr. Josef Kaisel, both of whom are young Czech members of the Reichsrath, had attended several sittings of the Omladina Society and that they maintained relations with Socialists in Vienna, Cratz and Lemberg.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEAE.—trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatvely asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the east of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deteleriousmineral ingredient is contained in it, and though its action is thorough in cases of costiveness never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowels ike a violent purgative. THE APPOINTMENT OF OFFICIALS.

The question of the appointment or election of local officials is one that is likely to be much discussed the next few months, and while it is not a question of much importance, yet it should be carefully considered. That Ontario has, under the present system, as good a lot of officials as has any country in the world cannot be gainsaid, so no real grievence exists. That they once were partisans may be true, but that fact does not make them any worse officials. In fact, as Sir Oliver Mowat has pointed out, these appointments tend to weaken the government because each appointment removes one earnest worker from the field of contest.

As to the election of officials there surely cannot be much difference of opinion. This method of filling offices is most reprehensible, and Canada has always justly boasted of the superier probity of her officials as compared with those in the States, where they are elected. Then it is a fact that if a man is elected to office for a short term of years he has every inducement during that time to favor his friends at the expense of his enemies. As compared with this, our present system is very nearly an ideal one. Now officials are appointed by a body far removed from local influence, yet responsible to the people for their actions, and all officials are appointed for life or good conduct. They are therefore independent of all parties and cliques, independent even of the government that appointed them; and they therefore have no temptation to do aught else than discharge their duty faithfully and well.

If the power of appointment is taken from the government it must be vested in the county council and at once a difficulty arises. Registrars, sheriffs, jailers and many other such officials are as much officials of the city as of the county in which the city is situated. What right, for instance, would the county council of Hastings, to appoint these officials without giving Belleville a voice also? The government at Toronto represents both city and county. The county council in no way represents the city. So at once a conflict of authority would arise that it would be hard to settle.

Multum in Parvo

"Much in little" this sentence means. It has almost become a proverb, because the expression can be used in so many instances. In no instance, however, can this saying be used with greater propriety than in speaking of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. There is indeed much in a little vial of them—there is a cure for many a headache—relief from dyspepsia, billousness, constipation, colic and piles and restoration to health and happiness, Much tood in little space.

LITERRY NOTES

"The World's Parliament of Religions," by John Henry Barrows, D. D., is undoubtedly the book of the year. It has competitors, but is so far superior in every point to any other work on the recent Parliament of Religious that its stands alone. The two ample volumes are packed full with accurate reports of the proceedings of the unique congress which brought to Chicago men of various faiths from every part of the globe. No one who is interested in the condition and welfare of his fellows can fail to see the importance of the gathering or the peculiar value of this report of its proceedings. The work is particularly valuable in that it gives all the more important addresses presented in the Parliament verbatim. Men of unique interest and masters of many faiths poured into the Parliament a wealth of aspiration argument, experience, learning, thought and worship wholly unexampled in the history of our race, and to have access to this wealth, uninterpreted and uncolored, is a privilege that will be highly and universally appreciated. All in all, the work is one of the most unique, interesting and valuable that this half-century has produced. Hunter, Rose & Co., Toronto, Canadian Publishers.

The Brightest Flowers must fade, but young lives endangered by severe coughs and colds may be preserved by DR. THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL. Croup whooping cough, bronchitis; in short all affections of the throat and lungs, are relieved by this sterling preparation, which also remedies rheumatic pains, sores, bruises, piles, kidney difficulty, and is most economic.

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specially upon the deseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that disease of almost every name and nature are driven from the body.' Mr. D. Carswell. Carswell, P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well.'

Still Another Triumph.—Mr. Thomas S. Bullen, Sunderland, writes: "For fourteen years I was afflicted with piles; and frequently I was unable to walk or sit, but four years ago I was cured by using DR. THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL. I have also been subject to quinsy for over forty years, but Electric Oil cured it, and it was a permanent cure in both cases, as neither the piles nor quinsy have troubled me since."

A SHORTENING.

Down the street through the busy way
A lady passed on marketing day.
Who, pausing at a grocery store,
Stepped quickly in at the open door.
With bated breath and anxious mien
She queried: "have you COTTOLENE?"

The grocer, leaving off his work,
Interrogated every clerk;
But none up to that time had seen
An article called "COTTOLENE."

"What is it?" said he to the dame,
"That answers to this curious name.
What is it made of? What's its use?
My ignorance you'll please excuse."

"You're not the merchant for my dimes,
I see you're quite behind the times.
For COTTOLENE, I'd have you know,
Is now the thing that's all the go,
An article of high regard;
A healthful substitute for lard.
Its composition pure and clean;
For cooking give me COTTOLENE."

As from his store the lady fled,
The grocer gently scratched his head—
On his next order, first was seen,
"One dozen cases COTTOLENE."

Untold Misery—What a Well Known Commercial Traveller Suffered and How he was Cured

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & CO. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle o Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confidence that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery believing that one persistent use of it will cure dispepsia.

ONE POINT FOR WILSON

Another Change Submitted in the Famous Wool Clause.

IT WAS A STRICT PARTY VOTE

The Proposition Was to Substitute the Wool Clause From the McKinley Law for That of the Wilson Bill—Steel Rails Proposal.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The were two very interesting questions engaging the attention of the House yesterday, one being a proposition submitted by Mr. Burrows to substitute the wool clause of the McKinley law for that of the Wilson bill. The proposition was defeated by a vote of 77 ayes to 151 noes. The result was a foregone conclusion, but contrary to the opinions of some it was a strict party vote. The second proposition was one submitted by Tom L. Johnson, of Ohio, a large manufacturer of steel rails, putting steel rails on the free list. In the course of the discussion which followed Mr. Dalzell (Rep., Penn.) made some sensational charges against Mr. Johnson's business methods. Mr. Johnson will reply to his allegations.

Yesterday was the day fixed last week by the majority of the Committee on Ways and Means on which to report to the House the internal revenue bill, but it had not been finally put in shape for presentation.

Five Per Cent. Bonds.

The proposed issue of five per cent. bonds was the subject of two resolutions offered in the Senate by two Populist Senators. The resolutions came from Senators Peffer (Kansas) and Allen (Nebraska) and were to the effect that there is no lawful authority for the issuing and selling of bonds as proposed, and that if so issued and sold they will be null and void. The resolutions were laid over and will come up for action next week.

THE BRAZILIAN WAR.

Reported Strength of the Insurgents—Arbitration Talked Of at Rio.

LISBON, Jan. 19.—The steamship Sorata, which sailed from Rio Janeiro on January 2, arrived here yesterday. The officers confirm the report that Admiral Mello on the Aquidaban visited the convict island, Fernan Noranha, enlisted many of the released prisoners and took all the available provisions, except enough to feed for five days those remaining on the island. When the Sorata sailed, the officers say, general opinion credited the insurgent General Saraiva with having about 5,000 excellent troops in Sao Paulo and some 9,000 more on their way by sea from Rio Grand do Sul. These 9,000 were to be landed at Sepetiba Bay, just south of Rio, and were to be used in isolating the city from the interior. The Government had seized the Portuguese steamship Itaifa, owned by Lage Brothers, at Rio Grande do Sul, had armed her and placed its own men aboard her. The Portuguese crew, after abandoning the ship, claimed the protection of the Portuguese naval commander.

RIO JANEIRO, Jan, 19.—It is reported here that the Government and the insurgent leaders have agreed to submit their differences to arbitrators for settlement.

BUENOS AYRES, Jan. 19.—It is stated that President Peixoto is becoming suspicious of the fidelity of his troops. It is also reported that the insurgents have captured Paranagua and Fort Curitiba.

Tragedy in Boston.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—The dead body of Nellie Fay, 24 years of age, was found in a pool of blood in the front room of her suite in Hotel Everton yesterday, and in the opinion of the medical examiner death resulted from a blow on the head, neither accidental or self-inflicted. From appearances the woman had been dead about twelve hours. When found she was dressed in her nightclothes, the bedclothing was partially thrown back and the sheets were stained with blood. The body lay on the floor, partially under the bed, and the things about the room gave evidence of the struggle that had evidently taken place between the victim and her slayer.

Wants Circumcision Abolished.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 19.—Dr. Rosenthal, a prominent surgeon of this city, has gone to Columbus to introduce a queer measure in the Legislature. It provides for the abolition of the Abrahamic rite on the ground that the operation is cruel and unnecessary and that it is a relic of barbarism not compatible with the civilization of to-day. The doctor holds that no religion can promote such cruelty to infants, and hope to be protected in it by the law. He proposes a severe penalty for the performance of the rite, the violator to be prosecuted under the section prohibiting cruelty to children.

Cataract Construction Company Sued.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The Cataract Construction Co., which is building tunnels around Niagara, with a view of turning to practical account the power wasted in the Falls, is being sued in the United States court by Prof. Henry A. Rowland, of John Hopkins' University, for $30,000. The work has been conducted, it is alleged, on the advice and scientific lines laid down by Prof. Rowland, which he swore yesterday was sought by the company. He was never paid and the suit for $30,000 was filed. The trial has not been concluded.

Detective Shoots Detective.

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 19.—On Wednesday night James McCane, head of the detective agency here, shot and killed John F. Morris, the head of another agency of the same kind. McCane is in jail. Morris went to McCane's office and accused him of instigating a number of burglaries in the former's territory with a view of injuring his business. The men stepped out into a hallway and the shooting followed.

Robbery Repeated.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Jan. 19.—A train on the Kansas City, St. Joe and Council Bluffs Railroad was held up and robbed yesterday by five masked men, at Roy's Branch, just above this city, the scene of the attempted robbery of September 25 last. A large posse are hot on the trail of the robbers.

Old Score Raked Up.

READING, Pa., Jan. 19.—Col. Nicholas Lotz, of this city, furnished supplies to Washington's army at Valley Forge. His heirs held a meeting here on Wednesday. They claim he was never paid in full, and they will present a claim to Congress for nearly $4,000,000. About 40 interested persons were present.

THE AMERICAN BONDS.

London Stock Operators Want a Slice of the Gilt-Edged Securities.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The issuance by Secretary Carlisle of a circular inviting subscriptions for bonds, was the chief topic of conversation on the Stock Exchange yesterday. The consensus of opinion was that Carlisle ought to popularize the issue by placing at least one-third of the bonds in London. The operators argue that as England has supported American railroad securities, many of which have turned out badly, it would be right for Mr. Carlisle to allow London to subscribe to what will be gilt-edged securities.

Several arbitrage houses have cabled to their New York agents that the issue will be readily subscribed for here and instructing the agents that unless a portion of the bonds is issued in London to make tenders for them in New York on behalf of the English clients. Influenced by the prospect of the issue the stock market was firmer yesterday.

The Daily News says of Secretary Carlisle's proposal to raise a loan: "The stipulation of the U. S. treasury that the bonds shall be sold for gold only, comes perilously near putting a premium on that metal compared with other standard currencies of the country. In America they are always going to the verge of trouble with ingenious financial experiments, but they usually pull up in time."

DISTRESS IN MANITOBA.

A Report That Will Not Bear the Light of Investigation.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—Cable reports were received here yesterday regarding alleged distress in Manitoba. Quotations are made from the address delivered by Mr. Braithwait, the president of the Patrons of Industry of Manitoba, at the annual convention in Brandon, and the matter has excited alarm in some quarters. This feeling is somewhat mitigated, however, by the address by Sir Charles Tupper at the Wolverhampton Chamber of Commerce dinner last evening, when the High Commissioner testified to the prosperity of Canada and said no country in the world was in a sounder condition. He defended the protective principle for Canada and the other colonies, and said the resolution to keep the empire intact was never stronger than now.

Now Lobengula is Sorry.

CAPETOWN, Jan. 19. — Advices from Buluwayo are to the effect that according to latest reports King Lobengula is anxious to surrender, and has killed the Induna who persuaded him to retreat and to countenance the attack upon Capt. Wilson near the Shagani river. The destruction of the Wilson party has been for some time, it is said, Lobengula's only reason for not yielding, for he fears that the British might try to take revenge on him for Wilson's death.

Canada's Loud Cheese Heard From.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—Canada's monster cheese, which arrived some time ago from Chicago, is still unsold, and is lying in the London railway depot, no private warehouse being strong enough to bear its weight. Only twelve inches from the top has perished. The idea of exhibiting the cheese has been abandoned. Some offers for the purchase have been received, but they were not high enough.

American Iron Trade.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 19.—The Iron Trade Review says:—"While the general impression still prevails that industry is on the road to improvement and that the iron trade is responding to the movement in other lines, it is still difficult to martial specific indication of betterment. In none of the primary markets for iron has there been any considerable buying in the week just closing."

S. P. SMITH, of Towanda, Pa., whose constitution was completely broken down, is cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He writes:

"For eight years, I was, most of the time, a great sufferer from constipation, kidney trouble, and indigestion, so that my constitution seemed to be completely broken down. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and took nearly seven bottles, with such excellent results that my stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in perfect condition, and, in all their functions, as regular as clock-work. At the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my weight was only 129 pounds; I now can brag of 159 pounds, and was never in so good health. THE ANTWERP EXHIBITION

To Be of Greater Commercial Importance Than the World's Fair.

The world's bazaar. This is the title which might properly be bestowed upon Antwerp, celebrated in the olden times as "the Indies in a single city." If we scan the map of Europe in search of the city devoted more than any other to cosmopolitan trade; a city not so much of palaces, of pleasures or of art, as of commerce; a city not of one country, but of the world, we must pass by London and Paris, Vienna and Berlin, and settle upon Antwerp as the city best filling these requirements. Antwerp is, in the first place, the great commercial emporium for all north-western Europe. Its neutrality has been solemnly guaranteed by the great powers, which gives it an advantage over any port in Germany or France for the establishment of branches of foreign mercantile houses. As in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries the Hanseatic League and merchants from London, Bruges, Nuremberg, Paris and Genoa establishes "factories" and warehouses, so the chief commercial cities of the world are doing at the present day.

The countless products of our country which could be profitably introduced there offer a wide range, and one that offers opportunities for the agriculturist as well as the manufacturer.

For purposes of commerce, with Antwerp as the depot and centre, the requirements of the Belgian market are not alone to be considered, but those of northwestern and central Europe, of which Antwerp is the great port and market. Nearly all the trade of northern France pours into her lap, a great portion of that of the Netherlands and western Germany, and even from the Rhine valley and northern Switzerland. If we take a bird's-eye view of the country within a day's journey of Antwerp we find that it includes two hundred busy cities, and a population of 100,000,000 of the most industrious and intelligent people of Europe. Tools and machinery, chemicals, etc., introduced in Antwerp would be quick to find their way to the factories, shops, metal works and mines in western Europe.

In a still wider sense, like Nuremberg of old, Antwerp's hand goes through every land. The merchants of every land congregate in her markets, and her ships are upon every sea. Australia and the Argentine send her wool; the pampas of the La Plata send her beef; the Cape of Good Hope sends diamonds for the lapidaries to cut; the new inter-African empire of the Congo sends ivory and woods and drugs, and her people, as Stanley predicted, are already furnishing a market for cotton fabrics and iron goods. The east sends her wealth of drugs and spices, of teas and coffee, metal wares and gorgeous fabrics.

To the scholar and the tourist Antwerp is no less interesting than to the merchant. The archæologist must pay his respects to the city which is said to have arisen from the marshy banks of the Scheldt two centuries before the Trojan war; the historian must visit the city so closely associated with Godfrey of Boulogne, Count of Antwerp and King of Jerusalem, with Philip II., William of Orange and the great struggle against Spanish tyranny. The soldier, too, must wish to study the scene of the two famous sieges of Antwerp, of the Duke of Anjou's attempt upon the city, of Napoleon's fortifications and of the modern works, scarcely less formidable, it is said, than those of Paris.

The location of the exhibition, the buildings of which are already completed and ready for installation, is in the southern portion of the city near the railway station and the Place du Peuple. It is, in fact, in the heart of the city.

All things considered, Canadians have reason to wish well of the Antwerp exposition and to give every aid and encouragement to those who go from this country to uphold the honor and reputation of our products across the sea.

Mr. Edison has challenged the skeptical to name one substance, organic or inorganic, which is not to be found in his laboratory. Every department of nature has yielded its tribute to the potent wizard. The bones of birds and animals, feathers, hides, teeth and horns, shining metals, lucent crystals, variegated minerals lie scattered in profusion; dainty shells and coral repose among mosses and seaweed; fragrant gums and spices recall memories of the fair Babe of Bethlehem. Chalks, resins, salts and chemicals are heaped about in lavish plenitude. The collection embraces not only raw products, but specimens of nearly every human industry.

The Missing Link.

The monkey's intelligence has never been able to arrive at a point which enables the animal to achieve the untying of a knot. You may see a monkey with a cord fastened with the simplest form of common knot, and unless the beast can break the string or gnaw it in two he will never get loose. To untie a knot requires observation and reasoning power, and though a monkey may possess both, he has neither in a sufficient degree to enable him to overcome the difficulty.

NOTES BY THE WAY

Some Points Discussed at the Mayor's Banquet.

Had ex-Mayor Wallbridge not been a lawyer his face would have been constantly suffused with blushes on Wednesday night at the banquet because of the very many very kind remarks made about him by all of the speakers. Without being invidious, however, it must be said that the compliment paid by Mr. Flint was the most graceful of any, which is accounted for by the fact that it was Mr. Flint that paid it. Mr. Flint spoke from an intimate knowledge of the ex-Mayor, who was for sometime a student in his office.

All these compliments were well deserved, for Mr. Wallbridge did his duty well, being firm when need be, understanding his duty and being fearless as to its discharge, yet withal at all times courteous and even long-suffering to the weaknesses of others, and the ignorance of the rules often displayed by some aldermen.

That was also a kindly and well-merited compliment paid by Mr. Corby by Mr. R. Mathison He spoke true when he said that the Institute for the Deaf and Dumb is a credit to the province, and he spoke true when he said it was the best managed Institution in the province. It certainly is, thanks to the splendid executive ability, good judgment, wise foresight and untiring energy of Mr. Mathison and the devotion and zeal of the able staff he has gathered about him.

Mr. Corby also eulogized the Ontario Government. Again he hit the mark straight. The glory of the Ontario Government is that they compel the admiration and respect even of their opponents.

Mr. Biggar's speech was an excellent one and was marked by that plain spokenness characteristic of him. He was not afraid even in the presence of the aldermen to criticise where he thought criticism was necessary, nor did he stint his praise where praise was due. His remarks about the election of officials were clear, logical and convincing.

What was said by Mayor Walmsley and some others about an electric street railway is worthy of consideration. Belleville needs a street railway, and until it it gets one we will always be behind the age. The experience of other places not larger than Belleville shows that such a road pays well and an effort should be made to have one built this year, at least on Front street. In connection with this a good power plant should also be established for furnishing cheap light and electric power for manufacturing purposes.

"The cleverest entertainment of the the kind ever afforded to the people of any community.' "Miss Hext's reading shows rare artistic merit." "One of the best things of the kind ever done in Toronto." "Never was an audience better satisfied with an entertainment of like nature." "Miss Hext is the best elocutionist that has ever appeared in our midst." "The most soulful artist who has touched the hearts of countless thousands." These are a few of the flattering notices of Miss Hext in the press of Ontario Everywhere she received the warmest praise. In the Opera House to-night.

CURLING NOTES.

Two Matches Contested Thursday—A Lively Game

Thursday afternoon a match was played at the rink between teams representing the President and Vice-president of the club. For the former Mr. W. H. Biggar skipped and for the latter Mr. D. B. Robertson. It was in evenly contested game and resulted in another victory for the vice-president's side. The players and score were:

President.	Vice-President.
E G Porter,	A Moon,
Jas Gordon,	E H LaRoche,
D M Waters,	W W Pope,
D B Robertson skip 14	W H Biggar skip 16.

The president's side have won three games having a majority of 12 shots on total. In the evening the first match for the pair of stones presented by Mr. Jas. Clarke took place between rinks skipped by Messrs. Thos. Thompson and T. W. R. McRae. The former were victorious by 9 shots as the following score will show:

Geo Thompson,	Wm Brown,
Geo Twining,	S D Lazier,
Wm Webster,	J D Clarke,
Thos Thomson skip 17	T McRae skip 8.

In her posings in Grecian costume Miss Hext expresses 45 different emotions such as triumph, revenge, jealousy, honor, defiance, ridicule, etc. These posings are given in a good light with a black velvet back ground, and constitute a feature that for artistic beauty has never been surpassed in an entertainment in Belleville. This interesting exhibition, together with her splendidly rendered recitations and Mr. J. N. Doyle's musical renditions will make up a program seldom equalled. In the opera house to-night. Tickets 25. 35 and 50 cts.

Ask Your Friends

Who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla what they think of it and the replies will be positive in its favor. Simply what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, tells the story of its merit. One has been cured of indigestion or dyspepsia, another finds it indispensable for sick headache or biliousness, while others report remarkable cures of scrofula, catarrh, rheumatism, salt rheum, etc.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable.

A PLEA FOR POOR HOUSES

The Duty of the County Council to the Aged Destitute

The establishment of poor houses is in the hands of the County Council and as an encouragement to the counties the Ontario Government has offered a bonus of four thousand dollars for the erection of every such poor house. But the jails are used for poor houses, and the aged, destitute poor, however respectable, are compelled to end their days in association with the degraded, the vicious and the criminal classes. The present system has been condemned by Mr. Justice Rose as well as by all the other judges, and all philanthropists who have either spoken or written upon the subject. It is the duty of the pulpit to speak out plainly. Surely there can be no dissent amongst the ministerial association in this matter. For a moral delinquency on their part in not seeking to ameliorate the condition of the poor would be a taint upon christian character, that is neither expected or looked for by the laity. "Our jails are the worst possible schools of vice, and crime," says Justice Rose in his address to the grand jury of Brockville, in October last. Judge Rose's opinion is corroborated by that of the the Inspector of prisons who declares from what he has seen that it is a disgrace to the Province to allow the aged poor, who have committed no crime, to be incarcerated in jail and end their days amongst criminals.

Even boys twelve years old are imprisoned for vagrancy, and placed with the criminal and immoral inmates of the jails, because there is no other shelter for them. Who is responsible for this wretched state of thing? The county councils do nothing in this matter by way of remedy or reform. They appear to renounce the principle of poor-houses, and in doing so are acting the maxim of "penny-wise and pound-foolish." It is well known that in the States poor-houses in many cases, if properly managed, are found to be self sustaining. But putting the economic side of the question entirely out of sight, it is still the imperative duty of the county councils to provide some place other than the common jails for vagrants and the unfortunate poor. Makeshifts which have been tried do no good. Nothing but a well regulated, and a well managed poor-house will answer the purpose.

And now that the government offers to assist it is the duty of the authorities to move in the matter at once.

For the jails in many places are overcrowded with persons who should never have been sent there, and it is to be hoped that the county councils whose duty it appears to be, will look after this state of affairs. And we hope the county council of Hastings will move in the matter during the coming session.

FLORA.

Its Excellent Qualities

commend to public approval the California liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs. It is pleasing to the eye, and to the taste and by gently acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels. it cleanses the system effectually thereby promoting the health and comfort of all who use it.

Lanes Medicine Moves the Bowels Daily

In order to be healthy this is necessary

Miss Hext at the Queen's Opera House to-night.

The continual succession of boils, pimples and eruptions from which many suffer, indicates an impure state of the blood. The most effective remedy is Ayers Sarsaparilla. It expels the poison harmlessley through the natural channels, and leaves the skin clean and clear.

Gough's Big Sale

The closing out of Mr. Gough's entire stock amounting to $30.000.00 is creating quite a sensation. To give an idea of how cheap he is closing out, a gentleman went into his store yesterday, who had no idea of buying, but before going out had purchased three suits. Another gentleman, who had no idea of buying, purchased two overcoats. So it will be with any other person who attends this sale that has a dollar to spare. Heads of families should particularly embrace this opportunity of buying cheap and lay in a stock of school suits. Just fancy $5.00 suits for $2.75 and $4.00 suits for $2.00. It should be remembered that this is not a sale of odds and ends but a genuine closing out of our entire stock, so that it don't make any difference whether it is a suit, a shirt, an overcoat, a waterproof coat or a tie, in short anything a man wears excepting boots, you can now get it less than cost of production, besides, beyond any question of a doubt the stock is superior both in quantity and quality to anything in the country. Mr. Gough is very anxious to close this stock out at once and is certainly giving astonishing bargains.

Gold in North Hastings

The Empire in its issue of yesterday says: At last night's meeting of the Natural Science Association, Mr. Roxburgh, '94, read a paper on the mineralogy of Hastings county, the result of a trip made through the district last summer by a few 'Varsity students. He dealt particularly with the large deposits of gold, iron and marble in the county.

This make of clothing is worth 25% more than the ordinary make and yet we sell it just as cheap as you can buy the inferior grades for elsewhere.

First Appearance

Miss Alida V. Jackson, graduate of the Philadelphia school of elocution and Mr. R. A. Shaw for two years a pupil of Professor Torrington, and tenor soloist of Metropolitan church, Toronto, in Bridge St. church S. S. rooms on Friday evening Jan. 26th, under the auspices of the ladies of Mr. G. E. Minn's Bible class. Admission 15cts.

Prevention is Better

Than cure, and those who are subject to rhuematism can prevent attacks by keeping the blood pure and free from the acid which causes the disease. You can rely upon Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for rhuematism and catarrh, also for every form of scrofula, salt rheum, boils and other diseases caused by impure blood. It tones and vitalizes the whole system.

Hood's Pills are easy and gentle in effect.

Provide yourself with a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and so have the means at hand for contending successfully with a sudden cold. As an emergency medicine, it has no equal, and leading physicians everywhere recommended it.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA

Miss Hext and Mr J N Doyle

The Hamilton Times has this to say of Miss Hext, who appears at the Queen's Opera House this evening:

"A lady of charming personality, coupled with splendid elocutionary ability and a graceful carriage, she was able to give an excellent rendering of every number allotted to her. The scene from "Hamlet" was encored, and Miss Hext responded with a humorous selection entitled "The Kitchen Clock," which brought down the house. After her fourth number she was given an enthusiastic recall. and responded with another humorous piece, recounting an adventure with a mouse. Miss Hext used her lithe, supple figure to good advantage in the Delsartean exercises of posing, her attitudes representing forty different emotions, such as pain, triumph, shame, anguish, admiration, etc., being heartily applauded.

This will be a rare treat and as Mr. J. N. Doyle will also assist, everyone should avail themselves of this opportunity. The prices are 25c, 35c. 50c.

POLICE COURT

Harry Walker for being drunk and disorderly was sent up for two months.

Jos Thrasher for drunkenness was fined $3 or 10 days.

David H. Brook for assaulting his wife was arrested last night. He was fined $10 or 2 months. The magistrate decided that as this family had caused considerable trouble since they have been residents here he would have them removed if possible. He said the city would provide Mrs. Brooks and her family with tickets for Brighton if she would go. She promised to accept the offer and will leave the city immediately.

North Hastings Agricultural Society

The Annual meeting of the North Hastings Agricultural society was held at Stirling on Wednesday, the 17th inst. Wilmot Vandervoort, President, in the chair.

The auditors report was read showing total receipts of $1,143.72 including legislative grant of $800. Out of this sum $413 40 was paid to the township societies; and $460 55 for prizes, miscellaneous expenses $169.85, leaving a balance of $100, 07.

Mr. B. Mallory, of Frankford, was elected as representative to the Agricultural and Arts Association,

The election of officers was then taken up and resulted as follows:—

President—Jas. McComb.
1st Vice-President—Thos. H. McKee.
2nd " " —John H. Reid.
Directors—Wilmot Vandervoort, J M. Ashley, Robert Good, Geo. L. Scott, E. W. Brooks, Wm. Stewart, Jr., W. H. Bird, Jas. Haggarty, Wm. McCann.
Auditors—W. S. Martin, Jas. Haggarty.

It was resolved that the next Show be held on the last Tuesday in Sept.

At a meeting of the Directors held immediately afterwards, Mr. Jas. Gay was re-elected Secretary, and P. Fargey, Treasurer.

Making Steel From Iron

DEAR SIR—Since writing my letter to the papers some time ago on the subject of manufacturing steel direct from the ore, and old iron of all kinds, there seems to be quite an interest taken in the matter by the citizens generally, and as an evidence that the subject is not to be allowed to drop, the patentee will be here in a short time and give a practical demonstration of the new process, as far as the plant kindly placed at our disposal will allow. Although the plant which is an ordinary foundry cupolo is vastly inferior to a regular smelting furnace and cannot be expected to produce the same results still the inventor feels he will be able to give a test that will prove perfectly satisfactory.

I beg to submit the following extract from letters which I have received from Mr. Bell the inventor in answer to some questions I have asked him and which have been suggested to me by some people of the city. 'Can I make steel direct from any kind of ore or old iron? I say yes most positively, and have no fears of satisfactory results from any methods for reduction of iron now in use. Before I shall attempt to make steel or iron in your country I will apply for letters patent, but this will not prevent me from making a test for the satisfaction of your people that I can do just what I represent.'

A. W. DICKENS.

S S Entertainment

Wesley S. S., Front of Sidney, held their annual entertainment on Wednesday evening last. This school has a reputation for good entertainments and this one was up to the standard. During the evening the superintendent, Mr. R. J. Graham, was the recipient of a platform rocking chair and the following address:—

R. J. GRAHAM, Esq.,

DEAR SIR:—The scholars and teachers of Wesley school desire to take advantage of this opportunity to convey to you their heartfelt thanks for your faithful services during the past two years and to place on record their approval of the zeal you have ever shown, not only for their welfare and advancement, but for every branch of the church. We have ever admired your faithfulness and the earnest efforts you have made to instil into the hearts and minds of the scholars a knowledge of the Word and of Him of whom the Word testifies.

You have not only taught us the Way of Life, but your example has been in accord with your teaching and to-night we desire you to accept our thanks.

We also desire you to accept this chair as a small remembrance.

When you look upon it in the years to come and rest in it after the toils of the day, we ask you to remember that the scholars and teachers of Wesley school have, and will always have a warm place in their hearts for you and will always pray that when the toils of life are ended you may occupy a place at His right hand and enjoy the rest prepared for them who serve Him.

Mr Graham made a suitable reply.

A POUND SOCIAL.

An Interesting Entertainment Given by the King's Daughters

A Pound social given in Bridge street church last night under the auspices of the circle of the King's Daughter was, considering the inclemency of the weather, largely attended. The object was for the benefit of the poor of the city and a large quantity of provisions was contributed. An interesting program was provided. Miss Bertha Sills, president of the society presided. The pastor, Rev. E. N. Baker opened the proceedings with prayer. Instrumental music was rendered by Harris Bros., Misses Jones and Booth and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dingle. Songs given by Miss Effie Garratt and Mr. F. Lewis, both of whom sang with their usual sweetness and expression. Misses Curts and Taylor gave recitations which were heartily applauded. An original sketch by Mrs. Eva Rose York was one of the features of the entertainment and greatly pleased all present. The proceedings were brought to a close by the singing of an appropriate hymn.

in our experience have we had a better assortment of BEDROOM SETS. Our splendid holiday business was evidently the result of our plan of paying special attention to our own class of goods rather than trying to handle a little of everybody else's goods. TO-DAY we begin stock taking and will consider it a favor if our friends will kindly have accounts scored off and begin a new leaf,

WHITE GOODS

A few years ago it was next to impossible to sell ready made garments of any kind. But with the great improvements in machinery, ready made goods are becoming popular as witness the large sale of jackets. Now, so is is with underwear in white goods. Night gowns, chemises, drawers, skirts, corset covers, aprons etc are now well made, and are very cheap, consequently are growing popular. We have them.

PERSONAL

Seventeen years ago, before I had ever thought of being connected with a business college, I was invited as a practical accountant and auditor of wide experience by Mr. S. G. Beatty, then Principal of Ontario Business College, to contribute a set of Municipal Accounts to the second edition of the "Canadian Accountant". This I did, and the value of my contribution was such that Mr. Beatty in the year 1879 requested me to be joint author of "The Accountant" and enlarge its scope and purpose, so as to make it not only the best text book for the student, but the standard work of reference for the practical accountant and business man. I undertook the work. We jointly applied for a new copyright, which was issued and registered in our joint names in the Department at Ottawa on the 7th of April 1879.

One of my purposes in life since then, in association with my partner Mr. Robinson, has been to bring and keep "The Accountant" to the highest standard. Whether that purpose has been accomplished can best be judged by the fact that the TENTH edition of the book is coming from the press, and it has now a wider demand than any other work on accounts published in the English language.

It is this Canadian book, this Belleville book, which is assailed, and the authorship of which is impugned, in the offensively abusive circular of a business college, "managed" by an Estate Agent, and run on an American text book with a printed Key and reference book.

For four years the man who has thus libelled "The Accountant" and its authors, has in all his printed circulars and papers been libelously assailing myself and Ontario Business College. He is more insolent and libellous in his last circular than ever, and self respect now demands that I shall take him in hand. Some light has recently been let in upon his methods. Interesting matter may be looked for in this column, although the most serious for him and one of his employees may not be reached for some time.

AMERICAN QUESTIONS.

How the Wilson Bill Would Affect Canadian Competition.

THE INCOME TAX SCHEME.

Majority of the Senate Committee on Finance Are Not in Favor of It—Hawaiian Affairs—Knights of Labor and the Bond Issue.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—During the tariff debate in the House on Saturday Mr. Brookshire (Dem.). from Indiana, spoke in favor of the Wilson bill, holding that its passage would not result in Canadian goods coming to this country for the reason that Canada did not produce all she needed for herself.

Mr. Payne (Rep., N.Y.) replied to the assertions of Mr. Brookshire and said the State of Indiana was not likely to feel the ill-effects of the Wilson bill in Canadian competition as keenly as New York, on account of the proximity of the two countries on the New York border.

Mr. Dingley (Rep., Maine) offered an amendment changing the tariff on line from 10 per cent. ad valorem to 6 cents per 100 pounds. He said that manufacturers of lime had gone over into Canada and purchased lime quarries there rather than pay the higher American wages, and he wanted a tariff put on lime sufficient to compensate for this difference in wages.

The same topics which were before Congress last week will continue to engage attention during all this week in the House, the tariff bill, and in the Senate the bill to repeal the Federal election laws. When the debate closed in the House Saturday night there remained upon the desk of Chairman Richardson 77 amendments, which the authors desire to offer for the action of the House.

The Income Tax Scheme.

Friends of the proposed income tax scheme, or at least some of them, have abandoned all expectation of its present adoption by the House. Other friends of the proposition, however, are more hopeful and express confidence that in the Democratic caucus it will be made a part of the tariff bill and succeed or fail with that measure.

A poll of the Senate Committee on Finance on the question of an income tax is said to have revealed the fact that it stands six to five in opposition thereto. This fact may have an important bearing on the treatment of the subject in case it should reach that body.

HAWAIIAN AFFAIRS.

The Way in Which England is Interested in the Matter.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—There has been much speculation since the President's message was sent to Congress as to the contents of the message from Mr. Stevens to the State Department that was withheld by the President on the ground of public policy. It is understood that this letter was one of those confidential communications from diplomatic agents to their respective governments touching upon the so-called intrigues of other Governments. Mr. Stevens gave the committee what he supposed to be the letter referred to, and it can be said in a general way that it related to the attitude of the English Minister in connection with the affairs at the Hawaiian Islands and his relations with the court of the deposed Queen. It is understood that the English Minister was, perhaps, as near to the Queen as anyone on the islands, and was thereby able to exercise great influence over her.

His son, Mr. Wodehouse, is the husband of the half-sister of the Princess Kauliana, who is the heir apparent to the throne in the event of the restoration of the Queen. With this Princess subsequently on the throne and a British subject related to the royal family and enjoying the power and influence that such relationship would give, it could be easily seen, Mr. Stevens said, what the effect would be upon American interests, and how they would be subordinated to everything that was British.

The Issue of Bonds.

DES MOINES, Jan. 22.—After a discussion of several hours by General Master Workman Sovereign and Judge George C. Cole, of the equity action which Mr. Sovereign will bring in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, to enjoin Secretary Carlisle from the proposed bond issue, it was definitely decided that the action will be brought this week, that Judge Cole will draw the petition, and that Senator Allen (Nebraska) will appear before the court in behalf of Mr. Sovereign. A telegram was received from Senator Allen yesterday accepting the trust. Judge Cole says the request for an injunction will be based entirely on two sections of the federal statutes, one from the Act of 1870 relating to the issuing of bonds and the other from the Act of January 14th, 1875.

Verdict in Favor of Prof. Rowland.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The jury which has been listening to testimony in the case of Prof. Rowland, of John Hopkins University, against the Niagara Cataract Construction Company, on Saturday rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff. The case was brought for the purpose of recovering $30,000 for six months' services in considering and devising plans, construction of a dynamo of 5,000 horse power to transmit electrical motive power from Niagara Falls to Buffalo and also incidentally to establish the value of an expert's charge for such professional labor. When Prof. Rowland sent in his bill for $10,000 they refused to pay him more than $3,500. He thereupon made out a new bill for $150 a day for the entire time he was employed. The verdict is for the entire time he was employed.

Death From a Peculiar Cause.

MUNCIE, Ind., Jan. 22.—A few days ago Samuel, the 7-year-old son of John Lennox, died. The symptoms were peculiar and the attending physicians were much puzzled by the case. A post-mortem examination revealed that a part of the heart had been eaten away by an insect, causing the death. Nearly a year ago, while the family lived at Hartford City, the boy drank water from a brook and swallowed a water bug. It seems that the insect ate its way through the boy's stomach and then began devouring the heart and he bled to death.

The Mexican Rebellion.

TEGUCIGOL PA HONDURAS, Jan. 22.—President Vasquez is making a final stand at Carro De Pute with a strong battery and he says he can hold the place against a larger force than the allies have. There was a sharp engagement on Saturday between Bonilla's advance and Vasquez's rear guard, ending in Bonilla's men falling back.

QUEEN LIL'S CANADIANS.

The Government Making Inquiries Into the Report from Victoria, B.C.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—A special to the Herald from Victoria, B.C., says:—"The Militia Department at Ottawa having heard through the press of the proposed expedition to Honolulu, organized under royalist auspices and directed on this side from Winnipeg and Vancouver, Major-General Herbert has caused inquiries to be made by Colonel Peters, deputy adjutant general for this district. It is doubtful, however, whether the Canadian Government can interfere in any way, as the men who have it in contemplation to serve as the Queen's own guard do not intend to go armed or by any overt acts putting themselves in conflict with the neutralty laws, and they claim the right to go to the Hawaiian Islands or anywhere else where employment of any kind may offer.

It is expected that the fear of difficulties with the Dominion authorities has caused a few to say that they desire to have no more to do with the project, but the great majority have fully made up their minds to embark, if possible, in the adventure, and they are all impatiently awaiting an answer to the recent message to Theophilus Davies. It is expected that marching orders will come by return mail, and the party will probably secure one of the many swift sailing vessels available on this coast and make via United States soil for an unfrequented part of the coast of the Island Oreha, within easy distance of Honolulu. Once landed on this island any determined body of men could advance without difficulty to the city.

Though the organization of this expedition was kept a profound secret for many weeks, now that it has come out the leaders have no hesitation in discussing the part they intend to take. They do not take at all kindly to the term of "the filibusters," which has been applied to them, claiming that they have no intention or thought of plundering lawlessly in any form.

SHE WILL NOT MARRY HOOPER.

The Father of Miss Alice Stapely Interviewed by a Reporter.

OTTAWA, Jan. 22.—Benjamin Stapely was interviewed by a reporter as to his daughter's engagement to John R. Hooper. "This is no engagement," he replied, "and has not been for a month. She has no connection with him whatever." "The public has supposed that as Miss Stapely has been giving evidence in Hooper's favor she was still engaged to him?" "She simply told what she knew, not with a view to clearing him as a lover, but simply because his action, so far as she was concerned, with the exception of the lies he told, were not serious, and she felt sorry for his parents, who are really respectable people and much to be pitied. If Hooper was freed to-morrow," he added, "my daughter would not marry him, and he was told so some time ago. About a month ago, when Hooper's father called at my brother-in-law's, Mr. Shaw's, in Montreal, Mr. Shaw told him distinctly for us that all was over between his son and Miss Stapely, and in saying this he voiced, not only our sentiments, but my daughter's."

CAPITAL GOSSIP.

Canadian Cattle Shipping—Sub-Collectors Officially Dismissed.

OTTAWA, Jan. 22.—A delegation is expected in the city from Montreal in a few days to ask the Government to use its influence with the United States Government to permit Canadian cattle being shipped by United States ports in bond. The reason alleged for this is that owners of cattle are compelled to feed them until the opening of navigation by the St. Lawrence at a loss. If this concession be granted by the Canadian Government then the United States Government would likely expect to be given something equivalent in the way of privileges in Canada.

At a meeting of the Cabinet Friday night an order-in-council was passed dismissing Sub-Collector D. G. Grant, Barrie, and also Sub-Collector of Customs C. E. O. Hag of Hagarsville, for misappropriating public funds. Both sub-collectors were suspended some weeks ago, and this is the outcome of the investigations which have been held into the charges against them.

At a meeting of the Postoffice Department Benevolent Society the name of John R. Hooper was dropped from membership.

Hon. T. M. Daly, Minister of the Interior, was shown the cablegram from London, in which it is stated that some sensation had been caused in London by the publication of a despatch from Reuter's agent at Winnipeg, stating that there is great distress amongst the farmers of Manitoba. "This is evidently my old enemy, the 'Liar on space,' turned up again," said Mr. Daly, with a smile. "The price of wheat is low in Manitoba, it is true," he continued, "but it is utterly false that there is any distress in Manitoba."

Inquest on Daniel Campbell's Death.

GEORGETOWN, Jan. 22.—Constable Bradley of Milton has received instructions from the County Crown Attorney to find out beyond doubt the cause of the late Daniel Campbell's death. Summons have been issued to empanel a jury and hold an inquest. The remains were taken up on Saturday and viewed by the jury and Coroner Sutherland with Drs. Roe and Kay are holding a post mortem, the result of which will be made public next Thursday when the adjourned inquest will be held. County Constable Bradley, who has had the case in hand for two weeks, when interviewed did not care to say much and stated that the case at present looked very black.

Arbitration Settled.

OWEN SOUND, Jan. 22.—The arbitration arising out of the expropriation of Mr. H. Lymburner's property on the esplanade by the Grand Trunk Railway, for which the company offered $6,000 and Mr. Lymburner claimed $7,600, was decided on Saturday. Judge Creasor was Mr. Lymburner's arbitrator, and George Spencer the Grand Trunk Railway Company's arbitrator. Judge Morgan, of Toronto, was referee. Messrs. Creasor & Smith appeared for Mr. Lymburner. Messrs. Masson & Evans appeared for the Grand Trunk Railway. The decision gives Mr. Lymburner $6,882, the Grand Trunk Railway Company to pay costs of arbitration.

Church Destroyed by Fire.

MURDER OR SUICIDE?

The Body of An Unknown Man Found Near Toronto.

A GASH IN HIS FOREHEAD.

The Corpse Has the Appearance of Being in the Water Several Days—A Missing Uxbridge Man Said to Correspond to the Description.

TORONTO, Jan. 22.—The good people who reside in the neighborhood of the mouth of the Humber river, a mile or two west of the city limits, are much exercised as to how a young man, whose body was washed ashore in that vicinity yesterday, came to his death.

Two boys on their way home from Sunday school were strolling along the sandy beach south of High park, when by chance they espied a strange object floating in the water a few feet from shore. On closer observation the lads found the dark mass to be a corpse.

Frightened at the ghastly spectacle they ran as fast as their legs could carry them to Nurse's hotel, a few hundred yards distant and informed the inmates of their find. The whole neighborhood had been aroused and the landing of the corpse was witnessed by a concourse of people unusually large for the quiet nook in which Nurse's hotel is esconced.

A few minutes later Dr Cotton drove up to the hotel, accompanied by Mr. Nurse. A careful examination of the corpse and of his clothing elicited no information whatever of his identity and very little as to the manner in which death overtook him.

The coroner found the corpse to be that of a man 30 to 35 years of age. The dead man stood 5 feet 8 inches in his stocking feet, was of good physique, had a well-developed chest and splendid arm and leg muscles, and was to all appearances well fed. The face, as far as could be seen in its bruised condition, was that of an Englishman.

The clothing was carefully examined with the hope of finding some name or mark that might serve as a clue to the man's identity, but without avail. The only lettering or mark of any kind whatsoever to be found was the word "Lorne," printed on the hanging strap of the overcoat. The body had evidently been in the water several days, for the rigor mortis stage, which comes on about 24 hours after death and generally lasts from 24 to 36 hours, had come and gone, as was indicated by the purple appearance of the abdomen of the corpse.

An ugly indentation on the dead man's forehead, and the fact that there appeared no froth at the mouth or nose, and that the body, though evidently so long in the water, was not at all bloated, led Coroner Cotton to think it advisable to hold legal enquiry as to the cause of death. After due consultation with County Crown Attorney Dewart by telephone, he issued a warrant for an inquest to be held this afternoon.

Fred Bacon, an Uxbridge young man, left there on December 27 to work for Farmer Gibson, near Agincourt, and has not since been heard of. It is said that the description of the body found corresponds to the appearance of the missing man.

ANOTHER SKATING FATALITY.

Three Young Ladies Go Through a Hole in the Ice—One is Drowned.

DUNDAS, Ont., Jan. 22.—A most distressing drowning accident occurred on the canal here Saturday through which one young lady lost her life and two others had a very close call. The recent rains had flooded over the ice and covered all the rough spots, making it like a sheet of glass, and crowds were enjoying a skate. No bad spots in the ice were noticed except one near the second inlet where a hole was plainly visible, and all avoided it by keeping to the opposite side of the canal except three young ladies, Miss Clarke, Miss McKay and Miss Ross, who while going down the canal, did not notice the hole and skated into it.

A young man named Wyatt saw the accident, and, securing a plank, hurried to the spot and succeeded in rescuing Miss McKay and Miss Clark. Miss Ross was keeping herself up by having her hands on Miss Clark's shoulders, but to allow Miss Clark to get out with the aid of the plank she removed her hands and missed catching the edge of the ice and went under it. Her body was recovered about an hour and a half afterwards. Deceased and her sister lived with their uncle, Mr. Joseph Sweet, conductor on the H. and D. railway, their parents being dead.

McGreevy and Connolly.

TORONTO, Jan. 22.—Before Chancellor Boyd and Mr. Justice Ferguson and Mr. Justice Meredith, Mr. S. H. Blake on Saturday resumed argument to quash the convictions of Connolly and McGreevy, or in the alternative to obtain a new trial. It is a continuation of the argument of the 8th, 9th and 10th instant, which was adjourned until Saturday owing to the inability of the Chancellor to longer continue the hearing of counsel for Connolly and McGreevy. The ground of application for the new trial, as previously stated, is that the verdict was against the evidence and the weight of evidence, and that therefore Nicholas K. Connolly and Thomas McGreevy have been unjustly imprisoned. Mr. Blake argued for over two hours against the injustice of the conviction, more especially against the defendant Connolly. Mr. Blake pointed out that evidence that might have been admissable against McGreevy was unjustly allowed at the trial as evidence against Connolly, that in fact the trial judge did not discriminate sufficiently, if at all. The latter's brother, Michael McConnolly, in company with Capt. Towers, listened to the whole of the argument. Judgment was reserved.

North Grey Reformers.

OWEN SOUND, Jan. 22.—The Liberals of the north riding of the county of Grey met on Saturday in convention for the purpose of selecting a candidate for the Local Legislature. Mr. James Cleland, who has represented the riding for the past four years and who obtained a majority of almost 400 at the last election, was the choice of the convention.

gradually growing worse. Three years ago I got down so low that I could scarcely walk. I looked more like a corpse than a living being. I had no appetite and for five weeks I ate nothing but gruel. I was badly emaciated and had no more color than a marble statue. Hood's Sarsaparilla was recommended and I thought I would try it. Before I had finished the first bottle I noticed that I felt better, suffered less, the inflammation of the bladder had subsided, the color began to return to my face, and I began to feel hungry. After I had taken three bottles I could eat anything without hurting me. Why, I got so hungry that I had to eat 5 times a day. I have now fully recovered, thanks to

Two business college men, one of whom is a graduate of an American business college, and the other an EX-PURSER of a lake boat, who run a business college in a few rented rooms in the top flat of a building, without fire escapes, have been greatly worried for some time past about American text books, and regarding which they have been advertising untrue statements. These men also advertise they are the author of a text book on bookkeeping, which they say is "the most widely circulated work on bookkeeping in the English language." Now, if by buying a book a man can lawfully claim to be its author—they are correct. And if by sending a book by a western route and another by an eastern route to a friend in Australia a man can truthfully say the book is "the most widely circulated in the English language"—they are correct.

The FACT is, that for every 100 students who have used the "MOST WIDELY" over 10,000 have used the bookkeeping taught at the Belleville Business College.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER

IS THE BEST REMEDY FOR SPRAINS, BRUISES, SCALDS, BURNS & CUTS.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deleterious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and though its act on is thorough in cases of costiveness never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowels like a violent purgative. It invigorates the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney disease scrofulous and all diseases of the blood femole weakness, &c. &c Price $1.00 Sample bottle 10 cents. Ask for Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac-simile of their signature Sold by all medicine dealers.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Dr Ryerson, the very fresh young member for Toronto, is trying to bring discredit on the Mowat government by the charge that certain ex-M. P. P's have been appointed to offices. In some instances this has been done, and no particular objection can be taken to it, though the appointment of men to office while members of that legislation is doubtful wisdom, and it is a thing Sir Oliver has seldom done. But once again the Liberals can point out Dr. Ryerson's inconsistency in condemning in Toronto what he approves at Ottawa. Since 1878 the Tory government at Ottawa have appointed 38 M. P's and 32 ex-M. P's to various official positions. How infinitely worse is is than anything Sir Oliver Mowat ever did! And as regards nepotism, about which Dr. Ryerson has so much to say, a dozen instances can be quoted from the records of Ottawa to every one at Toronto, yet Dr. Ryerson upholds in the one what he denounces in the other. How his reverend father would have scorned such hypocrisy.

A Montreal mercantile paper has prepared a statement showing the actual duty reduced to an ad valorem basis, on the various grades of cloth used for overcoats. This table shows that the duty on the cheapest cloths is 72 per cent., and on the dearest cloths at $1.89 a yard it is only 28 per cent. In every case the duty on the higher priced goods is lower than on the lower priced. The Intelligencer asserts that the duties are so arranged as to fail heaviest on the rich man. This table, as well as a dozen others that might be compiled, proves that the reverse is true, that the poor man, in very many cases, pays a higher rate of duty on his goods than the rich man does on his.

should be possessed of certain information without which millions contract pernicious and most destructive habits—habits which make young men permanently aged pale haggard, listless, devoid of ambition, easily tried, languid, forgetful and incapable, fill mad-houses and swell the list of suicides, separate husbands and wives; bring untold suffering millions even unto the third and fourth generation. Parents guardians and philanthropists can do no better service to the rising generation, than to place in their hands the information and warnings contained in a little book carefully prepared by an association of medical men who have had vast experience in dealing with the grave maladies here hinted at, and who feel that they owe it to humanity to warn the young of the land against certain destructive habits, which are far more prevalent than any layman can imagine, and which if persisted in gradually undermine the constitution and health, and destroy the future happiness of the victim. Cut out this notice and enclose it with ten cents in stamps (to pay postage), to World's Dispensary Medical association, Invalids Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo. N. Y., and the book will be sent, secure from observation, in a plain sealed envelope.

Cottolene

A SHORTENING.

Down the street through the busy way
A lady passed on marketing day.
Who, pausing at a grocery store,
Stepped quickly in at the open door.
With bated breath and anxious mien
She queried: "have you COTTOLENE?"

The grocer, leaving off his work,
Interrogated every clerk;
But none up to that time had seen
An article called "COTTOLENE."

"What is it?" said he to the dame,
"That answers to this curious name.
What is it made of? What's its use?
My ignorance you'll please excuse."

"You're not the merchant for my dimes,
I see you're quite behind the times.
For COTTOLENE, I'd have you know,
Is now the thing that's all the go,
An article of high regard;
A healthful substitute for lard.
Its composition pure and clean;
For cooking give me COTTOLENE."

As from his store the lady fled,
The grocer gently scratched his head—
On his next order, first was seen,
"One dozen cases COTTOLENE."

Untold Misery—What a Well Known Commercial Traveller Suffered and How he was Cured

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & CO. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle o Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confidence that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery believing that a persistent use of it will cure dispepsia.

High license is to reduce peddlars at St. Paul.

CIVIL WAR THREATENED

The Trouble Brewing in Servia May Result in Open Rebellion.

THE KING'S CROWN IN DANGER

The Strong-Willed Ruler is Determined to Have His Own Way and Will Form a Military Government—Ex-King Milan In It.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The Vienna correspondent of the Daily News says:—"It is firmly believed that the rupture in Servia is the work of Milan, who will help his son to form the military government already forecasted. The question is, will Alexander be able to keep the throne? A section of the radicals have openly declared in favor of Prince Kara George. A possible change of dynasty is openly discussed in Belgrade. There is a rumor in Belgrade that King Alexander has been murdered, but it has not been confirmed."

The Vienna correspondent of the Standard says:—"Milan's presence in Servia is illegal. If the constitution be suspended King Alexander must simply relien the army. Between 10,000 and 12,000 officers have for nearly three months received no pay. The impecunious radical government is more than willing to fight for the King against they whom they cordially hate. On the other hand, the popular element in Servia is too strong to quietly submit to such a change. Civil war will commence; how it will end cannot be foretold by the boldest prophet. Milan warned King Alexander against breaking with the radicals and instituting a military regime. The king replied that unless he had his own way he intended to abdicate and leave the country. Milan thereupon left Paris immediately."

THE INDIA COUNCIL BILLS.

Views of the Calcutta Press on the Government's Decision.

CALCUTTA, Jan. 22.—The Englishman says of the India Council's decision to sell bills below the former minimum of 15 quarter pence: "It was an equal surprise to the Indian Government and the public. The former should make a clean breast of its share in the matter. Such a change at the opening of the export season is astounding. It is confidently asserted that bills have been taken up within a fortnight."

The Indian Daily News says: "It was generally expected that the limit would shortly be abandoned, but the vagueness of the news statement is likely to demoralize the market and frustrate the intention of the measure."

The Calcutta Statesman scathingly summarizes Lord Lansdowne's career as Viceroy.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The Daily News expresses doubts concerning the reports of the suspension of business and general consternation in Calcutta since the action of the Council was announced. "The only legitimate method of escaping existing difficulties," it says, "is the speedy adoption of the gold standard in India. The Government has promised this and India must relien the promise."

To Be Created Cardinals.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—A Rome correspondent says: The Pope has fixed the consistory in March, when the following prelates will be created cardinals: Tancredi Fausti, Papal Auditor; Ciasca, Secretary of the Congregation of the Propaganda; Ferraud, Archbishop of Bologna; Jacobini, Archbishop of Ferrara. The Papal Nuncio in Madrid, Creponi, will not be elevated to the cardinalate, despite the wishes of several cardinals, who are anxious that he should enter the college. Manager Salvati, Secretary of the Council, will become Vice-Chamberlain. Archbishop Satolli, Papal delegate to the church in the United States, will be elevated later. The Pope wishes him to remain in America for the present.

The Anarchist Pledge.

ROME, Jan. 22.—The rules of the anarchists have been found among the papers seized recently by the police. These rules require that all new members swear solemnly in the presence of their colleagues to labor mentally and physically to effect the triumph of the social revolution. Before the attainment of the anarchic communism, however, the members must obey blindly the orders of their superiors even at risk of life and without respect of their dearest affections. They must recognize the justice of punishing all who break their oaths to maintain the strictest secrecy.

They Shot Their Prisoners.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—A despatch to the Pall Mall Gazette from Johannesburg says the statement that Capt. Francis, of the Raaffsu Rangers, received orders not to take prisoners, and that he saw wounded men shot by Bechuanaland police, and that he himself shot two prisoners and his men four, is causing indignation. It is added, however, that all the statements are denied except the shooting of prisoners by his own hand. It is probable that extradition of Capt. Francis will be applied for by the Chartered Company.

Derelicts in the Pacific.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The British ship Senator, Captain Smith, from San Francisco, which arrived at Queenstown yesterday, reports that on January 17, in latitude 4 north longitude 17 west, she sighted a large vessel that had apparently been recently abandoned. The Derelict was timber laden. On the evening of January 17 the Senator saw a disabled steamer. She was proceeding east under sail. No signal denoting that she required assistance was displayed.

British Stock Exchange.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The rates of discount last week were 1¼ for three months and 1 for 30 days. There was a small demand for gold for Germany. The concensus of opinion is that neither the conversion of the French 4½ per cent. rentes nor the bond issue of the United States will affect London. Business on the Stock Exchange improved decidedly, although the volume was moderate. Prices of American railroad securities were firmer and trading in them was more active.

Tramps Killed in a Wreck.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Jan. 22.—Last night the fourth section of freight train No. 86 eastbound on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railroad broke in two on the Fernwood grade. When the two sections came together there was a fearful crash, wrecking five cars. The bodies of three men, supposed to be tramps, were taken out of the wreck.

Belleville, Jan., 2nd, [illegible]

A CHICAGO TRAGEDY.

A Walter, Crazed With Drink, Shoots Two Women and Ends His Own Life.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Walter P. Phipps, a waiter at the Union League Club, probably mortally wounded a young girl, inflicted a serious wound in the head of a woman, tried unsuccessfully to kill a man, and blew out his brains with a revolver at his lodgings on the north side on Saturday.

The tragedy occurred over the saloon of James McCormick, at 52 North State street. Phipps had been rooming in the house for the past four months. On Saturday Phipps arose later than usual and had scarcely dressed when Helen Erickson, the servant girl, entered to do her work. She ignored the remarks of the fellow, who had been drinking. This seemed to madden him and with an oath he seized the girl around the waist and roughly threw her to the bed. This treatment caused the girl to shriek for assistance. Mrs. McCormick heard the girl's cries and the scuffle and rushed upstairs. As she entered the room Phipps released his hold on the girl and turned on Mrs. McCormick. "Damn you," he cried, "get out of here," at the same time firing at Mrs. McCormick. The bullet took effect in her upper lip, passing back through her head and lodging back of her right ear. Now thoroughly crazed by drink and the enormity of the crime he had committed, the fellow fired at Helen, the bullet lodging in her brain. The murderer then ran down stairs unto the saloon. Harry Clark, the bar tender, saw him coming and dodged behind the bar. Phipps fired, but the bullet went wide of its mark. When Phipps saw that he had not hit Clark he deliberately placed the muzzle of his revolver to his right temple and pulled the trigger. There was a loud report and with a groan Phipps fell to the floor dead. The wounded women were taken to the hospital, where physicians were of the opinion that Mrs. McCormick may recover, but thought that the Erickson girl will die.

Drove the Manager Out of Camp.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Col., Jan. 22.—A delegation of miners drove Mr. Locke, manager of the Isabella mine, on Bull Hill, out of camp on Saturday, after first compelling him to go down on his knees and swear that he would never return. Locke's guard of two deputy sheriffs also surrendered without a struggle. The miners then served notice on Manager Travello, of the Victor mine, that his men must work only eight hours a shift after February 1. The owners of both these mines have resisted union demands for eight hours a day.

Crooked Work in a Race.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 22.—Jockey Corbley was ruled off the turf by Judge Carter, of the East St. Louis track, Friday, for pulling Climax in the third race. Afterwards, on condition that he be reinstated, Corbley confessed having received orders from owner Sam Hildreth to finish only for second or third money. Hildreth and Bookmaker Billy Dunford, the latter also interested in the "pull," were then blacklisted.

A Deliberate Suicide.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 22.—Frank B. Jilson, one of the most prominent business men in the Northwest, went home on Friday and wrote a letter to his wife, telling her he was about to take his life because of the financial depression. He then took a revolver from a bureau drawer, walked into the bathroom, locked the door behind him, sat down on the side of the bath-tub and blew his brains out.

Texas Cyclones.

DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 22.—Yesterday a hurricane swept over Oakcliff and South and East Dallas, destroying property to the extent of $100,000 and killing a boy and injuring several persons. About 20 houses were wrecked and a number of others badly damaged. A small cyclone struck the town of Potaboro, in this state, on Saturday. The Masonic temple and several small buildings were destroyed.

Another Trestle Accident.

CAMDEN, Ark., Jan. 22.—Three men were killed and eighteen injured in a wreck on the J. E. Potts Lumber Company's tram road ten miles south of Camden on Saturday. The disaster was caused by the giving way of a trestle as the men were returning from work in the evening.

Malt House Burned.

LEROY, N.Y., Jan. 22.—W. D. Matthews & Co.'s malt house caught fire Saturday. The damage caused by the flames was slight compared with that resulting from the smoke and water. Between 50,000 and 60,000 bushels of malt were ruined by the smoke and water.

An Ex-Priest's Crime.

DULUTH, Minn., Jan. 22.—Jas. E. Connolly, the ex-parish priest of Two Harbors, this county, who was convicted of committing an outrage on one of his congregation, Julia Sutherland, was Saturday sentenced to 20 years and three months in state prison.

Pugilist Arrested.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—"Jim" Ryan, the Australian pugilist, was arrested by the sheriff Saturday on complaint of Frank McManus, who charges Ryan with intending to leave for Australia to defraud his creditors.

Another Job for Judge Lynch.

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 22.—Leon Lozier, of Council Bluffs, was arrested on Saturday charged with criminal assault on a 4-year-old Danish girl named Anderson. Lozier is a sprinter of local fame.

Quieting Down in Buluwayo.

CAPETOWN, Jan. 22.—A despatch from Buluwayo, dated January 14, says that King Lobengula with few followers is entrenched close to the Zambesi River. Commissioner Jameson, through native runners, communicates the fact that all is quiet elsewhere and that the chiefs near the scene of the massacre of Capt. Wilson's party have submitted and are engaged in pegging claims with colonists, which work is proceeding rapidly.

Russian Teacher Arrested.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—A despatch to the Tageblatt from Konigsberg stated that a Russian teacher named Berkowitz has been arrested there on the charge of espionage. An enquiry into the charge has been opened.

George W. Childs' Condition.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22.—Mr. George W. Childs' physicians report that their patient is not quite so well there having been some slight rise in his temperature. One of the attending physicians remained with him all night.

Dr. Talmage Will Resign.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 22.—Rev. Dr. T. Dewitt Talmage announced last night that this coming spring, on his twenty-fifth anniversary as pastor, he will resign.

"When I was a Boy,"

Writes Postmaster J. C. WOODSON, Forest Hill, W. Va., "I had a bronchial trouble of such a persistent and stubborn character, that the doctor pronounced it incurable with ordinary medicines, and advised me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I did so, and one bottle cured me. For the last fifteen years, I have used this preparation with good effect whenever I take and I know of numbers of people who keep it in the house all the time, not considering it safe to be without it."

"I have been using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for 30 years, with the most satisfactory results, and can cheerfully recommend it as being especially adapted to all pulmonary complaints. I have, for many years, made pulmonary and other medicines a special study, and I have come to the conclusion that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral occupies a position pre-eminent over other medicines of the class."—Chas. A BRIEF NAP.

"Peter!"

No answer.

"Peter!"

"M—m—m. Hullo, is that you, mother? What's up?"

"Father's got the lumbago dreadful this morning, an' I wouldn't let him get up. You'll have to drive the milk cart, an Jack can go with you for company."

"All right. What time is it, mother?"

"Half past 2. You an Jack can eat the breakfast I laid out for father in the kitchen. You don't mind goin?"

"Not a bit."

Half an hour afterward the milkman's sons were driving through the deserted streets, with the milk cans playing a monotonous tune in the back of the wagon. Jack soon fell asleep, and Peter had hard work not to follow his example. City streets are still as the grave at 3 o'clock in the morning. He wished Jack were awake. They might have been able to talk, and he could have kept off the drowsiness that was gradually overpowering him. He sat up straight in an uncomfortable position, so that he might not lose control of himself, but gradually his muscles relaxed, his body sank on one side, till he leaned against the side of the wagon and his head dropped on his shoulder.

Meanwhile Old John trotted lazily on. It was the first time he had been driven by a sleeping charioteer.

"Hark! What was that?"

Peter awoke with a start. Old John had stopped under some trees close by a fence. How long the wagon had stood there he had no idea. It was very dark, but Peter could see by the nearest lamppost that they were on Macon street.

On the other side of the trees there was a sound of low voices. This must have awakened him. Broad awake, he listened.

"Have you got it unlocked?" said one of the voices.

"Yes," said another voice.

"Then I'll light out. There's no use my hangin round here."

"Well, just give me a boost first. The cop won't be round for an hour or more."

Then there was the sound of a window opening, and a moment later the hurried steps of a man walking down the street.

Peter shook his brother. "Jack, wake up and listen! Don't make the least noise—not the slightest. Now, are you awake? Whisper."

"Ye-es," said Jack, and in the desired whisper. "What's up?"

"Well—now listen. Take off your boots in the cart here, jump down quiet and run for your life to the police station on Pomfret street. Tell 'em there's a burglar in Judge Sherman's house; that there's no one in the house, and that they must send up a gang o' men."

Jack slipped off his boots, stepped down, and was off like an arrow.

Peter then took off his own shoes, stepped down, stole round to the front gate, in through the yard that surrounded the house and up a grass bank to the window where he had heard the men talking. It was open. He pulled himself up by the sill and climbed in.

He stood still for a moment, in doubt what to do. Suddenly he heard a footfall almost directly overhead, soft but distinct.

Peter stepped out into the front hall. It was black as pitch. Stretching his hands before his face, he groped into the back hall. There a window let in enough light for him to see the stairs. He crept up. One stair creaked. He stopped, listened and crawled on.

It was close work now. Listening, he could hear footfalls in the room above the window where he had entered. He worked his way on tiptoe to the half open door and looked in. There was a dark lantern on the table. Full against the side of the room was a man's shadow.

With the utmost surety of movement, Peter felt with his hand on the inside of the door close below the handle. The key was in the lock. He drew it out like a flash, regardless of noise now, slammed the door and locked it. Then he drew into the darkest shadow and waited.

Silence. The man was thinking. What would he do? Try to break open the door? Probably. Luckily it opened into the room.

Yes. Bang, bang! The man was battering the door. It held, but how long would it? Slam, bang! One of the panels gave way, letting out a long streak of light from the dark lantern. Oh, he had left the key in the lock! Peter realized that as an arm was pushed through the broken panel, the door unlocked and the man came rushing out.

But a boy doesn't go to a public school for 10 years without learning something!

Peter's foot was extended at just the right time, and burglar and lantern came headlong to the floor with a crash. The man swore, got up and examined his lantern. It was still lighted. He turned it slowly round the hall till it fell on Peter in a corner.

He caught the boy by the shoulder, swearing. "Who are you, you little brat?" were the words Peter made out.

Peter was frightened. Where were the policemen? The lantern turned toward the wall gave a subdued light, but he could see no one on the stairs.

"That was a poor job o' yours leavin that window open," he said, with a show of bravery, to gain time.

"You rat!" said the other. "I'll make you sorry you ever saw that window." He drew a revolveer.

Peter was listening. There was now a ghost of a sound on the stairs.

"Oh, you'd best not shoot!" he said quickly. "Hangin if you kill me; only 10 years without."

The man laughed. "You're not so far wrong there," said he, "so I'll just simply give you the worst licking you ever had in your life!" He was standing with his back to the stairs. As he spoke a dark shadow rose and paused close behind his shoulder. He raised his hand to strike. But Peter was not frightened now. "Glad to see you, officer," he said politely, looking with a smile beyond the man.

The burglar turned his head, with his hand still raised. By the dim light of his lantern he could see two curving rows of brass buttons and a revolver muzzle within a yard of his head.

Ten minutes later Peter and Jack were booted and jogging on again behind old John.—Washington News.

Feminine Longevity.

The well known fact that women live longer than men is illustrated as follows: The excess of females of all ages over males of all ages in England and Wales is only about 3½ per cent—in round figures 15,000,000 minus 50,000 to 14,000,000 plus 50,000. But when we begin to compare women over 60 with men over 60 the female majority becomes much greater, and when we once pass 85 the old men are nowhere. The female nonogenarians nearly double the male. There are 854 women over 95 to 354 men, and 104 gammers to 42 gaffers who own to a century.

The County Council will meet to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock for organization. There are three aspirants for the Warden's chair.

John Russell, a tramp, was brought before the Magistrate this morning and was asked to be sent up, His request was granted and he got 80 days.

The front door of a drug store was found insecure on Saturday night by the police and made secure.

Miss Alice Raymond, who appears here to-morrow night with the Price-Raymond Operatic Concert Co., will be remembered by all those who visited the late Toronto Exhibition where she played, filling the enormous grand stand at every performance. This company is without doubt carrying the highest salaried artists in their different lines in America. It is to be hoped they will have a full house.

A quiet wedding took place this morning at St Michael's Church, the contracting parties being Mr. F. Coron, of the Bell Telephone staff, and Miss Adelina Brodin, daughter of the late Baptiste Brodin. The ceremony was performed by Mgr. Farrelly. Only a few intimate friends were present. After partaking of a handsome wedding breakfast the happy couple left for a honeymoon trip to Montreal.

Tweed News.—Joseph P. Latchford received a letter on Monday, from Phillips, Wis., containing the news of the death of his cousin, Hamilton L. Dale, killed in the woods. Deceased's death was caused by being jammed between a stump and a load of logs which he was hauling. The parents reside in the first concession of Hungerford.

C A Aylmer, organizer, has organized two associations in North Hastings, Bronson Associations in Dungannon township John Hawkins, Bancroft, secretary-treas., and Page Road Association in Faraday township, Joseph Sexsmith, president, and Henry Foster, sec-treas.

Mrs. John Marrigan, Sr., of Deseronto, died on Monday, aged 67 years. Deceased, whose maiden name was Thomas, was born in Kilkenny county, Ireland, but came to this country with her parents at an early age. With her husband she enjoyed a happy wedded life of 49 years and 9 days The funeral took place on Wednesday forenoon and was attended by a large concourse of friends, some of whom came from Montreal, Belleville, Napanee and various other parts of the district.

Still Another Triumph.—Mr. Thomas S. Bullen, Sunderland, writes: "For fourteen years I was afflicted with piles; and frequently I was unable to walk or sit, but four years ago I was cured by using DR. THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL. I have also been subject to quinsy for over forty years, but Electric Oil cured it, and it was a permanent cure in both cases, as neither the piles nor quinsy have troubled me since."

Sore Throat.—The best cure we know of for sore teroat is a gargle of Pain Killer and water—its acts like magic. Big Bottles twice the quantity in the old style.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

What was Said and Done in Some of the Pulpits Yesterday

BRIDGE STREET.

Topics evidently don't fill churches always, else Mr. Baker's sermon as announced in our columns of Saturday "How to fill the churches," would have rallied the Bridge street congregation yesterday morning, despite the inclemency of the weather. Those who were there heard one of their pastor's best sermons from The text—Luke XIV., 25.—His plea was "the churches for the masses not the classes." In the evening the church was taxed to accommodate those present. The pastor, who was the preacher, had as his topic "Thou shalt not steal," the sermon being one of a series on the ten commandment.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

The minister of St. Andrew's church, Rev M. W Maclean, spoke impressively upon the duty of decision of christian character and the voluntary cultivation of spiritual life as essential to the growth of the soul in grace, taking as his text James IV, 6, "But He giveth more grace." The members of the church partook of the Holy communion, many being present, despite the storm. In the evening the subject was Divine justice and mercy, the text being Romans II, 12 "Save that the judgment of God is according to truth," and allied verses. Nowhere is salvation offered unconditionally and no man is forced to accept redemption—the responsibility is upon ourselves and we live in the light. The choir sang two anthems very sweetly. The annual congregational meeting will be held to-night. The Kingston Presbytery meet to-morrow (Tuesday) in Kingston.

Rev. A. L. Geen yesterday conducted services in the Anglican church at Picton.

Rev. Dr Carman was in Toronto yesterday and preached in the Toronto Trinity Methodist church to large congregations.

At the annual meeting of John St. Presbyterian church last week the following were elected trustees: A. G. Northrup, Robt. Tannahill, Jas. Smith, Thos. Ritchie, U. E. Thompson; managing committee, John Forin, Thos. Ritchie, Prof. Coleman, D. V. Sinclair, U. E. Thompson, A. Brignall, Robt. Tannahill, F. Landenberger, Geo. Fax, W. B. Robinson, Wm. Smeaton, John McEwen, The report of the session, of the pastor, Rev. Mr. George, and of the secretary, Mr. D. V. Sinclair, were very satisfactory. The church is in a flourishing condition the congregation is increasing in size, many additions have been made to the membership, and all the societies in connection with the church are doing good work. The Sunday School is also very prosperous, and the membership is increasing to such an extent that it is probable an addition will have to be made to the Sunday School rooms.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION

Two Young Men Charged With Loitering About a John St Residence

Two young men named John O'Keefe and Jessie Sweet were arrested shortly after 10 o'clock on Saturday night on the corner of Bridge and John streets, charged with acting in a suspicious manner. Mr. W. F. Jones testified that when he was going home he saw one of the men, O'Keefe standing on the street and he saw the other man in the back part of the premises occupied by his mother, Mrs. N. Jones. When asked what he was doing there he stated that he was afraid of the other man and was endeavoring to escape from him. O'Keefe denied being in the yard. Sweet was discharged but O'Keefe was remanded until Thursday.

Hoods and Only Hoods

Hood's Sarsaparilla is carefully prepared from Sarsaparilla, Dandelion, Mandrake, Dock, Pipsissewa, Juniper berries and other well-known remedies, by a peculiar combination, proportion and process, giving to Hood's Sarsaparilla curative powers not possessed by other medicines. It effects remarkable cures when other preparations fail.

Hood's Pills cure billousness.

The Swindler Caught

A man has been arrested in Brockville who had been conducting a swindle in that town in a manner similar to that carried on in three places here, and he is probably the same person. He visited a store there and enquired for a few articles to the value of $1.25, stating that they were for another merchant near by. He then went and took them to another business place securing the money by stating to the clerk that the proprietor had purchased them.

Its Excellent Qualities

commend to public approval the California liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs. It is pleasing to the eye, and to the taste and by gently acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels. it cleanses the system effectually thereby promoting the health and comfort of all who use it.

Fractured her Ankle

Miss Huff, who is a resident of Huff's Island, but who is at present residing in the city, yesterday met with a painful accident. She was walking in the yard in the rear of Mr. Wallace's store when she slipped and in falling broke a bone in her left ankle also spraining the ankle badly. Dr. Gibson was called and reduced the fracture.

Blessings are not always sugar-coated. No, neither are pills—but Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are, and they are genuine blessings in (sugar-coated) disguise to the sufferer from billiousness, constipation, indigestion and all derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

Buy them and try them,
You can't make a mistake,
They're powerful, yet painless.
And pleasant to take.

Y M C A Notes.

Owing to counter attractions Dr. Gibson's medical talk was postponed until Feb. 2, when he will speak on hygiene.

Mr. C. Clapp led the young mens' meeting yesterday afternoon.

Messrs. P. O. Jones, Fredericks, Magrath, Hart and Stephens, will likely attend the Provincial Convention of the Ontario and Quebec Associations to be held in Toronto this week.

WHALEN PLEADS GUILTY

Remanded for a Week—The Lost Money to be Returned

The case of James Whalen accused of robbing Francis Taylor of $150 was continued at the police court on Saturday afternoon until 6 o'clock when an adjournment was made until this morning. When the court assembled this morning there was a large number of spectators present to hear the trial, but they were somewhat doomed to disappointment as a consultation held between the Magistrate and the counsels in the case and a settlement was arrived at. Whalen through Mr. Porter, his solicitor, pleaded guilty to the offence and promised to restore to Mr. Taylor the money which is still missing, some $25. He was then remanded for one week when he will be brought up for sentence.

About Salaries of Officials

Toronto Mail:—In Belleville, where a salary reduction is proposed, Mr. W. H Biggar, M.P.P., who is a heavy tax payer declared a few days ago that he would rather pay a couple of extra mills on the dollar than drive honest and efficient officials out of the civic employ. There is good sound sense in that remark. The ratepayers want in office men they can trust, and they are prepared to pay them fair living salaries. In the long run it is cheaper for them to retain the services of tried men than to confide great interests to inexperienced hands.

Woman a ———?

Woman is a conundrum most decidedly. Still we do not propose to give her up. Let a woman have her health and spirits and she is the sunshine of the house. But suppose she is sick, what then? Why, then there is a shadow over all the house. Happily in thousands of homes, such shadows have been removed. Thanks to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the diseases and weaknesses incident to their sex have been removed, and, with health restored, their bright spirits have come back, and the household has passed from the winter of its discontent to a glad summer of comfort. O, suffering women, for your own sakes, and for the sakes of those about you, use these simple means and be healed. The only remedy so effective in nervous and general prostration, "Female Weakness," periodical pains, irregularities and kindred ailments, that it can be guaranteed or sold on trial.

Huntingdon Council

TOWN HALL, Moira, Jan. 15th, 1894.

The members elect met at the appointed time and severally made and subscribed to the required declarations of office and qualifications and took their seats.

The council went into committee of the whole on by-laws with the reeve in the chair.

A by-law appointing J. B. Morton and Fred Herity auditors, and a by-law appointing Alex. Harvey and Anthony Herity assessors were passed and numbered 220 and 221 respectively. James Carson, jr., applied to have his statute labor and that of James Hollinger applied on the allowance between the sixth and seventh concession accross lot 12. The matter was laid over until the next meeting of the council. Geo. Ross applied to have possession of the original allowances for road between the second and third concessions across part of lot three in lieu of the travelled road running through his land. The matter was laid over for next meeting of the council.

The Collector's time was extended to Feb. 5th next.

The Clerk was instructed to settle with and pay the Intelligencer Printing and Publishing Co's. account also to order three subscriptions to the Municipal World.

The Road Surveyor was ordered to be paid six dollars for his services for 1893 as were the following amounts for Deputy Returning officers and polling places.

No.1. Peter Targey $4 and $4 for use of Orange hall.

No. 2. Town hall, J. G. Foster $4.

No. 3. Mathew Tummon $4, and $4 for use of factory.

Council adjourned to meet on the first Monday in Feb. for the appointment of Township officers, etc.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA

The cornet playing of Miss Alice Raymond was exquisitely done and was a very acceptable innovation as a special feature. She is a decided artist, and was rewarded with unlimited applause. Her work alone is worth the price of admission charged.—Wellington Star.

Miss Alice Raymond, probably the most expert lady cornet soloist in this country, was enthusiastically received. There were other artists on the program who won great applause. -Philadelphia Times.

The cornet playing of Miss Raymond is grand and saying nothing of her personal attractions, it is not to be wondered at that she is a general favorite.—Atlantic City Review.

ENGLAND'S LATEST "VICTORY."

Having conquered Lobengula, Great Britain will now proceed to "protect" his territory with her usual neatness and dispatch.—Baltimore American.

The British lion will strut about with an extra wave of his tail when it has killed, subdued and robbed the half starved natives of the Matabele country.—Chicago News.

The British soldiery have vanquished a relative handful of rude South Africans who were bold enough to nail "no trespass" on their fences, and justice is again satisfied.—Boston Globe.

Now that the British troops have killed some more natives in South Africa, we may look for a fresh flood of learned criticisms from the British commander telling why Sherman and Grant were not great soldiers.—Indianapolis News.

It would have been a more daring and dangerous exploit to surround and capture a live gorilla. The sympathy of the world will be with the poor African savages who have been killed while defending their homes and lands.—Philadelphia Record.

The experience of the Matabeles, illustrating war on a small scale, should teach great nations to beware of it. With modern arms every battle is simply a slaughter. Civilized people must and will find some way of arranging differences other than murdering 10,000 or 15,000 men in as many minutes.—Kansas City Star.

The so called "Matabele war" begins to look a good deal like a wholesale machine gun butchery of natives by mercenary invaders under the guise of self defense. "Self defense," as practiced by European monarchs in conquering weak tribes of unlettered people, is a unique abuse of language.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Doubtless British civilization is better for Africa than the prevalency of native savagery, but all the same it is possession acquired by injustice. England has won all her Asiatic and African territory in that way. She encroaches on the natives. They resist, and then she massacres them and seizes their lands.—Minneapolis Journal.

COLD WEATHER RULES.

Never lean with the back upon anything that is cold.

Never begin a journey until the breakfast has been eaten.

Never take warm drinks and then immediately go out into the cold.

Keep the back, especially between the shoulder blades, well covered; also the chest well protected.

In sleeping in a cold room, establish a habit of breathing through the nose and never with the mouth open.

After exercise of any kind never ride in an open carriage or near the window of a car for a moment; it is dangerous to health or even life.

When hoarse, speak as little as possible until the hoarseness is recovered from, else the voice may be permanently lost or difficulties of the throat be produced.

Merely warm the back by the fire and never continue keeping the back exposed to the heat after it has become comfortably warm. To do otherwise is debilitating.

When going from a warm atmosphere into a cooler one, keep the mouth closed so that the air may be warmed in its passage through the nose before it reaches the lungs.

Never go to bed with cold or damp feet. Never omit regular bathing, for unless the skin is in active condition the cold will close the pores and favor congestion and other diseases.

Never stand still in cold weather, especially after having taken a slight degree of exercise, and always avoid standing on ice or snow or where the person is exposed to cold wind.—Exchange.

THE JEWEL CASKET.

Large horn shaped vases of silver have basket shaped handles.

A new tea strainer is spoon shaped with double perforated bowls. The spoon with the tea inclosed is placed in the cup and the hot water poured on.

There is an undoubted fancy for picturesque enamels. Enamel pictures and reproductions are found in all sorts of bijouterie boxes, caskets and bonbon boxes.

There are many odd designs in watches, such as a cord of gold inlaid with olivines and a fringed ball of olivines at the end, in which is the watch. There are also floral watches.

A mounted lemon squeezer is the latest imported novelty. It is mounted on a silver plated standard, works with a lever and is high enough to allow a pitcher of good size to be placed beneath.

Silver gilt is having the largest share of popularity. Queer shaped receptacles on standards, with handles on one side, are used for all sorts of purposes. The ornament is in low relief and has a curiously interesting ripple effect.

Silver catchalls have been introduced that in size are small enough for studs and buttons and large enough for gloves and handkerchiefs. They are all alike in design, with perforated sides and ornamental thumb pieces projecting at the quarter sections.—Jewelers' Circular.

The Duchesse d'Uzes has sculptured a statue which will stand very high. It is a colossal figure of the Virgin, and will be erected on one of the loftiest summits of the Rouergue mountains.

The success of Mme. Grand's novel, "The Heavenly Twins," remains the most notable literary occurrence of the year in London. Another three volume edition is coming out there—the third in this form. This is a rare circumstance in England.

GRAINS OF GOLD.

One may live as a conqueror, a king or a magistrate, but he must die as a man.

Do not lose the present in vain perplexities about the future. If fortune lowers today, she may smile tomorrow.

He that does not know those things which are of use for him to know is but an ignorant man, whatever he may know besides.

The child's first experiences remain with him permanently. The first color, the first music, the first flower, make up the foreground of his life.

Little things often change the current of life. A moment's temper has often severed a friendship which might have lasted a lifetime. An unkind and hasty word has left a mark which death seems scarcely to have erased.

Let a man but admit his ignorance and be willing to learn; there is always hope for him. It is for those alone who are invincibly ignorant of their own ignorance that there exists no prospect whatever of intellectual salvation.—Montreal Star.

WALL PAPER ! !

With this advertisement we commence the Wall Paper campaign for 1894. We are going to make a hard, vigorous fight for a large season's business in interior decorations, and by watching this space closely in the future you will read some points on the practical decoration of a house that cannot help but put you in the way of fixing up your homes, cheaply yet sensibly and artistically too.

Apropos of this, our first hint to you is to not delay your work too long. With a stock like we always carry, and with the paper hangers with little or no work to engage them, now is the time to have your work done and done properly. At the present writing we are in a position to undertake at once the contract to paper 500 homes, including every room in the house from the kitchen to the Drawing Room and with the most modern effects.

We have the latest schemes known to the wallpaper world for facilitating the handling of wallpaper.

We can give you better attention now than during the rush later on in the Spring; we can give you as close prices as you can get any time during the present year, we can show you over 500 designs to choose from, and coupled with this you can get your paper hanger at an hour's notice.

Do not delay till house cleaning time; Paper Hanging is not simply house cleaning 'tis house decoration, Ay! and furnishing too. Think it over!

Prof. Dyer, of Belleville paid a flying visit to Mr. Warren Spafford on Saturday.

Mr. W. R. Vandervoort and daughter, Mrs. Sandy Whyte, have been visiting friends at Garden Hill.

Miss Minnie Fletcher entertained a number of her friends at her home on Tuesday. A very enjoyable time was spent.

A new lodger.—A bright little baby girl—put in its appearance at Mr. Ed. Bartlett's on Friday.

On Friday evening a large number from here attended the lecture given by Mr. Phillips, returned missionary from British Columbia, at Centenary. The eloquent gentleman delivered a very witty and instructive address, which was listened to with marked attention. Those who stopped at home missed a rare treat.

Miss Hattie Bartlett, of Belleville, is visiting her cousin, Miss Phenie Kelley.

Messrs Abner, and Clinton Hogle of Rawdon were visiting relatives here on Wednesday.

Mr. Frank Spafford left on Saturday for his new home at Garden Hill. Frank will be greatly missed by us all for he was a jolly good fellow. He felt very sad at parting with Sidney and old associates but we hope he'll ne'er forget the girls he left behind him.

Mr. and Mrs Griffin of Holloway, have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. P. W. Fairman.

Writing of the change afterwards Principal Dickson said:—"Irrespective of one's leanings to Canadian authorship 'The Canadian Accountant' is the best." Among competent judges this is the universal opinion.

"MOST WIDELY."

CHAPTER II.

EX-PURSER on the WAR PATH.

My last letter is unanswerable,

Ex-purser is now using the weapons of the blackguard and coward, namely, threats and abuse,

From a perusal of "Personal" in last Saturday's issue it will be seen that the EX-PURSER has at last admitted that his senior partner is not an author, and that he himself is entitled to only a small part of the authorship of "MOST WIDELY." The senior partner and the EX-PURSER advertise to the contrary notwithstanding. For further proof see their circulars. The senior partner has been dropped out of the authorship. Perhaps a little more light will enable the ex-purser to see his way out. In recent articles published by these men I have been personally attacked in a very abusive and cowardly manner, and my methods of conducting my college have been misrepresented. What they have published in reference to the "key and reference book" is absolutely untrue. When it is known that the REAL author of the "MOST WIDELY" got his business training in an American business college and that the senior partner of the present firm is a graduate of an American business college, is it not strange that these two men who are now running the top flat should insult the American people by advertising American educational methods as "American shallowness"?

They have many things of American origin in their observatory. The fact is, that these men owe what ever measure of success they have had to the use they have made of what they now term "American shallowness".

CLEVELAND ENDORSED.

His Stand on the Hawaii Question Approved of in a Resolution.

NO FOREIGN INTERFERENCE.

The Resolution States Further That the People of That Country Should Be Accorded Absolute Freedom to Pursue Their Own Line of Policy.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—McCready, Republican, chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, has prepared and introduced in the House a resolution defining the attitude of Congress towards Hawaii. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs and will receive consideration at Thursday's meeting. Mr. McCreary says that the resolution represents the sentiments of the nine Democratic members of the committee and he expects it will be reported to the House and form the basis of the discussion of the Hawaiian question, which will begin immediately after the disposition of the tariff bill. The text of the resolution is as follows:—

Resolved—First.—That it is the sense of this House that the action of the United States Minister in employing United States naval forces and illegally aiding in overthrowing the constitutional government of the Hawaiian Islands in January, 1893, and in setting up in its place a provisional government not Republican in form and in opposition to the will of the majority of the people was contrary to the traditions of our republic and the spirit of our constitution, and should be and is condemned.

Second—That we heartily approve of the principle announced by the President of the United States that interference with domestic affairs of an independent nation is contrary to the spirit of American institutions, and it is further the sense of this House that the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands to our country or the assumption of a protectorate over them by our Government is uncalled for and inexpedient. That the people of that country should have absolute freedom and independence in pursuing their own line of policy and that foreign intervention in the political affairs of the island will not be regarded with indifference by the Government of the United States.

The Hawaiian question presented itself in the Senate in two separate and distinct phases. It came up first in the shape of a resolution reported from the Committee on Foreign Relations, declaring it to be unwise and inexpedient under existing conditions to consider at this time any project of annexation of the Hawaiian territory to the United States; that the Provisional Government, having been duly recognized, the highest international interests require that it shall pursue its own line of policy and that foreign intervention in the political affairs of the Islands would be regarded as an act unfriendly to the Government of the United States.

The second phase in which the Hawaiian question was presented, was a speech by Mr. Cullom (Rep., Ills.,), based on Mr. Frye's resolution of non-intervention and severely criticising the administration.

Tried to Bribe the Jurors.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Foreman F. W. Bender, of the coroner's jury investigating the Hackensack disaster on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad last week, announced on Monday night at the opening session in Quartet Hall, Hoboken, that an attempt had been made to tamper with the jury. A secret meeting of the jurors was held early in the evening, and the members who had been approached told fully what had occurred. When the jury entered the hall Foreman Bender made the following announcement to the large crowd that had been waiting over an hour:—"This delay has been due to an investigation of charges that the jury had been tampered with. I want to state to you right here that the report is partially true. There was an attempt made to tamper with us, but nothing definite was offered. We will bring the matter to the attention of the grand jury."

Troops at Jacksonville.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 24.—In anticipation of the Corbett-Mitchell fight the second battalion of the State troops arrived yesterday. They were in charge of Major Tovell, who preceded his command one day. The command numbers 133 officers and men. They arrived prepared for active work and a long campaign. Besides their arms the troops brought blankets and sustenance. There is a strong belief here that the movements of the troops will be commanded in case of martial law being declared by Adjutant-General Houston, who will act under instructions from the Governor.

Shut In by Storms.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 24.—A. J. Roberts, Michael O'Brien and W. S. Townley left yesterday morning for the wilds of the North west territory, whither they go in search of a party of friends from whom nothing has been heard for over three months. The two former gentlemen are from Pittsburg, Pa., the latter is a young Englishman, who has come over to this country expressly to make one of the relief expedition. The last hear from the missing party was in a letter written Oct. 9th, from Edmonton. The party were going north in search of musk ox. It is feared that they are shut in by the storm at some Indian village.

Manufacture of Incandescent Lamps.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Judge R. Ricks, of the United States Circuit Court, has just rendered a decision in the suit of the Edison Electric Light Co. against the Buckeye Electric Co., holding that the Edison Incandescent Lamp patent expired on November 10, of last year, when the English patent for the same invention expired. The effect of this, it is said, is to throw the manufacture of incandescent lamps open to the public.

Gold in Colorado.

LEADVILLE, Col., Jan. 24.—The recent gold strike in the Little Johnnie mine has become a remarkable bonanza. One day last week the value in gold ore taken from the mine amounted to $123,000. This is a remarkable showing. The largest record output in a single day, or rather 18 hours, from Leadville was from the Robert Eel mine, when $118,000 worth of silver ore was lifted.

Shortage in His Accounts.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—There is said to be a shortage of at least $21,000 in the accounts of John H. Wood, who was up to a year or two ago treasurer of the Brooklyn Tabernacle. It is also said Wood has made over to his wife all his real property.

THE EMPEROR AND BISMARCK.

Talk of a Probable Visit to William From the Iron Prince.

BERLIN, Jan. 24.—The announcement that Prince Bismarck has promised to visit Emperor William has caused a sensation here. Bismarck's friends in the Reichstag assert that the Emperor was led to invite Bismarck to Berlin by the recent Mittnacht incident in the Reichstag. The Emperor's sense of uprightness, according to Bismarck's friends, was shocked by the public declarations that Prussia had broken faith with Wurtemberg. Herr Von Kardorff already sees Bismarck returning to power. Outside of the circle of enemies of Chancellor Von Caprivi, however, a reconstruction of the Cabinet with Bismarck behind the scenes is held to be impossible. The Emperor declared a week ago that he fully stood by the Chancellor.

Both the press and the public are engrossed with the subject of Bismarck's coming visit. The North German Gazette says that the invitation to Bismarck was made entirely on the Emperor's initiative in continuation of the advances begun last summer at Guens, and that the visit has no immediate political meaning.

The National Gazette rejoices at the rapprochement between the Emperor and Bismarck and predicts that the nation generally will be pleased.

The Berlin Bourse was favorably affected by the news of Bismarck's proposed visit.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily News says it is believed in Paris that Premier Crispi mediated between Emperor William and Prince Bismarck. The Vienna correspondent of the Daily News says M. A. Vakumovitch has failed to form a Cabinet in Servia. The King would not accept his programme. Another attempt will be made by the moderate radicals.

German Editor Arrested.

KIEL, Jan. 24.—Herr Strobel, editor of the Volks Zeitung, the local Socialist organ, has been sentenced to imprisonment for one month at hard labor for asserting that the captain of the German ironclad Koenig Wilhelm punished marines by suspending them from the masts as if crucified. Strobel based his assertion on what he said was the sworn testimony of the ship's carpenter. The court held that the story was untrue, otherwise the victims would have made complaint.

Praise for Dufferin.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Lord Dufferin is said to deserve a good deal of the thanks due to those who pressed the Government into a show of taking action on the navy question, and he deserves still more credit, if rumor speaks truly, in that he insisted on the point so firmly that the matter was not allowed to stop at a mere show of interest.

Russell Talks to the Pope.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—When Baron Ferdinand Rothschild's yacht was at Civita Vecchia, Sir Charles Russell paid a flying visit to Rome and was closeted for half an hour with the Pope, when there was an intimate talk, both personal and political, and the best impression was created on both sides.

To Increase the Tax on Corn.

PARIS, Jan. 24.—The Customs Committee of the Chamber of Deputies yesterday discussed a proposal made by M. Edmond Caze to authorize the Government to issue a decree increasing the tax on corn. The proposal received considerable support.

Vatican and Czar.

ROME, Jan. 24.—An accord between the Vatican and Russia on ecclesiastical questions has been arranged by the Russian envoy, M. Iswolski having received orders to observe a conciliatory attitude in the negotiations to effect that end.

THE TARIFF DISCUSSION.

Amendment Taxing Sugar Defeated—Free Coal Schedule Discussion.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The sense of the House in the matter of free sugar was again made manifest when the amendment offered by Mr. Warner (Dem., N.Y.,), putting refined sugar on the free list, was reaffirmed, while that of Mr. Robertson, (Dem., La.,), amendment putting a tax on sugar was defeated, thus leaving all sugar free.

The greater part of the day was given up to a consideration of the coal schedule, but the only result achieved was to show the existence in the Democratic ranks of a number of members with protectionist proclivities. The amendments were all defeated, and Hitt's retaliatory amendment was ruled out.

The outlook for the passage of the tariff bill in the Senate was never more unfavorable than at the present time, and all on account of a quarrel between the President and Senators Hill and Murphy.

How 'Change Takes the Sugar Schedule.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The action of the House of Representatives on the sugar schedule of the Wilson bill made the sensation of the day in American sugar on the Stock Exchange, 153,000 certificates were sold, and the decline for the day was 4¼, though at one time the quotation was down to 76. The market was firmly steady at the close, the general list participated in the decline to the extent of ¼ to 1½ per cent.

A Jealous Husband's Deed.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—John Shea, street car conductor, murdered his wife Margaret at their residence here yesterday. Shea afterwards shot himself and will die. Jealousy was the cause of the tragedy, but the grown-up children of Mrs. Shea declare that the suspicions of their step-father were groundless.

School Teachers Drowned.

GUTHRIE, O.T., Jan. 24.—Mr. and Mrs. Gustavus H. Lyon and Miss Minnie Chapman, teachers in the Sac and Fox Indian school, were drowned in the Deep Fork Creek Sunday while fording the stream in a buggy.

Mrs. Schirmer-Mapleson Dying.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Mrs. Laura Schirmer-Mapleson was lying at the Everett house last night hovering between life and death. Her doctors say if she survives till to-day there is hope for her recovery.

GOLD FOR INSURGENT CAUSE.

Elated at Their Success Their Friends Are Coming Forward With the Sinews—Arbitration to be Submitted to the United States.

MONTEVIDEO, Jan. 24.—A despatch from Rio Janeiro, dated Jan. 19, and claimed to be reliable, says:—On the night of Jan. 15 the insurgents recaptured Mocangue Islands with three small cannon and 130 prisoners. Killed and wounded numbered 50. The insurgents lost 14 killed. The insurgent warship Aquidaban brought to Rio bay 600 men, who now occupy Conceicao and Mocangue Islands. An unsuccessful attempt to land at Nictheroy was made by the insurgents on January 16. Government troops tried to retake Mocangue Island on the night of January 17, but failed.

The friends of the insurgents are elated over the recent successes of their side and their contributions of gold are increasing. Their mail carrier says that he has carried off from here a total of £1,000,000 sterling.

A Government official said last night that President Peixoto and Admiral Da Gama had agreed to submit their differences to the United States for arbitration, but that certain well-paid officers were trying to prevent the agreement from being carried out. President Peixoto expects that the war will be ended by January 25.

The dynamite cruiser Nictheroy, the gunboat Parnahyba and the Gustavo Sampaio, the torpedo boat bought from England, formerly known as the Aurora, now the flagship of Admiral Duarte, commander-in-chief of the loyal fleet in Northern Brazil, left Pernambuco on Saturday bound for Rio de Janeiro.

FAST ATLANTIC SERVICE.

The Marquis of Ripon Interviewed by a Deputation—Subsidy Asked For.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The Marquis of Ripon, Secretary of State for the Colonies, received a deputation consisting of Sir Charles Tupper, Canada's High Commissioner, Mr. James Huddart, of the Canadian-Australian Pacific steamship line, and the Agents General of Tasmania, New Zealand and Victoria. Able speeches were made urging the Imperial Government to subsidize the Canadian-Australian steamship service to the extent of £2,500 yearly for ten years in order that the service might be sustained. If this were done assurances were given that the company would undertake to build another steamship which would be available as an armored cruiser in time of war. The company would also undertake that all future steamers would be similarly built. It was urged that the Government would save by granting this subsidy as the decrease in the subsidies hereafter paid via the Suez canal route would be greater than the subsidy asked for by the Canadian-Australian line. The importance of the route to mails, passengers and trade and also to the admiralty, and for communication with the Fiji Islands was pointed out.

Mr. Huddart said that without an Imperial subsidy of £25,000 the company could not comply with the Admiralty conditions, as such steamers as are used in the service cost £200,000 each.

The Marquis of Ripon promised the deputation to give the matter his consideration and bring it before the Cabinet. The British Postmaster-General, the Right Hon. Arnold Morley, has recognized the new route, and has given instruction that all Australian letters marked "Via Canada" are to be sent by it in future. In making this announcement the Postmaster-General urges the imperative need of the much-talked-of and long-promised fast Atlantic service.

Germany's Police and Workingmen.

BERLIN, Jan. 24.—Two thousand of the unemployed workingmen of this city attended a meeting in Friedrichshain yesterday. Three hundred policemen were present to preserve order. The anarchist Spohr, in accordance with his promise to produce proof that the police arranged in advance for the outrages which they committed last week in dispersing the crowds near the Koenigsthor, called upon an anarchist named Brandt to tell what he knew of the doings of the police. Brandt declared that the police bribed him in November last to inform them in regard to anarchists arming. He also said that the police warned him on January 11 not to attend the meeting fixed for the 18th as there was a strong feeling against the police and accidents might occur. The speakers soon began to use violent language and the meeting was dissolved by the police.

More Arrests in Italy.

ROME, Jan. 24.—Arrests contine to be made in Carrara and Massa di Carrara in connection with the recent rioting. Explosives have been found hidden in a number of spots in the quarries, and a small mine has been discovered in a tree close to the public road. The whole district is now tranquil. Signor Colajanni, the Sicilian Socialist Deputy, has returned to Rome with a strong purpose to assail Premier Crispi and his policy. The Radical deputies are preparing a programme of unflinching hostility to the Government.

Pardon for Lobengula.

CAPETOWN, Jan. 24.—Sir Henry Loch has despatched a messenger to King Lobengula, pledging, in the Queen's name, that if he surrenders, his life and interests shall be assured, and he will not be deported from Africa. Sir Henry has arranged with Premier Cecil Rhodes to provide the King with an adequate tract of land south of the Orange River, the Chartered Company furnishing the royal income.

Abor Tribesmen Punished.

CALCUTTA, Jan. 24.—The British expedition under Capt. Maxwell, sent to punish the Abor tribesmen, had an engagement with the tribesmen on Sunday. The natives were defeated, but the loss inflicted on them is not known. The British captured Dumbak, an Arbor village, and burned it. Two of the British force were killed and several wounded.

Lansdowne on the Silver Question.

CALCUTTA, Jan. 24.—Lord Lansdowne, the retiring Viceroy of India, in a speech at a farewell banquet, said that the Government adhered to its main object, namely, to restrict silver currency and that this object would be attained if the mints continued closed. He was of the opinion that the native demand for cheap silver would eventually cease.

Husband and Wife
Both Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla

Catarrh, Kidney Complaint, Heart Failure, Liver Troubles.

"I think it my duty to voluntarily tell what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for myself and wife. Last spring my wife was in a very bad way with kidney complaint; felt and could hardly get around the house. She began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and in one week she was improving. When she had taken but three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla she was cured of that dreadful disease. As for me, I was troubled with Catarrh, Heart Failure and Liver Complaint. Suffered so intensely that

I Could Not Sleep

at night, nor get any rest through the day. As soon as I lay down, my heart would beat so hard that I would have to get up. I had very severe pains in the small of my back and noises in my head like a flock of black birds all singing at once. So you see I was hard up. I also experienced benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla within a week after I began taking it. I have improved rapidly and can now sleep better than I have for a year, can eat and not bloat as I used to. We praise for we think there is no medicine like it." HENRY C. and MARY E. RICHARDSON, Siloam, Madison County, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

IS THE BEST REMEDY FOR SPRAINS, BRUISES, SCALDS, BURNS & CUTS.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the east of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deleterious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and though its act on is thorough in cases of costiveness never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowels like a violent purgative. It invigorates the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney disease scrofulous and all diseases of the blood femole weakness, &c. &c Price $1.00 Sample bottle 10 cents. The Reeve introduced a by-law to appoint auditors which was read, referred and confirmed in committee. James McCullough and Alexander J McLaren were appointed auditors, and the council adjourned till Thursday the 1st day of February at which time the assessors, pathmasters, poundkeepers and fence viewers will be appointed.

All parties interested will govern themselves accordingly.

A. B. RANDALL.
Clerk.

Every Young Man

should be possessed of certain information without which millions contract pernicious and most destructive habits—habits which make young men permanently aged pale haggard, listless, devoid of ambition, easily tried, languid, forgetful and incapable, fill mad-houses and swell the list of suicides, separate husbands and wives; bring untold suffering millions even unto the third and fourth generation. Parents guardians and philanthropists can do no better service to the rising generation, than to place in their hands the information and warnings contained in a little book carefully prepared by an association of medical men who have had vast experience in dealing with the grave maladies here hinted at, and who feel that they owe it to humanity to warn the young of the land against certain destructive habits, which are far more prevalent than any layman can imagine, and which if persisted in gradually undermine the constitution and health, and destroy the future happiness of the victim. Cut out this notice and enclose it with ten cents in stamps (to pay postage), to World's Dispensary Medical association, Invalids Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo. N. Y., and the book will be sent, secure from observation, in a plain sealed envelope.

Asthma Sufferers

Who have in vain tried every means of relief should try "Schiffmann's Asthma Cure." No waiting for results. Its action is immediate, direct and certain, as a single trial proves. Send to Dr. Schiffmann, St. Paul, Minn., for a free trial package, but ask your druggist first.

"Frost Bites" are ugly things; a nose or ear swollen to twice its usual size is no more beautiful than it is comfortable. After trying many "cures" we come back and award the palm to PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER, "the old reliable," which affords relief quicker than any other thing we know of. Big Bottle, popular price 25c.

How to Cure All Skin Disease

Simply apply "Swayne's Ointments. No internal medicine required. Cures tetter, eczema, itch, all eruptions on the face, hands, nose, &c.. leaving the skin clear, white and healthy. Its great healing and curative powers are possessed by no other remedy. Ask your druggists for Swayne' Ointment.

Perry Davis' Pain Killer TAKEN INTERNALLY, relieves instantly the most acute pain. USED EXTERNALLY, it is the best Liniment in the world. Its effect is almost instantaneous, affording relief from the most intense pain. It soothes the irritated or inflamed part, and gives quiet and rest to the sufferer. It is eminently the people's friend and everyone should have it with them, or where they can put their hands on it in the dark if need be. Put up in large Bottles.

Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured many afflicted with rheumatism, and we urge all who suffer from this disease to give this medicine a trial.

Nearly all women have good hair, though many are grey, and few are bald. Hall's Hair Renewer restores the natural color, and thickens the growth of the hair.

Scrofula eradicated and all kindred diseases cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which by its vitalizing and alterative effects makes pure blood.

Cottolene
A SHORTENING.

Down the street through the busy way
A lady passed on marketing day,
Who, pausing at a grocery store,
Stepped quickly in at the open door.
With bated breath and anxious mien
She queried: "have you COTTOLENE?"

The grocer, leaving off his work,
Interrogated every clerk;
But none up to that time had seen
An article called "COTTOLENE."

"What is it?" said he to the dame,
"That answers to this curious name.
What is it made of? What's its use?
My ignorance you'll please excuse."

"You're not the merchant for my dimes,
I see you're quite behind the times.
For COTTOLENE, I'd have you know,
Is now the thing that's all the go,
An article of high regard;
A healthful substitute for lard.
Its composition pure and clean;
For cooking give me COTTOLENE."

As from his store the lady fled,
The grocer gently scratched his head—
On his next order, first was seen,
"One dozen cases COTTOLENE."

Untold Misery—What a Well Known Commercial Traveller Suffered and How he was Cured

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & CO. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle o Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confidence that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery believing that one persistent use of it will cure dispepsia.

The Report on the Northwest School Ordinance Not Yet Out.

CHANGES IN MOUNTED POLICE

The Duty on Scrap Iron—Lieut. Mitchell to be Appointed Second in Command of the Bisley Team—Lord Aberdeen's Latest Benefit.

OTTAWA, Jan. 24.—The team of horses, for presentation from the women of Canada to Princess May of Teck, are to be shipped to England via Portland early in February. They will be consigned to the Countess of Derby, who, it will be remembered, originated the scheme of presenting such a gift. After being conditioned at the Derby stables they will be presented to Princess May by the Countess.

It has now been learned that Sir John Thompson has not made any report on the Northwest school ordinance. The matter is being investigated by a sub-committee of Council composed of Messrs. Foster, Angers and Daly, and their report will be before the Cabinet in a day or two. The Government has until February 7 in which to take action on the matter.

As an outcome of the visit of Hon. Mr. Ives, President of the Privy Council, to the Northwest during the past summer, it has been decided to withdraw within the next few weeks the mounted police from Manitoba and confine their operations hereafter strictly to the Territories. The total number of constables employed in Manitoba is but small, numbering 16 or 17 men, and stationed at about eight different posts. Their duties were mostly to act as quarantine officers and prevent smuggling and timber stealing. Hereafter these duties will be performed by the officers of the Agriculture and Customs Departments in the Province.

Representatives of the iron and hardware industry from Montreal, St. John, Halifax, Toronto and Hamilton are here interviewing the Tariff Committee. The pig iron men want the duty on scrap iron, which is $2 per ton, maintained, while the rolling mills' men want it reduced.

It is learned on pretty good authority that Lieut. C. N. Mitchell, of Winnipeg, will be appointed second in command of the Bisley team. It is too early yet to make any appointment, but Lieut. Mitchell is as good as appointed. He is one of the best shots in Canada and is an excellent officer. Who will command the team has not yet been decided.

His Excellency Earl of Aberdeen proposes, with the aid of his staff, to open a recreation and reading-room for the use of telegraph messengers and newsboys in Ottawa. The room will be under the direction of the Government House staff, and will afford a means of recreation as well as evening classes, etc., for the education of boys. Rev. T. W. Winfield, chaplain at Rideau hall, is engaged in collecting information with the view to starting the good work.

Messrs. E. W. Rathbun and R. S. Carter, Deseronto, and Allan Gilmour, jr., of Trenton, had an interview with the Minister of Public Works yesterday in regard to dues on timber passing through the Trent canal navigation.

DAVY HENDERSON'S BOY.

Why Was the Change Made in the Georgetown Postmastership?

GEORGETOWN, Jan. 24.—The action of the Government in appointing a son of David Henderson, M. P., postmaster of Georgetown is meeting with a considerable amount of disapproval, not to say indignation, in the community.

The late incumbent, Mr. L. W. Goodenow, occupied the position with great satisfaction during a long term of faithful service. A little over a year ago Mr. Goodenow became too ill to attend personally to his duties, and his daughter, who assisted him for several years and had become proficient and reliable, took over the duties and performed them well. The salary appertaining to the office is $1,500 a year, and with this she was enabled to support her mother and invalid father. For these reasons it was thought she would continue to fill the position, especially during the lifetime of her father.

Now Miss Goodenow has been removed from the position, and a son of Mr. Henderson, aged 18 years, placed in charge of the postoffice.

A petition is being circulated, which is being largely signed by the ratepayers, asking for Miss Goodenow's reinstatement.

A Brutal Boy.

TORONTO, Jan. 24.—An interesting case came up in the Police Court yesterday when John A. Bailey was arraigned charged with aggravated assault on his five-year old brother. The prisoner was only 15 years old, but yet the evidence showed him to be capable of great cruelty. His little brother had aroused his temper several times by carrying tales to his mother, and on one occasion Bailey tried to smother the little boy for so doing. In another instance he burned his brother on the forehead with a hot poker, and the little fellow still bears the scar. Bailey was too old to be sent to Mimico, and his mother did not want him sent to prison, so the magistrate, although he was loath to do it, let him go on suspended sentence.

Suspicious Fire in Georgetown.

GEORGETOWN, Jan. 24.—A house belonging to Nathaniel Brown, brother-in-law of Daniel Campbell, whose recent death has resulted in so much excitement in the village, was burned to the ground on Sunday night. Although there may be no importance attached to the event, suspicious people are connecting the burning of the building with the recent developments in the Campbell case and are offering the theory that the house was burned through revenge, as the dwelling was empty at the time and must have been set on fire by an incendiary.

Prize Fight in St. Catharines.

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 24. — Arthur Schram, of St. Catharines, champion welter-weight of Canada, defeated Frank Wells, of Chicago, at the Opera house here last night. Wells was badly punished and was unable to come to time in the second round, during which he had been several times knocked down. The contest had been previously twice postponed owing to police interference.

Man and Horse Drowned.

PICTON, Ont., Jan. 24.—Mr. Irwin Clapp drove into a crack in the ice on the Bay of Quinte some time during Monday night. Both he and the horse were drowned. Mr. Clapp was a prosperous farmer and leaves a wife and seven children to mourn his loss.

THE P. P. A. CONVENTION.

Delegates of the Mysterious Society in Convocation in Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Jan. 24.—The hotel registers here are crowded with such autographs as Michael Murphy, Joseph Flannigan, Patrick Flaherty, John Walsh, Count Mercier, Major-General Ouimet, John Thompson, and yet there are few gentlemen in town who sport a brogue or cultivate a French accent. In fact it has been proven that the organization known as the Protestant Protective Association is assembled here in annual convention. Despite the seeming anomaly of the names it has been estimated that there are five hundred delegates of the P. P. A. in the city, and they are accompanied by other members of the order. A special car was attached to the train from Toronto yesterday morning and contained fifty delegates, and trains have brought detachments from London, Guelph, Peterboro and all the principal towns in Canada.

The topic of conversation amongst the delegates was their belief that in the rapid growth of the order many professional politicians—office-holders in the two political parties and employes of the Dominion Government—had gained admittance to the organization. Some of these men had proven unfaithful to their obligation. They carried secrets to party leaders and made public the secret work of the order. Active measures are being advocated to prevent a further repetition of this.

Delegates report that of late candidates had sought admittance to the order who were prominent political workers for Conservatives and Reformers, and instances are given of secretaries and officers of political associations seeking admission into the various authorized lodges of the P. P. A. The credential committee met and laid over for the consideration of the meeting the certificates of several delegates whose fidelity has been questioned.

The convention assembled in Association Hall in the afternoon. All but authorized delegates were refused admittance. The mystic password was not a key of admittance to enthusiastic members who had come from a distance to offer counsel and advice, unless they possessed other credentials.

The delegates presented the appearance of prosperous business and professional men. Some bore the unmistakable appearance of clergymen, and this despite the fact that the majority have registered as coming from Milliken's Corners, Box Grove, Heathcote, Leslieville and other small farming villages. One member said he thought the association was strong enough to cope with the political parties openly. He would like to admit the press to their deliberations, but the majority were not of his opinion. Secrecy was the watchword of the organization.

The President's address dealt with the growth of the order. Since the last convention held in London the membership increased one hundred per cent.

A few of the members are advocating a careful revision of the constitution, and many changes have been suggested.

The line of distinction will be drawn tightly, they say, at the approaching elections, and in such a manner that neither of existing political parties can claim them as friends and supporters. They will nominate their own candidates and give them a broad platform to stand upon.

The meetings will be continued to-day and to-morrow.

Smash-Up on the M.C.R.

HAGERSVILLE, Ont., Jan. 24.—Yesterday morning as a west-bound freight train on the M.C.R. was putting into the siding the caboose and several freight cars broke loose from the main train. The rear brakesman, not observing this, tightened the brakes thereby stopping his portion of the train on the main track. No time was left to draw these cars on the siding as No. 19, fast express, was rapidly approaching. In an instant she dashed into the rear of the freight, completely wrecking the caboose and two loaded box cars. The engine, being partly derailed and having its boiler badly broken, set fire to the whole wreck, and the cars and their contents were completely destroyed. The engine of the freight train drew the burning engine from the wreck, and then coupled on to the passenger train and the uninjured passengers resumed their journey without much delay. No one was badly injured, the engineer and fireman escaping with but few wounds.

Hooper at Three Rivers.

THREE RIVERS, Jan. 24.—The high constable and his deputy went to Joliette and brought down Hooper and lodged him in the jail here. Hooper now awaits his trial here at the criminal court, which sits in June next. Hooper was brought for preliminary examination before Judge Barthe yesterday and remanded until Tuesday next, the 30th.

While Combing Her Child's Hair.

TORONTO, Jan. 24.—Mrs. Samuel Findlay, of this city, dropped dead yesterday at her home while combing one of her children's hair. Mrs. Findlay had passed through a serious siege of illness caused by the grip and was just convalescent. Heart disease is supposed to be the immediate cause of the decease.

Bacon Suicided.

TORONTO, Jan. 24.—The post mortem examination on the body of Fred Bacon, found on Sunday in Humber bay, revealed the fact that the deceased had not met his death by another hand, but was unquestionably a case of suicide. The lungs were filled with water and there was no sign of any blow on the skull.

Runaway Couple Arrested.

BARRIE, Jan. 24.—William Lawlor and Lulu Simpkins, a runaway couple from Hannibal, N.Y., were arrested here last night. They arrived in town yesterday, having walked part of the way from Toronto.

Fight Among Moonshiners.

CENTERPOINT, Ark., Jan. 24.—From Polk County information comes of a fatal battle between William and Crockett Mize and two brothers named Daniels, the fight occurring at the home of the latter over an alleged indebtedness due the Mizes. The Mize boys were killed and one of the Daniels fatally wounded. The men were moonshiners.

Canadians at a Bonspiel.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 24.—The bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling Association is practically over, and most of the purses are borne off by the Canadians. In the contest for the biggest of the trophies the jobbers union, the last of the Americans, was beaten yesterday.

Steamer Stranded.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The steamer Rappahannock, from Newport for Liverpool, has stranded near Cape Henry, Va. The crew of 53 men are on board. The vessel has been boarded by the life-saving crew.

"When I was a Boy,"

Writes Postmaster J. C. WOODSON, Forest Hill, W. Va., "I had a bronchial trouble of such a persistent and stubborn character, that the doctor pronounced it incurable with ordinary medicines, and advised me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I did so, and one bottle cured me. For the last fifteen years, I have used this preparation with good effect whenever I take and I know of numbers of people who keep it in the house all the time, not considering it safe to be without it."

"I have been using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for 30 years, with the most satisfactory results, and can cheerfully recommend it as being especially adapted to all pulmonary complaints. I have, for many years, made pulmonary and other medicines a special study, and I have come to the conclusion that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral occupies a position pre-eminent over other medicines of the class."—Chas. A BRIEF NAP.

"Peter!"

No answer.

"Peter!"

"M—m—m. Hullo, is that you, mother? What's up?"

"Father's got the lumbago dreadful this morning, an I wouldn't let him get up. You'll have to drive the milk cart, an Jack can go with you for company."

"All right. What time is it, mother?"

"Half past 2. You an Jack can eat the breakfast I laid out for father in the kitchen. You don't mind goin?"

"Not a bit."

Half an hour afterward the milkman's sons were driving through the deserted streets, with the milk cans playing a monotonous tune in the back of the wagon. Jack soon fell asleep, and Peter had hard work not to follow his example. City streets are still as the grave at 3 o'clock in the morning. He wished Jack were awake. They might have been able to talk, and he could have kept off the drowsiness that was gradually overpowering him. He sat up straight in an uncomfortable position, so that he might not lose control of himself, but gradually his muscles relaxed, his body sank on one side, till he leaned against the side of the wagon and his head dropped on his shoulder.

Meanwhile Old John trotted lazily on. It was the first time he had been driven by a sleeping charioteer.

"Hark! What was that?"

Peter awoke with a start. Old John had stopped under some trees close by a fence. How long the wagon had stood there he had no idea. It was very dark, but Peter could see by the nearest lamppost that they were on Macon street.

On the other side of the trees there was a sound of low voices. This must have awakened him. Broad awake, he listened.

"Have you got it unlocked?" said one of the voices.

"Yes," said another voice.

'Then I'll light out. There's no use my hangin round here."

"Well, just give me a boost first. The cop won't be round for an hour or more."

Then there was the sound of a window opening, and a moment later the hurried steps of a man walking down the street.

Peter shook his brother. "Jack, wake up and listen! Don't make the least noise—not the slightest. Now, are you awake? Whisper."

"Ye-es," said Jack, and in the desired whisper. "What's up?"

"Well—now listen. Take off your boots in the cart here, jump down quiet and run for your life to the police station on Pomfret street. Tell 'em there's a burglar in Judge Sherman's house; that there's no one in the house, and that they must send up a gang o' men."

Jack slipped off his boots, stepped down, and was off like an arrow.

Peter then took off his own shoes, stepped down, stole round to the front gate, in through the yard that surrounded the house and up a grass bank to the window where he had heard the men talking. It was open. He pulled himself up by the sill and climbed in.

He stood still for a moment, in doubt what to do. Suddenly he heard a footfall almost directly overhead, soft but distinct.

Peter stepped out into the front hall. It was black as pitch. Stretching his hands before his face, he groped into the back hall. There a window let in enough light for him to see the stairs. He crept up. One stair creaked. He stopped, listened and crawled on.

It was close work now. Listening, he could hear footfalls in the room above the window where he had entered. He worked his way on tiptoe to the half open door and looked in. There was a dark lantern on the table. Full against the side of the room was a man's shadow.

With the utmost surety of movement, Peter felt with his hand on the inside of the door close below the handle. The key was in the lock. He drew it out like a flash, regardless of noise now, slammed the door and locked it. Then he drew into the darkest shadow and waited.

Silence. The man was thinking. What would he do? Try to break open the door? Probably. Luckily it opened into the room.

Yes. Bang, bang! The man was battering the door. It held, but how long would it? Slam, bang! One of the panels gave way, letting out a long streak of light from the dark lantern. Oh, he had left the key in the lock! Peter realized that as an arm was pushed through the broken panel, the door unlocked and the man came rushing out.

But a boy doesn't go to a public school for 10 years without learning something!

Peter's foot was extended at just the right time, and burglar and lantern came headlong to the floor with a crash. The man swore, got up and examined his lantern. It was still lighted. He turned it slowly round the hall till it fell on Peter in a corner.

He caught the boy by the shoulder, swearing. "Who are you, you little brat?" were the words Peter made out.

Peter was frightened. Where were the policemen? The lantern turned toward the wall gave a subdued light, but he could see no one on the stairs.

"That was a poor job o' yours leavin that window open," he said, with a show of bravery, to gain time.

"You rat!" said the other. "I'll make you sorry you ever saw that window." He drew a revolveer.

Peter was listening. There was now a ghost of a sound on the stairs.

"Oh, you'd best not shoot!" he said quickly. "Hangin if you kill me; only 10 years without."

The man laughed. "You're not so far wrong there," said he, "so I'll just simply give you the worst licking you ever had in your life!" He was standing with his back to the stairs. As he spoke a dark shadow rose and paused close behind his shoulder. He raised his hand to strike. But Peter was not frightened now. "Glad to see you, officer," he said politely, looking with a smile beyond the man.

The burglar turned his head, with his hand still raised. By the dim light of his lantern he could see two curving rows of brass buttons and a revolver muzzle within a yard of his head.

Ten minutes later Peter and Jack were booted and jogging on again behind old John.—Washington News.

Feminine Longevity.

The well known fact that women live longer than men is illustrated as follows: The excess of females of all ages over males of all ages in England and Wales is only about 3⅓ per cent—in round figures 15,000,000 minus 50,000 to 14,000,000 plus 50,000. But when we begin to compare women over 60 with men over 60 the female majority becomes much greater, and when we once pass 85 the old men are nowhere. The female nonogenarians nearly double the male. There are 854 women over 95 to 354 men, and 104 gammers to 42 gaffers who own to a century.

THE THURLOW ELECTION

A Correspondent Gives Some Facts Relative to the Matter

EDITOR ONTARIO—SIR—There is some living object in Foxboro who is trying to make the public take notice of him by telling what he knows and what he don't know. He is credited in the Intelligencer of the 11th inst. of telling the public how things are in Foxboro and he says Hubbel and Sprague are sick and Denyes carried eight concessions out of nine in Thurlow in the last municipal elections, and he says he believes in educating men to fill the place of the old ones. This clever object should take his Bible and learn what becomes of a man that tells an untruth, and says what is false about his neighbors. Now here is the truth as it is declared by the returns given to the public and this noted man from Foxboro should get the correct returns before giving such hog wash to the papers. McCargar carried the first, second and third concessions by 277 majority and the sixth by 34 majority, and McCargar got a majority in five polls out of eight and Denyes got three. This man from Foxboro must certainly think McCarger lives in Thurlow and is a taxpayer and a farmer and is thought well off where he lives by the large vote he polled. He is known by all to be a clever, smart good neighbor and a kind hearted man to the poor and when this man from Foxboro tells how bad the lagrippe is it is a wonder he and some of the men would make statements that are not true. It appears Mr. Denyes is a very handy man, he can be put up and taken off to suit the purpose of others or to punish McCargar for some other man's sins. Mr. Denyes is a very good man as far as I can say, but he will find it will not pay to listen to a few sore heads or office seekers. They are like the dog in the manger. When McCargar ran for third deputy Denyes ran also, and when McCargar ran for second deputy Denyes ran also, and I suppose if McCargar runs for reeve Denyes will be there. The law will permit all this. In Corbyville where McCargar expected a much larger vote and the taxpayers pay a large tax McCargar voted wrong one vote in the county council and the taxpayers thought they would teach him a lesson not to vote away their money and did Denyes point this out on the public platform? It would not have suited Denyes so well. We all know the vote but will pass it by for the present. They accused McCargar of living in Belleville and that he was opposed to the Salvation Army and lots of other low things were told to defeat a good man and a hard worker and it is allowed by all parties that N. Vermilyea is the best man in the county council and works hard for for the county. Mr. McCargar has always been ready to help what would be to the interest of the county and there is not a man that would work harder than N. Vermilyea to make the burdens on the farmers easier, but Mr. Vermilyea has had to contend with the same thing. Even W. P. Hudson would nominate men like old Mr. Wm. Ross for reeve against Vermilyea and Plainfield would roll up their votes. Was this in the interest of the township or was it for spite? I will leave the taxpayers to judge and this man from Foxboro will not have the foolhardiness to write statements too untruthful to be put in the press. Now when this individual from Foxboro wants any more news for the Intelligencer he had better see some man in Foxboro that can tell the truth for we can't tell now from his statement whether Mr. Sprague or Mr. Hubble are sick or not.—FOXBORO.

Blessings are not always sugar-coated. No, neither are pills—but Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are, and they are genuine blessings in (sugar-coated) disguise to the sufferer from billiousness, constipation, indigestion and all derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

Buy them and try them,
You can't make a mistake,
They're powerful, yet painless.
And pleasant to take.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ONTARIO:—
DEAR SIR.—Permit me to say through your columns in reply to several annonymous letters and personal complaints, that the weighing machines of the persons charged with giving unjust weights have been examined and found correct, so that if any wrong has been done, it must have occurred through error or intent in weighing. I am, your ob't servant,

A Successful Carnival.

A fancy dress carnival was held last night on the Aberdeen skating rink which is situated at the east end of Bridge street. Upwards of 150 wore costumes, some of which were both handsome and unique. During the evening a large quantity of fireworks were discharged which added much to the enjoyment of those who were present. The skating was excellent and all report having spent an enjoyable evening.

It don't make any difference what you ask for in Gough's great closing out sale, you will buy it below the actual cost of production. The whole stock is to be closed out without reserve.

The continual succession of boils, pimple and eruptions from which many suffer, indicates an impure state of the blood. The most effective remedy is Ayers Sarsaparilla. It expels the poison harmlessley through he natural channels, and leaves the ski clean and clear.

Still Another Triumph.—Mr. Thomas S. Bullen, Sunderland, writes: "For fourteen years I was afflicted with piles; and frequently I was unable to walk or sit, but four years ago I was cured by using DR. THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL. I have also been subject to quinsy for over forty years, but Electric Oil cured it, and it was a permanent cure in both cases, as neither the piles nor quinsy have troubled me since."

Joshua Sedore, a middle-aged man, a resident of Newburgh, wa drowned Monday night. He was a laboring man and lived in a house near the bank of the river. He went out about five o'clock to attach a clothes line to a tree, and while thus engaged slipped and was carried down the icy bank to the river's brink. In his descent he struck a stone, was thrown completely over and plunged headforemost into the rapidly running river and carried under the ice.

"Frost Bites" are ugly things; a nose or ear swollen to twice its usual size is no more beautiful than it is comfortable. After trying many "cures" we come back and award the palm to PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER, "the old reliable," which affords relief quicker than any other thing we know of. From Prison Reform Association, asking the council to assist in the restoration of the boys reformatory, and the proper classification of prisoners.—Referred to the committee on communications.

From the Canadian Institute relative to the collecting of dates of the early history of the county, etc, and asking the council to grant awards for the collecting of the same.—Referred to the committee on communications.

From the County Council of Frontenac stating that a committee had been appointed there by that county to memoralize the the government in reference to the appointing of the officials which are paid by the county.—Referred to the committee on communications.

From the Carleton County Council asking that the Legislature be memorialized in reference to the amendment of the Assessment Act, asking that the office of treasurer and assessor of the township be amalgamated.—Referred to the committee on communications.

From the Canadian Institute re road reform, stating that a convention will be held at Toronto on Feb. 7th, and asking the council to send a delegate to the convention.—Referred to Ways and Means Committee.

A copy of the inspector's report re prisons was read. It recommended that furnaces be placed in the gaol for heating purposes.—Referred to Ways and Means Committee.

From Rev. Mr. Wilkins, of Trenton, who is a member of the School Board of the town, calling attention to certain amendments which should be made.

A petition was presented from a number of ratepayers of Carlow asking for $150 to assist in building a road to York river. Referred to the special committee on appropriations.

Mr. Martin gave notice that he would introduce a by-law to appoint auditors, auditors of the administration of justice and high school trustees.

On motion the council went into committee of the whole on communications, Mr Tivy in the chair.

The communications of Mr. T. S. Carman of the ONTARIO and Intelligencer re county printing were read.

The Clerk stated that he had received two tenders for county printing. On motion the tenders were opened and found to be from the Deseronto News company and the Madoc Review. The latter offer to do the whole work for $700, taking the expenditure of 1892 as a basis.

Mr. McCargar said the matter was an important one and it should be fully investigated. He moved that the matter of considering the subject be laid over until to-morrow.

Mr. Dench was in favor of a special committee being appointed to consider the matter.

Mr. Vermilyea said it would mean considerable work and the special committee could further the work by making every enquiry into the subject and reporting to committee of the whole on communications.

Mr. Dench moved seconded by Mr. Whytock that a special committee composed of Messrs. Thompson, Vermilyea, Haggerty, Holgate, Dr Faulkner, Dr. Newton, W. K. Aylsworth and mover and seconder be appointed to consider the question of county printing and report to the special committee.—Carried.

The communication of the Municipal World re purchasing copies of this work was read. On motion no action was taken on the communication.

On motion no action was taken on the petition of the single tax association.

The memorial of the Prison Reform Association was read.

Mr. Vermilyea said that as far as a County poor house was concerned he was opposed to it, and the people of the county were opposed to it.

On motion of Dr. Faulkner seconded by Mr. Thompson no action was taken on the petition.

The communication of the Canadian Institute re granting of awards for the early history of the county was taken up.—No action was taken on it.

The committee rose, reported progress and asked leave to sit again.—Granted.

Mr. Vermilyea moved, seconded by Mr. Thompson that the Finance and Public Property committee be composed of Messrs Houston, Whytock, Newton, Martin, Vermilyea, Holgate, Dench, Hanley and Emmons.—Carried.

The warden named the following as the gravel roads committee:—Messrs McLaren, McCargar. Dench, Montgomery, Haggerty, Murphy, Gladney, Rickett, English and Thompson.

It being 12 o'clock the warden left the chair.

Those who don't take advantage of Gough's great closing out sale will be sorry when the goods are all sold for it is a chance of a life time to buy cheap. Felt hats just half their former prices now.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

One of the most valuable acquisitions to the county council this year is Mr. A. S. Valleau, deputy reeve of Deseronto. Mr. Valleau has done excellent work in Deseronto, and from what we know of his administrative ability as manifested there we have no doubt he will be one of the most useful members of the county council. Mr. Valleau won his honors after a hard fight against big odds and won by a large majority, a fitting tribute to his ability and popularity.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA

Price—Raymond Concert

A small audience witnessed the performance of the above company at the Queen's Opera House last evening, but those who were there enjoyed the very best treat of the season. The were six artists on the programme and they all excelled themselves, encores being the order of the evening. Mr. Piggott's singing was first class, while Miss Houston gave some of the finest solos ever heard on the Belleville stage. Mr. Joseph Monk as pianist and musical director never appeared in better form and was loudly applauded, while Wm. Fielding as a reciter was simply immense. But the star of the evening was Miss Raymond in her cornet playing. Some of the finest and most difficult airs were rendered with a grace and sweetness that kept the audience spellbound. She was loudly cheered and had to respond to three encores. Taken all in all it was one of the finest entertainments ever seen in this city and it is to be regretted that a larger number did not attend.

Woman a——?

Woman is a conundrum most decidedly. Still we do not propose to give her up. Let a woman have her health and spirits and she is the sunshine of the house. But suppose she is sick, what then? Why, then there is a shadow over all the house. Happily in thousands of homes, such shadows have been removed. Thanks to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the diseases and weaknesses incident to their sex have been removed, and with health restored, their bright spirits have come back, and the household has passed from the winter of its discontent to a glad summer of comfort. O, suffering women, for your own sakes, and for the sakes of those about you, use these simple means and be healed. The only remedy so effective in nervous and general prostration, "Female Weakness," periodical pains, irregularities and kindred ailments, that it can be guaranteed or sold on trial.

Sidney Township Council

TOWN HALL, Sidney, 15th January 1894.—Council met agreeable to adjournment, members all present, minutes of last meeting read and adopted.

Moved by Mr. Dench and seconded by Mr. Holgate, that the following accounts be paid: L. S. Lazier, stationary, $4.28; ONTARIO Printing Co., $98 90 Intelligencer, $58 70 Carried. Council adjourned sine die.

The following duly elected presented their declarations and qualifications of office and took their seats.

James M. Farley, reeve; John A. Holgate, 1st deputy reeve; John S. Dench, 2nd deputy reeve; George Nicolson, 3rd deputy reeve; James W. Brooks, councillor.

The following by-laws were passed: a by-law to appoint assessors, a by-law to appoint auditors, also to appoint members of the local Board of Health and a sanitary inspector, the blanks filled in as follows: for assessors, Walter Broadman and Geo. A. Labey; for auditors, C. W. Ketcheson and George Iveson; for local Board of Health J. M. Farley, T B. Prior, Edwin Read, Dr. Simmons, Luke Vannallen, and John A. Consino sanitary Inspector.

Mr. Robert Pane was heard in reference to road.

Moved by Mr. Nicholson and seconded by Mr. Brooks that the Board surveyor be instructed to examine the road referred to near Mr. Sinfield's with power to act.—Carried.

Mr. Dench presented the petition of the Rev T. F. Depew and 105 others in reference to pool tables in the village of Frankford, asking the council to abolish or raise the license to $100. Parties were heard for and against the petition, and on motion the petition was laid over until Monday the 26th of Feb next.

A communication from the Single Tax Association, Toronto, was received and filed.

The council adjourned until the 26th Feb. to meet at 10 o'clock a m.

Cruelty to Animals Case

The case against Thomas Wyndon for cruelty to animals came before the police magistrate this morning. Wyndon, who it appears is a cripple, did not appear, but his wife was on hand and acknowledged the offence. She said she owned the animals and wanted to sell them, but her husband would not let her. She has to maintain the house by her own exertions, and cannot afford to buy food for the cattle. The magistrate ordered that the animals be disposed of before Friday, otherwise they would have to be killed. Mrs. Wyndon said she would be glad to sell the horses, and she was willing to let anyone who would do so take the two cows and keep them to spring, keeping one and returning the other then.

THE WARDEN ELECT.

A Biographical Sketch of Sidney's Popular Reeve.

James Madison Farley, the newly elected Warden for Hastings county, is a gentleman who is widely known and highly respected. He is a son of the late Thos D. Farley. He was born in the township of Sidney, where he has resided all his life. He obtained in early life a good common school education, and attended a school in Sidney presided over by Inspector Johnston, and also attended Albert College. In addition to this he took a commercial course at the Ontario Business College. In the year 1876 he married Miss Frances Way, a daughter of J. Way, Esq., who resides in the city of Toronto. As a result of this union they have one child, a daughter, who is a highly cultured young lady in attendance at Albert College. In municipal life Mr. Farley has had a successful career. Ten years ago he was elected as second deputy reeve of Sidney township, which position he filled for one year. The four succeding years he was 1st deputy reeve and for the past 5 years he has been reeve of the township. During this period he has had but one contest, having been elected by acclamation 9 times. This is a record which Mr. Farley justly feels proud of. For thirteen years he has been a Lieutenant of the 49th Battalion and takes an active part in militia matters. He is a member of Eureka lodge A. F. & A. M. of this city. In religion he is a Methodist and has been an ardent Reformer all his life. He is also identified with the Patrons of Industry and at the present time is president of the county association. Mr. Farley has proved to be a successful farmer. As this is the last time he intends to be identified with municipal matters it was a high compliment to him to place him in the warden's chair, a position which we have no doubt he will fill with credit to himself and the county.

WALL PAPER ! !

With this advertisement we commence the Wall Paper campaign for 1894. We are going to make a hard, vigorous fight for a large season's business in interior decorations, and by watching this space closely in the future you will read some points on the practical decoration of a house that cannot help but put you in the way of fixing up your homes, cheaply yet sensibly and artistically too.

Apropos of this, our first hint to you is to not delay your work too long. With a stock like we always carry, and with the paper hangers with little or no work to engage them, now is the time to have your work done and done properly. At the present writing we are in a position to undertake at once the contract to paper 500 homes, including every room in the house from the kitchen to the Drawing Room and with the most modern effects.

We have the latest schemes known to the wallpaper world for facilitating the handling of wallpaper.

We can give you better attention now than during the rush later on in the Spring; we can give you as close prices as you can get any time during the present year, we can show you over 500 designs to choose from, and coupled with this you can get your paper hanger at an hour's notice.

Do not delay till house cleaning time; Paper Hanging is not simply house cleaning 'tis house decoration, Ay! and furnishing too. Think it over!

"MOST WIDELY."
CHAPTER II.

EX-PURSER on the WAR PATH.

My last letter is unanswerable,

Ex-purser is now using the weapons of the blackguard and coward, namely, threats and abuse,

From a perusal of "Personal" in last Saturday's issue it will be seen that the EX-PURSER has at last admitted that his senior partner is not an author, and that he himself is entitled to only a small part of the authorship of "MOST WIDELY." The senior partner and the EX-PURSER advertise to the contrary notwithstanding. For further proof see their circulars. The senior partner has been dropped out of the authorship. Perhaps a little more light will enable the ex-purser to see his way out. In recent articles published by these men I have been personally attacked in a very abusive and cowardly manner, and my methods of conducting my college have been misrepresented. What they have published in reference to the "key and reference book" is absolutely untrue. When it is known that the REAL author of the "MOST WIDELY" got his business training in an American business college and that the senior partner of the present firm is a graduate of an American business college, is it not strange that these two men who are now running the top flat should insult the American people by advertising American educational methods as "American shallowness"?

They have many things of American origin in their observatory. The fact is, that these men owe what ever measure of success they have had to the use they have made of what they now term "American shallowness".

CLEVELAND ENDORSED.

His Stand on the Hawaii Question Approved of in a Resolution.

NO FOREIGN INTERFERENCE.

The Resolution States Further That the People of That Country Should Be Accorded Absolute Freedom to Pursue Their Own Line of Policy.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—McCready, Republican, chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, has prepared and introduced in the House a resolution defining the attitude of Congress towards Hawaii. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs and will receive consideration at Thursday's meeting. Mr. McCreary says that the resolution represents the sentiments of the nine Democratic members of the committee and he expects it will be reported to the House and form the basis of the discussion of the Hawaiian question, which will begin immediately after the disposition of the tariff bill. The text of the resolution is as follows:—

Resolved—First.—That it is the sense of this House that the action of the United States Minister in employing United States naval forces and illegally aiding in overthrowing the constitutional government of the Hawaiian Islands in January, 1893, and in setting up in its place a provisional government not Republican in form and in opposition to the will of the majority of the people was contrary to the traditions of our republic and the spirit of our constitution, and should be and is condemned.

Second—That we heartily approve of the principle announced by the President of the United States that interference with domestic affairs of an independent nation is contrary to the spirit of American institutions, and it is further the sense of this House that the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands to our country or the assumption of a protectorate over them by our Government is uncalled for and inexpedient. That the people of that country should have absolute freedom and independence in pursuing their own line of policy and that foreign intervention in the political affairs of the island will not be regarded with indifference by the Government of the United States.

The Hawaiian question presented itself in the Senate in two separate and distinct phases. It came up first in the shape of a resolution reported from the Committee on Foreign Relations, declaring it to be unwise and inexpedient under existing conditions to consider at this time any project of annexation of the Hawaiian territory to the United States; that the Provisional Government, having been duly recognized, the highest international interests require that it shall pursue its own line of policy and that foreign intervention in the political affairs of the Islands would be regarded as an act unfriendly to the Government of the United States.

The second phase in which the Hawaiian question was presented, was a speech by Mr. Cullom (Rep., Ills.,), based on Mr. Frye's resolution of non-intervention and severely criticising the administration.

Tried to Bribe the Jurors.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Foreman F. W. Bender, of the coroner's jury investigating the Hackensack disaster on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad last week, announced on Monday night at the opening session in Quartet Hall, Hoboken, that an attempt had been made to tamper with the jury. A secret meeting of the jurors was held early in the evening, and the members who had been approached told fully what had occurred. When the jury entered the hall Foreman Bender made the following announcement to the large crowd that had been waiting over an hour:—"This delay has been due to an investigation of charges that the jury had been tampered with. I want to state to you right here that the report is partially true. There was an attempt made to tamper with us, but nothing definite was offered. We will bring the matter to the attention of the grand jury."

Troops at Jacksonville.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 24.—In anticipation of the Corbett-Mitchell fight the second battalion of the State troops arrived yesterday. They were in charge of Major Tovell, who preceded his command one day. The command numbers 133 officers and men. They arrived prepared for active work and a long campaign. Besides their arms the troops brought blankets and sustenance. There is a strong belief here that the movements of the troops will be commanded in case of martial law being declared by Adjutant-General Houston, who will act under instructions from the Governor.

Shut In by Storms.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 24.—A. J. Roberts, Michael O'Brien and W. S. Townley left yesterday morning for the wilds of the North west territory, whither they go in search of a party of friends from whom nothing has been heard for over three months. The two former gentlemen are from Pittsburg, Pa., the latter is a young Englishman, who has come over to this country expressly to make one of the relief expedition. The last hear from the missing party was in a letter written Oct. 9th, from Edmonton. The party were going north in search of musk ox. It is feared that they are shut in by the storm at some Indian village.

Manufacture of Incandescent Lamps.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Judge R. Ricks, of the United States Circuit Court, has just rendered a decision in the suit of the Edison Electric Light Co. against the Buckeye Electric Co., holding that the Edison Incandescent Lamp patent expired on November 10, of last year, when the English patent for the same invention expired. The effect of this, it is said, is to throw the manufacture of incandescent lamps open to the public.

Gold in Colorado.

LEADVILLE, Col., Jan. 24.—The recent gold strike in the Little Johnnie mine has become a remarkable bonanza. One day last week the value in gold ore taken from the mine amounted to $123,000. This is a remarkable showing. The largest record output in a single day, or rather 18 hours, from Leadville was from the Robert Eel mine, when $118,000 worth of silver ore was lifted.

Shortage in His Accounts.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—There is said to be a shortage of at least $21,000 in the accounts of John H. Wood, who was up to a year or two ago treasurer of the Brooklyn Tabernacle. It is also said Wood has made over to his wife all his real property.

THE EMPEROR AND BISMARCK.

Talk of a Probable Visit to William From the Iron Prince.

BERLIN, Jan. 24.—The announcement that Prince Bismarck has promised to visit Emperor William has caused a sensation here. Bismarck's friends in the Reichstag assert that the Emperor was led to invite Bismarck to Berlin by the recent Mittnacht incident in the Reichstag. The Emperor's sense of uprightness, according to Bismarck's friends, was shocked by the public declarations that Prussia had broken faith with Wurtemberg. Herr Von Kardorff already sees Bismarck returning to power. Outside of the circle of enemies of Chancellor Von Caprivi, however, a reconstruction of the Cabinet with Bismarck behind the scenes is held to be impossible. The Emperor declared a week ago that he fully stood by the Chancellor.

Both the press and the public are engrossed with the subject of Bismarck's coming visit. The North German Gazette says that the invitation to Bismarck was made entirely on the Emperor's initiative in continuation of the advances begun last summer at Guens, and that the visit has no immediate political meaning.

The National Gazettee rejoices at the rapprochement between the Emperor and Bismarck and predicts that the nation generally will be pleased.

The Berlin Bourse was favorably affected by the news of Bismarck's proposed visit.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily News says it is believed in Paris that Premier Crispi mediated between Emperor William and Prince Bismarck. The Vienna correspondent of the Daily News says M. A. Vakumovitch has failed to form a Cabinet in Servia. The King would not accept his programme. Another attempt will be made by the moderate radicals.

German Editor Arrested.

KIEL, Jan. 24.—Herr Strobel, editor of the Volks Zeitung, the local Socialist organ, has been sentenced to imprisonment for one month at hard labor for asserting that the captain of the German ironclad Koenig Wilhelm punished marines by suspending them from the masts as if crucified. Strobel based his assertion on what he said was the sworn testimony of the ship's carpenter. The court held that the story was untrue, otherwise the victims would have made complaint.

Praise for Dufferin.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Lord Dufferin is said to deserve a good deal of the thanks due to those who pressed the Government into a show of taking action on the navy question, and he deserves still more credit, if rumor speaks truly, in that he insisted on the point so firmly that the matter was not allowed to stop at a mere show of interest.

Russell Talks to the Pope.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—When Baron Ferdinand Rothschild's yacht was at Civita Vecchia, Sir Charles Russell paid a flying visit to Rome and was closeted for half an hour with the Pope, when there was an intimate talk, both personal and political, and the best impression was created on both sides.

To Increase the Tax on Corn.

PARIS, Jan. 24.—The Customs Committee of the Chamber of Deputies yesterday discussed a proposal made by M. Edmond Caze to authorize the Government to issue a decree increasing the tax on corn. The proposal received considerable support.

Vatican and Czar.

ROME, Jan. 24.—An accord between the Vatican and Russia on ecclesiastical questions has been arranged by the Russian envoy, M. Iswolski having received orders to observe a conciliatory attitude in the negotiations to effect that end.

THE TARIFF DISCUSSION.

Amendment Taxing Sugar Defeated—Free Coal Schedule Discussion.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The sense of the House in the matter of free sugar was again made manifest when the amendment offered by Mr. Warner (Dem., N. Y.,), putting refined sugar on the free list, was reaffirmed, while that of Mr. Robertson, (Dem., La.,), amendment putting a tax on sugar was defeated, thus leaving all sugar free.

The greater part of the day was given up to a consideration of the coal schedule, but the only result achieved was to show the existence in the Democratic ranks of a number of members with protectionist proclivities. The amendments were all defeated, and Hitt's retaliatory amendment was ruled out.

The outlook for the passage of the tariff bill in the Senate was never more unfavorable than at the present time, and all on account of a quarrel between the President and Senators Hill and Murphy.

How 'Change Takes the Sugar Schedule.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The action of the House of Representatives on the sugar schedule of the Wilson bill made the sensation of the day in American sugar on the Stock Exchange, 153,000 certificates were sold, and the decline for the day was 4¼, though at one time the quotation was down to 76. The market was firmly steady at the close, the general list participated in the decline to the extent of ¼ to 1½ per cent.

A Jealous Husband's Deed.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—John Shea, street car conductor, murdered his wife Margaret at their residence here yesterday. Shea afterwards shot himself and will die. Jealousy was the cause of the tragedy, but the grown-up children of Mrs. Shea declare that the suspicions of their step-father were groundless.

School Teachers Drowned.

GUTHRIE, O.T., Jan. 24.—Mr. and Mrs. Gustavus H. Lyon and Miss Minnie Chapman, teachers in the Sac and Fox Indian school, were drowned in the Deep Fork Creek Sunday while fording the stream in a buggy.

Mrs. Schirmer-Mapleson Dying.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Mrs. Laura Schirmer-Mapleson was lying at the Everett house last night hovering between life and death. Her doctors say if she survives till to-day there is hope for her recovery.

GOLD FOR INSURGENT CAUSE.

Elated at Their Success Their Friends Are Coming Forward With the Sinews—Arbitration to be Submitted to the United States.

MONTEVIDEO, Jan. 24.—A despatch from Rio Janeiro, dated Jan. 19, and claimed to be reliable, says:—On the night of Jan. 15 the insurgents recaptured Mocangue Islands with three small cannon and 130 prisoners. Killed and wounded numbered 50. The insurgents lost 14 killed. The insurgent warship Aquidaban brought to Rio bay 600 men, who now occupy Conceicao and Mocangue Islands. An unsuccessful attempt to land at Nictheroy was made by the insurgents on January 16. Government troops tried to retake Mocangue Island on the night of January 17, but failed.

The friends of the insurgents are elated over the recent successes of their side and their contributions of gold are increasing. Their mail carrier says that he has carried off from here a total of £1,000,000 sterling.

A Government official said last night that President Peixoto and Admiral Da Gama had agreed to submit their differences to the United States for arbitration, but that certain well-paid officers were trying to prevent the agreement from being carried out. President Peixoto expects that the war will be ended by January 25.

The dynamite cruiser Nictheroy, the gunboat Parnahyba and the Gustavo Sampaio, the torpedo boat bought from England, formerly known as the Aurora, now the flagship of Admiral Duarte, commander-in-chief of the loyal fleet in Northern Brazil, left Pernambuco on Saturday bound for Rio de Janeiro.

FAST ATLANTIC SERVICE.

The Marquis of Ripon Interviewed by a Deputation—Subsidy Asked For.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The Marquis of Ripon, Secretary of State for the Colonies, received a deputation consisting of Sir Charles Tupper, Canada's High Commissioner, Mr. James Huddart, of the Canadian-Australian Pacific steamship line, and the Agents General of Tasmania, New Zealand and Victoria. Able speeches were made urging the Imperial Government to subsidize the Canadian-Australian steamship service to the extent of £2,500 yearly for ten years in order that the service might be sustained. If this were done assurances were given that the company would undertake to build another steamship which would be available as an armored cruiser in time of war. The company would also undertake that all future steamers would be similarly built. It was urged that the Government would save by granting this subsidy as the decrease in the subsidies hereafter paid via the Suez canal route would be greater than the subsidy asked for by the Canadian-Australian line. The importance of the route to mails, passengers and trade and also to the admiralty, and for communication with the Fiji Islands was pointed out.

Mr. Huddart said that without an Imperial subsidy of £25,000 the company could not comply with the Admiralty conditions, as such steamers as are used in the service cost £200,000 each.

The Marquis of Ripon promised the deputation to give the matter his consideration and bring it before the Cabinet. The British Postmaster-General, the Right Hon. Arnold Morley, has recognized the new route, and has given instruction that all Australian letters marked "Via Canada" are to be sent by it in future. In making this announcement the Postmaster-General urges the imperative need of the much-talked-of and long-promised fast Atlantic service.

Germany's Police and Workingmen.

BERLIN, Jan. 24.—Two thousand of the unemployed workingmen of this city attended a meeting in Friedrichshain yesterday. Three hundred policemen were present to preserve order. The anarchist Spohr, in accordance with his promise to produce proof that the police arranged in advance for the outrages which they committed last week in dispersing the crowds near the Koenigsthor, called upon an anarchist named Brandt to tell what he knew of the doings of the police. Brandt declared that the police bribed him in November last to inform them in regard to anarchists arming. He also said that the police warned him on January 11 not to attend the meeting fixed for the 18th as there was a strong feeling against the police and accidents might occur. The speakers soon began to use violent language and the meeting was dissolved by the police.

More Arrests in Italy.

ROME, Jan. 24.—Arrests contine to be made in Carrara and Massa di Carrara in connection with the recent rioting. Explosives have been found hidden in a number of spots in the quarries, and a small mine has been discovered in a tree close to the public road. The whole district is now tranquil. Signor Colajanni, the Sicilian Socialist Deputy, has returned to Rome with a strong purpose to assail Premier Crispi and his policy. The Radical deputies are preparing a programme of unflinching hostility to the Government.

Pardon for Lobengula.

CAPETOWN, Jan. 24.—Sir Henry Loch has despatched a messenger to King Lobengula, pledging, in the Queen's name, that if he surrenders, his life and interests shall be assured, and he will not be deported from Africa. Sir Henry has arranged with Premier Cecil Rhodes to provide the King with an adequate tract of land south of the Orange River, the Chartered Company furnishing the royal income.

Abor Tribesmen Punished.

CALCUTTA, Jan. 24.—The British expedition under Capt. Maxwell, sent to punish the Abor tribesmen, had an engagement with the tribesmen on Sunday. The natives were defeated, but the loss inflicted on them is not known. The British captured Dumbak, an Arbor village, and burned it. Two of the British force were killed and several wounded.

Lansdowne on the Silver Question.

CALCUTTA, Jan. 24.—Lord Lansdowne, the retiring Viceroy of India, in a speech at a farewell banquet, said that the Government adhered to its main object, namely, to restrict silver currency and that this object would be attained if the mints continued closed. He was of the opinion that the native demand for cheap silver would eventually cease.

and could hardly get around the house. She began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and in one week she was improving. When she had taken but three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla she was cured of that dreadful disease. As for me, I was troubled with Catarrh, Heart Failure and Liver Complaint. Suffered so intensely that at night, nor get any rest through the day. As soon as I lay down, my heart would beat so hard that I would have to get up. I had very severe pains in the small of my back and noises in my head like a flock of black birds all singing at once. So you see I was hard up. I also experienced benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla within a week after I began taking it. I have improved rapidly and can now sleep better than I have for a year, can eat and not bloat as I used to. We praise

SPRAINS, BRUISES, SCALDS, BURNS & CUTS.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the east of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deleterious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and though its action is thorough in cases of costiveness never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowels like a violent purgative. It invigorates the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney disease scrofulous and all diseases of the blood female weakness, &c. &c Price $1.00 Sample bottle 10 cents. A WEAK RESPONSE

That was a sage and ingenious retort in yesterday's Intelligencer to our article of Saturday relative to the tariff. It says that if numberless false oaths and invoices are made and entered at the customs house, the payment of the duty must be evaded. It is to that extent. But in view of the fact that some $20,000,000 of duty is collected that amount at any rate is not evaded. But this does not prove that very many false oaths are not made. That this is so is almost a proverb. Then besides this, look at the amount of falsehood and deception there is practiced by tens of thousands of people who try to get goods in free, and don't hesitate to tell a falsehood to accomplish that object. Any customs officer at the border line or at the landing places of ocean vessels can tell of hundreds of such cases. If any law or system of taxation can be said to instigate to perjury or any other immoral act than tariff duties cause more of such things than all other laws combined. But everyone or even the majority of people do not tell lies or make false oaths, so a large amount of duty is still paid.

As to the Intelligencer's sneer that the Liberals should not talk about tariff burdens until they adopt free trade, the answer is obvious The Liberals believe in free trade and hope to bring about this ideal system some time in the not distant future. But the Tories have so persistently educated the people up to a dislike of direct taxation that absolute free trade is not now practicable. Therefore, as the Liberals do not care to waste their strength after the present unattainable, they will endeavor to accomplish what is now possible. The Liberals do not propose to abolish all tariff duties. What they do propose is to lessen the total burden of taxation, to so arrange the duties that the rich will be compelled to more approximately pay their fair share of the taxes, to see to it that what the poor man buys is not taxed more heavily than what the rich man buys, and to stop the present iniquitous system of compelling the consumers to pay a tribute to the manufacturers and monopolists. We repeat and emphasize what we before showed, that the chief objections to the present system are, first, because now the poor man must pay much more of the taxes than the rich man in proportion to his means, and secondly because for every dollar paid in taxes by the people of Canada five dollars must be paid as a tribute to build up private enterprises. Both of these objectionable features can be removed, and the Liberals purpose to do so.

Every Young Man

should be possessed of certain information without which millions contract pernicious and most destructive habits—habits which make young men permanently aged pale haggard, listless, devoid of ambition, easily tired, languid, forgetful and incapable, fill mad-houses and swell the list of suicides, separate husbands and wives; bring untold suffering millions even unto the third and fourth generation. Parents guardians and philanthropists can do no better service to the rising generation, than to place in their hands the information and warnings contained in a little book carefully prepared by an association of medical men who have had vast experience in dealing with the grave maladies here hinted at, and who feel that they owe it to humanity to warn the young of the land against certain destructive habits, which are far more prevalent than any layman can imagine, and which if persisted in gradually undermine the constitution and health, and destroy the future happiness of the victim. Cut out this notice and enclose it with ten cents in stamps (to pay postage), to World's Dispensary Medical association, Invalids Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and the book will be sent, secure from observation, in a plain sealed envelope.

It don't make any difference what you ask for in Gough's great closing out sale, you will buy it below the actual cost of production. The whole stock is to be closed out without reserve.

Still Another Triumph.—Mr. Thomas S. Bullen, Sunderland, writes: "For fourteen years I was afflicted with piles; and frequently I was unable to walk or sit, but four years ago I was cured by using DR. THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL. I have also been subject to quinsy for over forty years, but Electric Oil cured it, and it was a permanent cure in both cases, as neither the piles nor quinsy have troubled me since."

ntold Misery—What a Well Known Commercial Traveller Suffered and How he was Cured

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & CO. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle o Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confidence that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery believing that one persistent use of it will cure dispepsia.

DEBATE ON THE TARIFF.

Amendments to the Proposal of Free Agricultural Implements.

PAYNE ASKS FOR RETALIATION

And Instances the Effect of the Discriminating Tolls on American Canals on the Canadian Canal Tolls—Various Other Amendments Proposed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The full Committee on Ways and Means voted yesterday to report the Internal Revenue bill including the income tax. The vote was 9 to 6 in favor of this action. All the Republicans and Messrs. Cockran (Dem., N.Y.) and Stevens (Dem., Mass.) voted in the negative.

The early part of the day in the House was given to a consideration of the amendments to the iron ore schedule, which came over from yesterday as unfinished business. The pending amendments were one proposed by Mr. Oates (Dem., Ala.) proposing a duty of 40 cents per ton, and another by Mr. Taylor (Rep., Tenn.) proposing to substitute for the iron ore schedule of the Wilson bill, the provisions of the McKinley law. Both amendments were defeated, thus leaving iron ore on the free list.

Amendments were then offered to the paragraph of the bill which puts agricultural implements on the free list, the first being presented by Mr. Robbins (Dem., Alabama) and provided for the addition of cotton machinery to the free list. This was followed by a substitute presented by Mr. Payne (Rep., Pennsylvania), which proposed to strike out Mr. Robbin's amendment and insert a retaliation or reciprocal provision. Mr. Terry (Dem., Arkansas) offered an amendment which had for its object the free admission of agricultural implements and cotton machinery. An amendment was offered to the substitute by Mr. Hare (Dem., Ohio), providing for a tax of 36 per cent. ad valorem on agricultural implements, with a provision that the tariff should be remitted when imported from a country which admitted similar implements from this country free of duty.

Mr. Payne's substitute was to strike out Mr. Bobbin's amendment and providing for retaliation against those countries (meaning in particular Canada), which should impose a duty on those articles of American manufacture which, under the pending paragraph, would be admitted to this country free. Mr. Wilson made the point of order that the substitute proposed was not germane to the subject under discussion, but the chairman overruled the point of order and held that it was germane. Mr. Payne in speaking to his amendment went into the subject of reciprocity and retaliation, and to illustrate the need of retaliation against Canada, he instanced the discriminating tolls charged by Canadian canals against American vessels, which had been discontinued only when this country retaliated by charging tolls on Canadian vessels passing through American canals.

No action was taken in the amendments, and when just before the hour arrived at which the House should take a recess, Mr. McMillin arose to report the Internal Revenue bill, containing the income tax feature, a sharp fight was precipitated. The New York delegation tried to effect an adjournment to prevent the report, but were beaten on every move, and the bill was then reported.

A number of important amendments were made by the Ways and Means Committee to the customs and internal revenue sections of the tariff bill. The tax on cigarettes, which had been placed at $1.60 a thousand, was reduced to $1. It is now, under the McKinley act, 50c. The section which admits petroleum from other countries free of duty when they admit American petroleum on the same terms, was struck out leaving petroleum to come in free without any qualification. Crude opium was taken from the free list and put on the dutiable list at $1 a pound. An enlargement of the paragraph relating to binding twine was made so as to permit importations made from New Zealand hemp to come in free.

MRS. MAPLESON DEAD.

The Handsome and Well-Known Prima Donna Will Sing No More.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Laura Schirmer Mapleson, wife of Col. Henry Mapleson, the celebrated English prima donna, succumbed to her illness yesterday. The cause of her death was pneumonia.

[The deceased vocalist was a lyric star of no mean importance, and her personal appearance was most attractive. She had already won fame in grand opera, when Col. Mapleson made her his wife. Recently she essayed comic opera, singing with great success the leading part in "The Fencing Master." It was only in November last that she sang the character in Toronto.]

Gen. Vasquez is Defeated.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—A Nicaragua cable says Gen. Vasquez has retired to the capital, toward which the allied forces are now marching. It is believed the war is now over and Vasquez will soon surrender. Important events for Central America will develop in the near future. Four of the republics have already agreed to a closer union, and assurances have been received that Costa Rica will also join. Salvador and Guatemala have been sent messages approving the plan of the union.

Dynamite in the Stove of a Smoking Car.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Jan. 25.—A stick of dynamite which some unknown party placed yesterday in the smoking car stove on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas R. R. at Marcos, Texas, exploded with terrific force as the train was leaving that place. Ed. Binding, of San Antonio, and J. C. Heidelman, a wealthy merchant of Austin were instantly killed and six other passengers in the car seriously injured.

Fifty Convicts Escape.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 25.—Fifty convicts at the branch State Prison, at Coal Creek, have escaped. Guards started in pursuit, firing constantly. Several were shot, and the others were scattered. Many are hiding in the mountains.

Fire in a Rink.

BROCKTON, Mass., Jan. 25.—A fire that started in the city rink on Main street just after the polo teams had left it last night caused a general alarm to be sounded throughout the city. A strong wind was blowing and the flames spread rapidly.

Steamship Andes Floated.

ATLANTIC CITY, Ga., Jan. 25.—The steamship Andes, which had been aground near Little Beach life saving station, was floated yesterday and proceeded northward.

A BYE-ELECTION.

Polling to Fill the Vacancy in South Lanark on February 16th.

TORONTO, Jan. 25.—Owing to the resignation of Dr. McLenaghan, M.P.P. for South Lanark, a new election for the vacant seat in the Legislature will be held. Nomination has been fixed for February 9th, and polling on the 16th.

He Pleads Justification.

HAMILTON, Jan 25.—Mr. Joseph Deacon, barrister, of Brockville, has filed an amended claim for Mr. Colcock, proprietor of the Brockville Times, in the libel suit of Beaton vs. Colcock. The suit was for damages against the Times for republishing an article from the Central Press Agency's report lifted from the Toronto World and dated New York, in which Mrs. Beaton was practically accused of having thrown Cicero Harrison, of Norfolk, Va., off the old Dominion Line steamer Guyandotte, and by which he met his death. This is simply a legal plea of justification for the Toronto World's reproduction of the New York World's highly colored and sensational report. Last year the suit was to have been tried at the Winter Assizes but was postponed until next assizes.

Damaging Fire in Clinton.

CLINTON, Jan. 25.—Yesterday fire was found in the part of the Victoria block owned and occupied by Jas. Twitchel, harness maker and boots and shoes, spreading to Jackson Bros. tailoring establishment. The stocks in both buildings were greatly damaged by water, smoke and heat. Mr. Twitchel had little or no insurance, but Jackson was fully insured on both building and stock. The Sons of England, occupying the third storey over Jackson, had their furniture and property greatly damaged by heat and smoke, partly covered by insurance.

A Steamer's Quartermaster Dead.

HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 25.—Quartermaster John Hughes, of steamer Oregon, who had his skull fractured by coming in contact with a piece of machinery on board the steamer while at this port on the 12th inst., died at the hospital yesterday. He was 40 years of age and a native of England.

THE BRAZILIAN ARBITRATION.

De Gama Interviewed by a U. S. Rear-Admiral—Uruguay Assisting Peixoto.

RIO JANEIRO, Jan. 25.—Rear-Admiral Benham yesterday had two long interviews with Admiral Da Gama on board the cruiser San Fran on the subject of arbitration. Rear-Admiral Benham does not speak hopefully of the result.

MONTEVIDEO, Jan. 25.—At the request of the Brazilian Minister here, Uruguayan police have taken possession of a quantity of arms and ammunition which Brazilian insurgent sympathizers here had procured for the use of the insurgents in the State of Rio Grande do Sul.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The Herald's Montevideo cable says:—The commander of the Brazilian fleet anchored here has received orders to be ready to sail next week. The plan is to catch the rebel fleet between two forces, as Admiral Goncalves will send down the rest of Peixoto's navy from Pernambuco and the two divisions will meet near Rio.

Will the Pope Leave Rome?

ROME, Jan. 25.—In connection with the report that the Pope is raising the question of whether any power would give him a hospitable reception should it be deemed expedient for him to exile himself from Italy, the statement is made that the subject has not been discussed. His Holiness is inquiring into the nature of the revolutionary agitation in Italy and Sicily, but he is in no wise alarmed by the movement, knowing that it is not directed against the Vatican.

THE COLD WAVE.

Causing Much Suffering in Many Parts of the States.

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—The sudden and remarkable drop in temperature following Tuesday night's storm has precipitated the west and south from its enjoyment of spring-like weather into the embrace of the severest storm of the winter. So rapid was the descent of the mercury that in several places it has resulted in death. Much suffering among the unemployed of the cities and the usual delay to railroad traffic and business of all kinds is reported from all parts of the affected country.

The temperature in Chicago fell from 6 above in the morning to 4 below in the 24 hours. In South Dakota at one or two points on the James river a temperature of 43 below is reported. Fifteen miles west of El Reno a man and his wife were frozen to death last night and it is reported that others perished by the intense cold. A tramp was found frozen to death eight miles north of Pittsburg, Kas., and near Benton, Montana, a man named Morarity was frozen stiff.

Despatches from Kansas, Missouri and Oklahama indicate that the storm was very severe and that the mercury reached the lowest point in years.

At Springfield, Mo., the snow is two feet deep, and this morning the mercury recorded 16 degrees below zero. All trains are delayed.

From Guthrie comes the information that the thermometer reached 11 degrees below zero, the lowest point ever reached of which there is any record. Great suffering prevails among the new settlers, who were unprepared for such weather.

At 11 o'clock last night the temperature in St. Paul was 20 degrees below zero, and during the early morning hours it ranged as low as 26 below. It has been by far the coldest day of the winter, and the demand for clothing, fuel and bedding has been great from the poor quarters of the city.

The Dalton Gang Rob a Bank.

GUTHRIE, O.T., Jan. 25.—At Pawnee, 50 miles northeast of here, three members of the Dalton gang rode into the town and entered the bank, but finding the safe locked with the time lock, took $100 of the cash drawer and rode away carrying the cashier on a horse three miles into the country.

A German's Long Walk.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—Gastav Keogel reached this city Tuesday, having walked from New York in 169 days and 18 hours. He left New York, July 18, in company with two other Germans for a purse of $3,000 each, and the three men were to finish the trip in 171 days.

Ohio Miners Strike.

THE FRENCH COLONIES.

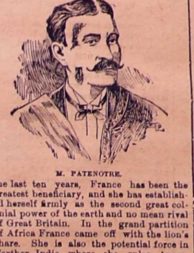
THE REPUBLIC'S DOMINIONS NOW GIRDLE THE WORLD.

How France Has Again Risen to the Rank of a Great Power—Its Ambassador Second in Rank at Washington—Great Strides in 23 Years.

The second ambassador ever sent by a foreign nation to the United States was M. Patenotre, the representative of the French republic. There was something of a race between M. Patenotre and Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador, as to which should be first recognized, but Sir Julian was the first to receive and present his credentials, which arrived one day sooner than those of M. Patenotre, and the former thus became the ranking member of the Washington diplomatic corps. But the French legation is second in rank. Ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary is the official title of the representative sent by the great European republic to the capital of the new-world republic, in whose establishment the old French monarchy played so important a part. The French ambassador is a man of long experience and has had a distinguished career.

How many readers know the mighty strides France has taken since the day twenty-three years ago when she lay prostrate before the German conquerors and was compelled to surrender her Rhenish frontier and give up her rich provinces of Alsace and Lorraine?

In the great land-grabbing contests between the nations of the old world, during the last ten years, France has been the greatest beneficiary, and she has established herself firmly as the second great colonial power of the earth and no mean rival of Great Britain. In the grand partition of Africa France came off with the lion's share. She is also the potential force in Farther India, where she rules Anam, Tonquin, Cambodia and Cochin China, with the vast stretch of territory running to the Mekong river which she has just wrested from the King of Siam. France lost, over a hundred years ago, after a contest that bathed hither India in blood, all her possessions there except the four cities of Pondichery, Karikall, Chandernagore and Mahe. But she has become once more a great Asiatic power, now controlling 35,000,000 Asiatic people, with the certainty that Siam herself must soon come under French suzerainship. In Oceanica French aggression has qeen equally marked and the flag of the republic floats over hundreds of the isles of the sea. Her ownership of Madagascar, the second largest island of the world, long disputed, is now conceded by England and she has added the old Swedish possessions in the West Indies to her rich islands in that region.



M. PATENOTRE.

In the proud old days when the French flag floated over so many lands that Louis could complacently speak of the loss of the Canadian empire as the "surrender of only a few arpents of snow," the French dominion was much less extensive than now.

A map of the world hanging on the wall at the French legations which shows the French possessions in both hemispheres is a startling lesson in modern political geography. Another shows the territorial possessions of all the Europaan powers, and is an illustration of the great world-grabbing race. The French possessions, which are shown in blue, are however, the most interesting feature of the map. France dominates all north-western Africa, with the exception of the despotism of Morocco, the republican failure of Liberia and a few British posts on the Gulf of Guinea. All Africa west of Tripoli, Fezzan, Lake Tchad and the bight of Biafra is French. The African possessions of the republic have more than 3,000,000 square miles and 30,000,000 inhabitants. The blue appears in all quarters of the dark continent. It commands the Straits of Babelmandeb and the lower courses of the Congo as well as all the winding way of the ancient Niger. Madagascar and its many neighbors sport the color. Southwestern Asia wears it. It spots Hindostan, and the south seas are dotted with myriad islands where the French flag floats. It has possessions in the Newfoundland Gulf and rich islands in the West Indies, and still holds sway over its oldtime properties in Guiana. In all parts of the earth the republic has something less than 4,000,000 square miles of territory and holds sway over 100,000,000 souls.

Kaiser William as Bandmaster.

There is, of course, nothing that Emperor William cannot do. He knows everything and can give the most learned a good start and an easy beating in all branches of art, literature, music, soldiering, or, in fact, any other matter that mortal man knows anything about. The military band of the footguards, which is about one of the best in Europe, was playing a march in the courtyard of the Schloss a few days ago, but the time did not suit William. He thought he knew more about it than the conductor, so he straightway emerged from the palace, stopped the music, and, taking the baton from the bandmaster's hand, conducted the piece himself to his own beating. The musicians were in a state of terror, but he warmed them up to galop time and when he had finished returned the baton to the conductor with the remark: "Next time you play that march play it properly. I have given you the correct time. Now, dismiss the band, go to barracks and play nothing else for a week." This order was religiously carried into effect, and for a whole week the guards knew no other melody but that eccentric march, which no man could keep step to.

Another matter which has upset William's equilibrium is the fact that the people stare at him in church. He doesn't like it and has now ordered that whenever he attends divine service all seats of which he can see the occupants, or from which he can be seen, shall be filled by soldiers so that he may not be disturbed in his prayers. The soldiers are compelled to look straight before them and any deviation of a head from the "eyes front" is punished by confinement to barracks and heavy pack drill.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

SHOULD LOCAL OFFICIALS BE APPOINTED OR ELECTED

A Lengthly Discussion on the Much Mooted Question

Thursday Jan. 25th.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Council resumed at 2 o'clock, the Warden in the chair.

On motion the special committee of the whole on communications resumed. Mr. Tivy in the chair.

The communication of Rev. Mr. Wilkins of Trenton in reference to petitioning the Legislature to have the High SchoolAct amended in reference to pupils attending a high school was considered.

Mr. Dench moved, seconded by Mr. McCargar that the report be received and filed and we join in petitioning the Legislature according to the suggestion of the Rev. gentlemen.—Carried.

The communication of the county of Frontenac asking the Legislature for the power to appoint all officials who are paid by the county council, caused a lengthy discussion.

Mr. Vermilyea said the subject was misapprehended. The gaoler and turnkey are subordinate officers of the sheriff, and they are responsible to him. He appoints them, but the county paid these are the only two which the county pays wholly. The sheriff is not answerable to the county. He is only paid by the county for the work he does for. the county. The substance of the petition is inaccurate. The school inspector is appointed by the council, but the government pays half the salary. We receive $4,000 a year from the Ontario Government for the administration of justice. It does not apply to the registrar as he is an appointee of the government. It is important that these men should not be appointed by the county council. There was nothing proper in the petition, as we should have to do a similar thing in the Dominion matters. He moved that no action be taken in the matter.

Mr Dench said there was a prevalent idea that our county officials were paid too much salary. It was a step in the right direction and he was prepared to petition the Dominion in a like manner. There is a depression and the officials should be made to help bear the burdens.

The Warden said the appropriating and inspecting powers were the same. No injustice he believed would prevail if the people elected these officials and the government made the inspection. It would he believed profitable and more economical.

Mr. Valleau said if we had a good man we should pay him a good salary. He was in favor of cutting down the expenses of the county councillors if we were consistent.

Mr. Dench said there areofficials which he thought the county council could appoint, namely the police magistrate. the goaler and the turkey. Many of the officials were getting too much pay.

Mr. Thompson moved in amendment that the prayer of the petition be granted. He believed that certain county officials should be elected by the people.

Mr. Vermilyea said the elective plan was not a good one. The person so elected would naturally be a strong partizan. We should stick to the present system which he contended was the best.

Mr. McCargar did not think it would be wise for these officials to be elected by the people.

Mr. Haggerty spoke in favor of having these officials elected by the people. He referred to the appointing of license inspectors by the government which he thought was a mistake.

Mr. Hanley said the present system of appointing license inspectors was an improvement upon the old system.

Mr. Martin said there were certain officials paid by the county which the council should have the appointing of. It was a reasonable request to ask for their appointment. He moved an amendment to the amendment that the matter be laid over until to-morrow. Mr. Montgomery seconded the motion.

Mr. Vermilyea said the salaries of the Registrar, Sheriff and County Attorney should be lowered.

After some discussion Mr. Martin's amendment prevailed.

The communication from Carleton county re amending the assessment act was read.

Mr. Vermilyea said that as far as Thurlow was concerned they did not desire a change.

A portion of the petition was adopted but the clause recommending the amalgation of treasurer and assessor was voted down.

The committee rose and reported and asked leave to sit again—Granted.

Mr. P. P. Clark moved seconded by Mr. Montgomery that the following committee be appointed to make the appropriation for roads outside of gravel roads: Messrs Haryett, Tivy, Clare, A. Nicholson, Fleming, Valleau, McComb, Hilton, Hanley, Holgate, Caldwell and the mover.—Carried.

On motion the council adjourned until 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Thursday Jan. 25th

MORNING SESSION.

Council resumed at 10 a. m., Warden Farley residing.

The minutes of Wednesday's session were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS, ETC.

From Mr. J. B. Cleak, police magistrate for North Hastings, stating that a number of petitions would be presented to the council in reference to his holding courts in various parts of the northern part of the county.

Two petitions were read from a large number of ratepayers in the northern municipalities asking for the privilege of holding a court in different parts of the northern municipalities. Referred to the Ways and Means committee.

REPORTS.

The clerk presented a report of the special committee which was appointed to audit the accounts of the late Timothy Farnham which were found to be correct.

Mr. Thompson moved, seconded by Mr. English that the report be accepted and adopted and that the clerk and treasurer be authorized to settle with Mr. Wm. Farnham, the executor of the late superintendent. -Carried.

Mr. Thompson presented a report of the special committee which was appointed to enquire into the claim of Hudson and Bateman for damages alleged to have been sustained on account of obstructions. The committee came to the conclusion that the claim was not legal and authorized the Warden to defend the suit should one be entered. The report was adopted.

BY-LAW.

Mr. Martin introduced a by-law to appoint auditors, auditors of the administration of justice and High School trustees read a first time and referred to committee of the whole on by-laws. On motion went into committee on ways and means, the residents of the municipalities asking for aid to the magistrate to different portions of the some discussion. Mullett and P. P. support of the petition,

Scie eases cu by its vit makes pure bl Indigestion? Mis AM'S PILLS.

Chi Pitcher'

They thought it would be in the interest of the county to grant a sum to assist in carrying out the prayer of the petition. The expenses in some cases were great when persons had to go to Bancroft for a trial whereas it would be a great convenience to hold a court in other places.

The Warden thought that an injustice had been done in the north in reference to the matter and something should be done.

Mr. Vermilyea thought the council should know what the county would receive in fee. should an additional salary be given to Mr. Cleak.

Mr. Haryett moved, seconded by Mr. R. Lancaster that Mr. Cleak receive an addition a sum of $300 per annum, making his salary $500 from the 1st Jan. 1894 and that he make sworn quarterly returns to the county treasurer of fees and fines and pay the same and that for the said amount he is to hold courts at different points wherever necessary throughout his jurisdiction.

Mr. Vermilyea thought an additional $200making his salary $400 would dealing liberally with Mr. Cleak.

Mr. McCargar would support the motion if it was made $200.

Mr. Haryett amended his motion making it $200 which was carried unanimously.

Mr. McCargar presented an account of $18.70 for examining a lunatic, Miss Young, and sending her to Kingston, which was ordered to be paid to the treasurer of Thurlow township.

Moved by Mr. Tivy seconded by S. Haryett that the usual poor school grant of $800 be made to the 9 northern municipalities including S. S. No. 1 in the township of Lake said grant to be apportioned by the inspector as in former years. —Carried.

A communication was read from Dr. Chamberlain inspector of jails detailing his visit to the count goal. He found everything in first class order. He called attention of the council of the importance of heating the goal court house, and registry office with steam, as the present method of heating with stoves is unnecessary.

Mr. Vermilyea said the present system of heating is expensive and somewhat dangerous. There were 34 stoves. We should however wipe off the debt from the registry office before we make any further expenses. He moved that no action be taken on the communication, which motion prevailed.

A number of accounts were ordered to be paid.

On motion the committee arose and reported progress and asked leave to sit again.—Granted.

Mr. Young, of Trenton, was heard in reference to the High school matter. He said last year there were present at the school 17 scholars from Hastings county, 27 from Northumberland and 6 from Prince Edward. What they wished to do was to petition the government to amend the law so that scholars from outside counties could be received on the same basis as are scholars from the county.

Mr. Martin moved seconded by Mr. Vermilyea, that the Finance and Public Property committee be instructed to obtain the opinion of the County Solicitor in reference to the legality of charging the cost of advertising the tax sale of lands in two papers and charging the same against the lands.—Carried.

It being the hour of noon the Warden left the chair.

Woman a----?

Woman is a conundrum most decidedly. Still we do not propose to give her up. Let a woman have her health and spirits and she is the sunshine of the house. But suppose she is sick, what then? Why, then there is a shadow over all the house. Happily in thousands of homes, such shadows have been removed. Thanks to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the diseases and weaknesses incident to their sex have been removed, and with health restored, their bright spirits have come back, and the household has passed from the winter of its discontent to a glad summer of comfort. O, suffering women, for your own sakes, and for the sakes of those about you, use these simple means and be healed. The only remedy so effective in nervous and general prostration, "Female Weakness," periodical pains, irregularities and kindred ailments, that it can be guaranteed or sold on trial.

Croup whooping cough, bronchitis; in short all affections of the throat and lungs, are relieved by this sterling preparation, which also remedies rheumatic pains, sores, bruises piles, kidney difficulty, and is economic.

CORBETT THE WINNER

MITCHELL KNOCKED OUT IN THE THIRD ROUND

The Englishman Badly Punished, and had to Be Carried out of The Ring

The great prize fight which has agitated two continents for the past few weeks came off to-day without any interruption and left the Yankee pugilist an easy victor in the third round. Following is the press report of the fight:

KINGSIDE, Jacksonville, Fla.—(1st Round)—Mitchell gets in one on Corbett's neck. Jim lands right and left. Just as time was called Mitchell landed a good body blow. Honors even. It looks as if it will be a wicket fight.

2nd round—A mild exchange and a clinch, Corbett uppercuts his man as they come together, Mitchell lands hard on ribs and as Mitchell came Jim caught him on the head staggering him, Corbett uppercuts Mitchell again, lands with right on Charlie's ribs, and as Mitchell came Jim caught him on the head staggering him.

3rd. Round.—Mitchell comes up rather groggy. Corbett rushed at him swinging right and left heavily on Mitchell's neck, Charlie went down, he took the full time to rise, and then Corbett rushed at him like a tiger; Mitchell clinched, Corbett threw him off and floored him with a stiff facer; again Mitchell took all the time to rise, and when he advanced to the centre Corbett smashed Mitchell square on the nose; Mitchell reeled and fell on his face—helpless; the referee counted 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9; Mitchell is knocked out; the referee declared Corbett winner of the match, Champion of the world.

Mitchell's face was covered with blood. He was carried to his corner in a helpless condition. Time of fight 9 minutes. It was all Corbett's battle though Mitchell made a show in the 1st round. The men did not shake hands at the beginning of the fight. The referee called upon them to do so but neither responded.

THE KINGSTON PRESBYTERY

A Long Session and Much Important Business Transacted.

The meeting of the Kingston Presbytery was an unusually long one. Rev. J. L. George, the Moderator, presided.

The session records of St Andrew's church, Belleville, and of St. Andrews, Gananoque, were laid on the table for examination. The Moderator appointed Professor Fowler to examine the records of the Belleville congregation, and Rev. S. Russell, of Deseronto, to examine those of St. Andrew's, Gananoque.

St. Andrew's congregation, Stirling, made a request, asking the Presbytery to endorse their action in mortgaging the church property to the extent of $3,000, to help pay the cost of building a new chruch The congregation, it was explained, had erected a church at a cost of $6,500, and the subscription books show that $1,800 has been subscribed, but the amount cannot be collected inside of three years. The Presbytery acceded to the request.

Rev. John Burton, of Toronto, addressed the Presbytery and asked that his name be placed on the appendix to the Presbytery's roll, thereby recognizing his status as a minister of the Presbyterian church. A number of years ago Mr. Burton, who was then in charge of the John street Presbyterian church, Belleville, received and accepted a call from the congregation of the Northern Congregational church in Toronto, and his name was thereafter omitted from the list of Presbyterian ministers. He claimed that while pastor of the Northern Congregational church, he had formed no ecclesiastical connection with that body, but had remained a Presbyterian. He had since given up his pastorate of the Congregational church and desired to be recognized by the Presbytery as a Presbyterian minister so that he could accept any call that might be given him.

Principal Grant, of Queen's College, said that Mr. Burton's request was quite reasonable, that at a previous meeting of the Presbytery held at Madoc he (Mr. Burton) had written, stating his wish to be looked upon as a Presbyterian, and, when he took charge of the Congregational church in Toronto, he did not change his religious views, and he had asked that his letter be filed. As long as he had been engaged in good Christian work and was earning a sufficient salary, it did not make much difference whether his name was on the roll or not. But now it is different, and he thought his name should be placed on the roll so that Mr. Burton would be in a position to accept any call tendered him. He moved that "The Presbytery having heard Mr. Burton's statement received it, and order it to be kept in retentus. At the same time they express their gratification that Mr. Burton is again in a position to renew his ministerial work in connection with the Presbytery, and, seeing that his name was through inadvertence not placed on the appendix to the roll, instruct the Clerk to place it there and report to the General Assembly." This motion was seconded by the Clerk, Rev. W. T. Wilkins, and carried unanimously.

The reports of the committees appointed to examine the records of St. Andrew's church, Gananoque, and of St. Andrew's church, Belleville was received. The records of St. Andrew's, Gananoque, were found to be correct, but there was a slight mistake in an entry in the records of St Andrew's, Belleville. This was corrected and the records of both churches attested in the regular manner.

Rev. Mr. Houston reported that in accordance with instructions received by him the necessary steps had been taken to raise Tweed and Fuller missions to the status of regular congregations.

The report of the home Mission committee was submited by Rev. Mr. McLean, convener. It showed the condition of each field, and set forth in reports from the statements who had labored in those fields, and certain other Information concerning the work.

The report was received and the committee thanked for the diligence shown.

The Presbytery licensed Messrs Daly and McPherson as preachers of the Word.

A long discussion took place on the question as to whether or not the whole Psalter be retained, or selections made. It was decided to recommend the retention of the whole Psalter. The rest of the session was taken up in revising the hymnal.

WALL PAPER ! !

With this advertisement we commence the Wall Paper campaign for 1894. We are going to make a hard, vigorous fight for a large season's business in interior decorations, and by watching this space closely in the future you will read some points on the practical decoration of a house that cannot help but put you in the way of fixing up your homes, cheaply yet sensibly and artistically too.

Apropos of this, our first hint to you is to not delay your work too long. With a stock like we always carry, and with the paper hangers with little or no work to engage them, now is the time to have your work done and done properly. At the present writing we are in a position to undertake at once the contract to paper 500 homes, including every room in the house from the kitchen to the Drawing Room and with the most modern effects.

We have the latest schemes known to the wallpaper world for facilitating the handling of wallpaper.

We can give you better attention now than during the rush later on in the Spring; we can give you as close prices as you can get any time during the present year, we can show you over 500 designs to choose from, and coupled with this you can get your paper hanger at an hour's notice.

Do not delay till house cleaning time; Paper Hanging is not simply house cleaning 'tis house decoration, Ay! and furnishing too. Think it over!

Disposal of a Valuable Mining Property Long in Litigation

Years ago when the gold mining fever boomed Belleville and its vicinity George J. Cook, of Cook Brothers, lumber dealers, of Toronto, formed a partnership with Judge Dean, of Victoria county, and Dr. Williams, of Brockville, and purchased 500 acres in the township of Marmora.

Subsequently Mr. Cook brought an action against the judge and the doctor to establish a lien against the land for the amount of money advanced by him.

In June last he recovered judgment pursuant to which the Master in-Ordinary has granted his solicitors, Lount, Marsh & Cameron an order for the sale of the mining property to be held in Toronto next month. The property is said to be valuable, and gold is still said to be there waiting to be extracted by a proper process.

"MOST WIDELY."

CHAPTER II.

EX-PURSER on the WAR PATH.

My last letter is unanswerable.

Ex-purser is now using the weapons of the blackguard and coward, namely, threats and abuse.

From a perusal of "Personal" in last Saturday's issue it will be seen that the EX-PURSER has at last admitted that his senior partner is not an author, and that he himself is entitled to only a small part of the authorship of "MOST WIDELY." The senior partner and the EX-PURSER advertise to the contrary notwithstanding. For further proof see their circulars. The senior partner has been dropped out of the authorship. Perhaps a little more light will enable the ex-purser to see his way out. In recent articles published by these men I have been personally attacked in a very abusive and cowardly manner, and my methods of conducting my college have been misrepresented. What they have published in reference to the "key and reference book" is absolutely untrue. When it is known that the REAL author of the "MOST WIDELY" got his business training in an American business college and that the senior partner of the present firm is a graduate of an American business college, is it not strange that these two men who are now running the top flat should insult the American people by advertising American educational methods as "American shallowness"?

They have many things of American origin in their observatory. The fact is, that these men owe what ever measure of success they have had to the use they have made of what they now term "American shallowness".

AN EGYPTIAN CANARD.

The Actions of the Young Khedive Possess No Significance.

ABBAS PASHA WAS ONLY SAUCY

His Criticism of British Military Drill But the Waywardness of Youth—He Has Apologized and British Dignity is Maintained.

LONDON,, Jan. 26.—It was reported yesterday afternoon that the Duke of Connaught, commander at Aldershot, had received orders to prepare to despatch a body of troops to Egypt. The report was without foundation in fact. The Duke of Connaught was out all day with troops on divisional route march. If any men be sent to Egypt they will be merely drafts to fill vacancies left by changes in the British forces in Egypt. The English and French dailies, commenting on the Khedive's behavior, with few exceptions agree that the Khedive's recent criticisms of British military drill in Egypt have no deep international import.

The Daily News says in a short leader on Egyptian affairs that perhaps the Khedive's only fault is youth, which fortunately only requires time to cure. The writer treats the Khedive's last offence very lightly. The Daily News correspondent in Cairo says the general opinion there is that the Khedive will comply with Lord Cromor's demands.

Labosphore Egyptional, published in Cairo, says that the matter was not of a serious nature and has been satisfactorily arranged. The Khedive apologized to Gen. Kitchener, of the Egyptian War Department, and besought him to retain his post. Kitchener consented to remain in office. Lord Rosebery, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, deems this apology as insufficient, and has directed Lord Cromor, the British diplomatic agent in Cairo, to demand that the Khedive publish a formal retraction of his strictures on the army and issue an order praising its condition; also that he remove Maher Pasha, the Assistant Secretary of War, who is charged with inciting the Khedive to make his hostile criticisms.

The Marquis de Reverseaux, the French representative in Cairo, supports Lord Cromor. Ris Pasha, the Egyptian Premier, will meet the Khedive at Luxer, and there will draw up the apology which is to be published.

The Times has a line despatch from its Cairo correspondent, closing with these words:—"The whole Cabinet regrets the imprudence of His Highness." The public generally regard this as merely another display of his animus to awarding his officials."

The Daily Telegraph, which is not backward in starting war scares, admits that nothing half so serious as war is likely to result from the Khedive's conduct.

GERMANY'S ALL-ABSORBING TOPIC

The Prince's Visit—The Emperor Did Not Snub Count Herbert Von Bismarck.

BERLIN, Jan. 26.—The report circulated a few days ago that Count Herbert Bismarck had been snubbed by the Emperor, probably had no foundation. The fact that stamps the report as untrue is that Count Herbert has received a command from the Emperor to visit him at the castle.

The Reichstag will to-day hold no session, adjourning over the day in honor of Prince Bismarck's visit.

The Prussian Landtag voted down a motion to adjourn until Saturday in Bismarck's honor.

BERLIN, Jan. 26.—The idea that Bismarck might come last night had possession of the people until a late hour. In the early evening crowds gathered at the station to welcome him and refused to be convinced for several hours that he would not arrive before to-day at noon. The official who for years has superintended the arrangements for the Prince's journey started for Friedrichsruhe last evening.

The people of Berlin will not be the only persons who will welcome the ex-Chancellor. Trains arriving at the various stations are bringing thousands of people from all parts of the country who intend to take part in the demonstration. It is doubtful if any event in recent years in Germany has created such widespread enthusiasm as the visit of the Prince.

SIR GERALD PORTAL DEAD.

He Held Many Important Positions and Was Present at Alexandria.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—Sir Gerald Portal, prominent for many years in British diplomatic circles, is dead.

Sir Gerald Portal was born in 1858. After being educated at Eton, he entered the diplomatic service, becoming an attache in 1870. He was posted to the Egyptian agency and consulate in 1882 and was present at the bombardment of Alexandria in July of that year. He held the rank of third Secretary of Legation at the time. Sir Gerald Portal became acting agent and Consul-General in 1886, and in the year following was sent to Abyssinia on mission. In 1880 he was appointed to Zanzibar, at first in an acting capacity, and then permanently, on the retirement of Sir Euan-Smith. Sir Gerald was made C B. in 1886, and K. C. M. G. in August, 1893. In 1892 he was appointed Government Commissioner at Uganda. He favored the occupation of Uganda by Great Britain in succession to the British East Africa Company. His widow is Lady Alice, daughter of the Earl of Abingdon.

Treacherous Arabs in the Congo.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 26.—Further details have been received from the Congo Free State regarding the attack upon Kassonga by an Arab force under the command of Rumalitza. The earlier advices brought the news of the killing of Capt. Dhanis and Capt. Ponthier, and it was then said that they had been shot by the attacking party. The details received yesterday show that they really were shot by some auxiliary natives. They were leading the advance guard to repel the attack of the natives when they were fired upon from behind. The Belgian members of the advance guard saw the act and at once fired upon the traitors. The engagement was bloodier than was at first reported, being made so by the treachery of the auxiliaries. The report that the advantage of the fight remained with the Belgian force is confirmed.

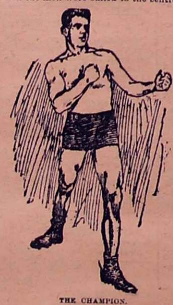
THE CORBETT-MITCHELL FIGHT.

The Californian Wins the Battle in the Third Round.

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 25.—The prize fight between Corbett and Mitchell for a purse of $20,000 and the championship of the world came off yesterday, notwithstanding the protests of Governor Mitchell that it would not be fought in that State.

The arena was placed about a mile from the town. A squad of militia was present, but the men were unarmed and their intentions were evidently peaceful.

Over 2,000 spectators were present. When the men were called to the centre at 2.20 p.m., Mitchell, the English pugilist, looked diminutive beside the Californian champion.



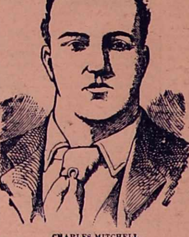
THE CHAMPION.

The fight commenced at 2.30 p.m., New York time.

In the first round the honors were equally divided, Mitchell showing, if anything, a little advantage. He started in by getting in one on Corbett's neck; Corbett landed right and left, and just when time was called Mitchell succeeded in landing a good body blow.

In the second round Corbett uppercut his man and Mitchell landed on the ribs, and as Mitchell came up Jim caught him on the head, staggering him. Corbett uppercut Mitchell again. Mitchell got in twice on Corbett's neck, then Corbett floored Mitchell cleverly and knocked him down. The gong saved Mitchell from a knock-out.

In the third round Mitchell came up rather groggy. Corbett rushed at him, swinging his right and left heavily on Mitchell's neck and Charlie went down. He took the full time to rise, and then Corbett rushed at him like a tiger. Mitchell clinched; Corbett threw him off and floored him with a stiff facer. Again Mitchell took all the time to rise and when he advanced to the centre Corbett smashed him square on the nose. Mitchell reeled and fell on his face helpless. The referee counted 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9. Mitchell was knocked out.



CHARLES MITCHELL.

The referee then declared Corbett winner of the match and champion of the world.

Mitchell's face was covered with blood and he was carried to his corner in a helpless condition. The time of the fight was nine minutes. It was all Corbett's fight, though Mitchell made a show in the first round. The men did not shake hands at the beginning of the fight. The referee called upon the men to do so, but neither responded.

Soon after the return of Corbett and Mitchell to Jacksonville both were arrested on warrants charging them with having committed the offense of fighting by agreement. The men were both taken to the court house, where their bail was fixed at $7,500 each. Bonds for their appearance were furnished.

Cut a Woman's Throat and Suicided.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Jan. 26.—Alonzo Thompson and Mollie Metlow, with whom he had been intimate, quarrelled Tuesday night, and after setting fire to the house Thompson left. The flames were extinguished without much damage. On Wednesday Thompson returned to the house, cut the woman's throat with a razor and then committed suicide by jumping into the river.

Striking Miners Win.

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 26.—The strike of the twelve hundred coal miners in the Des Moines district has ended. The miners refused to accept the operators' compromise rate of eighty cents per ton, and stood by their demand for eighty and ninety, which is ten cents less than they have been receiving. The operators finally surrendered.

Cremated in a Burning Building.

WATERTOWN, N.Y., Jan. 26.—The dwelling of Mrs. Eggleston, near Oxbow, was burned Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Eggleston was away at the time, having locked her two young children in the house. One of the children was cremated and the other fatally burned before they were taken from the house by neighbors.

South Huron P. of I. Candidate.

HENSALL, Jan. 26.—A meeting of the Patrons of Industry for the South Riding of Huron, was held on Wednesday to nominate a candidate for the Local Legislature. Each township of the riding was well represented and much enthusiasm was manifested by the delegates. The convention's choice fell on S. M. Sanders, of Stephen.

Church Gutted by Fire.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 26.—St. Paul's Episcopal church, located at Sixth and Walnut streets, was gutted by fire yesterday, causing a loss of $73,000, with insurance of $34,000. Fireman Charles Early was seriously injured by a falling ladder, but was rescued and taken to his home.

BLAKE ON HOME RULE.

The Member For South Longford Addresses Ottawa Sympathizers.

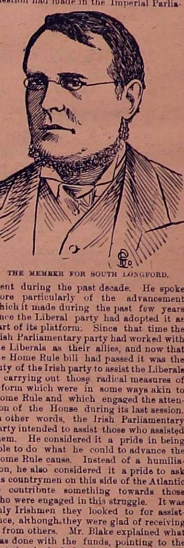
TAKES PRIDE IN THE CAUSE

And Considers it No Humiliation to Seek Contributions from His Countrymen on This Side of the Atlantic—Irish Party's Duty.

OTTAWA, Jan. 26.—Hon. Edward Blake, M.P. for South Langford in the Imperial Parliament, addressed a large meeting of Ottawa sympathizers with the cause of Home Rule in the Grand Opera house here last night. Hon. John Costigan, Secretary of State, presided. There were also on the platform Hon. E. H. Bronson, M.P.P.; P. Baskerville, ex-M.P.P.; John L. MacDongall, Hon. R. W. Scott, Principal McCabe, of the Normal School; Father Whelan, ex-Mayor Macdougall and others.

The meeting was opened by the chairman reading an address of welcome to Mr. Blake. This address was signed by Hon. John Costigan, Principal McCabe, and Father Whelan.

Mr. Blake spoke for over an hour, reviewing the progress which the Home Rule question had made in the Imperial Parliament during the past decade. He spoke more particularly of the advancement which it made during the past few years since the Liberal party had adopted it as part of its platform. Since that time the Irish Parliamentary party had worked with the Liberals as their allies, and now that the Home Rule bill had passed it was the duty of the Irish party to assist the Liberals in carrying out those radical measures of reform which were in some ways akin to Home Rule and which engaged the attention of the House during its last session. In other words, the Irish Parliamentary party intended to assist those who assisted them. He considered it a pride in being able to do what he could to advance the Home Rule cause. Instead of a humiliation, he also considered it a pride to ask his countrymen on this side of the Atlantic to contribute something towards those who were engaged in this struggle. It was only Irishmen they looked to for assistance, although they were glad of receiving it from others. Mr. Blake explained what was done with the funds, pointing to the fact that he had already published a statement in the press.



THE MEMBER FOR SOUTH LONGFORD.

A vote of thanks to Mr. Blake was moved by Hon. Mr. Scott and seconded by John L. MacDongall and carried unanimously.

Mr. Blake returned to Toronto last night.

THE P.P.A. CONVENTION.

Officers Elected for the Current Year—Their Political Platform.

HAMILTON, Jan. 26.—The P.P.A. convention continued its proceedings in secret session all day yesterday. The election of officers resulted as already predicted. The following are officers for the ensuing year: Grand President, Rev. J. C. Madill, Belwood; Grand Vice-President, Joseph Kinersley, Toronto; Grand Secretary, Jackson Little, Toronto; Grand Treasurer, E. J. Roberts, London; Grand Chaplain, Rev. F. R. Ghent, Walkerville; Grand Secretary of State, James F. Harper, Hamilton; Grand Guards, R. Noxon, Brandon, Man., J. Graham, Havelock, and W. Smith, Barrie.

There was considerable talk caused by the action of Wednesday's session in excluding ex-Ald. Bell, of Toronto, from gaining admittance into the convention with a certificate which had been granted to a member in a Toronto council, to which Bell does not belong. Mr. Bell was refused admission on the grounds that he was not a member of the council which granted the certificate, and also because he was a Government official, and the convention had decided to refuse admission to all Government officials whether they were members of the order or not.

The principal portion of yesterday's session was taken up by the report of the legislative committee. They reported on the platform to be adopted by the association in the forthcoming Provincial and Dominion elections. The committee in their report were in favor of the adoption of a platform similar to that of the Patrons of Industry. They also reported in favor of making a strong fight against separate schools, against the giving of government grants to private hospitals, and in favor of government inspectors of all private schools and seminaries. The committee's report was adopted with minor amendments.

Two of the delegates who are on the staff of a Toronto newspaper were hauled over the coals for divulging the proceedings of the convention, thus causing them to be made public through the newspapers on which they are employed. They denied that they had been instrumental in furnishing information of the convention's business to the paper, and a committee was appointed to investigate the matter.

Dr. Ryerson, local member for Toronto and a strong P. P. A. member, visited the convention and was given a hearty reception. Ex-Ald. Bell, of Toronto, remained in the city all day but was unable to gain admission to the convention.

The convention will meet in Toronto one year hence.

"I think it my duty to voluntarily tell what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for myself and wife. Last spring my wife was in a very bad way with kidney complaint; felt

Miserable All the Time

and could hardly get around the house. She began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and in one week she was improving. When she had taken but three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla she was cured of that dreadful disease. As for me, I was troubled with Catarrh, Heart Failure and Liver Complaint. Suffered so intensely that

I Could Not Sleep

at night, nor get any rest through the day. As soon as I lay down, my heart would beat so hard that I would have to get up. I had very severe pains in the small of my back and noises in my head like a flock of black birds all singing at once. So you see I was hard up. I also experienced benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla within a week after I began taking it. I have improved rapidly and can now sleep better than I have for a year, can eat and not bloat as I used to. We praise

Hood's Sarsaparilla

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deteleriou mineral ingredient is contained in it, and though its act on is thorough in cases of costiveness never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowels like a violent purgative. It invigorates the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes—and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney disease scrofulous and all diseases of the blood female weakness, &c. &c Price $1.00 Sample bottle 10 cents. APPOINTING COUNTY OFFICIALS

Yesterday the Hastings County Council passed a resolution in favor of having certain officials, namely the sheriffs, registrars, jailers, turnkeys and license inspectors, appointed by the county council or elected by the people. This resolution was opposed by Messrs. Vermilyea, McCargar and others, but it was adopted in spite of the sound arguments advanced against it. We cannot avoid the conclusion that those who voted for it did so without a full consideration of the matter. The system of electing these officers we dismiss as one that admits of no reasonable defence. It has been in vogue in the States, and the result there certainly is not such as to commend it to us, and the more intelligent and better informed Americans are almost unanimous in condemning it.

Similar objections of course cannot be made against the appointment of these officials by the county council, but against this there are others objections equally strong. For instance, the sheriff and registrar of Hastings are as much officials of the city of Belleville as of the rest of the county. Which body then, the city council or the county council should appoint them? At once we find here a clash of authority. The same is true of the license inspector. Who would appoint the Inspector for West Hastings, which includes Belleville, Trenton and Sidney? Neither the city nor the county council would have the right. These are very tangible difficulties in the way, and intelligent men have no right to declare in favor of this change, simply because it sounds well in theory, without considering these difficulties, and pointing out some feasible plan for obviating them.

But this is not the only objection to the proposed change. The Ontario government is responsible for the administration of justice, and the sheriffs are very important factors in that administration. Surely it is most reasonable that the responsible authority should have the appointing of its officials? Otherwise how can harmonious action be ensured? Moreover it is very important that there should be a complete uniformity in the administration of these offices, as well as those of the registrar's. How can this be obtained if each county appoints its own officials, to which only they are responsible? The government possesses the inspecting power, and of course must retain it. Mr. Farley said there would be no injustice if the people elected the officials or the county appointed them, while the government continued the right inspection. Surely Mr. Farley knows that in such a case inspection would be a farce. The object of inspection is to secure accuracy and uniformity in the discharge of duties. But if the county appointed the registrar, for instance, and the inspector found something amiss in that officers acts, what could the inspector or the government do about the matter? Absolutely nothing, for the official in question would be quite independent of them and could snap his finger at them. If there is to be intelligent oversight and rigid and effective inspection by any body, that body must have the appointing, the ensuring and the removing power.

As regards the jailer and turnkey, they are appointed by the sheriff, and properly so. They are under his control and are responsible to him, and he is responsible for them. But how could he exercise such control or assume such responsibility if these men were independent of him? It is absolutely imperative in the proper carrying on of any institution that harmony should prevail between the superior and inferior officers. But this cannot be when all the sub-officials are appointed by another and possibly antagonistic body.

The resolution passed by the county council refers to all officials paid by the county. Then why are sheriffs, registrars or license inspectors included? For none of these are paid by the county, and of this the county council are aware. So even this poor excuse for the proposed change does not exist in fact. It is also noteworthy, and suggestive that the resolution refers only to Ontario officials and carefully refrains from mentioning any Dominion officials, though there is every whit as much reason for electing or appointing some of these as the others mentioned.

Every Young Man

should be possessed of certain information without which millions contract pernicious and most destructive habits—habits which make young men permanently aged pale haggard, listless, devoid of ambition, easily tried, languid, forgetful and incapable, fill mad-houses and swell the list of suicides, separate husbands and wives; bring untold suffering millions even unto the third and fourth generation. Parents guardians and philanthropists can do no better service to the rising generation, than to place in their hands the information and warnings contained in a little book carefully prepared by an association of medical men who have had vast experience in dealing with the grave maladies here hinted at, and who feel that they owe it to humanity to warn the young of the land against certain destructive habits, which are far more prevalent than any layman can imagine, and which if persisted in gradually undermine the constitution and health, and destroy the future happiness of the victim. Cut out this notice and enclose it with ten cents in stamps (to pay postage), to World's Dispensary Medical association, Invalids Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo. N. Y., and the book will be sent, secure from observation, in a plain sealed envelope.

Who, pausing at a grocery store,
Stepped quickly in at the open door.

Interrogated every clerk;
But none up to that time had seen
An article called "COTTOLENE."

"What is it?" said he to the dame,
"That answers to this curious name.
What is it made of? What's its use?
My ignorance you'll please excuse."

"You're not the merchant for my dimes,
I see you're quite behind the times.
For COTTOLENE, I'd have you know,
Is now the thing that's all the go,
An article of high regard;
A healthful substitute for lard.
Its composition pure and clean;
For cooking give me COTTOLENE."

As from his store the lady fled,
The grocer gently scratched his head—
On his next order, first was seen,
"One dozen cases COTTOLENE."

Untold Misery—What a Well Known Commercial Traveller Suffered and How he was Cured

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & CO. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confidence that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery believing that one persistent use of it will cure dyspepsia.

FIVE PER CENT. BONDS

Take Precedence Over Hawaiian Matters in the Senate.

HAS MR. CARLISLE AUTHORITY?

A Populist Member Delivers an Important Legal Argument on the Question—Mr. Carlisle's Defence—Internal Revenue and Customs.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The Hawaiian resolutions were not considered in the Senate yesterday. They were presented in the morning hour but laid aside in order to give to Mr. Allen, the Nebraska Populist, an opportunity to deliver a legal argument against the authority of the Secretary of the Treasury to issue five per cent. bonds. His argument was to the effect that the Resumption Act of 1875, under which Mr. Carlisle claims authority for the issue and sale of bonds, ceased to be operative as soon its purpose—the redemption of outstanding legal tender notes—was accomplished; and that it has no more efficacy.

Secretary Carlisle addressed the House Judiciary Committee yesterday upon the subject of his proposed bond issue. He occupied an hour and a half explaining his position regarding the proposed bond issue, and answering questions regarding it. He spoke of the deficiency, and said that if it continued to grow at its present rate it would be in the neighborhood of eighty million at the end of the present year. He disliked, he said, to issue bonds and had given the matter much thought before doing so. At first he doubted his authority to do so, but after much study concluded that he had. Great pressure was brought to bear to have him issue the bonds.

The House Committee on Foreign Affairs, by a strict party vote, authorized Mr. McCreary (Dem., Ky.) to report favorably his resolution defining the attitude of Congress towards Hawaii. The Republican members of the committee spoke and voted against the resolution and will file a minority report and a substitute for the McCreary resolution.

The nearest approach to anything else of interest in the House was the repeated attempts of the Democrats of the New York delegation to filibuster against the proposed introduction of the income tax amendment to the tariff. There were a great many amendments offered, but only one of importance, that taking crude opium off the free list and imposing a duty of $1 per pound.

By a vote of 89 to 71 the Democrats of the House of Representatives in caucus last evening voted to take the Internal Revenue bill, including the income tax, and make it an amendment to the Customs Revenue bill now before the House. This action was contrary to the advice of Chairman Wilson, of the Ways and Means Committee, who argued that to attack the Internal Revenue bill with the income tax feature to the pending measure put the latter in great peril. He pointed out that this was essentially the Republican programme. As the members separated Representative Cockran shouted to the chairman, "I wish you would announce that the vote of the caucus does not bind anyone." To which Mr. Holman, who was in the chair, responded, "It binds everyone."

COAL BARONS IN SESSION.

Representatives of Many Coal Companies Meet in Toronto.

TORONTO, Jan. 26.—The most important conference Toronto has seen in years took place here yesterday.

Representatives of nearly every large coal company in the United States and Canada met in secret session at the Queen's hotel for the purpose of discussing the coal question, in view of the recent tariff changes in the United States. All the great railroads were also represented.

Many of them have large coal interests besides their general interest as carriers. Mr. M. E. Robinson, Buffalo, representing the Erie railway, said that the meeting was simply a meeting called for the purpose of discussing freight rates and prices, without any reference to the Wilson bill.

Statue of Jacques Cartier in Ice—Royal Artillery's Snowshoe Manœuvres.

QUEBEC, Jan. 26.—A statue in ice of Jacques Cartier has been placed in position on a most imposing arch at the corner of Joseph and Crown streets. The statue is of heroic size and a good representation of the popular picture of the hardy navigator of St. Malo. It is 9 feet in height and is placed 52 feet from the ground.

The Esquimaux hut and sugary erected on the Montcalm market was inaugurated last night. The men of the Royal Canadian Artillery are practicing daily on snowshoes for winter manœuvres on the Plains of Abraham during the carnival. The infantry and the artillery have each their day of drill.

The Western Dairymen's Association.

INGERSOLL, Ont., Jan. 26.—At the meeting of the Western Dairymen's Association held here yesterday the attendance was even larger than the two preceding days. At the morning meeting the first on the programme was an address by Mark Sprague, Ameliasburg. Then followed the reading of the secretary's report by J. W. Wheat, London. Prof. Fletcher, Ottawa, then gave an address on external parasites of stock, and grasses suitable for hay and pasture. Then followed the auditors' report. At the afternoon session addresses were given by Hon. Mr. Dryden, Minister of Agriculture, D. M. McPherson, J. A. Graham and others; also an address by D. Derbyshire, Brockville, president Ontario Creameries Association, subject—"Selection and Care of Dairy Cows." The convention closed with a grand banquet in the town hall last night, given by the citizens of Ingersoll in honor of the dairymen.

THE GEORGETOWN AFFAIR.

The Inquest Brings Out Some Startling Facts—Adjourned Till Monday.

GEORGETOWN, Jan. 26.—Not for many years has such intense interest been displayed in any court proceedings by the people of this town and vicinity as was yesterday at the opening of the adjourned inquest of the now famous Campbell case. Long before the appointed hour for opening the inquest the hall was literally packed and Town Constable Search had great difficulty making room for the jurors. The jury, consisting of Georgetown's most worthy citizens, with Daniel Cook as foreman, then filed in and took their appointed places. Coroner Sutherland then called the first witness.

Dr. Anderson, of Hamilton, sworn, said that on the night of the 29th December he was called out to see the deceased at 25 Flight street, Hamilton. He found deceased in a very high fever. His face was in a terribly battered condition, which deceased said was caused by being thrown out of a buggy in Georgetown. Calling next day, Dr. Anderson said deceased showed symptoms of rheumatic fever. Deceased became delirious towards night and remained in about the same condition till his death on January 3rd.

Dr. Frothingham, of Toronto, was the next witness, and said he had assisted in the post mortem held on the body of Daniel Campbell. The body showed every sign of rough handling, a bruise at the base of the skull and a shattered elbow, in which a large amount of puss had gathered were most important. The internal organs of deceased were in a healthy condition. Dr. Frothingham thought deceased died from blood poisoning, caused by wounds deceased received before his death.

Dr. Roe, sworn, corroborated Dr. Frothingham's evidence in every respect.

"They threatened to kill him," said Duncan Campbell, brother of the deceased, "and undoubtedly would have accomplished their fiendish purpose there and then had not deceased sought refuge in the house of Mrs. N. Brown, who dressed his wounds and put him to bed." When asked, Duncan Campbell said he did not know who his brother's assailants were, but they were many.

Elizabeth Campbell, wife of deceased's brother, sworn—Was in Mrs. Brown's house when deceased rushed in. She heard threatening and shouting outside, they locked the doors and put deceased, who was bleeding freely, to bed. Next day he went down town and did not return. Witness went to look for him and found deceased in the Clark house: He was stretched across a bed moaning with pain, She tried to persuade him to go home with her, but to no effect. She then went for deceased's sister and they succeeded in getting him to Mrs. Brown's house. The following day he went to Hamilton with his brother Duncan. Deceased suffered greatly on the journey; he went to bed immediately on his arrival, and during his illness raved continually about his assailants, whom he said were trying to murder him.

The evidence given by all witnesses so far examined would show that Daniel Campbell's death resulted from the treatment he received at the hands of his assailants on December 25th. No more witnesses were called. Coroner Sutherland adjourned the inquest until Monday, 29th, at 9 a m.

There are from thirty to forty witnesses to be heard, and rumors are afloat in town that evidence of a most startling nature will be brought to bear on the case Monday—such that will throw an unexpected light over the whole affair.

GOSSIP FROM OTTAWA.

Sir Thomas McIlwraith's Visit to Canada —Convict Binder Twine.

OTTAWA, Jan. 26. — Sir Thomas McIlwraith, ex-Premier of Queensland, Australia, arrived in the city from Brisbane yesterday, and was welcomed by Hon. Mackenzie Bowell and Mr. Sanford Fleming. Lady McIlwraith accompanies her

Lumber dealers say that the excellent prices obtained for timber limits at the sale of the Perley and Patter properties are due to prospects of the abolition of the United States duty upon sawn lumber. husband. In speaking of his object in visiting Canada Sir Thomas said: "The object of my visit, I may frankly state, is to see something of your great country. I have travelled between Australia and England many times, I could not tell the number, but had never made the journey by the C.P.R. route. The recent visit of Hon. Mr. Bowell to Australia has aroused great interest in Canada and Canadian affairs among our people, and, therefore, I thought it fitting, as I had to go to England, that I should come this way in order to familiarize myself as far as I possibly could do, in the limited time at my disposal, with the resources of your country."

Sir John and Lady Thompson gave an elaborate dinner at their residence, on Somerset street, yesterday.

Michael Des Saints, County of Berthier, P.Q., is the site of the reserve of the Fete De Boule Indians, who are presided over by Chief Louis Navachich, who was in town the other day to interview the Minister of Indian Affairs regarding some extra supplies, and a larger allotment of land for the use of his people who now number some sixty families. His claim is that the land allowed the tribe at present is not sufficient in extent to provide for the necessities of his people, and keep them from starvation, and that their cattle have nearly all been killed off for meat. The department will consider the matter.

Chief Inspector Sweetman, of the Post-office Department, arrived here from Montreal yesterday, where he has been temporarily performing the duties of Inspector King, who has been superannuated. Mr. Sweetman, on being asked who were the applicants for the vacancy caused by Mr. King's retirement, said there were three of them, but he did not feel at liberty to give their names.

T. Dixon Craig, M.P., East Durham, arrived here yesterday. He had an interview with the Ministers when he opposed the Government's action in going into the binding twine business in the Kingston Penitentiary. He showed that in anticipation of this the branch factory at Port Hope of the Consumers' Cordage Co. at Montreal, had closed down, thereby throwing some ninety hands out of work. This was very serious at this time of the year, as these workers could find nothing else to do. Mr. Craig was asked by the workmen to come and see the Government. In addition to this a meeting of the Board of Trade of Port Hope Wednesday passed a resolution, a copy of which was given to Mr. Craig, opposing the action of the Dominion Government and the Ontario Government in bringing prison labor into competition with honest, law-abiding citizens. It is understood that the Ministers consider that the proper time to oppose this was last session of Parliament, when $20,000 was voted for this purpose.

THE FRENCH COLONIES.

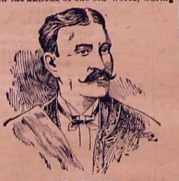
THE REPUBLIC'S DOMINIONS NOW GIRDLE THE WORLD.

How France Has Again Risen to the Rank of a Great Power—Its Ambassador Second in Rank at Washington—Great Strides in 23 Years.

The second ambassador ever sent by a foreign nation to the United States was M. Patenotre, the representative of the French republic. There was something of a race between M. Patenotre and Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador, as to which should be first recognized, but Sir Julian was the first to receive and present his credentials, which arrived one day sooner than those of M. Patenotre, and the former thus became the ranking member of the Washington diplomatic corps. But the French legation is second in rank. Ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary is the official title of the representative sent by the great European republic to the capital of the new world republic, in whose establishment the old French monarchy played so important a part. The French ambassador is a man of long experience and has had a distinguished career.

How many readers know the mighty strides France has taken since the day twenty-three years ago when she lay prostrate before the German conquerors and was compelled to surrender her Rhenish frontier and give up her rich provinces of Alsace and Lorraine?

In the great land-grabbing contests between the nations of the old world, during the last ten years, France has been the greatest beneficiary, and she has established herself firmly as the second great colonial power of the earth and no mean rival of Great Britain. In the grand partition of Africa France came off with the lion's share. She is also the potential force in Farther India, where she rules Anam, Tonquin, Cambodia and Cochin China, with the vast stretch of territory running to the Mekong river, which she has just wrested from the King of Siam. France lost, over a hundred years ago, after a contest that bathed hither India in blood, all her possessions there except the four cities of Pondichery, Karikall, Chandernagore and Mahe. But she has become once more a great Asiatic power, now controlling 35,000,000 Asiatic people, with the certainty that Siam herself must soon come under French suzerainship. In Oceanica French aggression has qeen equally marked and the flag of the republic floats over hundreds of the isles of the sea. Her ownership of Madagascar, the second largest island of the world, long disputed, is now conceded by England and she has added the old Swedish possessions in the West Indies to her rich islands in that region.



M. PATENOTRE.

In the proud old days when the French flag floated over so many lands that Louis could complacently speak of the loss of the Canadian empire as the "surrender of only a few arpents of snow," the French dominion was much less extensive than now.

A map of the world hanging on the wall at the French legations which shows the French possessions in both hemispheres is a startling lesson in modern political geography. Another shows the territorial possessions of all the Europaan powers, and is an illustration of the great world-grabbing race. The French possessions, which are shown in blue, are however, the most interesting feature of the map. France dominates all north-western Africa, with the exception of the despotism of Morocco, the republican failure of Liberia and a few British posts on the Gulf of Guinea. All Africa west of Tripoli, Fezzan, Lake Tchad and the bight of Biafra is French. The African possessions of the republic have more than 3,000,000 square miles and 30,000,000 inhabitants. The blue appears in all quarters of the dark continent. It commands the Straits of Babelmandeb and the lower courses of the Congo as well as all the winding way of the ancient Niger. Madagascar and its many neighbors sport the color. Southwestern Asia wears it. It spots Hindostan, and the south seas are dotted with myriad islands where the French flag floats. It has possessions in the Newfoundland Gulf and rich islands in the West Indies, and still holds sway over its oldtime properties in Guiana. In all parts of the earth the republic has something less than 4,000,000 square miles of territory and holds sway over 100,000,000 souls.

Kaiser William as Bandmaster.

There is, of course, nothing that Emperor William cannot do. He knows everything and can give the most learned a good start and an easy beating in all branches of art, literature, music, soldiering, or, in fact, any other matter that mortal man knows anything about. The military band of the footguards, which is about one of the best in Europe, was playing a march in the courtyard of the Schloss a few days ago, but the time did not suit William. He thought he knew more about it than the conductor, so he straightway emerged from the palace, stopped the music, and, taking the baton from the bandmaster's hand, conducted the piece himself to his own beating. The musicians were in a state of terror, but he warmed them up to galop time and when he had finished returned the baton to the conductor with the remark: "Next time you play that march play it properly. I have given you the correct time. Now, dismiss the band, go to barracks and play nothing else for a week." This order was religiously carried into effect, and for a whole week the guards knew no other melody but that eccentric march, which no man courance [illegible] ers to step to.

HOUSES OF INDUSTRY

Another Plea for the Establishment of one in this County

EDITOR OF THE ONTARIO :—SIR.:—I was pleased a few days ago to see in your columns an agitation in behalf of the poor and the destitute of our county. Some time ago I wrote a number of articles on this subject and now that the county council is on I hope all lovers of humanity will urge action in this matter, first because our present system is abhorant to our civilization, second it is unjust to the jail authorities and its inmates, third, it is in most cases more expensive than houses of industry would be. First then as to the cruelty of the thing. Nearly all that become unable to support themselves and without a home are tumbled into the county jail, men and women, among convicts, felons, jail birds and prostitutes of every degree and there they stay until death comes to their relief. What have Dr. Bird, Rose Palmer, Collins, Dougherty and many others done that they should breathe their last incarcerated in a prison? It is true and shameful to our highly christian community that the prisoners in all cases and without exception have taken the most tender and loving care of those committed to their nursing. They have often done and are now doing what I could not do. The jail is not fitted up with conveniences for a hospital and then poor unfortunates who have lost all knowledge and control of the calls of nature have to be washed and their clothes washed many times a day. Any person doubting what I say only has to visit the jail and look on one of its present inmates, Dr. Dorland, a man that has done more in his day to build up the city of Belleville than any other man in it and who I believe has to-day enough charges on his books for professional services for the poor he never got. to keep him in comfort a life time. But there he is in the county jail constantly attended by prisoners. He needs constant attention as his clothes are many times a day soiled without his knowledge and there he will stay until he is carted off to a dissecting room. Then as I said, it is unjust to the officers of the jail who take their full share of the disgusting work they have to do but too often. It is also unjust to the prisoners. The real criminals I suppose deserve no better, but the majority are either awaiting trial or paupers not yet helpless who have committed no crime but poverty. Who with a stomach less than that of an ostrich can look on some of the scenes in our county jail. Imagine going into the corridors or cells in the morning and finding two or three of these imbeciles with their hair, and clothes and bedding plastered with filth. Let anyone attend in one of the inquests so often held in jail and they will hear that and more. This is repulsive to refined ears, yet the only way to arouse publicsentiment is to speak plain facts. These unfortunates have to be scattered about in corridors and the officers or prisoners have to watch them all night to prevent them burning themselves or the jail over their heads.

Robert Mordaunt is reported to have speared seven hundred pounds of eels in two days on South Bay for which he received twenty-eight dollars. He had a companion who got about the same quantity. There are a great many spearing on South Bay just now. The ice is not two think and holes are easily cut. Eels seem to be in great abundance, in Smith's Bay also a great quantity have been speared. The eel hunter needs only an axe, a spear, a sleigh and a barrel. He cuts a hole in the ice with an axe, jabs down into the mud with his spear, hauls up the spear and if he has secured an eel throws it in the barrel. He keeps jabbing into the mud until he no longer brings up his game. Then he cuts another hole.

The continual succession of boils, pimple and eruptions from which many suffer, indicates an impure state of the blood. The most effective remedy is Ayers Sarsaparilla. It expels the poison harmlessley through he natural channels, and leaves the ski clean and clear.

No other Sarsaparilla has equaled Hood's in the relief it gives in severest cases of Dyspepsia, sick headache, biliousness; etc.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

ANOTHER DISCUSSION ABOUT APPOINTING COUNTY OFFICIALS

Some Other Matters of Importance Disposed of.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON SESSION.

The council resumed at 2 p. m.

Mr. Dench moved seconded by Mr. Geo. Nicholson that hereafter the meetings of this council be advertised in the weekly papers of the city of Belleville only and that the practice of publishing in the dailies be discontinued.—Carried.

Mr. English moved, seconded by Mr. Montgomery that this council desire hereby to express its regret at the unexpected and sudden death of Mr. Wm. Thompson, late Reeve of Madoc township and to tender to his widow and family our deep and heartfelt sympathy in this their great bereavement, and that the clerk communicate this to the widow.

The mover said the resolution was due to the family. The late Reeve was a highly respected and a worthy member of the council.

The motion was carried unanimously.

On motion the committee of the whole on communications resumed, Mr. Tivy in the chair.

Mrs. Simpson, an aged lady, appeared at the bar of the council asking for aid. On motion a grant of $10 was given her.

Mr. Haggerty moved, seconded by Mr. Montgomery that in the opinion of this county it would be in the public interest that such officers as gaolers, turnkeys, license inspectors and other officers whose salaries the council has to pay either in whole or in part should be appointed by the county council or people.

Mr. Vermilyea was opposed to the motion. He referred to the license inspector and the system as in vogue at present. It was a much better system than when the municipality had the control of the licenses. The people asked the government to make the change and they complied with the request. The present system decreased the number of hotels.

Dr. Newton thought that we were not asking for anything that was out of the way. If we had to pay the officials we should say who they should be.

Mr. Montgomery was in favor of the resolution. He did not second it because he was influenced by political motives.

Dr. Faulker was not in favor of the motion. If we were going to pass such a resolution it should also apply to officials who are appointed by the Dominion government.

Mr. Haggerty was in favor of the motion

Mr. McLaren said he thought that politics had been eliminated from the council, but those who had introduced and spoke in support of the motion were life long Tories and those opposed to it were Reformers. He thought the officials mentioned were good officials and he was in favor of having their appointment remain as they are at present.

Mr. Vermilyea thought that if impartiality was not to be shown, officials of the Dominion government should be included in the motion.

The Warden and Mr. Geo. Nicholson spoke in support of the resolution.

Mr. Holgate would support the motion if the inspectors were left out.

Mr. McCargar moved an amendment that the matter be laid over for further consideration. Mr. Vermilyea seconded amendment—which was lost.

The motion was then carried.

On motion the committee rose, reported progress and asked leave to sit again.—Granted.

Council adjourned until 10 o'clock Friday morning.

FRIDAY, Jan 26th.

MORNING SESSION

The council opened at 10 a.m., Warden Farley presiding.

The minutes of Thursday's meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS ETC.

From C. E. Lyons in reference to an action for damages by Mrs. A. Badgley. who claimed damages on account of a fatal accident which occurred to her husband on a road leading from Marysville to Deseronto.

Mr. McLaren said a man was killed on the road leading from Marysville to Deseronto. He did not know the particulars. Mr. Lyons wrote to the township council of Tyendinaga in reference to the matter claiming damages, but the council did not take any action. On Friday last he was served with a writ claiming $3000 as damages. It was on a county gravel road. He did not think Mrs. Badgley had any claim.

Mr. McCargar said he had been over the road very often and found it in good repair.

Mr. A. S. Valleau said the road was good where the accident occurred, but it was narrow and a deep ditch was upon the side. It was about 2 miles from Marysville.

Mr. Vermilyea moved, seconded by Caldwell, that the communication be received and filed and the warden take steps to defend an action should one be entered.

Moved by Mr. Vermilyea seconded by Mr. Caldwell that the warden and clerk memoralize the Ontario Government to reduce the number of County Councillors and fix the allowance at $2 per day, the same as jurors now receive.

Mr. Vermilyea said the county councils were becoming too cumbersome. There was a general feeling that the local municipalities were not benefitted by having so many members. The people think that the pay of $3 per day was too much.

Mr. McCaragar thought that $3 a day was not too much. If they were going to economize the sessions might be shortened. It was worth $2 a day.

Mr. Martin was in sympathy with economizing in every way. He thought the number of councillors was too many. He was in favor of paying so much to each member for the session, whether it be short or long.

Mr. Haggerty was in favor of the reduction of the number of councillors, but he thought $2 a day was not sufficient pay. The sessions might be shortened.

Mr. A. S. Valleau thought the sessions might be shortened, but the same pay continued.

Mr. J. S. Dench was in favor of economy. He did not think that $3 a day was too much.

Mr. Vermilyea was in favor of eliminating the latter part of the motion, as to the pay the councillors should receive which was done.

Mr. P. P. Clark was in favor of a reduction in the number of councillors.

Mr. F. Thompson was opposed to making any change.

Mr. Tivy thought the councillors were too numerous, but he could not see how they could be lessened.

Mr. Holgate thought that the council was not too cumbersome. He did not think a better scheme than the present would be devised.

Mr. Caldney was in favor of shortening the session, especially the November and January sessions. He thought the number of councillors was not too large.

Dr. Faulkner was in favor of a fair day's pay and did not consider $3 was too much per day. He was in favor of shortening the sessions.

Mr. Murphy could support the motion as amended. He was in favor of reducing the number of members.

The motion was adopted.

The rest of this morning's session is held over till to-morrow.

Scotchmen Enjoy a Program of Unusual Excellence

The concert given by the Sons of Scotland in the City Hall last evening, the anniversary of Burn's birthday, was a great success and afforded great pleasure to the large audience which completely filled the Hall. Bro. Thos. Stewart occupied the chair. It would be impossible in a program so faithfully carried out to say where praise was most deserved. Indeed every number was so well rendered that all who took part richly deserved the applause which greeted their efforts.

The members of the Rob Roy Camp were much indebted to the following ladies and gentlemen who so kindly assisted to make the concert one of the best ever given in Belleville :—Mesdames Col. Campbell, Walker, W. Heber Campbell and Misses Falconer, Brignall, Wilson and Jessie Maclean; Messrs Gillen, Fax Lewis, Young Lalonde and Maclean. Brothers Smeaton and Wright gave patriotic addresses and Brother Macintosh won the hearts of the Scotch folks with his songs.

Of Mrs. York too much cannot be said for the graceful way she undertook the arduous duties of accompanyists. On motion of Mr. John Johnston, seconded by Dr. Wright, and supported by Mr. Mathison, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the performers. After singing Auld Laung Syne and the National Anthem the audience dispersed highly pleased with the entertainment.

Hockey Match.

A hockey match took place on the skating rink last night between the Bay city and Quinte clubs which resulted in a draw. The Bay City team scored 1 goal, but were not awarded the game as the time limit was used up, hence it was declared a draw by the referee Mr. T. W. R. McRae. The Y. M. C. A. and Quintes play to-night.

Woman a——?

Woman is a conundrum most decidedly. Still we do not propose to give her up. Let a woman have her health and spirits and she is the sunshine of the house. But suppose she is sick, what then? Why, then there is a shadow over all the house. Happily in thousands of homes, such shadows have been removed. Thanks to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the diseases and weaknesses incident to their sex have been removed, and with health restored, their bright spirits have come back, and the household has passed from the winter of its discontent to a glad summer of comfort. O, suffering women, for your own sakes, and for the sakes of those about you, use these simple means and be healed. The only remedy so effective in nervous and general prostration, "Female Weakress," periodical pains, irregularities and kindred ailments, that it can be guaranteed or sold on trial.

Our Male Quartette

Belleville has something else to be proud of—the best Male Quartette in the Dominion, composed of Messrs Dan Young, Geo. Fax, Frank Lewis, and Paul Lalonde. This Quartette made their first appearance last night at the concert given by the Sons of Scotland. The first phrase of "Annie Laurie" was sufficient to establish their reputation and the audience forgot all about people being not without honor save in their own country, and gave the gentlemen a perfect ovation. Whether in the smooth, musicle strains of "Annie Laurie," or in the ludicrous changes of the medley, the singing of these gentlemen was irresistible. From Mr. Young's highest tenor note to Mr. Lalonde's deepest bass the tone was firm, full and rich, or mellow and pathetic as the theme required. It is to be regretted that these gentlemen could not have been heard earlier in the season; but we trust there yet remain many treats for a Belleville audience such as was given them last night by the Excelsior Quartette.

In Olden Times.

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action; but now that is generally known that Syrup of Figs, will permanently cure habitual coupstation, well-informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system.

No Second Place

In these days of depression it pays a man to lay out every dollar to the best advantage. You want to think twice before spending $20 for an ordered suit or overcoat, because the Oak Hall are in a position to save you money on anything in the clothing line. And we wish you to not loose sight of this fact:—"That Oak Hall clothing takes no second place as regards fit, workmanship and wear."

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

Mr. Wm. McIntosh, school Inspector of North Hastings who has been in the city for a few days, returned home yesterday.

Mr. Geo. Young, proprietor of the Trenton Courier was in town yesterday.

Miss Ida Taylor, is visiting friends in Trenton.

R. Bell and wife, Brockville, occupied the bridal chambers of the Anglo American.

Miss Alida V. Jackson, who recites tonight in Bridge St. church, is a guest of Mr. S. Burrows.

Mr. R. A. Shaw, of the Metropolitan church choir, Toronto, who sings to-night in Bridge St. church, is stopping at Albert College.

Mr. John A. Sprague, M.P.P., has just recovered from a severe attack of malarial fever.

Mr. Marcus Sprague, of Ameliasburg, has tolerably well recovered from a most severe attack of la grappe. Mr. Sprague goes for three months to the Ontario agricultural college, Guelph, where he will assume the duties of instructor in creamery work.

Pleasantly Entertained

The members of the County Council were entertained last night by Mr. F. E. O'Flynn, and passed a very pleasant evening.

After partaking of an excellent oyster supper, the guest were provided with a choice selection of vocal and instrumental music by Mr. O'Flynn and some of his friends, and the party broke up just before midnight after singing "Au'd Lang Syne" and "God Save the Queen."

Perhaps the most pleasing feature of the concert was owing to fact that the greater number of the guess were acquainted with Mr. and Mrs. O'Flynn from the days of their childhood, and the reunion caused a very pleasant reminder of earlier memories.

Asthma Sufferers

Who have in vain tried every means of relief should try "Schiffmann's Asthma Cure." No waiting for results. Its action is immediate, direct and certain, as a single trial proves. Send to Dr. Schiffmann, St. Paul, Minn., for a free trial package, but ask your druggist first.

WALL PAPER ! !

With this advertisement we commence the Wall Paper campaign for 1894 We are going to make a hard, vigorous fight for a large season's business in interior decorations, and by watching this space closely in the future you will read some points on the practical decoration of a house that cannot help but put you in the way of fixing up your homes, cheaply yet sensibly and artistically too.

Apropos of this, our first hint to you is to not delay your work too long. With a stock like we always carry, and with the paper hangers with little or no work to engage them, now is the time to have your work done and done properly At the present writing we are in a position to undertake at once the contract to paper 500 homes, including every room in the house from the kitchen to the Drawing Room and with the most modern effects.

We have the latest schemes known to the wallpaper world for facilitating the handling of wallpaper.

We can give you better attention now than during the rush later on in the Spring; we can give you as close prices as you can get any time during the present year, We can show you over 500 designs to choose from, and coupled with this you can get your paper hanger at an hour's notice.

Do not delay till house cleaning time ; Paper Hanging is not simply house cleaning 'tis house decoration, Ay ! and furnishing too. Think it over !

Baby's Burning Skin

My little girl was troubled with itching, burning sores. Doctor called it Italian itch. He doctored her three months, did not do her any good. Every part of her person was covered with sores, excepting head. After taking CUTICURA REMEDIES two weeks the itch stopped, and in four weeks the sores were all gone.

Baby's Skin Peeled Off

Short time after birth baby broke out with eruption. The skin was peeled off, the face was almost raw. Family doctor said not much to be done. We tried several remedies, all failed. Then tried CUTICURA REMEDIES. Did not think they would amount to much, but the result was wonderful. One set cured the child.

"MOST WIDELY."

CHAPTER II.

EX-PURSER on the WAR PATH.

My last letter is unanswerable,

Ex-purser is now using the weapons of the blackguard and coward, namely, threats and abuse,

From a perusal of "Personal" in last Saturday's issue it will be seen that the EX-PURSER has at last admitted that his senior partner is not an author, and that he himself is entitled to only a small part of the authorship of "MOST WIDELY." The senior partner and the EX-PURSER advertise to the contrary notwithstanding. For further proof see their circulars. The senior partner has been dropped out of the authorship. Perhaps a little more light will enable the ex-purser to see his way out. In recent articles published by these men I have been personally attacked in a very abusive and cowardly manner, and my methods of conducting my college have been misrepresented What they have published in reference to the "key and reference book" is absolutely untrue. When it is known that the REAL author of the "MOST WIDELY" got his business training in an American business college and that the senior partner of the present firm is a graduate of an American business college, is it not strange that these two men who are now running the top flat should insult the American people by advertising American educational methods as "American shallowness"?

They have many things of American origin in their observatory. The fact is, that these men owe what ever measure of success they have had to the use they have made of what they now term "American shallowness".

WELCOMED THE PRINCE

Emperor William Receives Bismarck With the Kiss of Reconciliation.

FOR FOUR YEARS ESTRANGED.

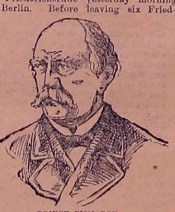
An Affecting Scene in the Royal Court Scarcely Out-Rivalled in the Old Days of Chivalry—The Joy of the Populace Breaks Out in Song.

BERLIN, Jan 27.—When Prince Bismarck's party arrived at the castle the Prince and Prince Henry descended from the state coach and entered. The Emperor, who was standing at the foot of the stairs to receive his guest, wore as a mark of honor the uniform of the Bismarck cuirassiers. His reception of the old statesman was of the warmest and most cordial nature. His Majesty embraced the Prince with the utmost heartiness, and a kiss pressed on the old man's cheek sealed the reconciliation between the Emperor and the greatest of his subjects. The Emperor then shook hands with Count Herbert Bismarck.

After the Prince had rested for a short time he arose. In the meantime an immense crowd had gathered in front of the palace pouring forth volley after volley of cheers or singing the patriotic hymns, "Heil der im Siegerkranz," "Die Wacht am Rhein" and "Deutschland Ueber Alles." This was kept up until the Emperor, Empress and Prince Bismarck appeared at a window and smilingly bowed to the crowd that at once went almost wild in their demonstrations of delight.

Leaving Friederichsruhe.

BERLIN, Jan. 27.—Prince Bismarck, his son Count Herbert, and several friends left Friederichsruhe yesterday morning for Berlin. Before leaving six Friedrichsruhe ladies, dressed in white, proceeded to the castle and presented to Prince Bismarck a very large laurel wreath bound with ribbons, and bearing the inscription, "A happy journey."



PRINCE BISMARCK.

An atmosphere of the most pleasant excitement has prevailed at the castle since Tuesday. Prince Bismarck, who has recently done considerable walking, was in especially good spirits. Hundreds of telegrams congratulating the Prince upon the reconciliation between the Emperor and himself arrived daily.

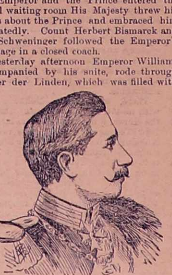
A crowd from Hamburg arrived to see him off and vociferously cheered the Prince. At the station Princess Bismarck stood in front of the saloon until the departure of the train. When the train pulled out of the station the crowd broke into cheers, which lasted for some time. Some of those present cried out, "A prosperous journey!" while others shouted, "Auf Wiedersehn!"

Prince Bismarck was visibly gratified. He was in excellent spirits. He thanked all those who came to see him off and shook hands with many of the crowd.

When Chancellor Von Caprivi was announced he had an interview with the Prince that lasted three-quarters of an hour. The Prince then was driven to the palace of Empress Frederick, the mother of the Emperor, and paid her a short visit. After leaving the Empress Frederick's palace the people, who were densely massed in the vicinity, broke through the police lines and tried to unhitch the horses harnessed to the Prince's carriage. They wanted, themselves, to draw him back to the castle. The police, however, prevailed upon them to forego their intention.

Throughout the entire time of his visit he was treated with the most distinguished consideration, and nothing was left undone that would add to the pleasure of his visit. When leaving for the station the Prince appeared leaning on the arm of the Emperor and together they entered the carriage. Then amid the blare of trumpets the drive to the station commenced. When the Emperor and the Prince entered the royal waiting room His Majesty threw his arms about the Prince and embraced him repeatedly. Count Herbert Bismarck and Dr. Schweninger followed the Emperor's carriage in a closed coach.

Yesterday afternoon Emperor William, accompanied by his suite, rode through Unter der Linden, which was filled with people for its entire length. His Majesty, who celebrates the anniversary of his birth to day, received an immense ovation.



KAISER WILHELM.

Commenting upon the reconciliation between the Emperor and the Prince the North German Gazette (semi-official) says: "It is nearly four years since the Emperor has been face to face with Prince Bismarck. The Prince will now be His Majesty's guest, and the ex-Chancellor will realize that the gratitude of the court and the people for his incomparable services remains unaltered. Every patriot thanks the Emperor for preparing so joyful a day for Germany. May this feast of reconciliation bear further fruit for our whole political life."

In observance of his birthday the Emperor has granted an amnesty to all military prisoners who were sentenced to less than three weeks' confinement and whose offences did not include ill-treatment of subordinates.

London Press Comments.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—The Berlin correspondent of the Times, says: Bismarck's reception will furnish him with pleasant thoughts to take back into his retirement, for retire he will and must. We do not look for any grave political significance in yesterday's events, but it will be open to the Emperor to consult him from time to time and obtain such help and advice as he can still give in shaping public measures.

The Daily Telegraph says: "These displays of profound regard may shed balm on the hurts that have rankled in an heroic soul through weary months of sombre seclusion, mental depression and physical suffering, but they can scarcely be expected to efface wholly the remembrance of the past."

The Daily News says that it remains to be seen whether the reception of Bismarck in Berlin yesterday was merely a graceful act of courtesy—a tardy but effusive apology for a slight—or an indication that the Emperor wishes to go hand and glove with Bismarck and allow the old Chancellor to assume office again. "Europe will await the results," says the writer, "with the deepest interest."

The Standard says: "If William had not yearned for the meeting he would never have invited, If Bismarck's gratification had not been equally sincere he would not have faced what for his years must have been an agitating scene. We may, therefore, assume that all shadow of ill-feeling has cleared away."

Hundreds of people write "It is impossible to describe the good Hood's Sarsaparilla has done me." It will be of equal elp to you

THE KHEDIVE GIVES IN.

He Has Come to the Conclusion That the British Troops Are Excellent.

CAIRO, Jan. 27.—The Khedive has acceded to the demand made upon him by Lord Cromer, the British diplomatic agent here. His Highness will publish a formal retraction of the strictures he recently passed upon the army and issue an order praising its condition and the efficiency of the British and Egyptian officers.

Maher Pasha, Assistant Minister of War, who was charged with inciting the Khedive to make his hostile criticisms, has been transferred to another port by the Khedive.

The last Egyptian incident is generally regarded as closed by the Khedive's declaration. The gist of the editorials published yesterday were that the Khedive must understand the warning that England cannot and will not tolerate the deliberate defiance of her authority in Egypt.

"FROM THAMES TO THE FRASER."

Paper Read Before the Imperial Institute in London.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—"From the Thames to the Fraser," was the title of a lecture delivered at the Imperial Institute Thursday night. Sir Charles Tupper was in the chair, and explained to the audience that the author of the paper, Mr. Archer Baker, was unable to appear. Mr. Baker's companion on his trip read the paper. It expatiated upon the many natural gifts of Canada. The Dominion was pictured as a store house crammed with living bounties of nature. Her waters swarmed with fish, and game was everywhere abundant. Sublime scenery and a salubrious climate made Canada one of the most favored countries under the sun.

AFFAIRS IN SERVIA.

Radicals Object to Ex-King Milan, But Are Anxious to Serve the King.

BELGRADE, Jan. 27.—King Alexander has ordered the discontinuance of the action instituted by the Radical Cabinet last summer to impeach M. Avakumovie's Liberal Cabinet, which fell immediately after the abolition of the regency.

A Radical manifesto issued last night protests against the presence of ex-King Milan, who, it says, interferes with the Government and shake's the people's confidence in the stability of the throne. The Radicals, it adds, are eager to serve the King faithfully.

ITALIAN AFFAIRS.

Telegraph Wires in Massa di Carrara Cut —Militia on Guard.

ROME, Jan. 27.—The telegraph wires near Massa di Carrara, where the worst of the recent anarchist disturbances took place, were cut on Thursday. They were repaired and are now watched by military.

As Sicily is tranquil orders have been sent for the return of several regiments.

Giuseppe Zanardelli declared yesterday that he would persist in resisting the presidency of the Chamber. It is supposed that he intends to join the opposition.

The Barcelona Anarchists.

BARCELONA, Jan. 27.—Romon Morull, the anarchist who yesterday attempted to assassinate the civil governor of Barcelona, is a mason by trade. He is 37 years of age. Two of his friends have been arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the crime. None of these had heretofore been regarded as anarchists. The police have learned that the decision to kill Governor Larroca and Judge Domenech, who was selected by the Government to try the anarchists in Barcelona, was taken by a group of local anarchists at a meeting about ten days ago. Morull was selected by lot to make the first attempts on their lives. Before shooting Larroca yesterday Morull had waited in vain two hours for men whom he wished to kill first.

Salisbury and the Parish Councils Bill.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—A meeting of Conservative peers was held yesterday, at which the policy of Lord Salisbury in regard to the parish councils bill was approved. Lord Salisbury stated in the House of Lords yesterday that, while he approved the general principle of the bill, he might feel obliged to insist upon amendment in committee of the clauses dealing with ecclesiastical charities, the poor law and land allotment. It was also decided to amend the employers' liability bill so as to allow the members of trades unions having workingmen's insurance funds partly supported by the masters to exempt themselves from the provisions of the bill.

Michael Walsh Liberated.

BELFAST, Jan. 27.—Michael Walsh, 28 years of age, who in 1882 was sentenced to life imprisonment for shooting a constable in Galway, was released from prison yesterday. Walsh and his brother were both indicted for the crime. The brother was hanged. Walsh is ill and will go to an hospital for treatment.

Jumped From a Window.

VIENNA, Jan. 27.—Constance Fenimore Woolson committed suicide on Thursday by jumping from a window of the house where she had resided seven months. Death was almost immediate. Miss Woolson had suffered from influenza for four days, but she had been eccentric for a longer period.

London's Opinion of the Fight.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—The newspapers here, in their comments on the prize fight in Florida yesterday, express no sympathy with Mitchell in his defeat. The Evening Standard says that the fight was a peculiarly dirty sample of a dirty business.

IN MURDERERS' ROW.

The Terrible Execution of Painter Unnerves Other Prisoners.

BIG DAN GREATLY DEPRESSED.

He May Have Considered the March Past His Cell Ominous—Eugene Prendergast's Face Blanched at the Sound of the Drop.

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—George H. Painter was executed here yesterday for the murder of Alice McLean, his mistress. At the first attempt to hang Painter at 7.57 the rope snapped in two and the man was precipitated to the floor, eight feet below. The blood gushed in a stream from his head. He was picked up unconscious and another noose was adjusted and the drop was again sprung at 8.05. This time the execution was successful.

Daniel Coughlin was not himself yesterday. The cause was to be found in the horrible double hanging of Painter. Ten days ago the alleged murderer of Dr. Cronin was removed from the boys' department of the county jail to a cell in "Murderers' row," where Painter was confined. From his cell he heard the noise made by the hasty construction of the gallows. The sound of the carpenter's hammer breaking the stillness which pervades the jail at midnight depressed his nerves and he lay awake while unpleasant thoughts of his possible fate drove away sleep. When the hour for the execution arrived "Big Dan" could not help witnessing through the bars of his cell door the procession to the scaffold. He quickly learned the cause of the noise and confusion and cries which followed, and the news of the ghastly occurrence upset him. On his way to the court room he spoke only of Painter and the hanging to his guards. He expressed great admiration for the dead murderer's nerve. "It beats everything I ever saw," said the prisoner, "but the rope breaking was an awful thing."

Painter's death had a remarkably depressing influence on the other men confined in murderer's row in the county jail. Patrick Eugene Prendergast, condemned to die for the murder of Carter Harrison, took no pains to conceal his grief over the execution of Painter. When he had satisfied himself that Painter had marched to the scaffold he climbed into the upper bunk and began to pray: "Oh, God, have mercy upon an innocent man," he repeatedly cried, wringing his hands with anguish. "He is being murdered, even as they would murder me."

Prendergast climbed down from his bunk, pushed his cell mate away from the door and tried to catch a sound from the north corridor. At last it came. The noise of the falling drop reached his ears. Prendergast's face became livid with fear and he looked for a moment, as he did the afternoon the jury rendered a verdict of death in his case. Then he buried his face in his hands, mumbled a prayer and climbed back into his bunk.

THE WILSON TARIFF BILL.

Three Days Additional for Debate—Vote to be Taken Next Thursday.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—There were a number of amendments offered to the pending tariff bill yesterday, but few of importance succeeded in becoming engrafted on the bill. An amendment was made to put tin plate on the free list, but it was voted down.

An amendment was offered to the lumber schedule by Mr. Boutelle (Rep., Maine.) substituting the provisions of the McKinley bill for the pending measure. The session came to a close before a vote was reached on this proposition and it went over until to day.

The Committee on Rules this morning reported the order for the consideration of the income tax in accordance with the instructions of Thursday night's caucus. It will provide for three days' additional debate on the bill, to be devoted to the income tax amendment. Two days will be given to general debate and one day to discussing proposed amendments under the five minute rule. The vote on the bill shall then be taken in the House on Thursday, February 1.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The morning hour in the Senate in which the Hawaiian resolution was to be taken up and discussed was occupied with other business. The Hawaiian resolution went over until Monday, with the various amendments which had been already offered to it, and with an amendment by Mr. Dolph (Rep., Oregon) requiring the immediate recall of Minister Willis.

The Severe Weather in Oklahoma.

GUTHRIE, O.T., Jan. 27.—Reports are now coming in of people who have perished in the terrific blizzard of the evening of Tuesday. One family of three were found frozen to death in Cheyenne county. A woman and two children named Morrison were frozen in Pawnee county, and an unknown tramp was frozen on a Santa Fe train in the strip. John Carter, a teamster of Orlando, had both hands so badly frozen it will be necessary to amputate them. The suffering among the new settlers was terrible, and many are sick from exposure.

Dun & Co.'s Trade Review.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Secretary Carlisle's decision to issue bonds and the early reports of large bids for them helped to accelerate recovery of industries and trade as was hoped last week. The sale of the amount offered will check anxiety about maintenance of note redemption, remove the only pretext for further issues of paper and thus give a solid basis for greater confidence regarding the financial future. The revenue is still small and the volume of domestic trade is still small.

Freight Pool Agreement.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Another long session of the executive officers of the railroads in the trunk line and Central Traffic Association resulted yesterday in the approval of the freight pool agreement for eastbound business, formulated by the general freight officials of the same roads last month. As in the case of the passenger agreement, the general plan only was approved, the working out of the details being left to the freight agents.

Intense Itching

We cannot tell how that poor boy suffered in all those years. Physicians did not effect a cure. At last I decided to give him Hood's Sarsaparilla, as my druggist recommended it. In about two weeks the Sarsaparilla began to have effect. The sores commenced to heal up; the flesh began to look more natural and healthy. Then the scales came off and all over his body new and healthy flesh and skin formed. When he had taken two bottles he was entirely free from sores, having only the scars to show where they had been. These have all disappeared. We are unable to express our thanks for the good

THE BARE ARM OF GOD.

DR. TALMAGE ON THE MANY EVILS THAT CHALLENGE CHRISTIANITY.

An Able Sermon Against the Gospel of Smash-up—God's Reserve Thunderbolts—The Noonday Sun But a Spark Struck From the Anvil of One Word.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 21.—Singularly appropriate and impressive was the old Gospel hymn as it was sung this morning by the thousands of Brooklyn Tabernacle, led on by coronet and organ:

> Arm of the Lord, awake, awake!
> Put on thy strength, the nations shake.

Rev. Dr. Talmage took for his subject, "The Bare Arm of God," the text being Isaiah, 52:10:—"The Lord hath made bare His holy arm."

It almost takes our breath away to read some of the Bible imagery. There is such boldness of metaphor in my text that I have been for some time getting my courage up to preach from it. Isaiah, the evangelistic prophet, is sounding the Jubilate of our planet redeemed, and cries out, "The Lord hath made bare His holy arm." What overwhelming suggestiveness in that figure of speech, "The bare arm of God!" The people of Palestine to this day wear much hindering apparel, and when they want to run a special race, or lift a special burden, or fight a special battle, they put off the outside apparel, as in our land, when a man proposes a special exertion, he puts off his coat and rolls up his sleeves. Walk through our foundries, our machine shops, our mines, our factories, and you will find that most of the toilers have their coat off and the sleeves rolled up.

Isaiah saw that there must be a tremendous amount of work done before this world becomes what it ought to be, and he forsees it all accomplished, and accomplished by the Almighty; not as we ordinarily think of Him, but by the Almighty with the sleeve of His robe rolled back to His shoulder. "The Lord hath made bare His holy arm."

Nothing more impresses me in the Bible than the ease with which God does most things. There is such a reserve of power. He has more thunderbolts than He has ever flung; more light than He has ever distributed; more blue than that with which He has over-arched the sky; more green than that with which He has emeralded the grass; more crimson than that with which He has burnished the sunsets. I say it with reverence:—From all I can see, God has never half tried.

You know as well as I do that many of the most elaborate and expensive industries of our world have been employed in creating artificial light. Half of the time the world is dark. The moon and the stars have their glorious uses, but as instruments of illumination they are failures. They will not allow you to read a book, or stop the ruffianism of your great cities. Had not the darkness been persistently fought back by artificial means, the most of the world's enterprises would have halted half the time, while the crime of our great municipalities would for half the time run rampant and unrebuked. Hence, all the inventions for creating artificial light, from the flint struck against steel in centuries past, to the dynamo of our electrical manufactories. What uncounted numbers of people at work the year round in making chandeliers, and lamps, and fixtures, and wires, and batteries where light shall be made, or along which light shall run, or where light shall poise! How many bare arms of human toil—and some of those bare arms are very tired—in the creation of light and its apparatus; and after all the work, the greater part of the continents and hemispheres at night have no light at all, except perhaps the fire-flies flashing their small lanterns across the swamp.

But see how easy God made the light. He did not make bare his arms; He did not even put forth His robed arm; He did not lift so much as a finger. The flint out of which He struck the noonday sun was the word, "Light." "Let there be light!" Adam did not see the sun until the fourth day, for, though the sun was created on the first day, it took its rays from the first to the fourth day to work through the dense mass of fluids by which this earth was compassed. Did you ever hear of anything so easy as that? So unique? Out of a word came the blazing sun, the father of flowers, and warmth and light? Out of a word building a fireplace for all the nations of the earth to warm themselves by. Yea, seven other worlds, five of them inconceivably larger than our own, and seventy-nine asteriods, or worlds on a smaller scale. The warmth and light for this great brotherhood, great sisterhood, great family of worlds, eighty-seven larger or smaller worlds, all from that one magnificent fireplace made out of the one word, "Light." The sun 886,000 miles in diameter! I do not know how much grander a solar system God could have created if he had put forth his robed arm, to say nothing of an arm made bare! But this I know, that our noonday sun was a spark struck from the anvil of one word, and that word—"Light."

"But," says some one, "do you not think that, in making the machinery of the universe, of which our solar system is comparatively a small wheel revolving into mightier wheels, it must have cost God some exertion? The upheaval of an arm made bare?" No; we are distinctly told otherwise. The machinery of a universe God made simply with his fingers. David, inspired in a night song, says so: "When I consider thy heavens the work of Thy fingers."

A Scottish clergyman told me a few weeks ago of dyspeptic Thomas Carlyle walking out with a friend one starry night, and as the friend looked up and said, "What a splendid sky!" Mr. Carlyle replied, as he glanced up, "Sad sight, sad sight!" Not so thought David as he read the great scripture of the night heavens. It was a sweep of embroidery, of vast tapestry, God manipulated. That is the allusion of the Psalmist to the woven hangings of tapestry, as they were known long before David's time. Far back in the ages what enchantment of thread and color, the Florentine velvets of silk and gold and Persian carpets woven of goat's hair! If you have been in the Gobelin manufactory of tapestry in Paris—alas! now no more—you witnessed wondrous things, as you saw the wooden needle or brooch, going back and forth and in and out; you were transfixed with admiration at the patterns wrought. No wonder that Louis XIV. bought it and it became the possession of the throne; and for a long while none but thrones and palaces might have any of its work. What triumphs of loom! What victory of skilled fingers! So David says of the heavens, that God's fingers wove into them the light; that God's fingers tapestried them with stars; that God's fingers embroidered them with worlds. How much of the immensity of the heavens David understood I know not. Astronomy was born in China twenty-eight hundred years before Christ was born. During the reign of Hoang-Ti astronomers were put to death if they made wrong calculations about the heavens. Job understood the refraction of the sun's rays, and said they were "turned as the clay to the seal." The pyramids were astronomical observatories, and they were so long ago built that Isaiah refers to one of them in his nineteenth chapter, and calls it the "Pillar at the border." The first of all the sciences born was astronomy. Whether from knowledge already abroad, or from direct inspiration, it seems to me David had wide knowledge of the heavens. Whether he understood the full force of what he wrote, I know not; but the God who inspired him knew, and He would not let David write anything but truth; and therefore all the worlds that the telescope ever reached, or Copernicus, or Galileo, or Kepler, or Newton, or Laplace, or Herschel, or our own Mitchell ever saw were so easily made that they were made with the fingers. As easily as with your fingers you would mould the wax, or the clay, or the dough to particular shades, so he decided the shape of our world, and that it should weigh six sextillion tons, and appointed for all the worlds their orbits and decided their color—the white to Sirius; the ruddy to Aldebaran; the yellow to Pollux; the blue to Altair; marrying some of the stars, as the 2,400 double stars that Herschel observed; administering to the whims of the variable stars as their glance becomes brighter or dim, preparing what astronomers called "The girdle of Andromeda, and the nebula in the sword-handle of Orion. Worlds on worlds! Worlds under worlds! Worlds above worlds! Worlds beyond worlds! So many that arithmetics are of no use in the calculation! But He counted them as He made them, and He made them with His fingers! Reservation of power! Suppression of Omnipotence! Resources as yet untouched! Almightiness yet undemonstrated! Now I ask, for the benefit of all disheartened Christian workers, if God accomplished so much with His fingers, what can he do when he puts out all his strength? and when he unlimbers all the batteries of His Omnipotence? The Bible speaks again and again of God's outstretched arm, but only once, and that in the text, of the bare arm of God.

My text makes it plain that the rectification of this world is a stupendous undertaking. It takes more power to make this world over again than it took to make it at first. A word was only necessary for the first creation, but for the new creation the unsleeved and unhindered forearm of the Almighty! The reason of that I can understand. In the shipyards of Liverpool, or Glasgow, or New York, a great vessel is constructed. The architect draws out the plan, the length of the beam, the capacity of tonnage, the rotation of wheel or screw, the cabins, the masts and all the appointments of this great palace of the deep. The architect finishes his work without any perplexity, and the carpenters and the artisans toil on the craft so many hours a day, each one doing his part, until with flags flying, and thousands of people huzzaing on the decks, the vessel is launched. But out on the sea that steamer breaks her shaft, and is limping slowly along toward harbor, when Caribbean whirlwinds, those mighty hunters of the deep, looking out for prey of ships, surround that wounded vessel and pitch it on a rocky coast, and she lifts and falls in the breakers until every joint is loose, and every spar is down, and every wave sweeps over the hurricane deck as she parts midships. Would it not require more skill and power to get the splintered vessel off the rocks and reconstruct it than it required originally to build her? Aye! Our world that God built so beautiful, and which started out with all the flags of Edenic foliage, and with the chant of Paradisical bowers, has been sixty centuries pounding in the Skerries of sin and sorrow, and to get her out, and to get her off, and to get her on the right way again, will require more of Omnipotence than it required to build her and launch her. So I am not surprised that, though in the drydock of one word our world was made, it will take the unsleeved arm of God to lift her from the rocks, and put her on the right course again. It is evident from my text, and its comparison with other texts, that it would not be so great an undertaking to make a whole constellation of worlds, and a whole galexy of worlds, and a whole astronomy of worlds, and swing them in their right orbits, as to take this wounded world, this stranded world, this bankrupt world, this destroyed world, and make it as good as when it started.

Now, just look at the enthroned difficulties in this way, the removal of which, the overthrow of which seem to require the bare right arm of Omnipotence. There stands heathenism, with its 860,000,000 victims. I do not care whether you call them Brahmins, or Buddists, Confucians or Fetish idolaters. At the World's Fair in Chicago last summer those monstrosities of religion tried to make themselves respectable, but the long hair and baggy trousers and trinketed robes of their representatives cannot hide from the world the fact that those religions are the authors of funeral pyre, and Juggernaut crushing, and Ganges infanticide, and Chinese shoe torture, and the aggregated massacres of many centuries. They have their heels on India, on China, on Persia, on Borneo, on three-fourths of the acreage of our poor old world. I know that the missionaries, who are the most sacrificing and Christ-like men and women on earth, are making steady and glorious inroads upon these built-up abominations of the centuries. All this stuff that you see in some of the newspapers about the missionaries as living in luxury and idleness is promulgated by corrupt American or English or Scotch merchants, whose loose behavior in heathen cities have been rebuked by the missionaries, and these corrupt merchants write home or tell innocent and unsuspecting visitors in India or China or the darkened islands of the sea these falsehoods about our consecrated missionaries who, turning their back on home and civilization and emolument and comfort, spend their lives in trying to introduce the mercy of the Gospel among the down-trodden of heathenism. Some of those merchants leave their families in America or England or Scotland, and stay for a few years in the ports of heathenism while they are making their fortunes in the tea or rice or opium trade, and while they are thus absent from home, give themselves to orgies of dissoluteness, such as no pen or tongue could, without the abolition of all decency, attempt to report. The presence of the missionaries with their pure and noble households in those heathen ports is a constant rebuke to such debauches and miscreants.

There, too, stands Mohammedanism, with its 176,000,000 victims. Its Bible is the Koran, a book not quite as large as our New Testament, which was revealed to Mohammed when in epileptic fits, and resuscitated from these fits, he dictated it to scribes. Yet it is read to-day by more people than any other book ever written. Mohammed, the founder of that religion, a polygamist, with superfluity of wives, the first step of his religion on the body, mind and soul of woman, and no wonder that the heaven of the Koran is an everlasting Sodom, an infinite seraglio, about which Mohammed promises that each follower shall have in that place seventy-two wives, in addition to all the wives he had on earth, but that no old woman shall ever enter heaven. When a Bishop of England recently proposed that the best way of saving Mohammedans was to let them keep their religion, but engraft upon it some new principles from Christianity, he perpetrated an ecclesiastical joke, at which no man can laugh who has ever seen the tyranny and domestic wretchedness which always appear where that religion gets foothold. It has marched across continents, and now proposes to set up its filthy and accursed banner in America, and what it has done for Turkey it would like to do for our nation. A religion that brutally treats womanhood ought never to be fostered in our country. But there never was a religion so absurd or wicked that it did not get diciples, and there are enough fools in America to make a large discipleship of Mohammedanism. This corrupt religion has been making steady progress for hundreds of years, and notwithstanding all the splendid work done by the Jessups, and the Goodells and the Blisses and the Van Dykes and the Posts and the Misses Bowens and the Misses Thompsons and scores of other men and women of whom the world was not worthy, there it stands, the giant of sin, Mohamedanism, with one foot on the heart of woman, and the other on the heart of Christ, while it mumbles from its minarets this stupendous blasphemy: "God is great, and Mohammed is his prophet." Let the Christian printing-presses at Beyrout and Constantinople keep on with their work, and men and women of God in the mission fields toil until the Lord crowns them; But what we are all hoping for is something supernatural from the heavens, as yet unseen, something stretched down out of the skies, something like an arm uncovered, the bare arm of the God of Nations!

I have no time to specify the manifold evils that challenge Christianity. And I think I have seen in some Christians, and read in some newspapers, and heard from some pulpits, a disheartment, as though Christianity were so worsted that it is hardly worth while to attempt to win this world for God, and that all Christian work would collapse, and that it is no use for you to teach a Sabbath class, or distribute tracts, or exhort in prayer meetings, or preach in pulpit, as Satan is gaining ground. To rebuke that pessimism, the Gospel of Smash-up, I preach this sermon, showing that you are on the winning side. Go ahead! Fight on! What I want to make out to-day is that our ammunition is not exhausted; and that all which has been accomplished has been only the skirmishing before the great Armageddon; that not more than one of the thousand fountains of beauty in the King's Park has begun to play; that not more than one brigade of the innumerable hosts to be marshalled by the Rider on the White Horse has yet taken the field; that what God has done yet has been with arm folded in flowing robe; but that the time is coming when He will rise from His throne, and throw off that robe, and come out of the palaces of eternity, and come down the stairs of heaven with all conquering step, and halt in the presence of expectant nations, and flashing His omniscient eyes across the work to be done, will pluck back the sleeve of His right arm to the shoulder, and roll it up there, and for the world's final and complete rescue make bare His arm. Who can doubt the result when according to my text Jehovah does His best; when the last reserve force of Omnipotence takes the field; when the last sword of Eternal Might leaps from its scabbord. Do you know what decided the battle of Sedan? The hills a thousand feet high. Eleven hundred canno on the hills. Artillery on the heights of Givonne, and twelve German batteries on the heights of La Moncello. Crown Prince of Saxony watched the scene from the heights of Mairy. Between a quarter to six o'clock in the morning and one o'clock in the afternoon of September 2nd, 1876, the hills dropped the shells that shattered the French host in the valley. The French Emperor and the 86,000 of his army captured by the hills. So in this conflict now raging between holiness and sin "our eyes are unto the hills." Down here in the valleys of earth we must be valient soldiers of the Cross, but the Commander of our host walks the heights, and views the scene far better than we can in the valleys, and at the right day and the right hour all heaven will open its batteries on our side, and the commander of the hosts of unrighteousness with all his followers will surrender; and it will take eternity to fully celebrate the universal victory through our Lord Jesus Christ. "Our eyes are unto the hills." It is so certain to be accomplished that Isaiah in my text books down through the field-glass of prophecy, and speaks of it as already accomplished, and take my stand where the prophet took his stand, and look at it as all done. "Hallelujah, 'tis done!" See! Those cities without a tear! Look! Those continents without a pang! Behold! Those hemispheres without a sin! Why, those deserts—Arabian desert, American desert and great Sahara desert—are all irrigated into gardens where God walks in the cool of the day. The atmosphere that encircles our globe floating not one groan. All the rivers and lakes and oceans dimpled with not one falling tear. The climates of the earth have dropped out of them the rigors of the cold and the blasts of the heat, and it is universal Spring! Let us change the old world's name. Let it no longer be called the Earth as when it was reeking with everything pestiferous and malevolent, scarleted with battle-fields and gashed with graves, but now so changed, so aromatic with gardens, and so resonant with song, and so rubescent with beauty, let us call it Immanuel's Land, or Beulah, or Millennial Gardens, or Paradise Regained, or Heaven. And to God the only Wise, the only Good, the only Great be glory forever. Amen.

GOSSIP FROM OTTAWA.

Bicycle Electric Railway Wanted From Winnipeg to Cape Breton.

SINGLE TAX COMMUNICATION

Considered by the Legislative Committee—Tariff Committee Receives Its Usual Quota of Visitors—Gatineau Valley Railroad Wants More Time.

OTTAWA, Jan. 27.—Railway measures will constitute the major portion of the private bills for consideration by Parliament at the coming session. Yesterday a novel application was recorded. It is that of a number of gentlemen, for whom Messrs. Gillies & Macechen, of Sydney, are acting, asking to be incorporated as the "Boynton Bicycle Electric Railway Company of Canada," to construct, equip and operate a bicycle electric railway from Winnipeg to Louisbourg, Cape Breton, with power to acquire, take and use water powers and to make contracts for the supply of electrical power for the operation of the railway, etc.

The Ottawa and Gatineau Valley railway Company will apply for an Act to extend the time for the completion of its road and to confirm an agreement with the Pontiac and Pacific Junction Railway Company respecting a bridge across the Ottawa river and terminal property in Ottawa.

Hon. Mr. Bowell has arranged to give a luncheon to Sir Thomas McIlwraith today, at which he will have an opportunity of meeting all the members of the Government.

The amount of inland revenue accrued last month was $761,629, a decrease of $60,000.

At the Council meeting yesterday, the Legislative Committee considered a communication from the single tax association and recommended that the principles advocated by the association should be adopted for the benefit of the community. The proposal of the county of Grey to join in memorializing the Dominion Government and Provincial Governments for a reduction of railway passenger rates, was not recommended by the committee, because it was thought an increase in freight rates would then be brought about.

The Tariff Committee still continues to receive its daily quota of visitors with their budgets of statistics and other particulars in respect of the industries they represent. Yesterday there were delegations from Hamilton; Messrs. Hy. F. New and A. E. Carpenter represented the sewer pipe men, Cyrus A. Ruge and F. H. Whitton, the ironmen, and A. Garlshore and J. G. Allen, the foundry facing men phase of how the tariff should stand. Mr. A. McKay, M.P., accompanied these delegates to the city.

Lieut.-Col. Henshaw, Thos. Turnbull and W. C. Trotter, Montreal, are here seeking the Tariff Committee in regard to drain tiles and sewer pipes.

TRANSCONTINENTAL TRAFFIC.

Three Railways Have Accepted the Conditions of the C. P. R.

MONTREAL, Jan. 27.—Much opposition is manifested by the Western Passenger Association lines towards the settlement of the Transcontinental, in connection with which General Passenger Agent McNicoll and General Traffic Manager Olds, of the Canadian Pacific, were in Chicago recently. They think accepting the terms proposed by the North Pacific coast lines would place the direct lines from Chicago via the Missouri river gateway at a great disadvantage. The Canadian Pacific insists upon a differential rate of $7.50 first class and $5 second class on all business via Victoria and ocean route to San Francisco from the territory of the Western Passenger Association, and also via Port Arthur and the Shasta route. These conditions have been accepted by the Union Pacific, Northern Pacific and Great Northern. When this proposition was submitted to the lines in the Western Passenger Association for ratification the Canadian Pacific made a statement to the effect that it had carried only 3½ per cent. of the California traffic, which was quite true.

Farm Dwelling Burned.

COMBER, Ont., Jan. 27. — The farm dwelling of Mr. Adam Fenner, just outside the western limit of the village, took fire yesterday morning and was completely destroyed. The members of the family were all up at the time. The fire started in the second storey and was not noticed until the flames had got great headway. The fire, however, when first observed, was in the region of the chimney, which was defective. Mr. Fenner was burned out about four years ago, and the house destroyed yesterday was erected on the same site at a cost of $700. The household effects down stairs were all saved. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

A Street Railway Deal.

MONTREAL, Jan. 27.—W. Mackenzie, president of the Toronto Street Railway Company, and H. A. Everett, vice-president of the Montreal Street Railway Company, held a conference with L. J. Forget, president of the latter company, yesterday. It is said here that there is an important deal on which may mean amalgamation of Toronto and Montreal street railways and Richelieu Navigation Company.

Fire in Halifax.

HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 27.—Fire last night destroyed a building in Upper Water street, owned by Senator Power and occupied by John H. Phillips, hatter, and a number of tenants. Phillips stock was completely destroyed. Insured for $2,000. The tenants in the upper part of the building had a narrow escape. Their effects were destroyed. The building was insured. Total loss about $5,000.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold everywhere, or sent by mail.

THE P. P. A. CONVENTION.

The Business of the Society Concluded—Will Meet Next Year in Toronto.

HAMILTON, Jan. 27.—The P. P. A. convention did not adjourn until 1.30 yesterday morning and the Executive Committee was in session for two hours after that time. It became manifest that if the work of the convention was to be got through at all routine work would have to be relegated to special committees, and this was done. Delegates watched with great vigilance all proceedings of the convention and no resolution could be carried which had for its object the endorsation or condemnation in any way of the present Dominion or Provincial Governments. Much time was thus taken up in argument and the business of the convention was much retarded.

The Ritual Committee reported in favor of some minor changes making it applicable to Canada exclusively, and thus ending the misunderstanding which has existed owing to the use of the old ritual adopted when the Canadian and United States associations were united. It was made quite clear in all documents that the P. P. A. only opposes the political power of Rome, and does not countenance the slightest appearance of persecution of Roman Catholics by advising or supporting the dismissal of employes of that faith, or the refusal of work to them. During the discussion it was declared that in several departments of the Dominion and provincial administrations Protestants could not secure appointments.

It was given out yesterday that the convention would conclude its business in the city of Guelph, as the proceeeings had been given too much publicity, but there was no truth in this statement and nearly all the visiting delegates left for their homes. The convention will be held next year in Toronto.

The Women's Protective Association has finished its business and nearly all the delegates have left the city. In an interview yesterday Mrs. Margaret Shepherd, who presides over the above association, said it was only the executive board which had met and the meeting had been a very satisfactory and encouraging one.

Water Power From Niagara.

NIAGARA FALLS, Jan. 27.—Yesterday for the first time water of the upper Niagara river was admitted to the wheel pit of the Niagara Falls Paper Co. All three turbines were run with equal smoothness, and not a hitch of any kind occurred. It is expected shortly that the company will place three more turbines in the pit of the mill, which will give it 6,000 horse power.

Chinese Merchants for the States.

MONTREAL, Jan. 27.—During the past two days 50 Chinamen have arrived in the city by the C.P.R. from Vancouver. They are merchants from China and intend to take up their residence in the United States if they can persuade the authorities to let them in.

LOSS IN GOLD.

The Gold in the Washington Treasury Now Less Than $67,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—A further loss of $600,000 in gold is reported by the Treasury. This reduces the gold to less than $67,000,000.

The National Board of Trade Convention, which has been in session here this week, adjourned sine die yesterday after adopting resolutions in favor of the Nicaragua canal, the consolidation of third and fourth class mail matter at one cent for two ounces, and the referring of all infringements of national banking laws to the Secretary of the Treasury, the Controller of the Currency and the United States Treasurer as a commission instead as of now, the Controller alone.

Sullivan's Brutal Valet.

MORRISTOWN, Pa., Jan. 27.—John L. Sullivan showed here last evening. While on his way to the opera house he was followed by a crowd of men and boys. He was accompanied by his valet, Nicholas Murphy, of New York. Without any provocation Murphy struck 16-year-old Ambrose Beyer with a hat box he carried and knocked him senseless. He was arrested and heavily fined. The crowd threatened to mob him.

Duval Club Breaks Up.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 27.—The Duval Athletic Club no longer exists. It broke up in a row yesterday. Some hard names passed between one of the members and Bowden, whose management was severely criticized. Bowden has washed his hands of the whole business. He says that he will never try to get up another prize fight.

Jackson and Corbett.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 27.—Peter Jackson was seen last evening in regard to the report that he would meet Corbett before the National Sporting Club in England. He said that he knew nothing of such an arrangement, but is willing to meet Corbett there if necessary. The agreement is that the match is to take place where the largest purse will be offered.

Lehigh Strikers Want Their Money.

WAVERLY, N.Y., Jan. 27.—The members of the various railroad brotherhoods who went out in the Lehigh strike were promised their second month's pay from the orders on the 17th of this month, but have not yet seen the paymaster, and great dissatisfaction exists among the men. The several brotherhoods paid the first month promptly.

Corbett to Play Ball.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 27.—Manager Hanlon, of the Baltimore Baseball Club, has drawn up a contract offering Champion Jim Corbett $10,000 to play with the Orioles the coming season. Corbett is a fine ball player, and made quite a reputation on the Pacific Slope.

Killed in a Snow Slide.

BOISE CITY, Idaho, Jan. 27.—A snow slide occurred in White Bird Gulch. A family named Thompson lived at the bottom of the gulch, and the slide came down without warning, wrecking the house and killing four girls. The parents escaped with an infant.

International Musical Union.

OGDENSBURG, Jan. 27.—The mid-winter festival of the St. Lawrence International Musical Union closed last night and was the most successful ever held by the Association in the 16 years of its existence.

and I know of numbers of people who keep it in the house all the time. not considering it safe to be without it."

"I have been using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for 30 years, with the most satisfactory results, and can cheerfully recommend it as being especially adapted to all pulmonary complaints. I have, for many years, made pulmonary and other medicines a special study, and I have come to the conclusion that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral occupies a position pre-eminent over other medicines of the class."—Chas. THE FRENCH COLONIES.

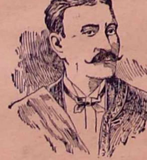
THE REPUBLIC'S DOMINIONS NOW GIRDLE THE WORLD.

How France Has Again Risen to the Rank of a Great Power—Its Ambassador Second in Rank at Washington—Great Strides in 23 Years.

The second ambassador ever sent by a foreign nation to the United States was M. Patenotre, the representative of the French republic. There was something of a race between M. Patenotre and Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador, as to which should be first recognized, but Sir Julian was the first to receive and present his credentials, which arrived one day sooner than those of M. Patenotre, and the former thus became the ranking member of the Washington diplomatic corps. But the French legation is second in rank. Ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary is the official title of the representative sent by the great European republic to the capital of the new-world republic, in whose establishment the old French monarchy played so important a part. The French ambassador is a man of long experience and has had a distinguished career.

How many readers know the mighty strides France has taken since the day twenty-three years ago when she lay prostrate before the German conquerors and was compelled to surrender her Rhenish frontier and give up her rich provinces of Alsace and Lorraine?



M. PATENOTRE.

In the great land-grabbing contests between the nations of the old world, during the last ten years, France has been the greatest beneficiary, and she has established herself firmly as the second great colonial power of the earth and no mean rival of Great Britain. In the grand partition of Africa France came off with the lion's share. She is also the potential force in Farther India, where she rules Anam, Tonquin, Cambodia and Cochin China, with the vast stretch of territory running to the Mekong river which she has just wrested from the King of Siam. France lost, over a hundred years ago, after a contest that bathed hither India in blood, all her possessions there except the four cities of Pondichery, Karikall, Chandernagore and Mahe. But she has become once more a great Asiatic power, now controlling 35,000,000 Asiatic people, with the certainty that Siam herself must soon come under French suzerainship. In Oceanica French aggression has qeen equally marked and the flag of the republic floats over hundreds of the isles of the sea. Her ownership of Madagascar, the second largest island of the world, long disputed, is now conceded by England and she has added the old Swedish possessions in the West Indies to her rich islands in that region.

In the proud old days when the French flag floated over so many lands that Louis could complacently speak of the loss of the Canadian empire as the "surrender of only a few arpents of snow," the French dominion was much less extensive than now.

A map of the world hanging on the wall at the French legations which shows the French possessions in both hemispheres is a startling lesson in modern political geography. Another shows the territorial possessions of all the Europaan powers, and is an illustration of the great world-grabbing race. The French possessions, which are shown in blue, are however, the most interesting feature of the map. France dominates all north-western Africa, with the exception of the despotism of Morocco, the republican failure of Liberia and a few British posts on the Gulf of Guinea. All Africa west of Tripoli, Fezzan, Lake Tchad and the bight of Blafra is French. The African possessions of the republic have more than 3,000,000 square miles and 30,000,000 inhabitants. The blue appears in all quarters of the dark continent. It commands the Straits of Babelmandeb and the lower courses of the Congo as well as all the winding way of the ancient Niger. Madagascar and its many neighbors sport the color. Southwestern Asia wears it. It spots Hindostan, and the south seas are dotted with myriad islands where the French flag floats. It has possessions in the Newfoundland Gulf and rich islands in the West Indies, and still holds sway over its oldtime properties in Guiana. In all parts of the earth the republic has something less than 4,000,000 square miles of territory and holds sway over 100,000,000 souls.

Kaiser William as Bandmaster.

There is, of course, nothing that Emperor William cannot do. He knows everything and can give the most learned a good start and an easy beating in all branches of art, literature, music, soldiering, or, in fact, any other matter that mortal man knows anything about. The military band of the footguards, which is about one of the best in Europe, was playing a march in the courtyard of the Schloss a few days ago, but the time did not suit William. He thought he knew more about it than the conductor, so he straightway emerged from the palace, stopped the music, and, taking the baton from the bandmaster's hand, conducted the piece himself to his own beating. The musicians were in a state of terror. but he warmed them up to galop time and when he had finished returned the baton to the conductor with the remark: "Next time you play that march play it properly. I have given you the correct time. Now, dismiss the band, go to barracks and play nothing else for a week." This order was religiously carried into effect, and for a whole week the guards knew no other melody but that eccentric march, which no man could keep step to.

Another matter which has upset William's equilibrium is the fact that the people stare at him in church. He doesn't like it and has now ordered that whenever he attends divine service all seats of which he can see the occupants, or from which he can be seen, shall be filled by soldiers so that he may not be disturbed in his prayers. The soldiers are compelled to look straight before them and any deviation of a head from the "eyes front" is punished by confinement to barracks and heavy pack drill.

Mr. R.E. Collier of Tweed, was in town to-day.

Mrs. Geo., and Miss Lizzie Edwards and Miss Jessie MacDiarmid left to-day for Glenora to visit friends.

John Taylor left this morning for Montreal where he will submit to the painful operation of the removal of one of his eyes, which has to be done in order to save the other.

Rev. E. Roberts, who preaches anniversary services in the Tabernacle tomorrow, is the guest of Mr. W. H. Gordon, Church street.

Mrs (Rev.) Crossley returned to the city last night after attending her sisters funeral in New York.

Rev. N. McCamus of Millbrook, is in the city, the guest of his brother, Rev. J. A. McCamus.

Provincial Sunday School Convention

The Provincial Sunday School Association is desirous of holding its next convention in this city in October next, and the local association has called a meeting of all interested in the John St. Presbyterian church on next Friday evening.

A Masterly Description

The Trenton Courier says:—The Stereoptican views of the Columbian World's Fair in Chicago which were exhibited in Canterbury Hall on Friday eve. last were highly appreciated by the audience present. However Mr. J. B. Flint, Police Magistrate of Belleville, by his fine and masterly description of the great Exhibition was the charming feature of the evening. His prefatory remarks on the great fairs of past ages were excellent. His description of the opening of the World's Fair at Chicago by president Cleveland was particularly fine. Mr. Flint having travelled as a keen observer in Europe and having the artistic as well as the critical eye is well qualified to bring with his easy flow of language a fund of information with his descriptions of the wondrous beauty and grandeur of the World's Fair Buildings at Chicago. That Mr. Flint gives these eloquent descriptive lectures in three or four places simply to get Mr. Retallick started in this new business, makes his word painting of the beautiful scenes more interesting and surprising.

Piano Tuning

Mr. Igelstrom, of Toronto, is in the city. Orders left at Orr's jewelry store or at Rigg's music store will receive prompt attention. 1td

ODD FELLOWS SUPPER

Presentation to Mrs Theodore Roblin by the Order

Last night the Lodge of the C.O.O.F., at Rednesville, had a grand supper in their hall at which their was a full attendance of members and their wives, beside a number of invited guests. Since its organization the lodge has annually given a feast to its members and last night the ladies showed their appreciation of the order by preparing a magnificent spread. After the good things provided had been partaken of by those present Rev. Mr. Dupran, Chaplain of the Order, silenced those present and after a few well chosen remarks presented Mrs. Theadore Roblin with a beautiful set of dishes, comprising over 150 pieces, a gift from the lodge as a small token of esteem and sympathy in the loss sustained by herself and husband (who is a member of the lodge) in the calamity that has recently befallen them through fire. Mrs. Roblin and her husband were quite taken by surprise and with difficulty were able to express their thanks for the beautiful gift. Short and appropriate addresses were made by Messrs. W. E. Anderson, reeve of the township, Capt. Waters, of Belleville, and members of the order. The gathering broke up by singing God Save the Queen.—COM.

TOLD IN A LINE OR TWO

Chancey Ashley, issuer of Marriage Licences Division Court office, Pinnacle Street, Belleville.

To-day's market was a small one.

Palmer's, Seeley's, Taylor's Lubin's, Atkinson's and other makes of perfume at Geen's.

A slight fall of snow occurred last night but not sufficient to make sleighing.

Call and see Geen's Perfumes. He has a very fine assortment in plain and fancy bottles.

A horse attached to a delivery waggon fell on Front street this morning and broke a shaft of the vehicle.

Geen's 60c and 75c Hair Brushes are splendid value.

A pair of eye glasses are at the police station awaiting an owner.

Go to Grant's cheap cash sale of boots and shoes. New goods at cost for sixty days only.

No business was transacted at the police court to-day.

Geo. F. Stewart, issuer of Marriage Licenses, ONTARIO office, or 210 Lattimer's Terrace, Church St.

By the burning of the large marsh across the Bay last night a bright reflection was made in the sky.

You can get boys and girls laced moccasins for 75c, former price $1.10; children moccasins at 40c, former price 75c at Grant's cheap cash sale.

The Executive committee of the city council will meet to-night.

If you want bargains in boots and shoes go to Grant's cheap cash sale.

An attraction on the market this morning was a live fox which a young man was offering for sale.

Nearly all women have good hair, though many are grey, and few are bald. Hall's Hair Renewer restores the natural color, and thickens the growth of the hair.

I am now selling the balance of my stock of furs and millinery at very reduced prices. Call and examine goods. Furs made up to order, repairing done on shortest notice.—A. DULMAGE.

A Heintzman & Co. Piano Tuner will be in the city about the 30th inst. None but expert men are employed. Orders may be left at F. Asseltine, No. 20 Hotel street.

The gross earnings of the Richelieu and Ontario navigation company were $618,000, or $30,000 less than the previous year.

Holloway Street Methodist church will hold their Anniversary services on Sunday January 28th inst. Conducted by Rev. J. J. Ray, of Napanee. and Rev. D. N. McCamus, of Milbrook. The Anniversary Tea will be given on the following Monday evening. The Choir will be assisted at all the services by Messrs. Fax, Lewis Burrows and The Excelsior Male quartette, will sing on Monday night.

Belleville Lodge Oddfellows No. 81 are going to hold one of their popular assemblys on Monday night, Feb. 5th, in their hall, Front street. Their parlors, which have lately been refurnished at a great expense, will be thrown open for the convenience of guests.

Dr. Wright made an amusing slip of the tongue last evening at the Belleville Institute entertainment. When about to call on the X. L. C. R. Quartette he gravely announced that "the audience will now be favored with another selection by the I. X. L. Quartette." The outburst of laughter that followed showed him his amusing mistake, when he joined heartily in the laughter.

Mr. R. C. Clute unfortunately missed his train at Toronto yesterday noon, consequently could not address the Reform Club as announced. So no meeting was held.

"Boys," published by W. Bryce, Toronto, is on of the very best magazines for the lads that is published. It is filled full of good things from cover to cover. The January number, which lies before us, contains two serials and 30 short stories, sketches, adventures, etc., all of them interesting and some very instructive. Besides these there are the puzzle page, stamp gossip and various other departments. This number contains over 80 pages and is profusely illustrated, with a colored frontispiece. Price 15 cents, $1.50 a year.

S. Burrows, having added the White Star S. S. agency to his already numerous list, is now in a position to book by all leading S. S. Lines, and has connections, and issues tickets to any part of the world.

The friends of Mr. Fred Adams, stage manager of the Queens Opera House will give him a grand benefit concert on Friday next. The best talent in the city has volunteered to take part and it will no doubt be the event of the season. Mr. Adams has been a faithful servant to all churches and societies and local concerts that has been given in the Opera House since its erection and his many friends take this opportunity of repaying him for his good work in in the past. It is to be hoped the people of the city will contribute their patronage. The prices have been fixed at 25, 35 and 50 cents. See bill and next week's papers for full particulars.

The Huffman House received to-day from the "Chicago Hotel Cabinet Company" one of the handsomest pieces of furniture that could decorate an office counter, in the shape of a hotel cabinet. The base, which contains spaces for paper, envelopes, matches, etc., is of a rich bronze metal, the top contains 16 solid silver plates on which is handsomely engraved the advertisements of the prominent merchants of Belleville, the whole being surmounted with a handsome gold plated statue.

Have You Asthma?

Dr. R. Schiffmann, St, Paul, Minn., will mail a trial package of "Schiffmann's Asthma Cure" free to any sufferer. He advertises by giving it away. Never fails to give instant relief in worst cases and cures where others fail. Name this paper and send address for a free trial package.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL

The committee of the whole on ways and means resumed.

A grant of $60 was given to the poor schools of Elzevir and $25 to the poor schools of Marmora, the money to be expended by the Inspector.

AFTERNOON SESSION

Council resumed at 2 p.m.

Mr. Thompson presented the following report of the special committee re printing: To allow Inspector Macintosh to get his school printing done as heretofore at the North Hastings Review Office, Madoc.

That Inspector Johnston get his school printing done as heretofore in Belleville.

To give the county accounts in pamphlet form to the Deseronto News Company and take 1000 copies.

To divide about equally the balance of the printing, etc. under the control of the council between Mr. Carman and the Intelligencer Co., unless specially and ordered otherwise by the Council.

Mr. Martin moved seconded by McComb that his Honor the warden and the County treasurer and the mover be a committee authorized to deal with the Wright mortgage and close it up in the way that seems to them in the interest of the county.

The by-law governing the licensing of hawkers and pedlars was considered. The fees were made as follows: Persons on foot $15, one horse, $50 and two horses $60, and the license shall be good for one year from the time of their issue. The by-law was read a first time.

W. R. Aylesworth and John A. Holgate were appointed auditors of the administration of justice accounts: Messrs Jas. McCready and Chas. W. Thompson, Albert Chard and Urial Wright, were appointed High School trustees for Stirling, Robt. R. Caseman for Madoc high school. Rev. W. T. Wilkins for Trenton high school Thos. H. Nasmith for Deseronto high school.

Every Young Man

should be possessed of certain information without which millions contract pernicious and most destructive habits—habits which make young men permanently aged pale haggard, listless, devoid of ambition, easily tried, languid, forgetful and incapable, fill mad-houses and swell the list of suicides, separate husbands and wives; bring untold suffering millions even unto the third and fourth generation. Parents guardians and philanthropists can do no better service to the rising generation, than to place in their hands the information and warnings contained in a little book carefully prepared by an associaion of medical men who have had vast experience in dealing with the grave maladies here hinted at, and who feel that they owe it to humanity to warn the young of the land against certain destructive habits, which are far more prevalent than any layman can imagine, and which if persisted in gradually undermine the constitution and health, and destroy the future happiness of the victim. Cut out this notice and enclose it with ten cents in stamps (to pay postage), to World's Dispensary Medical association, Invalids Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo. N. Y., and the book will be sent, secure from observation, in a plain sealed envelope.

The Truest Economy.

When you buy your goods from a merchant with a reputation at stake, or from a dealer who has an established business to protect, you stand very little risk of being imposed upon. For instance—"The Oak Hall will not risk their standing by selling shoddy or ill-made clothing." It is true economy buying from an established house with a reputation behind it, and the intention to continue in business in the future.

A Slight Blaze

At a few minutes after 7 o'clock last night the firemen were called out but their services were not required. A slight blaze in a shed in rear of Mr. Ed. Donovan's residence, corner of Coleman and Henry streets, was the cause. The fire was extinguished before scarcely any damage was done.

In Olden Times.

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action; but now that is generally known that Syrup of Figs, will permanently cure habitual constipation, well-informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system.

To-morrow is prison Sunday.

Albert College students have been making special efforts to have a good missionary meeting to-morrow Jan. 28 at 4 p.m. Mr. Livingstone, B. A. whom the society has chosen to represent it in Africa, will be present to address the meeting. Rev. E. Roberts, ex-president of the Bay of Quinte Conference, is also expected to be present and address the meeting. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to come and enjoy the meeting.

In yesterday's report of the Sons of Scotland concert mention of Mr. Ponton's paper on "Burns' Humor" was inadvertently omitted. This oversight is all the more to be regretted because this was one of the best things of the evening. Mr. Ponton is an enthusiastic student of the sweet Scotch poet and has a rarely sympathetic appreciation of the beauties of his conceptions, and he succeeded in giving his audience a most interesting and comprehensive estimate of the humorous phases of Burn's productions, the illustrative selections being well chosen.

IT WAS A FINE CONCERT

And Miss Jackson and Mr Shaw Were Splendid.

Was the verdict of the numerous and well pleased audience that retired from the Sunday school rooms of Bridge St. church last night. It was the annual concert provided by the young ladies of Mr. George E. Minns' Sunday school class and like all its predecessors was good. These young ladies have acquired a reputation for giving concerts out of the usual line, and go to considerable expense to bring talent "from afar." For last night they secured the services of Miss Alida V. Jackson, a graduate with honors of the Philadelphia College of elocution, and Mr. R. A Shaw, tenor soloist of the Metropolitan church, Toronto, and they were fortunate selections, and in Miss Jackson and Mr. Shaw, Belleville has added to its list of favorities, as they each scored a success. They were both so good that the wonder is we have not heard more of them before, and it seemed the audience could not get enough of them, as Miss Jackson contributed no less nine numbers and Mr. Shaw ten. Miss Jackson is one of the best elocutionists ever heard in Belleville. Her enunciation is distinct, her voice clear and sweet, her emphasis correct and her gestures graceful and appropriate. Her presence was charming and she completely captured the audience from the start. As her last contribution she gave a number of poisings, illustrative of various emotions, which were the embodiment of grace and symmetry, and beautiful representations of Delsartean culture. Her elocutionary selections were varied and proved the versatility of her talents. Mr. Shaw's tenor voice is magnificent, it has compass and richness. His rendition of the sacred solo "The Holy City," was masterly. Every word he says is intelligible, and every note is taken with ease. It is to be hoped thes two artists will soon be heard here again. In addition to these the ever popular Harris Bros contributed an instrumental trio, Mr. W. H. Dingle a piano solo and Mr. Pearson, three cornet solos. The piano accompanists were Mrs. Dr. Walker, Miss Hunter and Mr. W. H. Dingle. Mr, Geo. E. Minns was the chairman.

SPORTING NOTES

A hockey match took place on the rink last night between the Y.M.C.A. club and the Quintes. The latter were victorious, scoring 1 goal to their opponents 0. The game lasted 45 minutes and was well contested.

The following will compose the two rinks of the local curling club who leave on Monday for Peterboro to compete in the primary competition for the Ontario tankard.

Woman a——?

Woman is a conundrum most decidedly. Still we do not propose to give her up. Let a woman have her health and spirits and she is the sunshine of the house. But suppose she is sick, what then? Why, then there is a shadow over all the house. Happily in thousands of homes, such shadows have been removed. Thanks to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the diseases and weaknesses incident to their sex have been removed, and with health restored, their bright spirits have come back, and the household has passed from the winter of its discontent to a glad summer of comfort. O, suffering women, for your own sakes, and for the sakes of those about you, use these simple means and be healed. The only remedy so effective in nervous and general prostration, "Female Weakness," periodical pains, irregularities and kindred ailments, that it can be guaranteed or sold on trial.

A PLEASANT ENTERTAINMENT.

Combining Music and Rhetoric in Pleasing Variety.

The entertainment last night in the Belleville Library Association rooms was a very pleasant one. The attendance was not large but those present enjoyed themselves exceedingly. Dr. Wright occupied the chair with his usual tact, keeping the audience in good cheer by his timely comments and dry humor. The program was a delightfully varied one. Mrs. Deacon gave three selections in a manner that greatly pleased her auditors. Mrs. W. Heber Campbell gave a solo with all the sweetness and beauty of expressions characteristic of her. Miss M. Smart and Miss F. Caswell also gave vocal solos in a manner that elicited hearty applause. Mrs. J. Lyons Biggar gave a piano solo in a very effective manner and was heartily applauded. The X. L. C. R. Quartette of course were splendid. They gave two solos and an encore response with that fine blending of tone and sweet harmony that won such applause the previous night. This quartette is a very welcome addition to our musical aggregations. Mr. J. J, B. Flint gave a humorous reading that greatly amused the audience, and Miss Brignall recited "The legend of the Organ Builder," in a manner that reflected the highest credit on herself, and proved her to possess histrionic talents of a high order. But the gem of the evening was Mrs. York's paper on "Poets and musicians," which was one of the finest productions ever heard in Belleville. The gifted writer, herself a musician who loves the art, who possesses not a little of the fire of poetical genius, and who is a sympathetic student of the great masters of both music and poetry, was specially qualified to write on such a theme. The paper was itself a beautiful prose poem, resonant with the music of the rhythm of graceful expression and beautiful imagery, yet marked by a terseness of expression and depth of thought most admirable. It is easy for anyone to pen a rhetorical symphony, it is not difficult for a deep thinker to express in short space, but in heavy, dry language much wisdom. But Mrs. York possesses that talent, so rare as to be regarded as the mark of true genius, the ability to utter in language perfect in rhetoric, and glowing with beauty of expression, thoughts condensed into aphorisms and pregnant with suggestiveness.

WALL PAPER ! !

With this advertisement we commence the Wall Paper campaign for 1894. We are going to make a hard, vigorous fight for a large season's business in interior decorations, and by watching this space closely in the future you will read some points on the practical decoration of a house that cannot help but put you in the way of fixing up your homes, cheaply yet sensibly and artistically too.

Apropus of this, our first hint to you is to not delay your work too long. With a stock like we always carry, and with the paper hangers with little or no work to engage them, now is the time to have your work done and done properly At the present writing we are in a position to undertake at once the contract to paper 500 homes, including every room in the house from the kitchen to the Drawing Room and with the most modern effects.

We have the latest schemes known to the wallpaper world for facilitating the handling of wallpaper.

We can give you better attention now than during the rush later on in the Spring; we can give you as close prices as you can get any time during the present year, we can show you over 500 designs to choose from,and coupled with this you can get your paper hanger at an hour's notice.

Do not delay till house cleaning time ; Paper Hanging is not simply house cleaning 'tis house decoration, Ay ! and furnishing too. Think it over !

STARTLING FACTS.

Ex-purser and his senior partner caught in their own trap.

For some time past these two men have been worrying very much about Keys and Reference Books, and what they have been pleased to term "American Shallowness". And they have falsely charged other business colleges with furnishing same to their students.

The fact is that the only Keys and Reference-Books used in Belleville, as these men state, are used and have been used, and advertised for use by these very men. The following are quotations from their own advertisements, word for word.

"The Canadian Accountant"—"School Authorities ordering the WORK are granted liberal discounts. Teachers using the BOOK are furnished with a Key"—"Robinson & Johnson".

"The Canadian Accountant"—"By the Principals of Ontario Business College". "One of the Principals visited various parts of the United States to GATHER the latest AMERICAN IDEAS of ACCOUNTING"—Robinson & Johnson".

"The student is assigned his desk". . "The guide is put in his hand and he opens books accordingly".—"Robinson & Johnson,'.

"The Canadian Accountant"—Teachers using the WORK are furnished with FOOTINGS and RESULTS of the VARIOUS SETS".

These men use and make their students use IMPORTED Text-Books and printed KEYS.

N.B.—In the city of Belleville where the text-book with the KEY and Reference Book and GUIDE is published, there are forty students of the Belleville Business College holding positions as Teachers, Book-keepers, Stenographers and Clerks. How does this compare with their 13 in Rochester ?

MINERS' DEPREDATIONS

A Band of Strikers Attempt to Close Mines by Force.

RIOT AND GENERAL DISORDER

Are the Tactics of the Lawless Gang of Ruffians — Citizens Arm, Follow Them and Put Them to Flight — Sixteen Are Captured.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 29.—A riot of striking miners took place on Saturday at the Federal and Woodville coal mines, on the Pittsburg, Chartier and Youghеny railroad. A number of shots were exchanged between the strikers and deputy sheriff.

The mob to the number of 700, left for Bridgeville with the avowed intention of closing the mines there. A telephone message from Bridgeville stated that the rioting miners divided into squads of from 150 to 200 men each, and marched from mine to mine, intimidating the miners, destroying property and engaging in other acts of lawlessness.

BRIDGEVILLE, Pa., Jan. 29.—The rioters Hungarians, Slavs, Poles and other foreigners, who thronged this town Saturday spreading ruin and destruction in their path, have all disappeared, but there is no telling when they will return. The citizens are still in a state of terror of armed men standing guard on the street corners and challenging all comers. The ruins of the Schulte coal tipple, which was fired, are still smoking and a crowd of indignant spectators stand around discussing what is to be done.

The rioters seemed satisfied if they could inconvenience the work at the mines. The tracks were torn up, the mules were turned loose and bands of loaded coal cars were dumped and the wheels broken off so as to make the job complete.

They passed through the main streets towards the A. J. Schulte coal mines. As they passed C. P. Mayer's general store they made an onslaught on his place, smashing the front windows. The occupants all fled from the house in terror, thinking the purpose of the mob was to burn them up. But all they wanted was several cases of axe handles that stood within. A boisterous clamor announced the satisfaction of the rioters as they distributed the spoils. They went straight to the Schulte tipple works, which extended from the hillside out over the Panhandle railroad tracks. There were several tipple men present at the time, but they all fled except Dick Layton, the weigh master. He made a brave stand as the horde of foreigners approached. An attempt to address them only called forth terrible threats. Pick handles were wildly brandished and several weapons were levelled at Layton. At the demonstration he too fled up the hill while the rioters scrambled to the tipple. A dozen matches were applied to the structure and it was soon a mass of flames. In a moment the entire community was abroad at the scene of the fire. The rioters fled over the hills. Efforts were made to save the works, but nothing could be done. The tipple, valued at $5,000, was doomed.

Amid this most exciting scene there occurred an incident that eclipsed even the disaster. A man's voice rang out through the silent air. On a freight car a few paces from the burning tipple stood C. P. Mayer, one of the leading citizens and business men of Bridgeville. It was his store which had been invaded by the robbers. In words trembling with fervor and eloquent with feeling, he pleaded with his fellow citizens to avenge the wrong just committed in their midst. "Let us organize a band and pursue each scoundrel until brought to justice. Patriotism demands it." The sentiment was greeted with cheers, including the voices of the women and children. "We'll do it, we'll do it," exclaimed voices, and within ten minutes a band of twenty armed men had gathered about Mayer and were clamoring for action. With looks of determination on each face, the band set out in pursuit of the fleeing horde, which was on its way towards the Painters' Run district.

The work of destruction was continued. The infuriated band proceeded to the Beadling mine. An assault was made on the supply store of the Beadling hamlet, where it is reported a fight occurred and one man was killed. The proprietors had anticipated trouble when the store was being built and constructed it in the form of a garrison. Loop holes were built in the sides and Winchester rifles were kept on hand. The rioters then started over Bower's Hill towards the Miller's Run district, which is southwest of Briggsville Just as the rioters appeared on Bower's hill they came face to face with the band of twenty armed citizens. The horde stopped like a herd of startled deer. Seeing the armed and desperate little band of men they started to run, scattering over the country like so many frightened sheep. The demand to surrender was unheeded. Some of the citizens raised their guns and were about to charge when they heard the orders, "Capture them, but for God's sake don't shoot." And then began a mad chase to revenge the citizens of Bridgeville. It was also decided to revenge the death of their comrade at the Beadling mines.

The rioters fled like wild animals, with the citizens close after them. For about four miles the fight was kept up, the horde heading toward Heidelburg, where most of them live. Just as they entered the town they were overtaken and sixteen of them captured. The rest escaped. The prisoners were taken to Mansfield, where they were placed in the lockup.

A Mansfield, Pa., telegram says: Three rioters were wounded, one of them fatally, in the battle with the owners of the Reading Brothers' mines. Frank Staley, a leader of the rioters, was shot through the body and will die. Two others received slight wounds.

MANSFIELD, Pa., Jan. 29.—Franz Josef Stepig, the rioter who was shot during the battle at the Reading mines Saturday, died yesterday. It is suspected he was shot by the rioters as he was not in sympathy with the movement. An inquest will be held.

The Keller Baby Dead.

AUBURN, N.Y., Jan. 29.—The Keller infant-in-arms which was shot by its mother Thursday night, died on Friday night, making the third victim of the tragedy. Father, mother and child were buried together on Saturday. The coroner's jury found that the mother committed the murder and suicide while insane.

A TREASURER ABSCONDS.

Defalcations Aggregating Many Thousand Dollars Cause His Hasty Departure.

BROOKLIN, Ont., Jan. 29.—The rumor is now current that J. F. Moore, treasurer of the township of Whitby, absconded to the United States on Thursday night last. Reeve Calder and Manager Thornton that day discovered Moore's defalcations in the Dominion Bank at Whitby. Falsified by-laws and notes with Calder's name forged to them enabled Moore to get in the bank for between eight and nine thousand dollars. The township council at a special meeting on Saturday repudiated all responsibility for liability to the bank on account of the forged notes. Moore got money from his neighbors as well. He was an active member of the Methodist Church. He was Grand Trunk station agent here and held a number of other offices as well. Living beyond his means is given as underlying his dishonesty. He was a blonde-whiskered big man, weighing more than 250 pounds.

GOLD AND SILVER BULLION.

Resolution Passed by the Provincial Parliament of British Columbia.

VICTORIA, B.C., Jan. 29.—The British Columbia Provincial Parliament has passed a resolution directing that an address be presented to the Lieut.-Governor to be conveyed to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, through the Secretary of State of Canada, that in the opinion of the House it is expedient that it should be ordained by international agreement :

1st. That gold and silver be legal tender to any amount.

2nd. That the value of silver in terms of gold be fixed.

3rd. That gold and silver bullion in any amounts be freely turned into coin at the mints.

The resolution was introduced by Col. James Baker, Minister of Mines, who is a brother of the noted Baker Pasha. The resolution has caused much comment in the United States.

The Fire Record.

INGERSOLL, Jan. 29.—On Saturday at John Dunn's, lot 9, concession 3, North Oxford, fire consumed three barns, and their contents, consisting of six horses, one a very valuable mare, and all last year's crops. Loss partially covered by insurance.

TAVISTOCK, Ont., Jan. 29.—A fire occurred on Saturday night on the premises of George S. Brown, Tavistock, occupied by G. Lippert as a fruit store, completely destroying the shop and contents. The premises were insured for $800.

ORILLIA, Ont., Jan. 29.—On Saturday fire destroyed the buildings occupied by E. F. Cooke & Co., merchant tailors, and Wainwright & Co., harnessmakers. Some of the stock was saved. Both buildings were owned by Mrs. Captain Smith, who had no insurance on them, ST. JOHN, N.B., Jan. 29.—Hall's biscuit factory was badly gutted by fire yesterday. Much stock was destroyed and machinery damaged.

Attempted Highway Robbery.

AILSA CRAIG, Jan. 29.—An attempt at highway robbery occurred here on Saturday. Mrs. Shannon, wife of a G. T. R. employe, when returning home from shopping and while within a few yards of her own door, was set upon by some person unknown, thrown down and an attempt made to take her purse out of her pocket. Mrs. Shannon, being an able-bodied woman, was able to thwart his purpose long enough to allow assistance to arrive. The robber was chased by a couple of young men. A freight train was drawing out of the station at the time on which he jumped, and although the news was sent ahead no trace of him could be found. He is described as a tall man with a long overcoat and fur cap.

Prohibition Convention.

TORONTO, Jan. 29.—A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Dominion Alliance was held here on Saturday. Dr. J. J. Maclaren presided. The committee considered a recommendation made last October for the holding of a Dominion Prohibition convention during the present year. After careful consideration the committee decided to request the president to call such a convention to be composed of representatives from every part of the Dominion. The city of Montreal was chosen as the place of meeting and the first week in July as the time.

Postoffice Official Sentenced.

MONTREAL, Jan. 29.—J. Cunningham, an employe of the Postoffice, was arrested on Friday by the Secret Service Agency. For eight years Cunningham has had the handling of newspapers and parcels. The detectives found that he was selling cutlery and other articles to second-hand dealers at very low prices. Some of the articles were recognized. Cunningham was arrested. Judge Desnoyers' Government officials made their despositions on Saturday. The prisoner, who said he had been drinking, pleaded guilty to the one charge of pilfering postoffice parcels. He was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

Death From a Fall.

OWEN SOUND, Jan. 29.—A young man named Blakely, son of Mr. William Blakely, Euphrasia township, met a sudden death by what seemed a very small accident. He was walking along the road with a friend when he slipped on the icy ground and fell. He rose as if unhurt, walked a few steps, sank to the ground and died before his shocked companion could summon help. A physician examined the body and gave the opinion that the heart had been injured by the fall.

Serious Accident at Stoney Point.

STONEY POINT, Ont., Jan. 29.—W. Welsh, ex-reeve and grain merchant of this place, met with a serious accident on Friday night. While trying to adjust a belt in his grain elevator it slipped off the pulley and caught him round the neck. The unfortunate man was wound around the main shaft and made several revolutions before the engine could be stopped. His breast bone is broken and the doctors entertain little hopes of his recovery.

A Substitute for Hemp.

TORONTO, Jan. 29.—James Marshall, of this city, claims to have found a plant the fibre of which has all the appearance of flax, though somewhat coarser. A rope has been made with the material which shows superabundance of strength. Experiments with this plant may result in the profitable cultivation of it for all purposes for which hemp is now used, as it is growing wild and may be cultivated to any extent in Canada.

MET AN ICY DEATH.

A Toronto Island School Teacher Drowned in the Bay.

CLINGING TO FLOATING ICE

Her Strength Gives Way and She Sinks Before Assistance Arrives — The Other Members of the Party Rescued—The Body is Recovered.

TORONTO, Jan. 29.—Miss Sarah Forest, who occupied the position of school teacher on the Island, met a sad death on Saturday. She, accompanied by a number of other residents of the Island, was in the city on that day, and on their return home their boat was caught between ice floes and crused to pieces. The sides were smashed in and the boat sank at once, leaving the occupants struggling in the icy water.

For nearly half an hour those in the water kept from sinking by hanging on to the floating ice. Miss Forest, who evidently was the weakest of the lot, was the first to let go her hold and sink from view. During this time people on the shore were making every effort to reach the drowning persons. Boards, scantlings and poles were thrown, but none of them could be reached by those in the water. At last a rope was tied to a stone and thrown out. The other occupants of the boat, Mr. Gray, Island constable, his wife, Wm. Ham and David Kimmers, were rescued.

The body of Miss Forest was recovered an hour afterwards and taken to the Morgue. She had been teacher at the Island school for four years. She has a sister a school teacher in the city.

Boy Drowned.

YARMOUTH, N.S., Jan. 29.—On Friday evening three boys broke through the ice in Third pond at Hebron, and one, named George Strickland, aged 13 years, was drowned. The other two were rescued with much difficulty.

Nearly a Drowning.

GUELPH, Jan. 29.—A son of John Squire, gardener at the Ontario Agricultural College, was nearly drowned while skating on the river on Friday night. He fell through a hole in the ice and went down the second time before he was rescued.

ITEMS FROM OTTAWA.

Foster and the French Treaty—Agriculture Report.

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—Messrs. David MacLaren, of Ottawa, lumber merchant; Alex. MacLaren, of the town of Buckingham, lumber merchant; S. P. Franchot, also of Buckingham, civil engineer; Mrs. A. P. Franchot, of the same place, and Mr. T. W. Gibbs, of Ottawa, chemist, have made application for incorporation as the Gibbs, Franchot, MacLaren Co., Ltd. The capital stock of the company is to be $50,000 in 500 shares of $100 each, and chief place of business is to be Buckingham, Que. The business to be carried comprises a long list of manufacturing, and includes a woollen and cotton mill, flour and grist, mining and smelting projects, barrels, boxes and woollen goods, tile, brick and sewer pipes and electrical apparatus.

There is considerable talk in political circles as to the probable action of Parliament at next session in connection with the French treaty, whether it will be ratified or otherwise. The chief feature that will make this question decidedly interesting, is the fact that the treaty will remove or lower the duty on wines imported from France. This alone will keep the eyes of the temperance people on Mr. Foster. On the other hand Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper's friends state that unless his father's treaty is ratified he will resign from the Cabinet.

Hon. Mackenzie Bowell gave a luncheon yesterday to Sir Thomas McIlwraith, Secretary of State and Minister of Railways for Queensland. A number of Ministers and other notables were present. Mr. Bowell, Sir Thomas McIlwraith, Sir John Thompson, Hon. Mr. Foster, and Mr. Sandford Fleming addressed the gathering on the subject of closer trade between the colonies.

The annual report of the Minister of Agriculture was issued Saturday. Hon. Mr. Angers in his introductory remarks says the unusually low prices which products have commanded during the past two years have had a depressing influence on agriculture generally. This depression has been felt to a considerable extent in various parts of the Dominion, and more particularly in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, where grain growing is the chief industry. In those districts where mixed farming is carried on, farmers have experienced a fair degree of prosperity.

An interesting scheme was broached at the closing session of the Carleton County Council Saturday. A resolution was brought forward appointing a committee to report upon the advisability of establishing an industrial farm for the poor and juvenile offenders of the county, to enquire into a suitable site for the same and the cost, with instructions to report thereon at the June session of the Council. The establishment of such an institution is a privilege which the Ontario Legislature grants to all counties in the province, and which many have already taken advantage of. The object is to make the institution a place for reclaiming young criminals instead of having them sent to the county jail, where they would be surrounded by immoral influences. It will also be a place of refuge for the poor of the county. All the inmates will be given work to perform and the criminals at least would be under severe restraint during the time they remained there. The scheme will be supported by Government and county grants.

AN AWFUL TRAFFIC.

A Beautiful Indian Girl Sold Into Bondage by a Procuress.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Jan. 29.—Whites are purchasing Indian women by wholesale from the Siwash in Northern British Columbia. Many cases have been spoken of, but one peculiar incident has come prominently before the public.

Lucy Harry, an Indian girl, famous throughout the Pacific Coast for her rare beauty, has been sold into bondage by an Indian procuress, named Homestead Annie. The price paid was $150 spot cash. The father of Lucy Harry was a blonde Saxon, and bought her mother, a full-blooded Siwash. Lucy has an olive complexion, the carriage of a Cleopatra, and the form of a Venus, while her face of rare beauty is framed by a wealth of golden hair. The authorities say they will not allow this slavery to be carried on in the province. This case in particular will be investigated.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEAE.—trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatvely asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the east of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No delelerious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and though its act on is thorough in cases of costiveness never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowels ike a violent purgative. It invigorates he system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which t promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney disease scrofulous and all diseases of the blood femole weakness, &c. &c Price $1.00 Sample bottle 10 cents. EDITORIAL NOTES.

The resolution passed by the County Council asked that turnkeys, gaolers, license inspectors and other officials, whose salaries are wholly or in part paid by the council, should be appointed by the council or people. Why were license inspectors included in this resolution? Their salaries, either in whole nor in part, are not paid by the municipalities.

Let us suppose it was decreed that license inspectors should be elected by the people. It is well-known that the hotels and hotel influence are important factors in all elections. Then suppose again—what would be a very probable case—that one or more, or that all the hotels used their potent influence in securing the election of a certain candidate. Can any one imagine for a moment that the candidate so elected would be zealous in strictly enforcing the law against those hotel-keepers without whose assistance he would not have been elected? Surely anyone can see how very important it is that men occupying such a position should be absolutely independent of those against whom they are expected to enforce the law.

One evil of appointments by local bodies was well illustrated in this city a few years when the policemen were appointed by the city council. At that time a policeman was afraid to arrest a man for fear he might be the friend of some member of the council, who would use influence to secure his dismissal. If magistrates, sheriffs, bailiffs and other officers of the law were appointed by local bodies or elected by the people, for limited periods, unless human nature were changed these officials would most assuredly show favor to their friends. But when men are appointed by a body far removed from local influences, and hold their positions for life or good conduct, they are no longer amenable to such influences and are in a position to do their duty without fear, favor or partiality.

Some members of the Council advocated the election by the people of certain officials, such as goalers, turnkeys, sheriffs, registrars, license inspectors, etc. We have shown that such a change would not be in the interests of the public. But if those county councillors are sincere in their professions, why do they not begin at home, and petition the government to pass a law to provide for the election by ballot of the county and township clerks, treasurers, assessors, road superintendants, and such officers? There is certainly more reasonableness in electing such officials than in electing officials concerned in the administration of justice, such as sheriffs. The former officials are strictly the servants of distinct municipalities and are paid wholly by such municipalities. The latter are not paid by the municipalities, and they are the servants in many cases of two or more separate and independent municipalities, so that very great it not insuperable difficulties lie in the way of either election by the people, or appointment by the municipalities.

Boiled Peas Excellent

An ancient story tells of two unfortunates who were condemned to make a long pilgrimage with peas in their shoes. The feet of one of them at the end of the journey were terribly sore and swollen. His companion's were not hurt in the least. Being asked the reason he replied, "I boiled my peas." Wise man. Why should men women and children make the prilgrimage of life with pains and aches troubling them, not only in their feet, but all over when a simply remedy will effect a cure. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is potent to cure dyspepsia, "liver complaint," skin disease and kindred troubles arising from the same source.

LITERARY NOTES

The Bancroft Company, Auditorium Building, Chicago, are engaged in a work deserving of more than passing notice. It is the reproduction in book form in the highest style of art, of the entire Exposition. In THE BOOK OF THE FAIR, as the work is called, the great panorama will move from the past to the present, in logical and historical order. The reader will observe how the foundation upon which previous fairs were built gradually broadened, and like some magical plant he will see the unfolding of the ideas which are at the base of the Columbian exposition. Having introduced this latest and greatest of the world's fairs, the book will trace its evolution in all details, will show how it was built, and who were its chief founders and then picture it not only in its general but in its special features, and in the presentation of the gorgeous and the bewildering spectacle which is now before us, the pencil of the artist and the pen of the author will be complementary, each assisting the other.

Cottolene

A SHORTENING.

Down the street through the busy way
A lady passed on marketing day.
Who, pausing at a grocery store,
Stepped quickly in at the open door.
With bated breath and anxious mien
She queried: "have you COTTOLENE?"

The grocer, leaving off his work,
Interrogated every clerk;
But none up to that time had seen
An article called "COTTOLENE."

"What is it?" said he to the dame,
"That answers to this curious name.
What is it made of? What's its use?
My ignorance you'll please excuse."

"You're not the merchant for my dimes,
I see you're quite behind the times.
For COTTOLENE, I'd have you know,
Is now the thing that's all the go,
An article of high regard;
A healthful substitute for lard.
Its composition pure and clean;
For cooking give me COTTOLENE."

As from his store the lady fled,
The grocer gently scratched his head—
On his next order, first was seen,
"One dozen cases COTTOLENE."

Untold Misery—What a Well Known Commercial Traveller Suffered and How he was Cured

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & CO. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle o Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confidence that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery believing that one persistent use of it will cure dispepsia.

It is worse than madness to neglect a cough or cold which is easily subdued if taken in time becomes, when left to itself, the forerunner of consumption and premature death. Inflammation, when it attacks the delicate tissue of the lungs and bronchial tubes, travels with perilous rapidity; then do not delay, get a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, the medicine that grasps this formidable foe of the human body, and drives it from the system. This medicine promotes a free and easy expectoration, subdues the cough heals diseased parts, and exerts a most wonderful influence in curing consumption, and other diseases of the throat and lungs If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the syrup according to direction.

PEIXOTO AND THE REBS.

Rear Admiral Benham Fails to Bring About Arbitration.

BOTH SIDES ARE PERVERSE

And Are Going to Fight Out the War to the Bitter End—The Insurgents More Confident Since Their Recent Acquisition of the Sinews.

RIO JANEIRO, Jan. 29.—Despatches from New York refer to the alleged success of Rear Admiral Benham's mediation, and to the consequent readiness of both sides to submit their differences to arbitration. References in question were based upon press reports published in the United States. The truth is that no understanding has been reached either with Rear Admiral Benham's or anybody else, assistance. Reports of an agreement between President Peixoto and the insurgents to submit their differences to arbitration are falsehoods without even the color of fact.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—A despatch dated Buenos Ayres says that Rear Admiral Benham has failed to bring President Peixoto and the insurgent leaders to any understanding as regards arbitration of their differences. Both sides are determined to fight out the trouble to the end. The insurgents claim to be able to bring the war to a close within a few weeks. Their recent acquisition of money and arms going a great deal to give them greater confidence.

MICHAEL DAVITT'S REPLY.

Answer to a Letter From Chicago in Connection With the Cronin Case.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Michael Davitt has written a letter to J. R. Mullen, of this city, in reply to a communication from the latter. Mr. Davitt's letter is dated at Ballybrack, County Dublin, and in substances is as follows:

"You ask me three questions, namely:

"1. Did you see Le Caron's suppressed letters, which gave the names of three assistants?

"2. If so, who were they, and why not give their names to the public even at this late day?

"3. Was the name of P. H. Cronin, M.D., among them?

"In reply permit me to say, (1) I did not see any such letters or any of the spy's documents. Neither did Mr. Parnell or any member of the Irish party. The judges decided that these particular letters should be seen by Sir Henry James, on behalf of the Times, and by Mr. Asquith (now Home Secretary), on behalf of Mr. Parnell and the other traversers, and these were the only persons who were engaged in the special commission who possessed the information which you ask me to impart.

"2. If it had been otherwise and such letters had been inspected by Mr. Parnell or myself or any other Nationalist, under a pledge of secrecy, it would be impossible to reveal the information thus obtained without incurring the stigma of dishonorable conduct.

"3. This question is already practically answered by my reply to your first question. I can, of course, only express my belief, in the absense of absolute information on the point, and I have always been convinced that Dr. Cronin was one of Le Caron's confederates. These newspapers which have said I denounced him as a 'British Spy' simply lied."

NEW HOME RULE SCHEME.

Proposed From the Headquarters of Unionism—Its Conditions.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The Gladstonian weekly journal, the Speaker, gives from what it terms a trustworthy source the outlines of a plan for Irish Home Rule proposed from the headquarters of Unionism and favored by eminent Tories of this place. The paper says: It is now under consideration by both sections of the Irish party with a view to making it the Unionist plan for solving the question at the general election.

The proposals summarized are: Abolition of Dublin Castle and the lord lieutenancy, formation of five great national councils, two for England and one each for Ireland, Scotland and Wales; endowment of a Catholic university for Ireland and establishment of four provincial councils in Ireland similar to the English county councils.

The Speaker calls it a daring and very ingenious scheme, well baited, especially for English and Roman Catholic consumption.

THE EGYPTIAN QUESTION.

The Khedive Did Not Foresee the Indignation His Criticism Brought Forth.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The Daily Telegraph still devotes much space to the discussion of the Egyptian question. Its Cairo correspondent says that from the serious tone of the remarks of exalted English officials it is supposed that Great Britain is meditating some severe measure to assert her authority. This view is not endorsed by Riaz Pasha, who informed the Telegraph correspondent that the Khedive stoutly disclaimed the intention of offending England. "The Khedive criticized only one regiment," said Riaz Pasha, "and did not foresee the storm of indignation, which utterly astonished him."

BISMARCK AND THE EMPEROR.

The Veteran Ex-Chancellor's Visit Divested of Political Import.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—As more details of Prince Bismarck's short sojourn in Berlin are ascertained it becomes plainer that the reconciliation was carefully divested of political import. It is now known positively that Bismarck's private conversation with the Emperor lasted but ten minutes and that Caprivi did not talk with him at all.

Count Herbert in Favor.

VIENNA, Jan. 29.—The appointment of Count Herbert Bismarck as German Ambassador to this court as a first result of the reconciliation between his father and the Kaiser, is regarded here as a very possible event.

London Financial Market.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The rates of discount last week were 2 for three months and 11.2 for 30 days. Gold was not in demand. The silver market was disturbed by the further weakening of the price. On the Exchange the revival of business continued, although buying was still confined chiefly to the professional dealers, there being no demand from the public. American railroad securities were dull, although showing a slight upward tendency.

UNITED STATES TARIFF DEBATE.

Lumber on the Free List—The Barley Question Again Before the House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—On Saturday the House went into committee to consider the Wilson Tariff bill. There was pending when the House took a recess on Friday an amendment offered by Mr. Boutelle (Rep., Maine), substituting the lumber schedule of the McKinley bill for the corresponding section of the Wilson bill, the lumber section being under discussion.

Mr. Boutelle read from a letter written by Sir Charles Tupper when the Mills bill was pending, showing that the passage of that bill would surrender a duty of nearly two millions on lumber alone for the benefit of Canada.

Mr. Boutelle's amendment was defeated —79 to 112. Mr. Oates' (Dem., Ala.) amendment, proposed yesterday, raising the duty on lumber, was defeated—Yeas, 20; nays, 82.

Mr. Wilson, chairman of the Committee on Ways, offered an amendment increasing the proposed duty on barley and hops from 20 per cent. to 25 and 35 per cent., and Mr. Payne (Rep., N.Y.) moved to make the rate 30 cents a bushel. Mr. Lockwood (Dem., N.Y.) argued against the proposed amendments. He spoke of the Committee on Ways and Means having sanctioned the putting on the free list of wool, iron and coal; and yet, within the last hour propositions came from that committee to advance rates. It was proposed now, he said, to put a prohibitory duty on barley. He lived within two miles of the Canadian border and knew that the duty on barley or any other agricultural product did not help the American farmer one cent.

Mr. Payne argued in favor of increasing rates on barley and appealed to the committee to give the farmers protection on it.

Finally, as the hour for taking the recess drew near, leaving the amendments as to barley undisposed of, the chairman decided that in his opinion those amendments would come up for action to-day.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—There will now be a cessation for a time of tariff talk in the House and members will address themselves for three days this week to the mysteries and perplexities and pros and cons of the income tax. The McMillan bill upon this subject, reported to the House Committee on Ways and Means last Wednesday, will be submitted to-day as an amendment to the Wilson customs bill, so as to unite in one measure all the schemes for raising revenue aside from the sales of bonds. Some of the leaders of the House have taken little or no part in the tariff debate will doubtless be heard on this proposition.

To Clear Out Officials.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—It is semi-officially announced that between now and the beginning of the new fiscal year, July 1 next, the resignations, with possibly a few exceptions, of all the old chiefs of divisions in the Treasury Department will be called for by Secretary Carlisle. The first bureaus, it is said, that will next receive attention are the Internal Revenue Bureau and the Comptrollers of the Currency Office.

Will Not Get Off Easy.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 29.—The International Law and Order League is not inclined to let the Corbett-Mitchell matter drop. Rev. Clarence Greeley, general agent of the league, says that he is informed by his attorney in Jacksonville that Manager Bowden is afraid to let the Supreme Court pass on Section I, Chapter 66, of McClellan's digest of the Florida decisions. This section, he says, and the one following fix a good round penalty for principals and all promoters. Mr. Greeley has advised President Conolly, of the Jacksonville League, to carry the matter to the Supreme Court in case the Governor does not, and at the expense of the International League.

The Coebett-Jackson Fight.

WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., Jan. 29.—Prominent citizens of Superior and Duluth are taking steps to secure the Corbett-Jackson fight. The purse can be raised without difficulty and the fight can be held at a place where the State authorities cannot interfere. Opposite the two cities and connected with them by ferries is a strip of land called Minnesota Point. It is under federal jurisdiction and the federal authorities have never interfered in pugilistic affairs.

No Revolution in Cuba.

HAVANA, Jan. 29.—It was reported last night that a revolution had started in the wester part of the island and that five thousand men had joined the movement against the Government. An inquiry, however, elicited a statement from the authorities that there is no truth whatever in the report. The Government has received despatches from the alleged revolted districts stating that everything is quiet there.

Colored Man Attempts Suicide.

BUFFALO, N.C., Jan. 29. — Eugene Wicken, a colored man, on Saturday jumped from a third storey window of a boarding house, with suicidal intent. A compound fracture of the right leg, left leg broken above the knee, three ribs fractured, left arm broken, right hand almost completely broken off, and numerous outward bruises and probable internal injuries comprise the effects of his action. He may live.

World's Skating Record.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 29. — The world's record for half mile at skating was won on Saturday by John S. Johnston, of Minneapolis. His time was 1.16 4-5, smashing the record of 1.22 made by him at Minneapolis last season.

Catholic Bishop Charged With Libel.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 29.—Bishop Bonicum, Catholic Bishop of the Lincoln diocese, was arrested on Saturday on complaint charging criminal libel filed by Father Corbett, a priest of the same diocese, stationed at Palmyra, Neb.

Redmond's Proposed Amendments.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Mr. John Redmond, leader of the Parnellites, said in an interview yesterday that he would move in the House of Commons two amendments to the address replying to the speech from the throne. One amendment would deal with the question of amnesty for political prisoners. The others would censure the Irish Government for not making greater efforts to prevent evictions and jury packing.

No Hope for Vaillant.

PARIS, Jan. 29.—The Pardons Committee, after examining the appeal of Vaillant, has decided to let justice take its course. President Carnot has intimated that he will not interfere. It is rumored that Vaillant will be executed directly after the return of Deibler, the Paris headsman, to the capital. Deibler is in Lyons, where he will behead Busseuil to-day.

CHAPTER III

STARTLING FACTS.

Ex-purser and his senior partner in their own trap.

For some time past these two men have been worrying very much about Key and Reference Books, and what they have been pleased to term "American Shallowness." And they have falsely charged other business colleges with furnishing same to their students.

The fact is that the only Keys and Reference-Books used in Belleville, as these men state, are used and have been used, and advertised for use by these very men. The following are quotations from their own advertisements, word for word.

"The Canadian Accountant"—"Schools and Authorities ordering the WORK are given liberal discounts. Teachers using the work are furnished with a Key"—"Robinson & Johnson".

"The Canadian Accountant"—"By the Principals of Ontario Business College." "One of the Principals visited various colleges of the United States to GATHER the AMERICAN IDEAS of ACCOUNTING"—Robinson & Johnson".

"The student is assigned his desk", "A guide is put in his hand and he opens accordingly".—"Robinson & Johnson".

"The Canadian Accountant"—Teaching the WORK are furnished with FORMS and RESULTS of the VARIOUS SETS".

These men use and make their students use IMPORTED Text-Books and printed Keys. N.B.—In the city of Belleville where the text-book with the KEY and Reference and GUIDE is published, there are forty students of the Belleville Business College holding positions as Teachers, Book-keepers, Stenographers and Clerks. How does this compare with their 13 in Rochester?

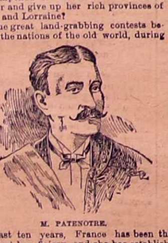
THE FRENCH COLONIES.

THE REPUBLIC'S DOMINIONS NOW GIRDLE THE WORLD.

How France Has Again Risen to the Rank of a Great Power—Its Ambassador Second in Rank at Washington—Great Strides in 23 Years.

The second ambassador ever sent by a foreign nation to the United States was M. Patenotre, the representative of the French republic. There was something of a race between M. Patenotre and Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador, as to which should be first recognized, but Sir Julian was the first to receive and present his credentials, which arrived one day sooner than those of M. Patenotre, and the former thus became the ranking member of the Washington diplomatic corps. But the French legation is second in rank. Ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary is the official title of the representative sent by the great European republic to the capital of the new-world republic, in whose establishment the old French monarchy played so important a part. The French ambassador is a man of long experience and has had a distinguished career.

How many readers know the mighty strides France has taken since the day twenty-three years ago when she lay prostrate before the German conquerors and was compelled to surrender her Rhenish frontier and give up her rich provinces of Alsace and Lorraine?



M. PATENOTRE.

In the great land-grabbing contests between the nations of the old world, during the last ten years, France has been the greatest beneficiary, and she has established herself firmly as the second great colonial power of the earth and no mean rival of Great Britain. In the grand partition of Africa France came off with the lion's share. She is also the potential force in Farther India, where she rules Anam, Tonquin, Cambodia and Cochin China, with the vast stretch of territory running to the Mekong river which she has just wrested from the King of Siam. France lost, over a hundred years ago, after a contest that bathed hither India in blood, all her possessions there except the four cities of Pondichery, Karikall, Chandernagore and Mahe. But she has become once more a great Asiatic power, now controlling 35,000,000 Asiatic people, with the certainty that Siam herself must soon come under French suzerainship. In Oceanica French aggression has been equally marked and the flag of the republic floats over hundreds of the isles of the sea. Her ownership of Madagascar, the second largest island of the world, long disputed, is now conceded by England and she has added the old Swedish possessions in the West Indies to her rich islands in that region.

In the proud old days when the French flag floated over so many lands that Louis could complacently speak of the loss of the Canadian empire as the "surrender of only a few arpents of snow," the French dominion was much less extensive than now.

A map of the world hanging on the wall at the French legations which shows the French possessions in both hemispheres is a startling lesson in modern political geography. Another shows the territorial possessions of all the Europaan powers, and is an illustration of the great world-grabbing race. The French possessions, which are shown in blue, are however, the most interesting feature of the map. France dominates all north-western Africa, with the exception of the despotism of Morocco, the republican failure of Liberia and a few British posts on the Gulf of Guinea. All Africa west of Tripoli, Fezzan, Lake Tchad and the bight of Biafra is French. The African possessions of the republic have more than 3,000,000 square miles and 30,000,000 inhabitants. The blue appears in all quarters of the dark continent. It commands the Straits of Babelmandeb and the lower courses of the Congo as well as all the winding way of the ancient Niger. Madagascar and its many neighbors sport the color. Southwestern Asia wears it. It spots Hindostan, and the south seas are dotted with myriad islands where the French flag floats. It has possessions in the Newfoundland Gulf and rich islands in the West Indies, and still holds sway over its oldtime properties in Guiana. In all parts of the earth the republic has something less than 4,000,000 square miles of territory and holds sway over 100,000,000 souls.

Kaiser William as Bandmaster.

There is, of course, nothing that Emperor William cannot do. He knows everything and can give the most learned a good start and an easy beating in all branches of art, literature, music, soldiering, or, in fact, any other matter that mortal man knows anything about. The military band of the footguards, which is about one of the best in Europe, was playing a march in the courtyard of the Schloss a few days ago, but the time did not suit William. He thought he knew more about it than the conductor, so he straightway emerged from the palace, stopped the music, and, taking the baton from the bandmaster's hand, conducted the piece himself to his own beating. The musicians were in a state of terror, but he warmed them up to galop time and when he had finished returned the baton to the conductor with the remark: "Next time you play that march play it properly. I have given you the correct time. Now, dismiss the band, go to barracks and play nothing else for a week." This order was religiously carried into effect, and for a whole week the guards knew no other melody but that eccentric march, which no man could keep step to.

Another matter which has upset William's equilibrium is the fact that the people stare at him in church. He doesn't like it and has now ordered that whenever he attends divine service all seats of which he can see the occupants, or from which he can be seen, shall be filled by soldiers so that he may not be disturbed in his prayers. The soldiers are compelled to look straight before them and any deviation of a head from the "eyes front" is punished by confinement to barracks and heavy pack drill.

A RAPID GROWTH

A Colt That Gains Over two lbs. a day for Only six Months

"Slick Wilkes," bay colt, Star and Snip, 2 white hind feet, foaled 16th June, '93, by Ashman, 2,18¾, a grand son of George Wilkes, dam a young pacing mare by "Moonstone," weighed on the morning of 16th June 1893, 92 lbs. At 2 months old it weighed 250 lbs, a gain of 158 lbs or 79 lbs per month. Did not weigh him at 1 month old. At three months old he weighed 325 lbs, a gain of 75 lbs for the three months; at 4 months old weighed 385 lbs a gain of 60 lbs for the 4 months; at 5 months old weighed 435 lbs, a gain of 50 lbs for the 5 months; at 6 months old weighed 458 lbs a gain of 25 lbs for the 6th month. I began driving this colt at 1½ months old along beside another colt older but drawing nothing, but at 2 months old it drew me on a high wheeled sulkey about ½ to 1 mile three to four days in a week. This colt had the best of care and began eating cracked oats along with the dam at about one month old and was weaned at 6 mo's old beginning to wean it at 5 1-2 mo's by letting it nurse three times a day and then twice a day after a few days and then once a day in all for two weeks feeding it about two quarts of cracked oats with a little flax seed meal. Since the 1st of January 1894 I began feeding it one egg per day and after one week two eggs per day and at the end of the one month will feed it 3 eggs on day and try also to get it to drink skim milk as well. The average gain per day for 6 mos. or 183 days was just 2 lbs. and in height 13 inches it being only 36 in. high at foaling time. The Dan is only 14½ hands high but the sire is 16½ hands.

A statement from the Allen Farm, Pittsfield, Mass., where Kremlin, 2.07¾, is owned giving the growth of 25 foals for 5 mos. showing the greatest gain for that time to be 2.06 lbs per day, while this colt at 5 mos. old shows a net gain of 2.15 lbs. per day, beating the greatest gain at the Allen Farm by 9-100 lbs per day. At 6¼ mos. old this was driven to Belleville from the Ashley Farm, 5¼ miles, and return along beside a yearling with 3 in the cutter, the weanling drawing nothing. On Thursday 11th, Jan., 1894 it was again driven to Belleville along beside a 4 yr. old, drawing nothing, and was driven down through the principal street at about a four minute gait. The colt is double gaited going faster at the pace.

HARFORD ASHLEY.

A Jury Composed of Women

Such an anouncement may seem strange but it is a fact. The jury was an immence one too, and the trial has lasted for many years. We refer to the trial of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. As to its merits, there has been an unanimous verdict rendered in its favor. Indeed it would be impossible to get together any number of ladies who had given it a trial who could come to any other conclusion. It cures ulcerations, displacements, removes the tendancy to concerous affections and corrects all unatural discharges. To those about to become mothers, it is a real boon for it lessons the pains and perils of childbirth, promotes the secretion of an abundence of nourishment for the child and shortens the period of confinement.

An Ice-Boat Regatta

TO THE EDITOR ONTARIO:—Few of our citizens are aware of the existence of the magnificent fleet of ice boats, which with their white wings spread, manoeuvre daily between the Deaf and Dumb Institute and the bridge. A more beautiful sight can scarcely be imagined, than to see between fifteen and twenty of these swift and graceful craft speeding in all directions over our bay, the resources of which for manly sport and practical enjoyment, are not confined to summer suns and halcyon weather. But the chief feature, upon which the owners of the glacial gliders are to be congratulated, is that they are built, equipped and rigged by the owners themselves during the leisure hours of the summer months thus developing the ingenuity and handicraft of those by whom these seasonable and energetic exercises have been taken up so enthusiastically. As the result of three years development, the owners now think that they have the fastest boats in Canada, and I would suggest that the people of Belleville give them an opportunity of testing their strength and speed, by holding a regatta, at which boats from all over Canada would compete. The ice never was in better condition, the boats are easily transhipped and if sufficient prizes were offered, a magnificent day's sport could be had, visible to all our citizens, from the bridge, which by the way, should be opened twice a day, to allow the passage of the ice boats. Everything that centralizes attractions in Belleville will help Belleville, but more than that, we are encouraging native talent, by appreciating the results of the work of "our boys." Let us offer a challenge cup.—Yours etc.

WHALEN PLEADS GUILTY

Sentenced to the Central Prison For One Year

This morning James Whalen, who was arrested charged with robbing Francis Taylor of $145, was brought before the police magistrate. His lawyer, Mr. Porter, stated that he intended to plead guilty, and he asked the P. M. to deal leniently with him. Mr. Flint dwelt upon the case at some length, giving Whalen some sound advice. He then gave him the privilege of accepting 2 years in the penitentiary or 1 year in the Central prison. He took the latter and will therefore spend the next year in Toronto.

Grand Concert

The many friends of Mr. Fred Adams, stage manager at the Queen's Opera House, intend tendering him a benefit concert on Monday Evening, Feb., 5th. The following artists have so far tendered their services: Mrs. Dr. Walker, Mrs Campbell, Miss May Price, Mr. Geo. Fax, Excelsior Quartette, Mr. J. Nevlin Doyle. Thos. Powers, Wm. McLean, Prof. M. J. Sage in fancy dances, Prof. Riggs and I. O. O. F. orchestra and others to be announced to-morrow. This will be undoubtedly the best concert of the season. Mr. W. N. Ponton will preside as chairman. Plan open at Riggs' at 10 a.m., Thursday. Prices 25, 35 and 50 cts.

Winners of the 1st Draw.

The Belleville curlers went to Peterboro this morning to compete in the primary competion for the Ontario Tankard. The local rinks this morning were drawn against Keene and defeated them by 7 shots. This afternoon they were playing against Campbellford.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

TWO CHURCHES HELD ANNIVERSARY SERVICES

Topics of Some of the Sermons Preached Special Music in Some of the Churches

HOLLOWAY ST. CHURCH ANNIVERSARY.

The anniversary services in connection with Holloway street Methodist church yesterday were largely attended, the edifice being filled both morning and evening. In the morning Rev. J. J. Rae of Napanee, preached a forcible sermon from Genesis III, 8: "And Adam and his wife hid themselves from the presence of the Lord amongst the trees of the garden." Many have tried to explore and explain the site of the garden of Eden. Three classes of persons are looking at it to-day, those who consider it a myth, those who consider it an allegorical picture, and those who consider it a real fact. He believed that the garden was an historic fact, that the tree of life was a real tree. We know that Adam sinned, and that God approached him in the garden and cried out "where art thou, Adam." Adam endeavored to hide him himself in the noonday from God. Many to-day are endeavoring to do as Adam did, hide themselves behind the trees of life. There is no height of privilege directly given but has its darkened shadows. We need to watch over the real gifts of God. Men are to-day being cursed with blessed things. Too much of a blessing is sometimes a curse. We forget to say "pray for us," when all things are congenial, but we pray when the sun is behind a cloud. Man must see God. As the flowers and the blades of grass turn upwards toward the sun, so the human soul calls for God and whatever intervenes between the soul and God must be removed. We say that Christianity is the greatest civilizer in the world to-day, but do we not find that men are hiding behind it? Christianity makes men wealthy, and wealth means affluence. It however often atheizes men. It is a gospel tree behind which men hide. Respectability grows on gospel soil, the gospel purifies down fallen man and woman and lifts them up to a higher plane. However it is one of the trees of the garden behind which men and women hide. The devil of decency is harder to cast out than the devil of filth. Knowledge is also a tree behind which men hide. Some of the learned men of the day are athiests. What we need to-day is to stand on the Godward side of the tree and God's light will permeate our souls. Stand upon the divine side of knowledge, wealth, and respectability, and they will become blessings and draw us nearer to God.

In the evening Rev. D. N. McCamus, of Millbrook, conducted the services. He gave a song sermon which was listened to with marked attention and was both interesting and profitable. His text was taken from Zachariah XIV., 7. During the discourse the Rev. gentleman sang some appropriate selections in a fine voice.

TABERNACLE CHURCH

Mr. Roberts of Cobourg preached anniversary sermons in the Tabernacle yesterday to large congregations. His morning subject was "The Transfiguration of Christ," the evening subject was Christ's words to sinking Peter "O you of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt." The sermons were very attractive presentations of truth, Mr. Roberts style is entertaining, as well as instructive and he held the attention of the people from first to last. Considerable interest was awakened by his coming as he has been invited to the pastorate of the tabernacle to succeed Mr. Crossley. It is safe to say the congregation was much pleased with their prospective minister.

ST. ANDREWS' CHURCH.

Rev. M. W. Maclean, minister of St. Andrews' church, occupied the pulpit morning and evening yesterday. At morning service Mrs. York played an exquisite organ voluntary and the choir rendered another in the evening. Mr. Maclean's texts were I John III, 23, "Believe on the name of His Son, Jesus Christ and love one another," and Genesis V, 24, "And Enoch walked with God, and he was not for God took him." Both sermons were impressive and practical, the first touching on the commandments of God and the character and will power of men; and the second touching upon the great age of the patriarchs and the divine purpose of perpetuating his testimony thereby—the translation of Enoch as the result of his exceptional life of active and faithful Godliness for this is implied in the words "walked with God." The church association will hold a free meeting in the lecture room to-night for which an interesting debate and literary program have been prepared. All are invited.

BRIDGE ST.

A missionary, be he from the home or foreign field, is always sure of a sympathetic audience in Bridge St. Church, and so the Rev. J. S. Trotter of the Reformed Episcopal Church found it yesterday morning. His text was Numbers 11—29. "Would God that all the Lord's people were Prophets and that the Lord would pour his spirit upon them," from the incident of the two elders who prophesied in the camp and therefore did a thing that was considered irregular. Mr. Trotter drew some lessons suited to the times, and then gave interesting incidents gleaned from a life of 35 years as a missionary in Africa.

The evening service was preached by the pastor, his subject being "Will a man rob God?" The music of the day was as follows: Morning anthem Gaurtell's "I will go to the altar." Evening anthem Lake's "O Lamb of God" with soprano solo by Miss B. Holton and after the sermon Mr. R. A. Shaw of Toronto sang the solo, "The soft southern breeze" from Barnby's Rebekha. At the opening exercises of Sunday School vocal solos, duets, trios or quartettes are sometimes rendered. Yesterday Mrs. J. F. Dingman, Miss N. Yeomans, Mr. J. T. Burns, and Mr. A. C. Baker sang "They dreamt not of danger" and Mr. R. A. Shaw of Toronto took the solo of "Fierce and Wild the storm is raging," the school of five hundred and eighty four voices joining in the chorus.

If, when crosssing a railroad track, you see a train approaching at thirty miles an hour—get out of the way as soon as possible. When threatened with chronic rheumatism or catarrh, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla persistently and patiently, and the danger will soon pass away.

County Officials

EDITOR OF THE ONTARIO—Dear Sir—The system of Government Patronage had a rascally original. When William the Conqueror and his successors had robbed the English people of their lands they then disarmed their victims. The people were not allowed to make any appointments to office, this right was reserved to the crown to preserve what they had stolen and protect what they called the family interests of royalty and nobility. This system was in force in the colonies until the United States gained their independence when the practice was abolished and the present system of popular election of officials was adopted. And this is the system some of the speakers denounced with great vehemence, at the ex-mayor's banquet held recently in this city. One of them assumed the sinister role of cursing. That "accursed American system of electing judges," I hope this will find no entering wedge here. And then the speakers commenced to laud the Canadian officials (themselves no doubt included.) Every one was a Simon sure, there was none like them for honesty and efficiency in all this wide world. This mawkish self adulation must have been refreshing to the audience. No doubt in view of the coming change they felt a little shaky and were ready to exclaim "Great is Government Patronage," "Great is Diana of the Ephesians." Our present system of crown appointments was imported into Canada to build up a government of lords, knights and aristocrats with all the odious class distinction this involves. By our system of appointing officials the noisy demogogue and unscruplous place hunters are given office for party service and talent, qualification and character are ignored and overlooked to make way for the tools of party. The County Council's appointees are a superior class of officials, the people know better who to select for their public servants than the Executive because the latter derives its information from the caucus, a few interested office seekers, who have "axes to grind." Depend upon it if this system of Government Patronage were once abolished it would put an end to one of the greatest sources of bribery and corruption at elections.

Now the Americans elect their officials and as it can never be to the interest of the people to uphold a bad system how is it that the Americans in reviving their constitution have never repealed this law and if it be bad one I would suppose that it would not take the shrewd Yankees more than a hundred years to find it out. But the truth is they know they have got a good thing and they intend to keep it. We hope the advocates of our system of making appointments to office will come out and show their hands and discuss this subject in the press,

Death of Mrs Sinclair

We have to announce to-day the death of Helen Sinclair, widow of the late Wm. Sinclair, who died many years ago in Napanee. Mrs. Sinclair was in her 89th year and for many years followed the profession of nurse. She had to take to her bed about 6 years ago and bore her affliction with great christian fortitude. She died on Saturday night at Jessie Wall's on Dundas street. She leaves no children and the only relatives known to us are Mr. James and Emily Fraser, Brunchew, and Mr. Peter Ross, Strathanwick, Scotland and Dr. George D. Kennedy of Roxborough, Mass. She was born at Inverneshire, Scotland and has resided in the city upwards of 50 years. The remains will be interred to-morrow afternoon.

How to Stop Nose Bleeding.

Obstinate nose bleeding is frequently one of the most difficult things to check. Several aggravated cases have lately occurred at the hospital of the University of Pennsylvania. As a last resort Dr. D. Hayes Agnew tried ham fat with great success. Two large cylinders of bacon were forced well into the nostrils, and the hemorrhage ceased at once. This is a very simple remedy, and one which should be remembered for cases of emergency in the country.

WALL PAPER ! !

With this advertisement we commence the Wall Paper campaign for 1894. We are going to make a hard, vigorous fight for a large season's business in interior decorations, and by watching this space closely in the future you will read some points on the practical decoration of a house that cannot help but put you in the way of fixing up your homes, cheaply yet sensibly and artistically too.

Apropos of this, our first hint to you is to not delay your work too long. With a stock like we always carry, and with the paper hangers with little or no work to engage them, now is the time to have your work done and done properly. At the present writing we are in a position to undertake at once the contract to paper 500 homes, including every room in the house from the kitchen to the Drawing Room and with the most modern effects.

We have the latest schemes known to the wallpaper world for facilitating the handling of wallpaper.

We can give you better attention now than during the rush later on in the Spring; we can give you as close prices as you can get any time during the present year, we can show you over 500 designs to choose from, and coupled with this you can get your paper hanger at an hour's notice.

Do not delay till house cleaning time; Paper Hanging is not simply house cleaning 'tis house decoration, Ay! and furnishing too. Think it over!

What Causes Pimples?

Clogging of the pores or mouths of the sebaceous glands with sebum or oily matter.

The plug of sebum in the centre of the pimple is called a blackhead, grub, or comedone.

Nature will not allow the clogging of the pores to continue long, hence,

Inflammation, pain, swelling and redness, later pus or matter forms, breaks or is opened, the plug comes out and the pore is once more free.

There are thousands of these pores in the face alone, any one of which is liable to become clogged by neglect or disease.

What Cures Pimples?

The only reliable preventive and cure, when not due to a constitutional humor, is Cuticura Soap.

It contains a mild proportion of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, which enables it to dissolve the sebaceous or oily matter as it forms at the mouths of the pores.

It stimulates the sluggish glands and tubes to healthy activity, reduces inflammation, soothes and heals irritated and roughened surfaces and restores the skin to its original purity.

This is the secret of its wonderful success.

For bad complexions, red, rough hands and shapeless nails, dry, thin and falling hair, scaly and irritated scalps and simple baby blemishes it is wonderful.

It is preserving, purifying and beautifying to a degree hitherto unknown among remedies for the skin and complexion.

Sale greater than the combined sales of all other skin and complexion soaps.

Sold throughout the world.

Ex-purser and his senior partner caught in their own trap.

For some time past these two men have been worrying very much about Keys and Reference Books, and what they have been pleased to term "American Shallowness". And they have falsely charged other business colleges with furnishing same to their students.

The fact is that the only Keys and Reference-Books used in Belleville, as these men state, are used and have been used, and advertised for use by these very men. The following are quotations from their own advertisements, word for word.

"The Canadian Accountant"—"School Authorities ordering the WORK are granted liberal discounts. Teachers using the BOOK are furnished with a Key"—"Robinson & Johnson".

"The Canadian Accountant"—"By the Principals of Ontario Business College". "One of the Principals visited various parts of the United States to GATHER the latest AMERICAN IDEAS of ACCOUNTING"—Robinson & Johnson".

"The student is assigned his desk". . "The guide is put in his hand and he opens books accordingly".—"Robinson & Johnson".

"The Canadian Accountant"—Teachers using the WORK are furnished with FOOTINGS and RESULTS of the VARIOUS SETS".

These men use and make their students use IMPORTED Text-Books and printed KEYS. N.B.—In the city of Belleville where the text-book with the KEY and Reference Book and GUIDE is published, there are forty students of the Belleville Business College holding positions as Teachers, Book-keepers, Stenographers and Clerks. How does this compare with their 13 in Rochester?

EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY.

The House of Lords Rejects the Marquis of Ripon's Proposal.

TWO CANADIAN SCHEMES.

The Minister of Defence for Australia Urging the Government to Aid the Cable Scheme and Canadian-Australian Steamship Line.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The House of Lords yesterday, by a large majority, rejected a proposal made by the Marquis of Ripon, Secretary of State for the Colonies, that the reasons of the House of Commons for disagreeing with the amendments made by the House of Lords to the Employers' Liability bill be considered. The Earl of Camperdown then moved as an amendment that workmen in trades, who have insurance funds to which their employers contribute, be allowed to contract out of the provisions of the bill. The amendment was agreed to.

The Earl of Dudley also proposed an amendment, that if the insurance funds were not sufficient and the employers were not willing to make up the deficiency, the workmen would have their remedy by action at ordinary law. This amendment was also adopted, and the House then adjourned.

CABLE AND STEAMSHIP SCHEMES.

Hon. Herbert Reid, of Australia, Urges Subsidies from Government.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Hon. Robert Reid, Minister of Defence for Victoria, Australia, is now here, and will leave for Canada in March. He will endeavor to establish reciprocal trade arrangements between his colony and Canada in connection with the other Australian representatives who will be present at the trade conference to be held in Ottawa in the month of June. At present he is strongly urging the Imperial Government to give its support in the way of subsidies to the Pacific cable scheme and to the Canadian-Australian steamship line. The Times in its colonial article is strongly in favor of Treasury aid for the Canadian-Australian steamship service, and says that the arguments in behalf of an Imperial subsidy remain unrefuted.

PRINCESS COLONNA DISAPPEARS.

The Daughter of Bonanza Mackay Disobeys the Order of the Court.

PARIS, Jan. 30.—The Princess Colonna, who has an action pending in the courts here for a judicial separation from her husband, has with her children and her mother, Mrs. Mackay, disappeared. On Thursday last there was a hearing of the case and the Princess' lawyer undertook in her behalf to permit the Prince to see the children the next day at the Hotel Brighton, where the Princess resided. The solicitor for the Prince wrote a note to the representative of the Princess, asking him to fix an hour when the children could be seen. The Princess' lawyer replied that it had been found impossible to allow the Prince to see the children on that day. Prince Colonna subsequently went to the hotel and was informed that the Princess, her children and Mrs. Mackay had suddenly left the hotel on Thursday. Their destination was not known to any of the hotel people. Prince Colonna then sent a telegram to the hotel at Mentone, where the court had authorized the Princess to reside with the children until April 15, and received an answer that the Princess was not there.

The Prince's lawyers, in view of the Princess' non-compliance with the order of the court allowing the Prince to see the children, expect that the judges will revoke their decision conferring upon the Princess the provisional guardianship of the children.

American Legation in Rome Burglarized.

ROME, Jan 30.—Burglars Sunday night forced an entrance into the American Legation, No. 13 Via Nazionale, by breaking locks. The thieves broke open the safe and the desks of the Minister and Consul-General and then set fire to all the papers in the offices. A number of archives were completely destroyed and others partially burned. The offices present a scene of ruin. The motives of the thieves, and there is considerable doubt of their being ordinary burglars, in so wrecking the offices and destroying papers, especially the archives, is inexplicable.

All the newspapers comment on the attempt to loot and burn the legation. They agree that it is difficult to imagine what could have been the incendiary's motive. The police are criticized for their lack of vigilance in the neighborhood of the legation. The police official who is in charge of the investigation said: "Doubtless the persons who set fire to the offices may have had another aim than theft. It is surprising that they respected everything except the documents."

Wanted to See the Execution.

PARIS, Jan. 30.—A report was in circulation Sunday night that Auguste Vaillant would be taken to the guillotine yesterday morning. Early Sunday night a crowd began to gather in the vicinity of the Place de la Roquette, where all the executions in Paris take place, and as the night wore on the crowd increased in numbers until every place of vantage was taken. It was the usual crowd that gathers at executions and was composed principally of the lowest classes of Paris. Considerable indignation was expressed when it was learned that Vaillant was not to be put to death yesterday. The Government intends to make sweeping arrest of anarchists and to detain them in prison until after Vaillant is executed.

Balfour Not Yet Extradited.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—A despatch from the British consul at Buenos Ayres states that the delivery by the Argentine authorities of Jabez Spencer Balfour, who is wanted in England to answer for his connection with the Liberator Building Society frauds, has been postponed until the Attorney-General decides as to the legal proceedings. The consul affirms that, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding, Balfour has no money with which to make a fight against extradition.

Servian Dynasty in Danger.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The Odessa correspondent of the Daily News says that important communications concerning Servia are passing between Russia and Austria, presumably with a mutual view to a change of the Servian dynasty. Public and official feeling in Russia has been disgusted by the Obrenowitch scandals and is verging noticeably in favor of the pretender, Prince Karageorg.

GOSSIP FROM OTTAWA.

Judge Rose Seriously Ill—A Manitoba Member in the City.

OTTAWA, Jan. 30.—His Honor Judge Rose is lying seriously ill at his home in Hintonburgh. It is reported that the illness is developing all the symptoms of typhoid fever. He was taken ill while going home on Saturday and fainted several times while enroute to Hintonburg.

Mr. Larivere, M.P. for Provencher, Manitoba, returned to the city yesterday from Montreal. He states that the Federal ministers have not consulted him in regard to the Northwest Schools difficulty, and he has not offered them any advice in the matter, desiring to hold himself free to discuss whatever action may be taken regarding it.

Lord and Lady Aberdeen left for Quebec carnival yesterday. As their Excellencies will be at Quebec on Saturday, Feb. 3, the usual skating and tobogganing party at the Government House will not be held on that day.

Sir Thomas McIlwraith gave a luncheon party at the Russell yesterday. Those present were Sir John Thompson, Sir Adolphe Caron, Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Lord Ava and Sandford Fleming, C.M.G.

Mr. A. A. Stewart, ex-Reeve of Kenyon township, Glengarry, while digging for gravel in his hen house, unearthed a crock containing $3,870 in gold. His forefathers were known to possess gold.

THE QUEBEC CARNIVAL

Formally Opened in the Absence of Lord Aberdeen by the Mayor of Quebec.

QUEBEC, Jan. 30.—In the absence of the Governor General and the Lieutenant-Governor, the duty of officially opening the carnival devolved on His Worship the Mayor of Quebec, who, accompanied by the president and members of the Executive Carnival Committee, Hon. H. G. Joly, Secretary E. Dorion and Mr. L. P. Pelletier, arrived at the ice fortress and, ascending the steps, was presented by Mr. Berlinguet, on behalf of the construction committee, with the keys of the fortress. His Worship accepted them in the name of the Governor-General, to whom he promised to deliver them on his arrival, and in a brief but neat speech thanked the executive committee for the good work they had accomplished and cordially welcomed its visitors to the ancient city.

Last night the ice fort and redoubts were illuminated by powerful electric lights. These ice structures were all aglow, lights of all colors being displayed in prominent places hanging from battlements and towers and shining through the portholes. The Union Jack floats on the glorious pile, whilst the French and American standards unfold their three colors to the breeze from the angular towers. Fully 3,000 people viewed the unequalled sight. The Parliament buildings were illuminated for the occasion, as were also the Citadel bastions.

The Basilica square was packed with an enormous crowd attracted there by the magnificent display which the illuminated statues rendered under the glare of the electric colored lights hanging from the green-studded columns erected in the centre of the ice group.

A PLOTTER ARRESTED.

General Manigat Will Not Begin the Revolution in Hayti at Once.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Jan. 30.—General Francois Manigat, who has been plotting to start a revolution in Hayti, was arrested yesterday as he was leaving Kingston to board a vessel which had brought arms and ammunition for him from an American port. Manigat and his men planned to go on this vessel to Hayti and begin hostilities at once.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The Haytien Minister here said yesterday that he had received no news from his Government concerning the letter said to have been written to President Hippolyte by the United States Minister Smythe. The Minister said that if the story was true he is sure that he would have received full information. As it is, he did not believe there was a word of truth in the story. His advices regarding the political situation were to the effect that everything was quiet and there were no fears of another revolution.

Struck by a Train.

CHATHAM, Ont., Jan. 30.—A. E. Prescott was driving with a young Lady, Miss Leitch, from Blenheim to this city last evening. They had reached the point on the concession line this side of Blenheim, a mile and a quarter from that town, where the Erie and Huron railway crosses the highway, when the regular train north came along. Prescott decided to risk crossing the track in front of the approaching train, but the lady, believing it would be too unsafe, endeavored to restrain him and at last used force to hold the horse back. It was no use. The man urged the animal on, and just as the wagon reached the rails the engine struck it. The vehicle was shattered, the horse maimed so that it had to be killed, and both occupants of the rig thrown out. Miss Leitch was hurled several rods away into a ploughed field, escaping with but few injuries. Prescott, however, fared worse. He sustained injuries which will prove fatal. His skull was fractured and his leg and side frightfully lacerated. The train brought the injured man to this city, and he was at once taken to the General Hospital, after a brief examination by Drs. Hall and R. V. Bray.

Another Site for the Fight.

AMHERSTBURG, Ont., Jan. 30.—A number of prominent residents here and a few others from Detroit and Windsor have formed a club to be known as the Bois Blanc Island Sporting Club. It is their intention to offer a $30,000 purse for the Corbett and Jackson fight, to take place on Bois Blanc Island, situated directly opposite here.

The Proposed Railway Amalgamation.

TORONTO, Jan. 30.—President Mackenzie, of the Toronto Street Railway Company, who has just returned from Montreal, says there is no truth in the report circulated that there was a conference in Montreal on Friday in which the amalgamation of the Toronto and Montreal Street Railways and the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company was effected.

HOME RULE REVIEWED.

The Hon. Edward Blake Addresses a Montreal Audience.

THE STRUGGLE TO BE KEPT UP

Until the Object of the Irish and English Home Rulers be Obtained—Hon. Mr. Blake to Sail Again for England on February 10th.

MONTREAL, Jan. 30.—Hon. Edward Blake, member for South Longford in the Imperial Parliament and one of the leaders of the Irish party, addressed an audience of nearly 2,000 people here last night on the Home Rule question. Mr. Blake was attended by a large number of distinguished Irishmen, including Hon. John Costigan, Secretary of State for Canada, Solicitor-General Curran, Hon. James McShane and many others. Mr. Blake was presented with an address and in response made a long and eloquent speech, in which he reviewed the progression of the Home Rule bill. He declared that the Irish party in alliance with the English Liberal party would keep up the struggle until Home Rule was obtained. The Irish party, however, would maintain its independence, and in order to do so they counted upon the national support of the Irish at home and abroad. Mr. Blake made a strong appeal to all the friends of the Home Rule cause to render assistance, as the sum of $45,000 was required annually for expenses. Canada had already nobly done its part, and he believed that the subscriptions this year would show a large increase. Mr. Blake's remarks were loudly applauded. At the close $1,400 was collected to assist the cause. Mr. Blake left here to day for Boston, where he will speak to-morrow evening. He will sail for England on February 10th.

DAN CAMPBELL'S DEATH.

No Sensational Facts Leak Out in the Evidence.

GEORGETOWN, Jan. 30.—At the adjourned inquest on the death of Daniel Campbell held here yesterday, Walter Campbell, brother of deceased, and his sister Mrs. Nathaniel Brown, gave evidence touching the circumstances surrounding Daniel's death, corroborating the evidence given at the inquest last week.

Several other witnesses were examined but nothing could be elicited to place the case in unusual prominence. John Howson, a farmer living near the town, stated that the Campbell's had started the row on Christmas Eve, but he did not see Daniel receive unusually severe handling.

Three or four young men well known in town seem to be deeply implicated in the affair. It is reported that two witnesses have been held on the charge of perjury. The town hall was well filled, the people from the country are taking a deep interest in the case. Walter Campbell appeared with cuts on his face and a bandage over his eye, the results of the Christmas eve set to.

He said deceased was struck a stunning blow in the face, knocked down and trampled upon by the crowd, who then threw them both bodily out of the barroom. They rushed up to the house of Mrs. N. Brown, sister of deceased, followed by a threatening crowd shouting, "Take him in or we will kill him!" Witness recognized three young men well known in the town, and said they seemed to be leaders of the mob.

All the evidence taken goes to show that Dan Campbell undoubtedly met with foul play.

Constable Bradley was very much annoyed at the course the evidence took, and unless the remaining witnesses tell straight stories, other evidence will be secured and something startling may be looked for.

There seems to be great difficulty in eliciting from the witnesses any facts of importance in connection with the case. The authorities, however, will not let the matter rest.

LEGISLATION IN NOVA SCOTIA.

Measure Introduced to Abolish the Upper Chamber—Council Members Pledged.

HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 30.—In the Legislative Council yesterday the Leader of the Government, Hon. George Murray, introduced a measure to abolish the Upper Chamber, and which was read the first time on motion to refer it to the select committee.

Hon. Dr. Parker, Conservative, moved in amendment that the bill be given a three months hoist. This was under discussion when the House adjourned.

In the House assembly the Government brought in correspondence showing that 13 of 21 members, constituting the Council, were pledged in writing to vote for its abolition. The majority of these are now either shirking the responsibility or violating their pledges outright.

Destroyed by Fire.

HAMILTON, Jan. 30.—Yesterday the brick house on Sanford avenue, occupied by Rev. Andrew Goebel, a retired German minister, was entirely destroyed by fire, together with most of its contents. Mr. Goebel and family escaped uninjured and succeeded in saving a portion of their furniture. The house was insured for $2,000 and furniture for $800. Loss on house about $2,500 and on the contents $1,000.

LION'S HEAD, Ont., Jan. 30.—The saw and flour mills, owned by Messrs. Moore & VanDusen here, were consumed by fire on Sunday. The property is covered by insurance to the amount of $2,500.

Frozen to Death in a Storm.

HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 30.—Cornelius and James Power, two of the crew of the Gloucester schooner Ed. P. Bynton, while at St. John's, Nfld., last week, got permission to go to their home, Toad's Cove, for a couple of days' visit. They drove part of the way and then set out on foot to cover the rest of the distance. As they did not reach home searching parties set out and found their bodies on the road, they having been overcome in the storm and frozen to death.

We cannot tell how that poor boy suffered in all those years. Physicians did not effect a cure. At last I decided to give him Hood's Sarsaparilla, as my druggist recommended it. In about two weeks the Sarsaparilla began to have effect. The sores commenced to heal up; the flesh began to look more natural and healthy. Then the scales came off and all over his body new and healthy flesh and skin formed. When he had taken two bottles he was entirely free from sores, having only the scars to show where they had been. KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the east of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deleterious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and though its act on is thorough in cases of costiveness never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowels like a violent purgative. It invigorates the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney disease scrofulous and all diseases of the blood female weakness, &c. &c Price $1.00 Sample bottle 10 cents. HE IS A GRAND OLD MAN

Toronto Star—Ontario may well be proud of her Premier, Canada's Grand Old Man. He has done a noble work for the province and is a sturdy patriot, upholding the honor, integrity and capabilities of his country with unfaltering faith and ringing declarations.

Sir Oliver Mowat has lived an active life, and has not spared himself in the service of his country. He has grown old, and yet in his advanced years he is able to speak for an hour and a half, dealing vigorously with political questions of the day.

Well may his party applaud and revere him, and even the members of the P.P.A. cannot help but admire him for the fearless, outspoken position he took in opposition to them.

HOW COULD IT BE CARRIED OUT?

How does the County Council propose that the change relative to officials shall be carried out? Who, for instance, would appoint the license inspector for West Hastings, the Belleville council, Sidney Township council or the council of Trenton? For the inspector acts for those three municipalities. The sheriffs and registrars act for the whole county of Hastings. Which body, then, would appoint them, the county council or the Belleville city council? If on the other hand the elective system is proposed how could it be carried into effect? Would a special election be held for these officials? If so the cost of electing them would at least equal the amount of their salaries. They could not well be elected at the time of Provincial elections, for these come at no stated time, and one may occur within a few months after another. Moreover many counties are divided into two or more constituencies so that a vote of the whole county on one official would be difficult to obtain. Nor could they well be held at the time of municipal elections. Each township, town, village and city holds its own nominations and elections separate from those of all others, while the cities and some towns are as independent of the county as one county is of another. How would nominations for sheriffs etc., be made then? The election of these officials would require a new and elaborate elective system that would entail a heavy expense It is safe to say that the election of these and other officials in the States costs more than the total salaries all of them receive. Why should such an expensive, and wholly reprehensible system be introduced into Canada, when our method of appointment secures us better officials and a better administration of justice than the American elective system?

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Hon. W. L. Wilson, author of the famous Wilson Tariff Reform Bill, puts the essential difference between a protective tariff and a revenue tariff in this crisp, biting, true form:—"When a law compels me to contribute my just quota to the support of government, it is taxation; when it compels me to contribute to the support of any private enterprise, it is robbery. The first is tariff for revenue; the second is tariff for protection."

Boiled Peas Excellent

An ancient story tells of two unfortunates who were condemned to make a long pilgrimage with peas in their shoes. The feet of one of them at the end of the journey were terribly sore and swollen. His companion's were not hurt in the least. Being asked the reason he replied, "I boiled my peas." Wise man. Why should men women and children make the prilgrimage of life with pains and aches troubling them, not only in their feet, but all over when a simply remedy will effect a cure. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is potent to cure dyspepsia, "liver complaint," skin disease and kindred troubles arising from the same source.

LITERARY NOTES

"Sustained Honor: A story of the war of 1812," being vol. 10 of the series of Columbian historical novels, by John Musick, (Funk & Wagnall's Company, New York, London and Toronto, 11 Richmond street west). The historical matter in this volume pertains to the period embraced in the Administration of Presidents Jefferson, Madison and Munroe. The novel, which is interwoven with the history, adds the charm of romance and renders the book peculiarly interesting, as well as instructive. The book deals with the remote and direct causes of the war of 1812 between the United States and England The title, "Sustained Honor," is derived from the victory of the war party over the peace advocates. Canadian readers of the volume will have to allow something for the exuberance of American patriotism, but with this allowance made the story gives an interesting and readable view of the incidents that clustered around and helped to form the events of that period. The book is finely illustrated. The forthcoming volumes, "Humbled Pride: A story of the Mexican war," and "Union: A story of the great rebillion and of events to the present day," will complete this admirable series—in all twelve volumes, covering the entire history of the United States down to date.

Cottolene
A SHORTENING.

Down the street through the busy way
A lady passed on marketing day.
Who, pausing at a grocery store,
Stepped quickly in at the open door.
With bated breath and anxious mien
She queried: "have you COTTOLENE?"

The grocer, leaving off his work,
Interrogated every clerk;
But none up to that time had seen
An article called "COTTOLENE."

"What is it?" said he to the dame,
"That answers to this curious name.
What is it made of? What's its use?
My ignorance you'll please excuse."

"You're not the merchant for my dimes,
I see you're quite behind the times.
For COTTOLENE, I'd have you know,
Is now the thing that's all the go,
An article of high regard;
A healthful substitute for lard.
Its composition pure and clean;
For cooking give me COTTOLENE."

As from his store the lady fled,
The grocer gently scratched his head—
On his next order, first was seen,
"One dozen cases COTTOLENE."

Untold Misery—What a Well Known Commercial Traveller Suffered and How he was Cured

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & CO. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confidence that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery believing that one persistent use of it will cure dispepsia.

TO OPPOSE THE BILL.

Thirty-Six Democrats Said to Be Against the Wilson Tariff.

BUT THE MEASURE IS SAFE.

Friends of the Bill Satisfied That It Will Require More Than That Number to Defeat It—The Knights of Labor and the Bonds.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The number of Democrats in the House who it is now understood will oppose the tariff bill with the income tax added is 36. New York will contribute 14 of this number and the remainder will be furnished by scattering votes from New Jersey, Pennsylvania and other State delegations.

The friends of the tariff bill are not prepared to believe that 36 Democratic votes will be cast against it, but 36 negative votes they claim will not defeat the measure. It will be necessary that at least 52 Democrats join with the Republicans in order to defeat the tariff bill, presuming that 352 members are in their seats when the bill is put upon its passage.

The answer of President Dole to Minister Willis' demand for detailed replies to the allegations made in the letter which Mr. Dole refused to withdraw has been received at the State Department and will be sent to Congress in a day or two with several letters from Minister Willis.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Yesterday General Secretary McGuire, of the Knights of Labor, on their behalf, obtained from the Supreme Court of the district of Columbia a subpœna addressed to the marshal of the district, directing him to serve the same upon the Secretary of the Treasury, citing him to appear before the Supreme Court and make answer to the bill asking for an injunction that was filed there yesterday.

The service of this process, it is said, is necessary in order to properly acquire jurisdiction of the case, and is also necessary as it gives notice to all intending purchasers of the bonds of this suit and if purchased by them they cannot, in case the bonds are declared to have been illegally issued, claim to be innocent purchasers.

Mr. Carlisle is required to put in an appearance in the case on the first Tuesday in March next and to plead or answer before the first Tuesday in April.

Independent of whether Judge Coxe grants or refuses the injunction prayed for in the bill filed yesterday, proceedings under this subpœna will go forward, and in case Judge Coxe's decision is adverse to the petitioners an appeal will eventually be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States. In case an appeal cannot be taken in time to prevent the issue of the bonds, the bill will be amended so as to prevent the payment of interest thereon.

THE MINERS' RIOTS.

Large Supplies of Dynamite Supposed to be Secreted Near Heidelberg.

BRIDGEVILLE, Pa., Jan. 30.—A tour of the riot district was made by a reporter yesterday, arriving at this place. At every point there is a nervous expectancy. At Heidelberg, near Woodville, the village was to all appearances almost deserted. Heidelberg is the headquarters of the leaders of the riotous element.

Three groups of anarchists are located at this place. Meetings were held every night last week and it was at these meetings that the plans of Saturday's disastrous work were concocted.

It is said that large supplies of ammunition and dynamite have been secreted near Heidelberg by the foreigners. A squad of deputies will probably search the shanties occupied by the Huns, Poles and Slavs.

It is learned at this place that another call for deputies has been issued by the constable at the Bishop Coal Co.'s mine at Ridgeway. It is also reported that serious trouble is momentarily expected among the miners at Coal Centre, Washington county.

MANSFIELD, Pa., Jan. 30.—Hostilities have broken out in a new source. The rioters are now directing their attention toward the Cherry mines at Hayes' Station, at Panhandle railroad. At this place, which is about four miles from Mansfield, are situated the mines and tipple of Morris McCue. J. J. Boyle is manager of the works.

When the mines assembled for work yesterday their attention was attracted to a notice posted on the blacksmith shop announcing that unless the miners quit work and went home they would be assaulted. A meeting of the miners was held and a vote resulted in favor of obeying the mob, and all went quietly to their homes.

Some rioters fired upon Tom McMahoney, boss of the Cherry mine stable, last evening. He was standing by the barn at the time. The bullets rattled harmlessly against the timber by his side. A report comes from McDonald that the rioters have threatened to burn the Robbins and Reeds stores at that place.

Returned After Many Years.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Jan. 30.—George Donnemy, son of Peter Donnemy, of Conshohocken, was stolen from his parents' house over 20 years ago when he was but 13 months old. The father spent considerable money but was unsuccessful in finding the boy, and both he and his wife have since died. On Saturday the missing boy, now a man, returned to his former home having discovered his identity from an uncle that had just died, and who had stolen him from home. He has lived all these years in Newburg, Ohio.

Over a Steep Embankment.

COMO, Col., Jan. 30.—A severe wind and snowstorm has prevailed here for 36 hours and there are no signs of its abatement. Trains on the Union Pacific line are blocked. The rotary snowplough, pushed by two engines, struck a broken rail near Como Monday, and the plough and one of the locomotives went over the embankment, rolling over three times and landing 150 feet from the track. The engineer, conductor and fireman received severe injuries.

The Governorship of Ohio.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—A special from Hamilton, Ohio, says: Ex-Governor James E. Campbell is in financial difficulties. There seems to be a singular fatality about the office of Governor of Ohio, for the present governor, McKinley, who was governor some years ago, fell into financial difficulty soon after he was beaten by Campbell, and later Governor Foster lost his fortune by the collapse of the institutions of which he was the chief spirit.

IN THE GERMAN REICHSTAG.

Discussing Financial Reform in Regard to Bourse Transactions.

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—In the Reichstag yesterday Count Posadowsky, Imperial Secretary of the Treasury, introduced the Financial Reform bill. Count Posadowsky, referred to the Bourse, Tobacco and Wine Tax bills as essential features of the Government's scheme. Finance Minister Miquel spoke in support of the measure. If the Reichstag now rejected the bill some such measure would reappear. Perhaps in the future the Reichstag would itself demand the bill. Count Zulimberg Stirum spoke in support of the bill.

Count Posadowsky said certain members of the House hoped to damage the bill by securing a postponement of its discussion until after the single bills connected with the financial reforms had been fully dealt with. This was a tactical move which, instead of injuring the Imperial Government would benefit it. Among the opponents of the bill were some who demanded that a higher tax than the one proposed be placed on Bourse transactions. The members, he added, must consider that it would be imprudent to fell a tree for the purpose of obtaining its fruits.

With regard to the charge that the Government had interfered or was interfering with the Reichstag's supreme right of granting or refusing the budget supply, Count Posadowski said it had done or said nothing having that tendency in the successive bills. The Government, he concluded, recognized the Reichstag's right to place a veto on expenditure.

Dr. Lieber, the Centrist leader, declared that the Centre party continued to stand on the clausuala frankenstein. He admitted that the bill was not exactly against the clausula, but said he considered that the moment was not opportune to carry out its provisions. The Centre party was in favor of cutting down the budget as far as possible. It would not agree to grant reforms for a term of five years, preferring that a permanent arrangement be made. Herr Richter also opposed the bill.

THE BRAZIL INSURRECTION.

Government Earthworks Captured by Rebels—Admiral Benham's Comment.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 30.—Early on the morning of the 24th instant a strong force of insurgents landed on Bom Jesus Island, under cover of a fire from their launches, and captured the earthworks held by the Government troops. One field gun and a quantity of ammunition also fell into their hands. Enough prisoners to load one of the launches were made by the insurgents. It is reported that 25 were killed and 70 wounded.

There is no basis whatever for the report that Rear Admiral Benham, commanding the American squadron here, is acting in an official capacity in the attempt to bring about a settlement of the troubles of arbitration. That he is seeking to bring the troubles to an end is true, but he is simply acting as a private citizen in the negotiations. Admiral Benham's comment on the negotiations is that Admiral Da Gama asks too much and Peixoto will concede too little. There are renewals of the reports that the insurgents have made further gains in the State of Parana.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 30.—The Minister of Justice, representing Peixoto, engaged to meet Admiral Benham officially at the American Consulate. The admiral, attired in full uniform, was at the Consulate at the appointed time, but the Minister of Justice did not appear. Admiral Benham waited for an hour, and as the Minister had not then appeared he left. An hour later an orderly from the Ministry went to the Consulate and said that the Minister of Justice was engaged elsewhere that day but did not tender an apology for his absence. All the officers and men of the American fleet are fairly wild over the discourteous treatment accorded Admiral Benham by the Minister.

British Grain Trade.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British grain trade says: "English wheats are dull. In London the average price is 27s 4d per quarter. Foreign wheats are firm. American flat. Corn, February shipments, is quoted at 18s 3d. At Monday's market English wheats were unchanged. The market for foreign wheats was, firm for Russian, steady for American and dull for Californian. The last mentioned was quoted at 28s. Flour was a shade stiffer. Grinding barley was 6d dearer. Oats on the spot rose 6d. Corn, both flat and round, was held for 3d advance.

The Mutiny in the Cameroons.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Mails from the Cameroons give some additional details of the recent mutiny of the native police in that colony against the German authorities. The uprising is said to have been caused by the sub-governor's order that the wives of several native policemen be flogged. The order had hardly been executed before the disturbances began. A force of the police broke into the Government House and shot down a judge whom they mistook for the sub-governor. The judge died within a few hours.

Monson's Injunction Dissolved.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The Court of Appeals has dissolved the injunction granted by the High Court of Justice in the case of Alfred John Monson against Madame Tussaude & Sons, limited. In this case Monson, who was the principal in the Ardlamont mystery, sought to restrain the defendants from exhibiting a wax effigy of himself and secured an injunction to that effect in the High Court of Justice.

Rosina Vokes Dead.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Rosina Vokes, the well-known English actress, died at Torquay, Devonshire, Saturday. A few months ago she was compelled by ill-health while making a tour of the United States to break up her company. She returned to England in the hope that her health would be benefited, but her hopes were not realized.

Reductions in Officers' Commissions.

VIENNA, Jan. 30.—The War Office announces that henceforth a reduction will be made in the commissions granted yearly to officers in the reserves. This is an evidence of the strong belief in official circles in the continuance of peace.

Smallpox Increasing in New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Smallpox is still raging in this city and the health authorities are alarmed at the outbreak of the contagion, which is not confined to any one quarter of the metropolis. A number of new cases were reported to the health authorities yesterday.

Grand Trunk Stocks.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Grand Trunk stocks are on the ascendency in consequence of the suggestion that the Canadian duty on coal is to be reduced.

THE FRENCH COLONIES.

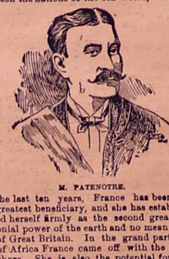
THE REPUBLIC'S DOMINIONS NOW GIRDLE THE WORLD.

How France Has Again Risen to the Rank of a Great Power—Its Ambassador Second in Rank at Washington—Great Strides in 23 Years.

The second ambassador ever sent by a foreign nation to the United States was M. Patenotre, the representative of the French republic. There was something of a race between M. Patenotre and Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador, as to which should be first recognized, but Sir Julian was the first to receive and present his credentials, which arrived one day sooner than those of M. Patenotre, and the former thus became the ranking member of the Washington diplomatic corps. But the French legation is second in rank. Ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary is the official title of the representative sent by the great European republic to the capital of the new-world republic, in whose establishment the old French monarchy played so important a part. The French ambassador is a man of long experience and has had a distinguished career.

How many readers know the mighty strides France has taken since the day twenty-three years ago when she lay prostrate before the German conquerors and was compelled to surrender her Rhenish frontier and give up her rich provinces of Alsace and Lorraine?

In the great land-grabbing contests between the nations of the old world, during the last ten years, France has been the greatest beneficiary, and she has established herself firmly as the second great colonial power of the earth and no mean rival of Great Britain. In the grand partition of Africa France came off with the lion's share. She is also the potential force in Farther India, where she rules Anam, Tonquin, Cambodia and Cochin China, with the vast stretch of territory running to the Mekong river which she has just wrested from the King of Siam. France lost, over a hundred years ago, after a contest that bathed hither India in blood, all her possessions there except the four cities of Pondichery, Karikall, Chandernagore and Mahe. But she has become once more a great Asiatic power, now controlling 35,000,000 Asiatic people, with the certainty that Siam herself must soon come under French suzerainship. In Oceanica French aggression has been equally marked and the flag of the republic floats over hundreds of the isles of the sea. Her ownership of Madagascar, the second largest island of the world, long disputed, is now conceded by England and she has added the old Swedish possessions in the West Indies to her rich islands in that region.



M. PATENOTRE.

In the proud old days when the French flag floated over so many lands that Louis could complacently speak of the loss of the Canadian empire as the "surrender of only a few arpents of snow," the French dominion was much less extensive than now.

A map of the world hanging on the wall at the French legations which shows the French possessions in both hemispheres is a startling lesson in modern political geography. Another shows the territorial possessions of all the Europaan powers, and is an illustration of the great world-grabbing race. The French possessions, which are shown in blue, are however, the most interesting feature of the map. France dominates all north-western Africa, with the exception of the despotism of Morocco, the republican failure of Liberia and a few British posts on the Gulf of Guinea. All Africa west of Tripoli, Fezzan, Lake Tchad and the bight of Biafra is French. The African possessions of the republic have more than 3,000,000 square miles and 30,000,000 inhabitants. The blue appears in all quarters of the dark continent. It commands the Straits of Babelmandeb and the lower courses of the Congo as well as all the winding way of the ancient Niger. Madagascar and its many neighbors sport the color. Southwestern Asia wears it. It spots Hindostan, and the south seas are dotted with myriad islands where the French flag floats. It has possessions in the Newfoundland Gulf and rich islands in the West Indies, and still holds sway over its oldtime properties in Guiana. In all parts of the earth the republic has something less than 4,000,000 square miles of territory and holds sway over 100,000,000 souls.

Kaiser William as Bandmaster.

There is, of course, nothing that Emperor William cannot do. He knows everything and can give the most learned a good start and an easy beating in all branches of art, literature, music, soldiering, or, in fact, any other matter that mortal man knows anything about. The military band of the footguards, which is about one of the best in Europe, was playing a march in the courtyard of the Schloss a few days ago, but the time did not suit William. He thought he knew more about it than the conductor, so he straightway emerged from the palace, stopped the music, and, taking the baton from the bandmaster's hand, conducted the piece himself to his own beating. The musicians were in a state of terror, but he warmed them up to galop time and when he had finished returned the baton to the conductor with the remark: "Next time you play that march play it properly. I have given you the correct time. Now, dismiss the band, go to barracks and play nothing else for a week." This order was religiously carried into effect, and for a whole week the guards knew no other melody but that eccentric march, which no man could keep step to.

Another matter which has upset William's equilibrium is the fact that the people stare at him in church. He doesn't like it and has now ordered that whenever he attends divine service all seats of which he can see the occupants, or from which he can be seen, shall be filled by soldiers so that he may not be disturbed in his prayers. The soldiers are compelled to look straight before them and any deviation of a head from the "eyes front" is punished by confinement to barracks and heavy pack drill.

TWO LITTLE GIRLS IN BLUE

Send Their Shoes on a Journey Across the Continent

In the Canadian Express office here are two little pairs of shoes that are destined to attain a wide celebrity. They are well worn, russet colored shoes that evidently have covered the feet of two girls of some six or seven years old. They were placed in the Express office at Troy, N. J. on Jan. 1st and sent forth on a trip across the continent. They are tied to an ordinary express message book, and are to be sent from office to office, each person through whose hands they pass being asked to write his name and, if he chooses, to inscribe some sentiment. The route is from Troy to Boston, Portland, Montreal, Toronto, Buffalo, Detroit, Chicago, San Francisco and home again to Troy Each office sends them on to the next office. As it has taken them a month to reach Belleville the trip will last many months yet. On the front of the book are the words: "Shoes worn by two little girls in blue from Troy, N. J." Around these shoes—apparently worn by twins—many pretty romances no doubt have been or will be woven. Some of the verses written in the book are amusing—one writes:

"Two little girls in blue,
Girls with lots of fame,
Two little girls in blue,
I wonder what's their name."

Another verse is as follows:

"Fryburg has no girls in blue,
Our girls are unknown to fame,
They cannot wear so small a shoe,
But they get there just the same."

Here's another:

"The White Mountains give greetings,
To the two little girls in blue.
And hope their hose covers up their toes,
Where the toes of their shoes broke through."

Some of the paper are embellished with drawings of various kinds. One artist drew in colors a very good caricature of one of the shoes. From Montreal comes something handsome. A young man from that city is represented as welcoming two young ladies in blue, supposed to be the two heroines of this adventure ten years hence. This is prettily painted in water color. Below is a picture of a beaver, snow shoes and lacrosse sticks, and three well expressed verses, the last one of which is:

"And now au revoir, mes cheres petitte amies,
And wherever you travel by land or sea,
May the girls who wore them ever be true,
Whether they're dressed in Red, White or Blue."

The shoes will be sent to Trenton to-night. Agent Thompson had not yet written anything in them but no doubt will jot down something handsome before they leave. When the book reaches Troy again it will be an autograph album well worth having.

A thermometer was last night stolen from the Wonderland.

It is the intention of some of our citizens to visit Quebec city whilst the winter carnival is being held.

Mrs. A. E. Fish, George St., has a rare freak in the form of a morning glory in bloom. There are two flowers now in bloom and several buds not yet developed. This is an odd spectacle for January 30th.

Belleville has a welcome addition to her population in the person of Mr. R. S. Muir and family who have moved into the city. Mr. Muir, who will reside at the corner of Ann and Forin Streets, assumes the management of the retail department of Mr. L. W. Yeoman's drug store. Mr. Muir comes highly recommended, and is thoroughly competent to conduct this large and successful business to even greater success. Mr. Muir will make a speciality of spectacles and glasses. He is a skilful optician, having devoted some years exclusively to this trade in Philadelphia and elsewhere. He comes from Walkerton, where he carried on a successful drug business.

Piano Tuning

Mr. Igelstrom,of Toronto, is in the city. Orders left at Orr's jewelry store or at Rigg's music store will receive prompt attention, . ltd

THE CITY COUNCIL

A SHORT BUSY SESSION HELD LAST NIGHT

The First Step Taken in Some Proposed Important Changes

The first business meeting of the city council was held last night, the following Aldermen having braved the fury of the storm: Mayor Walmsley and Ald. Clarke, Collins, Diamond, Doyle, Foster, Green, Hart, Landenberger, Lazier, Luscombe, Marshall, Moon, Petty, Ponton, Robinson, Shevlin, Starling and Wills.

Ald. Green, on a question of privilege, gave an explanation of his absence at the organization meeting, which was unavoidable. He said he would not have made this explanation had not several parties said he was absent on purpose to avoid his share of his responsibility relative to the appointment of committees. This was false, for he did not wish to shirk any responsibility. He was fully satisfied with what the council had done on that occasion, except that he thought Ald. Robinson should have been the chairman of the Executive. As to Murney Ward being without a chairmanship, they could not complain much, as that ward had the man who rules over all—the Mayor.

The Executive committee recommended the payment of a number of accounts. Also that the part of the Mayor's address that dealt with the bucket shop be referred to the Police commissioners for action thereon.

While the accounts were being passed seriatum Ald. Landenberger wanted to see and know all about such accounts as were not formally certified to. Against this Ald. Wills protested as wasting unnecessarily the time of the council. If Ald. Landenberger wanted to inspect these accounts he should come here a little earlier and look after them. There was no use of the committees investigating these and reporting on them if another investigation had to be held in the council.

Ald. Landenberger said every alderman had a right to look into all accounts.

This Ald. Wills admitted, but said it was useless for the committees to do their work if it had to be done over again in council.

The Public Works committee recommended that 50,000 feet or more of hemlock plank be purchased of James Collins at $10 a thousand, subject to inspection by the city surveyor and the chairman of the committee.

Ald. Doyle explained that the lowest tender last fall from the Rathbun Co. for pine lumber was $14 per thousand, and when this offer came in at $10 a thousand the committee thought it would be best to buy it.

Ald. Diamond said he had asked some experts about this and was advised that hemlock lumber did not last well, and therefore was not a profitable kind of material for sidewalks. Mr. Forin had told him that pine lumber at $14 was cheaper than hemlock at $10. Hemlock will split in dry weather so that the water can get in which rots it easily. If tenders were asked for they might be able to get this lumber for less. Last year they had a tender sent in for hemlock for $8.

Ald. Doyle said he had seen hemlock walks that lasted 10 or 12 years. On Alexander Street there was one section of pine and another of hemlock and one seemed to be in as good a condition as the other. But as no further word had been received from Mr. Collins he thought it as well to take no further steps that night. The report was then referred back,

The Water and Gas committee recommended that the iron pump opposite Merchants bank on Pinnacle street be removed.

Ald. Diamond said that a great many people used this pump, and he thought it would be better to put a platform around it and leave it there.

Ald. Wills thought the water was no good and that the pump should be removed.

Ald. Landenberger said sewage from the jail drained into the well, which made it unfit to use.

The report was referred back.

Under the head of inquiries Ald. Robinson asked what was the legal time for assessing the city.

Ald. Diamond said the assessment shall not commence later than Feb. 15th., and must end before the 30th of April, but it must commence after this year's council had been organized.

AMALGAMATING THE OFFICES.

Ald Robinson, seconded by Ald. Petty, moved that the offices of the street surveyor and assessor be amalgamated and that the salary for the combined office be $850. He said his object in moving this was to save the city money and at the same time give the men employed a better salary and more work. The street surveyor had very little to do in the winter when the assessing is done, and he could do this work then. He would then get more salary. Should the two offices be kept separate the salary attached to each should be less. He read a memorandum showing that in Peterboro the mayor got $600 and the 4 assessors got $125 each, or $1,100 in all, while Belleville pays $1,385 for this same work. Stratford pays for surveyor $600 and assessor $500. St. Thomas pays the city engineer $900 and he acts also as engineer of the fire department, say $550 as city engineer and $350 as fire engineer, while the assessor gets $350. Chatham pays the surveyor $500 and two assessors $400. Woodstock has no street surveyor, and the assessor gets $500. Brockville pays the surveyor by the day $1.75. Guelph pays their street surveyor $400, and $800 for the two assessors. He thought we could unite these two offices, give Mr. Hulme a better salary and save the city $535 a year.

Ald. Collins was opposed to the resolution. If the street surveyor did this work then he would have to neglect his work as surveyor, or else they would have to hire a man to look after the walks while he could not do so.

Ald. Diamond said he proposed to give this subject every consideration. But they must proceed regularly. This change could only be done by by-law and before that the matter should be referred to a special committee. Moreover he understood that there was another resolution to be submitted relative to some change in our assessment system and these two matters should be considered together. There was no use of pressing the matter that night and having a long discussion over it, as the resolution would be inoperative it passed, and when the by-law was submitted, the whole subject would have to be discussed over again.

Ald. Robinson said he wanted to proceed regularly, and if the change had to be made by by-law he supposed there was no use going on with the resolution. He had no objection to the matter going to a committee.

The question was left in abeyance for a time.

OUR ASSESSMENT SYSTEM.

It was then moved by Ald Lazier, seconded by Ald. Hart, "That the following aldermen, Diamond, Ponton, Robinson, Wills, and the mover and seconder compose a committee for the purpose of enquiring into and reporting on the present system of assessment,and equalization of property and collection of taxes and to prepare and report a by-law if thought advisable, altering and modifying such system as such committee may think advisable, with power to summons before it the assessor or any other official of the corporation having a knowledge of the matters so referred, or custody of any of the books or records of the corporation having reference thereto.

Ald. Lazier said it was the opinion of every ratepayer in Belleville that there was something wrong with our assessment and nothing had been done to remedy this evil.

The resolution was carried, and Ald. Robinson's resolution was referred to the same committee.

Ald. Starling moved that the council give the Fire committee power to dispose of one or both of the old hand engines. He thought he could dispose of one or both, and as these engines were of no use they might as well get rid of them.

Ald. Doyle thought one of the steam engines might as well be sold also,

REDUCTION OF WARDS.

Ald. Wills moved that a committee consisting of Alds. LaRoche, Collins, Ponton, Wills, Harte, Clarke and Robinson be appointed to consider the best means and most equitable way of dividing the city into four wards as provided by the Municipal Act and that such committee report the boundaries of the said four wards so a by-law may be introduced in accordance therewith; and that Ald. Ponton be convener of said committee.

The motion was adopted.

NOTICES.

Ald. Doyle gave notice of motion that the street surveyor be instructed to make an estimate as to the cost of extending Front street drain to opposite Curry's hotel.

Council then adjourned.

A Jury Composed of Women

Such an announcement may seem strange but it is a fact. The jury was an immence one too, and the trial has lasted for many years. We refer to the trial of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. As to its merits, there has been an unanimous verdict rendered in its favor. Indeed it would be impossible to get together any number of ladies who had given it a trial who could come to any other conclusion. It cures ulcerations, displacements, removes the tendancy to concerous affections and corrects all unatural discharges. To those about to become mothers, it is a real boon for it lessons the pains and perils of childbirth, promotes the secretion of an abundence of nourishment for the child and shortens the period of confinement.

JUSTICE vs GRATITUDE

An Interesting Debate Last Night at the Meeting of St Andrews Association

This Association held their regular fortnightly meeting last night. A varied and excellent program, consisting of instrumental music by Mrs. Biggar and Mrs. York, songs by Miss M. Smart, Mrs. Walker and Mr. Milne and social intercourse filled a very pleasant hour. But the chief feature of the entertainment was the interesting and well sustained debate upon Justice and Gratitude, the claims of the former being upheld by Mrs. D. M. Waters and Mr. Stewart Masson and of the latter by Mrs. Eva Rose York and Mr. W. N. Ponton. The text of the debate was the following story and the verdict of the audience, was in favor of Gratitude

A band of "White Boys" under a reckless leader, had become a terror to a whole district of Ireland. One night in the course of their depredations, they broke into a house to punish a man who had become obnoxious to them. The family however had been warned of their intended visit, and the husband was in safe hiding. Enraged at the escape of their intended victim, they tried in various ways to compel the wife to reveal his hiding place. But finding her at all risks determined not to do so, they began to use force and it seemed that the woman herself would be sacrificed. The leader however touched with her devotion, stood between her and his band, and at the risk of his own life, saved her from the danger. In the struggle, however, the mask fell from his face, and she saw his face and recognized him.

Question: What should she do? Should she deliver him to the authorities who were in search after him on account of the evil deeds of him and his band? or should gratitude for her own preservation keep her silent? In other words, should justice or gratitude prevail?

In Olden Times.

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action; but now that is generally known that Syrup of Figs, will permanently cure habitual conspitation, well-informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system.

THE PRIMARY COMPETITION

The Local Rinks Defeat Keene but lose to Campbellford

The primary competition in group No 1 for Ontario tankard began at Peterboro. yesterday morning. Five clubs were represented, Belleville, Campbellford, Keene, Lakefield and Peterborough. THE SWINDLER GREEN

He is Likely to Spend Some Time in Confinement

The Brockville Recorder of yesterday, in referring to the swindler who worked his game successfully here on three merchants, says:—It is altogether likely that Frank Green, alias Rogers, the escaped convict from Central Prison, who was recently arrested here for obtaining money under false pretences, will come up to-morrow for sentence, as he has already pleaded guilty. It is generally supposed that he will be sentenced to a term in the Kingston Penitentiary, but that he will first serve out his unexpired term in the Central. Some correspondence in connection with the case has already taken place between the police magistrate and Warden Massey of the Central.

THE LATE MRS. SINCLAIR

Her Remains Were This Afternoon Laid Away at Rest.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Helen Sinclair, whose demise we noted yesterday, took place this afternoon. Services were conducted at the house by Rev. J. L. George, M. A., pastor of the John street Presbyterian church. The bearers were Dept. Sheriff Geo. H. Hope, J. F. Wills, Robt. J. Bell, A. Gillen, Wm. J. Thompson and John S. McKeown, who tenderly escorted the remains of their venerable nurse to their last resting place in the St. Andrews plot in the cemetery. A number of the members of Camp "Rob Roy," Sons of Scotland and the St. Andrew's society acted as pall-bearers, amongst them being James Harold, Thos. Rutherford, Wm. Tennent, Jas. Smith, A. T. Petrie, Geo. Keith, Hugh Walker, John McLay, Wm. Webster, D. M. Waters and D. B. Robertson. A number of wreaths were contributed, one by the St. Andrew's Society.

Sudden Death of a Horse

Recently a suit was entered in the County Court against Mr. Wm. Clarke, by Mr. Chas. Moore claiming damages for injuries to a horse sustained by a collision. Mr. Clark obtained a verdict. The animal was seized recently on behalf of Mr. Clarke and on Saturday was offered for sale, but no one offered to buy her. Whilst being taken to the stable she fell dead. A post mortem examination revealed the fact that the animal's lungs were both nearly gone. The animal at one time was considered a valuable one.

Missionary Meeting.

An interesting missionary meeting was held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Albert College. Mr. J. F. Livingstone, B. A., who is attending the Trinity Medical College at Toronto,gave an address. He is a graduate of Albert and will leave next year as a missionary to Africa, as a representative from Albert College. His address was an able one. He spoke of his future field of labor, its climate and the difficulties of the work on account of the climate. Short addresses were delivered by Rev. E. Roberts, ex-president of the conference, and Rev. D. O. Crossley. Mr. Neal, president of the College Mission Society occupied the chair. The college chapel was filled. A collection amounting to over $8 was taken up.

A Remedy for the Grip.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the grip, is Kemp's Balsam, which is especially adapted to diseases of the throat and lungs. Do not wait for the first symptoms of the disease, but get a bottle and kept it on hand for use the moment it is needed. If neglected, the grip has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. All druggists sell the Balsam.

BURGLARY AT SHANNONVILLE

Wm Hawley, a Young Man, in the Toils for This Offence

County Constable Steele, of Shannonville, arrived in the city this morning having in charge a young man named Wm. Hawley, who is accused of burglary. On Friday night last the residence of Mrs. Edward Grills, of Shannonville was entered and a clock and a quantity of preserves, bread and meat were stolen. The constable worked assiduously upon the case and yesterday morning arrested Hawley for the offence. An entrance was effected by the breaking of a window in a shed in rear of the house and forcing a door. The clock was brought to the city and disposed at the second hand store of Mr. Caton for a small sum of money. This morning constable Steele took possession of it.

Hawley was brought before the P.M. this morning and after a trial was found guilty. As he appears to be somewhat mentally affected, the Magistrate after giving him some sound advice, sentenced him to 10 days in goal. Mr. C. E. Lyons defended the accused.

Anniversary Tea Meeting

Despite the blinding snow storm last night a large number attended the anniversary tea meeting at Holloway street Methodist church. The ladies prepared a bountiful repast of which all partook. After supper a platform meeting was held in the body of the church. Short addresses were given by Rev. J. J. Rae, of Napanee, D. N. McCamus of Millbrook and others. In addition to the music given by the choir the X. L. C. R. quartette were present and gave some suitable selections in fine style, and were encored at the conclusion of each number.

WALL PAPER ! !

With this advertisement we commence the Wall Paper campaign for 1894. We are going to make a hard, vigorous fight for a large season's business in interior decorations, and by watching this space closely in the future you will read some points on the practical decoration of a house that cannot help but put you in the way of fixing up your homes, cheaply yet sensibly and artistically too.

Apropus of this, our first hint to you is to not delay your work too long. With a stock like we always carry, and with the paper hangers with little or no work to engage them, now is the time to have your work done and done properly. At the present writing we are in a position to undertake at once the contract to paper 500 homes, including every room in the house from the kitchen to the Drawing Room and with the most modern effects.

We have the latest schemes known to the wallpaper world for facilitating the handling of wallpaper.

We can give you better attention now than during the rush later on in the Spring; we can give you as close prices as you can get any time during the present year, we can show you over 500 designs to choose from, and coupled with this you can get your paper hanger at an hour's notice.

Do not delay till house cleaning time; Paper Hanging is not simply house cleaning 'tis house decoration, Ay! and furnishing too. Think it over!

CHAPTER III.

STARTLING FACTS.

Ex-purser and his senior partner caught in their own trap.

For some time past these two men have been worrying very much about Keys and Reference Books, and what they have been pleased to term "American Shallowness". And they have falsely charged other business colleges with furnishing same to their students.

The fact is that the only Keys and Reference-Books used in Belleville, as these men state, are used and have been used, and advertised for use by these very men. The following are quotations from their own advertisements, word for word.

"The Canadian Accountant"—"School Authorities ordering the WORK are granted liberal discounts. Teachers using the BOOK are furnished with a Key"—"Robinson & Johnson"

"The Canadian Accountant"—"By the Principals of Ontario Business College". "One of the Principals visited various parts of the United States to GATHER the latest AMERICAN IDEAS of ACCOUNTING"—Robinson & Johnson".

"The student is assigned his desk". "The guide is put in his hand and he opens books accordingly".—"Robinson & Johnson,'.

"The Canadian Accountant"—Teachers using the WORK are furnished with FOOTINGS and RESULTS of the VARIOUS SETS".

These men use and make their students use IMPORTED Text-Books and printed KEYS.

N.B.—In the city of Belleville where the text-book with the KEY and Reference Book and GUIDE is published, there are forty students of the Belleville Business College holding positions as Teachers, Book-keepers, Stenographers and Clerks. How does this compare with their 13 in Rochester?

DOWN FELL THE SNOW.

High Winds and Much of the Beautiful in the Eastern Provinces.

THE CAPITAL SNOWED UNDER.

Rather a Stiff Breeze on the Beauport Road, Quebec—Two Chutes of the Canadian Pacific Elevator in New Brunswick Carried Away.

OTTAWA, Jan. 31.—The heaviest snowstorm since 1890 visited Ottawa yesterday. The fall of snow, according to the measurements taken at the Experimental Farm, was 22 inches. The heaviest snowfalls recorded at the farm are: Feb. 9, 1890, 8¼ inches in 24 hours; Jan. 12, 1891, 8 inches in 24 hours; Feb 8, 1892, 8 inches in 24 hours; Jan. 2, 1893, 8 inches in 24 hours; Dec. 16, 1893, 10 inches in 24 hours; Jan. 30, 1894, 22 inches in 24 hours. The storm played havoc with the train service both in and out of Ottawa. There was a bad blockade on the C. P. R. between here and Carleton Place. By noon not one train due in the morning had entered the city. The Winnipeg and Toronto trains, due early in the morning, reached here late in the afternoon. The Aylmer and Prescott roads were both closed up all day. No attempt was made to handle freight on the C. P. R. The handling of the snowstorm will cost the electric street railway about $5,000. They had all their branches running in the afternoon and did not leave sufficient snow on Sparks street to make a snowball.

QUEBEC, Jan. 31.—The wind was so strong on the Beauport road Monday night that it overturned the omnibus which runs on that route. The driver had barely time to unharness the horse when a fierce blast caught the vehicle up and deposited it in an adjacent field. A resident on the same road, while coming to town yesterday morning, was obliged in certain exposed spots to walk on all fours to escape being carried away and buried under the snow in the fields.

RIVER DU LOUP, Que., Jan. 31.—Terrific snow storms, accompanied by easterly gales, raged here yesterday, blowing at a velocity of 76, as reported by signal office at Father Point. Trains are blocked all over.

HALIFAX, Jan. 31.—The storm, which commenced early yesterday morning, developed into one of the worst experienced in this city for years. The fall of snow was not so great as during the big storm three weeks ago, but the wind blew harder and snow drifted more and packed in very solidly in places.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Jan. 31.—The storm which set in Monday night developed yesterday morning into the most severe of season. Two chutes of the Canadian Pacific elevator were carried away when the wind was blowing about sixty miles an hour. The chutes fell on the roof of one of the C.P.R. warehouses and damaged it. It is said that the storm caused damage of between $5,000 and $6,000 to elevator and warehouse.

THE STRESS IN THE NORTHWEST.

President Van Horne's Reply to Mr. Charles Braithwaite.

MONTREAL, Jan. 31. — Recently Mr. Charles Braithwaite, president of the Patrons of Industry of Manitoba, wrote a letter to President Van Horne, of the C.P.R., asking cheaper rates to Montreal and to Boston in view of the stringency existing among farmers.

President Van Horne in his reply said: "I have no doubt whatever as to the truth of the picture you draw of the condition of many of the farmers in the Northwest, but if you will enquire into the situation of the farmers in Kansas, Dakota, Washington and many other of the Western States, you will find that their situation is just as bad, if not much worse, and the same may be said of the farmers in England, Belgium and a large part of France and Germany. They have had hard times before, but nothing like the present. The financial situation is to-day about as bad as it has been at any time. There is an abundance of money in London, New York, and other financial centres, but confidence in everything is so shaken that those who have money will not use it nor lend it. There is no speculative market for wheat because money cannot be had for carrying grain stocks. The grain supply in Europe is, generally, short, but there is enough for present requirements—enough perhaps to last well towards the close of the winter—but when it is exhausted, our wheat will be wanted; and until then we are not likely to have much of a demand for export grain, and any reduction in our rates meantime would do no practical good; the company would only weaken itself by such a sacrifice, without helping anybody."

ON A CHARGE OF PERJURY.

A New Development in the Investigation of the Campbell Case.

GEORGETOWN, Jan. 31.—New features are gradually developing in the Campell case. Yesterday County Constable Bradley enlivened matters somewhat by placing under arrest Wm. Harwood on the charge of perjury. Harwood is one of the chief witnesses and one supposed to have led in the assault on the Campbell brothers. Harwood appeared before Magistrates Kennedy and Barber in the afternoon and was remanded till Monday, February 5th. No bail was forthcoming and the prisoner is still in the toils.

Strange Case of Sudden Death.

TORONTO, Jan. 31.—The police patrol took a young man to the General Hospital early yesterday morning. He had been riding on a street car, and at the corner of King and Sherbourne reeled and fell from his seat to the floor. The men on the car, thinking that he was intoxicated, called the patrol. When taken to the hospital he was in a dazed condition, and when asked his name murmured that it was Ross. The authorities could elicit nothing further and in a little time after he died. Ross was a young man about 27 years of age, with a dark brown moustache. He is 5 feet 6 or 7 inches in height. He wore a black fedora, a good blue overcoat with a velvet collar, and lined with material of a large check. His hair was cut pompadour and was of a dark brown color. From appearances one would judge that he was a salesman or clerk, as he was well dressed and his hands showed that he had not worked at anything laborious.

Protection for Motormen.

HAMILTON, Jan. 31.—The city council will petition the Ontario Government for the passage of an act to compel all electric street railway companies to provide shelters on their cars for the protection of motormen.

HOOPER AT THREE RIVERS.

Preliminary Investigation on Charge of Attempted Murder at Louiseville.

THREE RIVERS, Que., Jan. 31.—In the case of the Crown vs. Hooper, charged with attempted murder of his wife by drowning at Louiseville, which came up yesterday before Judge Barthe, the prisoner conducted his own defence, assisted by Mr. Richard Cooke, advocate, of Three Rivers, questioning the witnesses closely in English, which was translated by the court officials.

The witnesses were Holder, the steward of the steamer on which Hooper traveled with his wife from Kingston to Montreal; Doucett, the telegraph operator, and Boucher, the agent at Louiseville station; Morin, brakesman, who saw Hooper and his wife get off the train there on the opposite side to the station; Robitaille, the conductor, whose evidence was given at previous trial.

The Crown is represented by Messrs. McMaster, Cornellier and Denoncourt. The trial was adjourned until to-day when it is expected the case will be finished.

OTTAWA, Jan. 31.—J. N. Greenshields, Q.C., of Montreal, who was leading counsel for the defence in the recent trial, is in the city on Exchequer Court business. Speaking about Hooper's second trial, which takes place next June, he said that as far as he was aware at present the defence would have no new evidence to offer. He is of opinion that Hooper will again be acquitted, and ridicules the absurdity of a second trial. Hooper, he believes, will obtain as impartial a trial at Three Rivers as was given him at Joliette.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

Another Railway Deputation — Hudson Bay Co.'s Archives.

OTTAWA, Jan. 31.—A deputation from the town of Joliette and St. Jacques arrived here yesterday. They interviewed the Minister of Railways with the object of getting the projected Great Northern Railway to run through the above towns, and they had an interview with Hon. John Haggart regarding the same.

The Department of Agriculture has been endeavoring for some time past to ascertain from the Hudson Bay Company whether they are willing to hand over to the Department, for safe keeping, what archives they may have. The intention of the Department is to classify them and make them accessible to the future historian of the Northwest, or any other persons interested in consulting them. So far the Department has not got a report from the Hudson Bay Company.

The interview in which one of the officials who accompanied Mr. Van Horne to Ottawa last week, gave out certain views of the company with respect to the Dominion, did not purport to be an interview with Mr. Van Horne, and that gentleman has not therefore repudiated it, as has been insinuated. Mr. Van Horne, on being asked in Montreal if he denounced the immigration policy of the Government, replied that he made no statements about it, except in private, which is a confirmation, not a denial, of the well known fact that the C. P. R. are strongly opposed to the immigration policy of Mr. Daly's department.

A MISER MURDERED.

Old Man Found with His Skull Smashed—Murdered for His Money.

ST. JOHN, Nfld., Jan. 31.—An old miser of St. Johns, named Wm. McCarthy, a junk dealer, was brutally murdered Monday night, robbery being the motive of the crime. McCarthy was a familiar though unpleasant figure here in years past. He owned a lot of tenements in the west end of the city, and occupied one himself.

On Monday the place was closed about midday but caused no remark. No sign of life was visible, so it was thought he was out. Near ten o'clock a man was seen to leave the place and walk rapidly away. The door remaining open neighbors entered, and found McCarthy dead with his skull smashed. All the money in the place was abstracted. It is thought the murderer was there all afternoon and killed him early, as the body was perfectly cold, and then waited for night to escape unnoticed. The police are baffled and no clue has been obtained.

Prohibition Convention for Quebec.

MONTREAL, Jan. 30.—At the annual meeting of the Quebec branch of the Dominion Alliance, held here yesterday, Mr. F. S. Spence, of Toronto, on behalf of the Dominion Alliance, brought forward the proposal to hold a great prohibition convention in Montreal this summer. The proposal was agreed to by the alliance. It was also decided to obtain the views of leading members on the advisability of having a plebiscite in Quebec.

Daughter of Senator Tasse Weds.

MONTREAL, Jan. 31.—Vicomte George De Beaujeu was married yesterday to Miss Emma Tasse, daughter of Senator Tasse, the well-known French-Canadian journalist and editor of the Minerve. The ceremony was performed by Archbishop Fabre in the Bishop's chapel. A large and fashionable gathering was present. A dinner was afterward's served at Senator Tasse's residence and the happy couple subsequently left for New York.

Mrs. Stringer's Claim Paid.

SIMCOE, Jan. 31.—Mrs. Stringer, widow of the late T. R. Stringer, who was killed in the railroad accident at Battle Creek in October last, has received a cheque through the hands of A. D. Ellis from the representative of Mr. Bell, solicitor of the Chicago & Grand Trunk railway, in full settlement for the loss of her husband. The settlement was amicably and satisfactorily made.

St. Lawrence Canal Tolls.

MONTREAL, Jan. 31.—At the annual meeting of the Montreal Board of Trade, which was held yesterday, a resolution was adopted instructing the council of the board to press upon the Dominion Government the advisability of freeing the St. Lawrence canals from the present tolls and to give assistance to the harbor of Montreal. A number of Montreal members spoke strongly in the matter.

Fined for Defrauding the Customs.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 31.—It is said that a fine involving several thousand dollars has been inflicted upon a local importer who was caught undervaluing his goods coming through the London custom house. The whole stock of the importer was seized pending the investigation. The fine has since been paid and the matter has been kept quiet.

Arm Severed by a Circular Saw.

Admiral Da Gama Opposes the Advance of American Ships.

COMPLICATION IS COMPLETE

The Puerile Insurrection in Brazil Takes a Decidedly Interesting Turn — Should America Retaliate it will Precipitate a General Squabble.

RIO JANEIRO, Jan. 31.—The American bark Julia Rollins, Capt. Kiehne, from Baltimore, and the American schooner Millie J. H., Capt. Suttis, from New York, were fired on by the insurgents during a night foray last week.

On Saturday the American bark Amy, Captain Blackford, from Baltimore, the American bark Good News, Capt. Myrick, also from Baltimore and the Julia Rollins gave notice that they were going to the Sandre piers. Admiral Da Gama learned of this and notified Admiral Benham that if the three vessels attempted to go to the pier referred to he would fire on them.

Admiral Benham at once replied that the vessels would go to the piers if they wanted to, and that he would send the Detroit to protect them.

On Monday morning five insurgent tugs and armed merchantmen proceeded to the place where the American vessels were lying at anchor, and hovered about them, apparently waiting for them to get under weigh when they would fire upon them.

The Detroit hoisted her anchors, and with shotted guns steamed in beside the insurgent warships Trajano and Guanabora, both of which were lying close to the Good News. As the Detroit took up her position a shot from the Guanabora was fired at the Good News. The Detroit at once fired a six-pound shot across the bows of the Guanabora, whereupon the latter vessel replied with what is supposed to have been a blank cartridge. The Detroit then turned one of her guns upon the Guanabora and sent a small shell into her stern port, and was on the point of delivering a broadside at the insurgent ship when the Guanabora signalled that she would stop firing.

In the meantime an American citizen, G. M. Rollins, who has acted as the agent of Admiral Da Gama in the arbitration negotiations, had visited all three of the American merchantmen and offered to have them towed at the expense of the insurgents if they would not go to the piers. This the captains of the merchantmen agreed to. This arrangement was reported to Admiral Da Gama, on board his flagship, the Liberdade. He then said: "It is too late. The glass is broken. I must yield to this foreign fleet of superior force. I will resign and give my sword to the American Admiral."

Later in the day Admiral Da Gama called a council of his officers, expecting that all of them would seek an asylum on board the American fleet, but the younger officers would not yield.

Uncle Sam's Force is Mightier.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The important news contained in Admiral Benham's despatch to Secretary Herbert is to the following effect:—It seems that Admiral Benham lost patience with the insurgents' forces for their careless firing in the harbor of Rio. When Admiral Da Gama persisted in this course Admiral Benham yesterday cleared his decks for action. Admiral Da Gama did not choose to take the hint, whereupon Admiral Benham fired several shots across the bows of Da Gama's flagship. It is undershood this action was salutary and that the matter ended at that point. It is believed at the State Department that Da Gama would willingly court an engagement with the American naval forces so as to get out of his difficulty by surrendering to the United States. This in brief is the despatch, so it is said. The complications that may follow are regarded as likely to be serious. Our force at Rio is of course much stronger than that of the rebel Admiral.

It Will be a General Bout.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The Standard, in commenting on the news from Rio Janeiro, says the only question now is how far the Washington Government will approve and support Rear Admiral Benham's action. If the United States no longer abstains from interference between the two factions it says Great Britain and other interested countries will doubtless follow suit.

The Damage to the American Legation.

ROME, Jan. 31.—Official experts have appraised the damage done by vandals at the American Legation and Consulate here Sunday night. Many Americans and Italians have visited the legation and left their cards for Mr. Potter, the American Minister. Work in the different bureaus was resumed yesterday, order having been restored out of the chaos caused by those who perpetrated the outrage. The authorities have become convinced that the malefactors had no other motive than robbery in entering the premises. Baron Blanat, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, has made anxious inquiries as to the details of the attempt to destroy the legation by setting fire to it. His anxiety partly arises from the fact that his aunt occupied the upper story of the legation.

The Turkish Navy.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Capt. Egerton, the British naval attache, has, it is said, sent home from Canstantinople a very lamentable report on the present condition of the Turkish navy. He says the fleet, as an effective weapon of war, no longer exists. It is understood, however, that Capt. Egerton says the Turkish torpedo boats are capitally equipped and in excellent order, and that woe will certainly betide the Russians if they try carrying convoy troops across the Black Sea after dark.

The King of Denmark and Iceland.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—News has been received here to the effect that the King of Denmark has refused to sanction the new constitution of Iceland. The action of the King it is expected will lead to further large emigration of Icelanders to Canada in the spring.

South African Confederation.

"I Owe My Life to Hood's Sarsaparilla"

"Words are powerless to express the gratitude I feel toward Hood's Sarsaparilla, fo under God, I feel and know that to this medicine I owe my life. Twelve years ago began to bloat, followed by nausea at th stomach, and later with swellings of th limbs, accompanied by severe pain. Thi gradually grew worse until three years ago Physicians told me the trouble was

Caused by a Tumor

For several months I had been unable to retain any food of a solid nature. I was greatly emaciated, had frequent hemorrhages, and was satisfied the doctors were right in saying my life was nearly over. One day a friend suggested that I try Hood's Sarsaparilla; I did so, and for 3 or 4 days I was sicker than ever, but I kept on and gradually began to feel better.

I Began to Feel Hungry

Could, after a time, retain solid food, increased in weight, the saffron hue left my skin, the bloating subsided, and I felt better all over. For the past two years my health has been quite good, and I have been able all the time to do the housework for my family. After what it has done for me I never hesitate to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. OGDEN SNYDER, No. 10 Judson Street, Albany, N. Y.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

A PROLIFIC SOURCE OF DISEASE.—A trifling indiscretion in diet may lay the foundation of confirmed dyspepsia, and there is no fact in medical science more positively ascertained or more authoritatively asserted than that dyspepsia is the parent of a host of bodily ills, not the least of which is contamination of the blood and the maladies of which that is the direct consequence. Their original cause is however thoroughly eradicated from the system by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a medicine which only requires regularity and persistence in it use to cure dyspepsia and many other ills that arise from it. No deleterious mineral ingredient is contained in it, and though its act on is thorough in cases of costiveness it never produces griping pains in the abdominal region, or weakens the bowels like a violent purgative. It invigorates the system through the medium of the increased digestive and assimilative activity which it promotes and is also a most efficient remedy for kidney disease scrofulous and all diseases of the blood female weakness, &c. &c Price $1.00 Sample bottle 10 cents. THEY SHOULD BEGIN AT HOME

The Hastings County Council, in its session last week, manifested a cheeseparing disposition very similar to that shown by last year's council. As we remarked then, economy is all right in its place, but parsimony is never commendable. Some of the reductions made by the council were distinctly detrimental to the public interest, and such as no thoughtful man can endorse. But there was one item of unnecessary expense that the council did not cut down, but persisted in maintaining. This is the expense entailed by the needlessly long drawn out sessions of the council. At last week's session a discussion took place on this subject when many of the councillors admitted that the business of the council could be got through with in less time than is usually taken. Let anyone look over the report of proceedings and see what there is to keep the council sitting for five days. Two days, or three at the outside, would have amply sufficed for the transaction of all the business done. Every day the council sits it costs the county about $120. On Friday the business of the council was practically done, but in order to draw another day's pay an adjournment was made till Saturday morning, when the council sat for about half an hour and then adjourned. This sitting cost the county $114. It is a fact, moreover, that some of the councillors leave the city and return home on Friday night, yet draw their pay for Saturday.

Another saving could be affected by reducing the amount each receives to $2 a day instead of $3 as is now paid. This money is not meant to be a wage but merely indemnity for expense, and no councillor spends $2 dollars a day while here for expenses. City aldermen serve for nothing and devote much more time to public affairs than the county councillors. Jurors get only $2 a day, and everybody thinks that is quite sufficient. And it is quite enough for the councillors.

Again the number of councillors should be greatly reduced. It is absurd to have 38 men to do what little business the council has to transact—nearly half as many as are in the Provincial Legislature. Twenty-five men would do the work better and much cheaper. Yet a motion to ask the Government to reduce the number was voted down.

Now what is the amount of this unnecessary expense? If the sessions were reduced to three days instead of five a saving would be effected of $228 a session or $684 a year. If in addition the indemnity were reduced to $2 a day, the saving would aggregate $1026 a year. If besides this the number of councillors were reduced to say 25, the total saving would be $1260. This is a snug little sum to be needlessly squandered every year. Yet that it is needlessly expended admits of no denial. But as this kind of retrenchment would effect their own pockets the councillors will have none it. It is not by any means an edifying spectacle to see these men so solicitous in cutting everyone else down to the lowest possible point, but maintaining in this other instance what they themselves admit is a needless expenditure.

Boiled Peas Excellent

An ancient story tells of two unfortunates who were condemned to make a long pilgrimage with peas in their shoes. The feet of one of them at the end of the journey were terribly sore and swollen. His companion's were not hurt in the least. Being asked the reason he replied, "I boiled my peas." Wise man. Why should men women and children make the prilgrimage of life with pains and aches troubling them, not only in their feet, but all over when a simply remedy will effect a cure. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is potent to cure dyspepsia, "liver complaint," skin disease and kindred troubles arising from the same source.

LITERARY NOTES

Rev. J. M. Hodson's little book, "How to begin to live forever," is having a very extensive sale in the States, the work having gone through several editions. Though brief, the work is all wheat and no chaff, and every sentence is rich in condensed thought and fruitful suggestions. It was not the book of an hour, not the amusement of idle moments, but the ripe product of careful study and deep reflection. The book was written in Belleville while Mr. Hodson was pastor of Bridge St. Methodist church, hence it has a warm interest for Belleville people and should be in every home here. Rev. Mr. Hodson as a preacher is fast coming to the fore in the States, as may be judged from the fact that he was warmly invited, after six months trial, to become the successor of Rev. Dr. Deems, of New York. His many friends here will be very much pleased indeed to learn of Mr. Hodson's success in this respect, as well as of the popularity of his first—but it is hoped not his last—book. A. D. F. Randolph & Co., New York, are the publishers.

Mr. Mack the energetic representative here of the World Publishing Co., Guelph, is meeting with gratifying success in the sale of "The Practical Home Physician." It is a book that sells itself, for only a cursory inspection of the work is needed to convince anyone of its great value.

The Arena for February is a magnificent Midwinter issue, containing 164 pages. Among the contributors are Rev. M. J. Savage, Rev. Washington Gladden, D. D, Heinrich Hensoldt, Ph. D., Congressman John Davis, Stinson Jarvis, Rabbi Solomon Schindler, Helen Campbell, and Rev. Hiram Vrooman. The Editor contributes two important papers; one dealing with uninvited poverty, the other against medical monopoly. A striking feature is a Smyposium by six well-known American women on "Rational Dress for Women." This Smposium is profusely illustrated. Altogether, no Review of the month will be so attractive to progressive persons as the Midwinter Arena. The publishers announce that hereafter the Arena will contain 144 pages, making it the largest monthly Review published.

The Modern Invalid.

Has tastes medicinally, in keeping with other luxuries. A remedy must be pleasantly acceptable in form, purely wholesome in composition, truly beneficial, in effect and entirely free from every objectionable quality. If really ill he consults a physician; if constipated he uses the gentle family remedy laxative, Syrup of Figs.

Cottolene

A SHORTENING.

Down the street through the busy way
A lady passed on marketing day.
Who, pausing at a grocery store,
Stepped quickly in at the open door.
With bated breath and anxious mien
She queried: "have you COTTOLENE?"

The grocer, leaving off his work,
Interrogated every clerk;
But none up to that time had seen
An article called "COTTOLENE."

"What is it?" said he to the dame,
"That answers to this curious name.
What is it made of? What's its use?
My ignorance you'll please excuse."

"You're not the merchant for my dimes,
I see you're quite behind the times.
For COTTOLENE, I'd have you know,
Is now the thing that's all the go,
An article of high regard;
A healthful substitute for lard.
Its composition pure and clean;
For cooking give me COTTOLENE."

As from his store the lady fled,
The grocer gently scratched his head—
On his next order, first was seen,
"One dozen cases COTTOLENE."

Untold Misery—What a Well Known Commercial Traveller Suffered and How he was Cured

GENTLEMEN,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at at the time travelling for Messrs Walter Woods & CO. Hamilton, and I was treated by some of the best physicians in this country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confidence that the cure was complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery believing that one persistent use of it will cure dispepsia.

The proprietors of Parmelee's Pills are constantly receiving letters similar the following which explains itself. Mr John A. Beam, Waterloo Ont., writes "I never used anything that can equal Parmelee's Pills for dyspepsia. The relief experienced after using them was wonderful. As a family medicine they can be used in all cases requiring a cathartic.

The Manchester Ship Canal cost $75,000,000.

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specially upon the deseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that disease of almost every name and nature are driven from the body.' Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell, P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well.'

It is worse than madness to neglect a cough or cold which is easily subdued if taken in time becomes, when left to itself, the forerunner of consumption and premature death. Inflamination, when it attacks the delicate tissue of the lungs and bronchial tubes, travels with perilous rapidity; then do not delay, get a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, the medicine that grasps this formidable foe of the human body, and drives it from the system. This medicine promotes a free and easy expectoration, subdues the cough heals diseased parts, and exerts a most wonderful influence in curing consumption, and other diseases of the throat and lungs If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the syrup according to direction.

HIS AUTHORITY IS GOOD

Judge Coxe Sustains Carlisle's Right to Issue Bonds.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR TO APPEAL

The Secretary of the Treasury Also Defended in the Senate—Hawaiian Investigation Renewed — The Debate on the Wilson Bill Ends To-day.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Judge Coxe, of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, yesterday rendered his decision denying the application of General Master Workman Sovereign and General Secretary McGuire, representing the Knights of Labor, for an injunction to restrain the Secretary of the Treasury from issuing $50,000,000 gold bonds.

Judge Coxe's opinion also sustained fully Secretary Carlisle's right to issue gold bonds. The Knights of Labor will appeal.

The leading feature of the proceedings of the Senate yesterday was the speech of Mr. Sherman, who made a powerful defence of the authority of the Secretary of the Treasury to issue the bonds of which he had given notice, and solemnly declared that any attempt to impair the credit of the Government was not only unwise but unpatriotic.

Mr. Teller also spoke, admitting the legality of the issue of bonds for the purpose of maintaining the gold reserve, but declaring that the real intention of the Secretary was not in the letter and spirit of the law, but that he wanted bonds to provide him with money to pay the current expenses of the Government.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations yesterday renewed the Hawaiian investigation, P. W. Reader being on the stand. Mr. Reader resides in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and was a tourist in the islands at the time of the revolution. He testified concerning certain facts given him by Mr. Peterson, the Attorney-General. Lorin A. Thurston told Peterson, witness said, that the Queen was to be deposed and that Minister Stevens had said he would support the movement if properly announced. It was freely talked on the streets that members of the Advisory Committee said Mr. Stevens had promised to help the insurgents and that when a fair number of people would declare a provisional government he would recognize it as the government de facto. The pivotal point upon which the judgment hinges, contended Mr. Reader, is whether on January 14, 15 and 16 American lives and property were so imperilled that the marines had to be landed to protect them. No such condition he said existed.

Railway Managers Sat Upon.

The attempt made by American railway managers to have a specific tax imposed upon cars from Canadian roads coming into the States, has been most effectively sat upon by the committee.

The great tariff debate ends to-day, when Speaker Crispi, ex-Speaker Reed and Chairman Wilson will make the closing speeches. The whole day will be consumed by those three men.

The vote on the bill will be taken tomorrow. It will pass practically as it was reported by committee.

Locomotive Fireman Suffocated.

ELMIRA, N.Y., Jan. 31.—A train on the Tioga railroad struck a snow drift five feet deep last evening at Millerton, Pa. The snow was packed so hard against the cab door on the fireman's side that it was forced open. On emerging from the drift the engineer discovered that his fireman, George Case of Elmira, was missing. His body was found between the brake beam and one of the wheels of the tender. The appearance of the face indicated death from suffocation, probably by the inrush of snow when the side of the cab was forced in, as there were no bruises on the body.

To Select Subscriptions for the New Loan.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Presidents King, of the Union Trust; Stewart, of the United States, and Fairchild, of the New York Security and Trust Companies of this city yesterday formed themselves into a committee of three to solicit subscriptions for the new Government five per cent. loan. They prevailed upon the local bankers and trust companies to sign for over $50,000,000 of the bonds at Secretary Carlisle's upset price—117,223. This sets at rest all the talk about the failure of the loan.

Oil Tanks Burst.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 31.—Yesterday one of the tanks in the pressroom of Davis Oil Works, at the foot of Eighth street, burst with a report that could be heard for blocks around. Frank Cook, William Lynch and another man, who were working near the tank, were thrown across the room and received injuries about the head and body. Almost instantly flames burst from the buildings, and for a time it was feared several oil tanks in the vicinity would catch on fire. The loss is $50,000.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Jan. 31, 1894.

There is no change in Montreal grain markets.

Foreign houses selling both May and December wheat quite freely in New York.

There is very little doing in Canadian securities. Money is easy here and in Montreal.

The live stock market here was not a good one yesterday, although the offerings were not extra heavy.

In Boston B. Q. for December shows a gross decrease of $618,045; surplus after charges decreased $161,544.

In New York the bears endeavor to make a point of the fact that Government bonds go begging and Carlisle will find it hard to place any part of his 50,000,000 new issue in that city.

In Chicago St. Louis parties are buying quite a good deal of wheat. The Chicago market is weaker than ever; cannot sell any stuff; only support of the market is a few straggling shorts. Some of Chicago's local traders who are long are seeing how high they can pay for wheat; just sold ⅛.

There is some bull talk on whiskey at New York and those who represent Nelson Morris and J. B. Greenhut insist that the Government must have revenue and even the late Secretary Foster decided that the easiest way to raise the wind was by taxing whiskey, and it looks each day as if a tax on whiskey sufficent to give the Government the needed sinews of war will be raised. Whiskey has been acting in a suspicious manner; the dealings have been anything but great and those who wanted really a stock market have no cause to complain of the fluctuations.

SKATING RACES.

Contests Between Noted Swift Ones Which Will Attract Much Interest.

MONTREAL, Jan. 31.—Some of the world's best skaters will attend the M. A. A. A. races, to take place here on Saturday next. Among them are such widely known men as Johnson, Joe Donoghue, Norseng, Davidson, McCulloch, Hugh Donoghue, Hulse and others. The races will be the best ever witnessed in Canada. An interesting event will be the meeting of Johnson and Joe Donoghue. Johnson defeated Donoghue easily last winter and this fact has given rise to a great deal of discussion as to who is the speedier skater. Saturday should give some inkling of the respective merits of Johnson, Donoghue and Norseng, the champion from Norway. The latter has never met either of the former and several matches have been arranged between them.

Albert Stroebel Hanged.

VICTORIA, B.C., Jan. 31.—Albert Stroebel, the murderer of John Marshall, of Huntingdon, was executed at the jail yesterday morning. He preserved to the last his cool demeanor. The execution was well managed by Radcliffe, and death was almost instantaneous. The condemned man made the following speech from the gallows: "I can only say this much: I am very thankful to everybody for the kindness they have shown me. You are hanging a guilty man. I do not hold any grudge against anybody. I hope to meet you all in the better land. I wish you all good-bye. That is all I have to say. The reason I say this is to free the jury's conscience from thinking they have done anything wrong."

The London Election Betting Case.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 31.—The costs in the London election betting case already amount to $3,200, while the sum involved is only $500. Security for costs has been given on the appeal being taken to the Supreme Court. It is said that the case is almost certain to be taken to the Privy Council in any event.

Killed on the Track.

THE EMBARGO ON CATTLE.

Scotch Harbormen do Not Believe Disease Exists Among Canadian Cattle.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Sir Charles Tupper, Canada's High Commissioner, yesterday received a deputation from the Glasgow, Dundee, Aberdeen and New Castle municipal and harbor bodies, to discuss the cattle question.

The speakers stated that they were convinced that Canadian cattle were free from pleuro pneumonia. They announced that they had received an official assurance from the Right Hon. Herbert Gardiner, President of the Board of Agriculture, that he was still anxious to remove the embargo, and would do so when he became convinced that the disease did not exist in Canada.

The deputation is determined that immediate steps should be taken to secure the removal of the obnoxious embargo.

Suicided to Save Her Mother.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 31.—Mollie Roath, a milliner, aged 30 years, hanged herself here on Saturday night in order to save her old mother from starvation. The two were alone in the world, and they were supported by the girl's labor. Mollie had insured her life for $2,000 in the Knights and Ladies of Honor, but for several months she had been unable to procure work, and at last decided to kill herself, so that her mother would have enough to live on for the remainder of her life.

In the Paris Deputies.

PARIS, Jan. 31.—The Chamber of Deputies was crowded yesterday with persons anxious to hear the interpellation of the Government by Mr. Lockroy in regard to the condition of the navy. Mr. Lockroy asked what had been done with the million of francs appropriated for naval purposes since 1871. He caused a sensation in the Chamber by reading a telegram showing that the stock of flour at the Lorient arsenal had been exhausted, and that this fact had prevented the sailing of a transport vessel.

New York Bankers Acted Shaby.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The Financial News, commenting on the result of the conference between Secretary Carlisle and the New York bank presidents, says that the conduct of the New York bankers is inexplicably shabby, but that other big cities will not be slow to come forward to save the Treasury, and if Secretary Carlisle keeps a stiff upper lip he need not fear for failure.

Five Men Killed by a Bursting Engine.

OWENSBORO, Ky., Jan. 31.—Near Crow, Hickman County, nine miles south of here, yesterday, a boiler in the portable mill of John Mercer exploded killing five men and fatally injuring another. The explosion was caused by the running of cold water into the hot boiler. The engineer foresaw the explosion and urged the bystanders to run, but they regarded his warning as a joke. The bodies of two of the men were found torn to atoms in a tree 75 yards from the scene of the accident. All of the victims were horribly mangled.

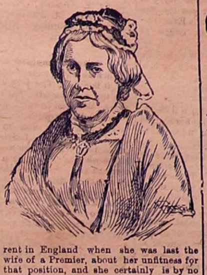
MRS. W. E. GLADSTONE.

HER INTERESTING CHARACTERISTICS PLEASANTLY PORTRAYED.

The Wife of the British Premier, in a Certain Way, One of the Most Important Women in England—Her Devotion to Her Great Husband.

The venerable consort of William Ewart Gladstone is, in a certain way, the most important woman in England. Mrs. Gladstone is the daughter of a Welsh baronet, Sir Stephen Glynne of Hawarden; on the death of her brother the title became extinct, and all the estates were left to Mrs. Gladstone for her life, with remainder to her eldest son. It is in this way that Mr. Gladstone enjoys his right to the castle now famous throughout the world as his residence. The Glynne family is ancient and highly connected; a sister of Mrs. Gladstone was married to Lord Lyttleton, and she is also related to Lord Chesham and Lord Penryn, the Duke of Devonshire, the Duke of Buckingham and other aristocratic families. She is of a peculiar type, one known perhaps only in England, and certainly entirely unfamiliar to Americans; a lady according to the English meaning of the word, that is, a woman of high birth and position who shows in bearing and behavior a consciousness, not in the least offensive, of her station; who has been used all her life to the highest companies, she is yet not only simple, but absolutely plain, and sometimes brusque in manner; very neglectful or forgetful of conventionalities, and has indeed many of the peculiarities that an American woman of recent fashion would consider indicative of inferior rank. Stories were current in England when she was last the wife of a Premier, about her unfitness for that position, and she certainly is by no means a great woman of the world. She is lacking, in fact, in the faculty of remembering faces and engagements, in the power of adapting herself to every company, of winning enemies or even indifferent people. In fact, she has never been popular in London society. She dresses badly, with incongruous colors and abundances of laces and ribbons and fur-belows, but not always in the latest fashion, as even a masculine eye can discern; yet no one familiar with the great world in any country could ever mistake her for a parvenu.



The close attendance of the now white-haired lady upon her octogenarian husband has become almost an historic fact of later years. One need not recount how she has followed him in all his political tours; how she has been present at his speeches in Parliament and at the hustings, has muffled his throat in the train or the open carriage, and sweetened his drinks in public as well as in private. The tender care she has bestowed on the partner of her old age has aroused the interest and the affectionate admiration of two continents. But this is not of recent beginning. It is more necessary of late, but it was as constant, if not as conspicuous, years ago.

At a dinner at Lord Halifax's in 1871, at which Earl Russell and the Gladstones were present, and to which I had been particularly invited in order to receive a message from Mr. Gladstone for President Grant in regard to the treaty of Washington, then negotiating, I had the honor of taking Mrs. Gladstone to table. We sat opposite the Premier, for there were dukes and earls in the company, and according to etiquette the Prime Minister, when a commoner, is placed lower than a peer, and all through the dinner Mrs. Gladstone could talk of nothing but her husband. She watched his talk and his looks, his plate and his glass: she spoke of him constantly as "he," for there was no other he for her; told me of his labors and his successes, his peculiarities, his studies, his trials; and I conceived not only a higher admiration for the statesman who could evoke such warmth of devotion in an elderly woman, but a sincere and touching respect for the lady who preserved in her exhalted life the homely simplicity of a wife, and in advancing years the beautiful freshness of her youthful feeling. She talked with such freedom that I felt it was not indelicate in a foreigner to express my surprise that the head of her Majesty's Government should not be placed nearer the head of the table; but she remarked, with what seemed to me a touch of arerbility: "Oh! in England the Prime Minister has no precedence."

Mrs. Gladstone's admirable qualities as a woman may be guessed from the character of her children. They are all excellent people. Her daughters have married clergymen or head masters in the great schools, a position of importance in England, often leading to the episcopacy. One of her sons is a clergyman and another a member of Parliament. All are well trained and highly educated, of agreeable, unaffected manners, and quiet bearing; men and women worthy to be called ladies and gentlemen in the American sense of the word—that is, people of breeding and character—all fit to be children of their illustrious father; while the steadfast devotion, the touching tenderness, the anxious care, the beautiful pride and interest which she cannot conceal in her husband's career and success, make Mrs. Gladstone a worthy mate to the greatest of living Englishmen. Mr Fred Adams' Concert

DEAR SIR.—It behooves the citizens to give Mr. Fred Adams a splendid house on Monday night. For a number of years he has been their faithful servant in the capacity of stage manager at the Opera House, and by his indefatigable willingness, courtesy and kindness at all times and under all circumstances has endeared himself to those who are in the habit of taking part in local entertainments. This is shown in the hearty manner in which local artists have come forward to honor him. The citizens are perhaps not aware that indirectly they are benefitted by this invariable courteousness of Mr. Adams to the people who furnish them with entertainment. I for one have felt that the undoubted success of some of the entertainments taken part in and prepared was largely due to the energetic efforts and amiability of Mr. Adams in my behalf and in behalf of those ladies and gentlemen who were associated with me.

The Boys and Girls on College Hill Hold a Brilliant Carnival

During last week the young people of College Hill were busy preparing for a carnival at their skating rink in Mr Bleecker's field. Everything was kept very secret and the air was filled with whispers of coming events and strange looking objects would sometimes peep out of bedrooms and closets. Saturday evening came and the ice was in fine condition and the weather a little cold, but this but added zest to the enjoyment of the gay and numerous throng of skaters. Fires were kindled and lanterns either hung or carried about and the grotesque, fantastic and sometimes startling masquraders gave the scene a beautiful appearance. The savage Spanish brigand with pistols, bowie knives and dirks was seen in company with the modest and sedate Sister of mercy, while the desperate locking burglar with his full kit was hand in glove with the beautiful Morning Star. Following were among those who appeared in costume:

D Anderson, Jap; S Turner, Commercial Traveller; B Lingham, Grandmother; A Harkins, Old Mother Hubbard; E Fry, Ghost; Rose Frost, Fairy; Stanley Pringle, Santa Claus; Eva Greenleaf, Quakeress; H Luscombe, Negro; D Morris, Clown; R Garrett, Darky Dude; W Frost, Newsboy; Gertie Pringle. Fairy; C Greenleaf, Cow Boy; F Graham, Fairy; E Hudgins, Red Riding Hood; G Turner, Red Riding Hood; M Lambert, Old Man; F First, Bear; J E Mills, Negro; F Moore, Negro; W Rathbun, Irishman; F Chatman, Snow Flake; G Cook, Scare Crow; F Ackerman, Burglar; J Elvins, Beggar; J Warrel, Old Woman; E Bateman, Indian; I Mabee, Gipsy; E Gordon, Piero; M Gordon, Little Girl; M Phillips, Chinaman; A Greenleaf, Morning Star; F Carman, French Courtier.

A Jury Composed of Women

Such an anouncement may seem strange but it is a fact. The jury was an immence one too, and the trial has lasted for many years. We refer to the trial of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. As to its merits, there has been an unanimous verdict rendered in its favor. Indeed it would be impossible to get together any number of ladies who had given it a trial who could come to any other conclusion. It cures ulcerations, displacements, removes the tendancy to concerous affections and corrects all unatural discharges. To those about to become mothers, it is a real boon for it lessons the pains and perils of child-birth, promotes the secretion of an abundence of nourishment for the child and shortens the period of confinement.

Philharmonic

The rehersal of "May Day" last night was one of the best, and most satisfactory of the season. The members are delighted with the music and enter heartily into their work. The balance of the music is on the way from England and is expected here very shortly when the "Holy City" will be taken up.

In Olden Times.

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action; but now that is generally known that Syrup of Figs, will permanently cure habitual conspitation, well-informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system.

The Patrons' Candidate

At a meeting of the Patrons of Industry for East Hastings held on Monday, Mr. W. McLaren of Tyendinaga township was selected as a candidate for the Local Legislature, and Mr. Jas. Bancanquet, of Thurlow, was selected as the candidate for the Dominion house.

Catarrh in the Head

Is undoubtedly a disease of the blood and as such only a reliable blood purifier can effect a perfect and permanent cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier, and it has cured many very severe cases of catarrh. Catarrh oftimes leads to consumption. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla before it is too late.

Hood's Pills do not purge, pain or gripe, but act promptly, easily and efficiently. 25 cents.

Foxboro Tea-Meeting

A very delightful social was held in the Lower Methodist church in this delightful and enterprising village, on Monday night last. The public spirited and inrelligent gentleman who so frequently occupies the chair on public occasions, Dr. Falkiner, was chairman. The choir rendered some beautiful selections; Miss Bowers very cleverly gave two recitations, Rev. A. Campbell an excellent address; notwithstanding the tremendous snow storm, Mr. J. J, B. Flint and a party of fifteen persons plowed their way through the drifts to enjoy the festivities of the evening. Mr. Flint contributed two readings and told some racy stories. Misses Ethel Coleman Bella Holton Canfield and Foster gave some lovely songs; W. E. Holton, an excellent song; and after singing the National Anthem the large and highly pleased audience separated.

Medical Talk

Dr. Gibson's Medical Talk on Hygiene will be given at the Y. M. C. A. Rooms on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. All young men are invited to bring their lady friends.

The White Man's Grave

Last night Rev. J. Simpson Trotter, pastor of the Reformed Episcopal church, delivered his lecture on Sierre Leone, "The white man's grave." Rev. J. L, George occupied the chair and the room was well filled. The lecture was an intensely interesting one. Mr. Trotter spent many years in Africa as a missionary and therefore spoke from personal knowledge and observation. He described the chracter and habits of the natives, the condition of the country, etc., and showed why the climate there was so deadly to the whites. The lecture, which occupied considerably over an hour, was interspersed with incidents of his experience there. After the lecture Rev. Mr. Marshall and Mr. R. Richardson expressed their high appreciation of the lecture.

Bronchitis Cured

DEAR SIR, Having suffered for months from bronchitis. I concluded to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and by the time I had taken one bottle I was entirely free from the troubles it affords instant relief.

SHOVEL OFF THE SNOW

Belleville Needs an Effective and Workable By-law

It is to be hoped that the heavy fall of snow on Monday will be the means of inducing the city council to pass an effective snow by-law. It is simply disgraceful that our streets should be left in the condition some of them are now in for want of an effective by-law. The present law seems a workable one so far as occupied properties are concerned, but to be inoperative against owners of vacant lots. The police have tried time and again to enforce the law against such persons, but without avail, as a conviction could not be secured. It is the duty of the council at the earliest opportunity to pass a by-law that can be enforced, or that will authorize the street surveyor to have the walks cleaned and the cost charged against the owners of the lots. Such a by-law was introduced last year but it was burked by some of the aldermen. It is possible some of the provisions of that by-law may have been needlessly strict, yet it is absolutely essential that a by-law should be passed that will secure the proper cleaning of our streets if Belleville hopes to be worthy of the name of the city. There are within five minutes walk of the city hall rod after rod of sidewalk that has not been shovelled off for years. Here is a practical reform right at the hand of the aldermen, and one that effects the comfort and convenience of every citizen of Bellove; and it would be well for the council to deal with this question before taking up the more or less visionary schemes some of them have in hands.

Schiffmann's Asthma Cure

Instantly removes the most violent attack, facilitates free expectoration and insures rest to those otherwise unable to sleep except in a chair, as a single trial will prove. Send for a free trial package to Dr. R. Schiffman, St. Paul, Minn., but ask your druggist first.

An Esteemed Citizen Gone

His many friends will deeply regret to learn of the death of Levi B. Terwilligar, which sad event happened yesterday. The deceased was another victim of la grippe, he having been taken down with that so often fatal disease two weeks ago. Mr. Terwilligar was born in Prince Edward county 69 years ago, and lived there all his life till about eight years ago, when he moved to Belleville. He was of the old United Empire stock. His life was a quiet and unassuming, but an honorable and useful one and he was highly esteemed by all his acquaintances. He was all his life a staunch Reformer. While in Belleville he was a consistent member of the Taberacle church. He leaves two sons, Lewis, the popular and esteemed manager of Wm. Paterson's branch business here, and William, who resides in Michigan. He also has six brothers, three of whom are ministers of the Methodist church, and while he lived in Prince Edward his house was always a welcome home for ministers of the gospel. The remains will be taken to Picton to morrow for burial.

We all Want Money

The merchants are wanting to sell goods these days, and very bad. Do not imagine that the only ones that need money are those that have "sales" on. The Oak Hall never do this, we don't believe in it. But if you want clothing, and want it cheap, come to us Our prices will speak.

An Excellent Remedy

GENTLEMEN,—We have used Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam in our house for over three years, and find it an excellent remedy for all forms of coughs and colds. In throat and lung troubles it affords instant relief.

JOHN BRODIE, Columbus, Ont.

DIED.

TERWILLIGAR.—In Belleville, on Tuesday the 30th inst, Levi B. Terwilligar aged 69 years.

The funeral will take place from his late residence, Moira St., on Thursday Feburary 1st, at 11 o'clock a.m. sharp, to the G. T. R. Station, thence to Picton for burial. Service at the house at 10.80.

A Remedy for the Grip.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the grip, is Kemp's Balsam, which is especially adapted to diseases of the throat and lungs. Do not wait for the first symptoms of the disease, but get a bottle and kept it on hand for use the moment it is needed. If neglected, the grip has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. All druggists sell the Balsam.

Highly Praised

GENTLEMEN,—I have used your Hagyard's Yellow Oil and have found it unequalled for burns, sprains, scalds, rheumatism, croup and colds. I have recommended it to many friends and they also speak highly of it.

Piano Tuning

Mr. Igelstrom, of Toronto, is in the city. Orders left at Orr's jewelry store or at Rigg's music store will receive prompt attention, ltd

If, when crossing a railroad track, you see a train approaching at thirty miles an hour—get out of the way as soon as possible. When threatened with chronic rheumatism or catarrh, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla persistently and patiently, and the danger will soon pass away.

There are a lot of corporation workers these days, and the ring of the snow shovel was heard all day yesterday. Some citizens, however, had not decency enough to clean walks and pedestrians had to wade all day. It is a pity such people could not be compelled to wade in snow drifts up to their necks for a few hours.

Blood

The Chauffeurs Du Nord.

These banditti infested the borders of France and Belgium during the confusion of the first revolution. They were numerous, well organized, and comprised persons from almost every station in society. Among them were several females, in particular Julia Maria, a woman of great beauty, talents and courage. For awhile they plundered and murdered with impunity, but when the political tempest had subsided, the French government had leisure to attend to the Chauffeurs. Vigorous measures were then adopted; the bands were completely broken up, the members of them hunted down, and numbers taken and guillotined, thirty-seven in one day at Bruges, which had recently been annexed to France. One of the worst, Jean Buckler, alias Schinderhannes (John the Burner), was executed at Mentz, November 24, 1803.

The Chauffeurs were so called because they used to apply the feet of their victims to the fire to make them disclose where their money and valuables were concealed.

Genesis of Chimneys in England.

Prior to the year 1200 A.D. there was scarcely a score of chimneys in all England. A queer law which regulated the matter allowed but one in each "religious house visited on the Sabbath day by over 500 people, and one in each great hall of lord or duke." In the houses of all others the smoke escaped through holes cut in the roofs for that purpose.

Glass Cloth.

Glass cloth is from $60 to $75 a yard, and its width that of silk. Although made from seemingly a brittle and frail substance, it is exceedingly durable and can be sponged with soap and water without the least injury. It looks like a heavy, glistening, shimmering silk, its surface taking up the light in a marvellous way.

Economical.

Anne: No. I didn't need one.
Mildred: Why?
Anne: I wind him about my finger.

We are quite busy and expect to be and the times don't seem so bad. Some merchants do the very thing to help make money scarce by constantly harping in their ads, about hard times. Those who have lots of money stop spending it because everybody says "times are bad," and the saying becomes a bad habit. Any merchant who is always advertising "hard times," "money scarce," "goods must be sold" etc., etc., makes a mistake
